Among outstanding speakers who will be heard at the Hamilton National Conference are: Dr. Harold Stewart of McMaster University staff; Miss Rhoda McCulloch of the Women's Press; Miss Ruth Rouse, world president of the Y.W.C.A.; Miss Ruth Woodsmall, world general secretary, who has recently arrived on this continent from Geneva, and Madam Casgrain of Montreal, who is doing more than any other woman to help secure the franchise for Quebec women.

The themes running through the conference, "Democracy in the Y.W.C.A.," and "The Y.W.C.A. as a Christian Movement," were chosen as two of the most important problems facing the organization from questionnaires submitted by a large number of Y.W.C.A.'s across Canada.

Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, president of the Y.W.C.A. Board, opened the meeting with prayer, and welcomed the visitors. The regrets of the Ottawa and Kingston Associations, who were not able to be present because of road conditions, were expressed, and Miss A. Wood, secretary, conveyed greetings from a number of Associations.

The first subject chosen for discussion, "The Y.W.C.A. as a Christian Movement," was introduced by Miss Julia Matouskova, and discussions were led by Miss Matouskova and Miss Christine Gardiner.

Noon luncheon was in charge of Mrs. E. Morrison of the Resident Department, and was served in the recreation room. Brief summaries of the discussion were given by Mrs. W. Wolfenden of the National Council, and Miss Jean Hall of the Toronto Association. After a tour of the building, the group assembled in the Green Room, where Miss I. McElheran, National finance secretary, and Miss Eva Coon, general secretary of the Toronto Y.W.C.A., cleverly interpreted the work and necessary financing of the Canadian and world organization during an entertaining dialogue.

Groups were then formed to discuss (a), the Y.W.C.A. as a democratic organization; (b) work with secondary school girls. These discussions were led by Mrs. J. L. Savage, conference convener of National Board, and Miss Edna Quentin, girls' work secretary of Toronto. Reports of these discussions were given by Miss Leta Brownscombe, general secretary, and Miss C. Gardiner, girls' work secretary, both of Peterborough Y.W.C.A.

A closing service of worship was conducted by Miss Mary Hessell of Toronto. Afternoon tea, in charge of Mrs. S. L. Smoke, Mrs. H. F. Foote and Mrs. T. Barrie of the social committee, was served in the club room with Mrs. G. S. Easton and Mrs. F. D. Kerr pouring. Present at the tea were: Mrs. J. L. Savage, Mrs. W. Wolfenden, Mrs. W. A. McIlroy, Mrs. Seaborn, Miss I. McElheran, Miss J. Matouskova, Miss Eva Coon, Miss Mary Hessell, Miss Jean Hall, Miss Edna M. Quentin, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. H. Wichtman, Mrs. G. S. Easton, Mrs. R. H. Turner, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Mrs. A. M. Weldon, Mrs. J. E. Middleton, Mrs. H. M. Yelland, Mrs. N. D. Buchanan, Mrs. C. J. Ray, Mrs. F. Somerville, Mrs. C. B. Muir, Miss A. Wood, Miss E. Walker, Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Mrs. H. Paige Rowell, Mrs. C. S. Porter, Mrs. F. D. Kerr, Mrs. J. H. Vernor, Mrs. R. Cutting, Mrs. I. Barrie, Miss Leta Brownscombe, Mrs. E. Morrison, Miss C. Littlefield, Miss Christine Gardiner, Mrs. H. C. Sotheran, Miss Mary Elliott.

A group of thirty-five delegates from Toronto, and a number from Kingston, arrived Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Jack Marshall of Peterborough, vice-president of the local Girls' Council welcomed the guests, and introductions were made by the conference chairman, Miss Lee Chisholm.

Discussion groups were held on "The Resources in Christianity," a period of folk dancing was enjoyed prior to the supper hour. Mrs. Woodsworth told of the newly formed National Youth Committee, and Miss Matouskova of the 1940 convention. Following a brief period of song, discussion groups were held on "Democratic Principles in the Y.W.C.A." Following recreation, singing was led by Miss Mary Hessell, and coffee served at ten o'clock.

Sunday the delegates attended morning service at St. James' United Church. Following dinner with the hostesses at one o'clock, "Essentials in our Program" was the subject for discussion, and afterwards reports on discussion groups were given.

The conference closed with vesper service and tea.

Smart New Slip Cover You Can Quickly Make

Cord and Fringe in High Favor

Transform dull rooms for spring with colorful new slip covers. You can whip them up right at home—inexpensively, too.

The cover in the picture is ultra-smart with its double row of white bullion fringe and its white cord trim. The fabric is a sturdy crash in soft bottle-green. And it's easy to make this or any style cover the pin-on way.

Remove cushions and smooth fabric over chair, beginning at top of back and working down over seat. Fabric should be wrong side out when you use cord trim. Pin where seams will be and cut, allowing 1½ inches for seams.

In the same way, fit arms, sides and back. Now baste, try on and you're ready to add the skirt—two rows of fringe, stitched to a straight piece of crash. The cord trim you whip over finished seams as the diagram shows.

For complete instructions for cutting, fitting and finishing slip covers, see our 32-page booklet. Gives diagrams and directions for fitting any type of chair or sofa. Suggests smart styles, color schemes, fabrics, trimmings.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO MAKE SLIP COVERS to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Rich Sour Cream Scones

Sift, then measure 2 cups pastry flour, resift with 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ cup sugar, 1-3 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ cup butter or butter and lard mixed, ¼ cup washed and dried currants, 1 egg yolk, ¾ cup thick sour cream. Mix the liquid lightly into dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a slightly floured board or canvas and knead lightly for about 10 seconds. Pat or roll out to ½-inch thickness. Shape into round about 6 inches across. Score in quarters. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 15 to 18 minutes. Butter must be in or passed with them. If desired they may be split and toasted for the second meal.

No One Believes Him

Premier Molotoff of Soviet Russia made a speech, and in one section of it declared it was the design of Britain and France to get Russia to turn in and fight against Germany. But this would not be done as Russia refused to be the tool of any nation. If the rest of his address was based on the same sort of warped logic then the world might as well pass up his speech. It is the first time we have ever heard that the Allies anticipated that Moscow would join them in attacking Germany. We have had all manner of crack-pot suggestions during this war, but never one so superlatively ridiculous as the one set loose by Molotoff.

The Russian premier was critical of Britain and France; he was critical of United States and slightly critical of Germany. Russia desired no growing of the war. Dear, kind, big-hearted, benevolent Russia would much rather have peace! She does not wish to be judged and known by the hell she turned loose on Finland. No—Russia is a land of peace.

The only thing which seems to irritate Russia is the British army in the near East. Russia is not going to try and take any of her lost territory away from Rumania—at least not by war. So the Allies are away wrong in putting more soldiers in that area.

Very nice except for one thing. We do not believe there is a diplomat in the world today who would believe anything which comes from Moscow. We doubt whether Berlin places unrestricted reliance on what is said by Stalin or Molotoff. Russia was bound by all the known national conventions regarding the conduct of a war, and during the 105 days when she was attacking Finland she broke each and every one of them repeatedly. So when Molotoff makes an address in Moscow it might just as well be understood at the outset that the world outside does not believe what he is saying.

Consider The Farmers

It is to be hoped that the police and highway authorities will show a little consideration for rural motorists in the enforcement of the motor vehicle license regulations.

Orders have been issued from Toronto that all motorists driving cars with old markers from today on shall be prosecuted but that order was promulgated before rural Ontario found itself tied by the heaviest blizzard of the season.

The result has been that with side roads and farmers' lanes blocked with heavy drifts many rural residents have found it impossible to get into town during the past week and the result is that they were unable to secure their new licenses in time.

It may be argued that everybody has had plenty of warning and has had ample opportunity to obtain new licenses. Human nature being what it is, however, many motorists, urban as well as rural, waited until the last moment before acting and this time the farmer car owner has lost out because nature intervened with a late March storm that cut him off from the only source of supply.

Ordinarily there could be no objection to a strict enforcement of the law. The only business-like way of dealing with such matters is to set a dead line and stick to it. But the unusual conditions that have prevailed in Ontario for the past week or two have made it such that farmers who have been unable to comply with the law have some right to ask that on this occasion some leniency should be shown them.

Should Explain Some More

Writing in the London Free Press, Arthur R. Ford reviews the result of the election. He does a good deal of searching from Atlantic to Pacific. He wanted to know just what took place and why. Ontario was the puzzler. Mr. Ford was certain the Liberals themselves anticipated they would lose some seats in this province, and that is probably correct enough because we heard Liberals admitting such a thing would likely come to pass. But the final count showed that the Conservatives had exactly the same number of seats as they had previously. They won nothing at all.

Far down in the discussion we come upon the claim that the election came suddenly upon the Conservatives, and they were caught "without proper organization and with an empty chest. Elections are still not won by either prayers or speeches." Mr. Ford has seen a good deal of political life and we believe he has several times refused nomination by his Conservative friends. So we admit he possibly knows something regarding the right way to win an election. And yet his explanation is not sufficient. We do not believe the springing of an election was any more a surprise to the Couservatives than to the Liberals. Outside of the Cabinet, there was not a Liberal member in the House who had an inkling of what was going to happen. If the Tories gasped when they heard that Premier King was going to appeal to the country at once, then the Grits gasped also. Gasped at the same time and did their gasping to the same extent. As far as the Conservatives having been taken by surprise, it just didn't happen. The whole House was taken by surprise.

As to how much money was in the war chest we do not know. The Central Conservative organization had opportunity to sell Dr. Manion's plan for National Government to the people through the press, but it depended on radio address mostly. It was an idea brought out to meet the times, and it needed a good deal of explaining which it did not get. The radio addresses did not cover that part of it at all. They were given apparently based on the assumption that the people knew what it was all about and did not need to have any explaining done for them. You can't explain a thing like that with a few people listening in on the radio. It has to be explained by careful and lucid detail on the printed page where people can sit down and figure it out when they have the time to do so.

As to how much assistance Liberals or Conservatives received from the central chest is not known. Our own belief is that the amount which is gathered there and spent on elections is not nearly as large as some people claim. We have known candidates who relied on "something" from the central fund to meet their expenses, and they received nothing at all—not a dollar. If the element of surprise had anything to do with the Conservative chest being low, then the same element or surprise would find the Liberal chest in similar condition. We hope Mr. Ford will do some more explaining because he has not yet satisfied us as to what actually did happen.

Outside Of Their Power

The annual gathering of the Ontario Educational Association is always interesting to those who attend. An old institution, rather highly organized, it takes in most people who are in one way or another interested in schools and education.

The range of topics discussed at these annual sessions is as wide as education itself. In fact it is wider because many things are discussed which have never yet found a place in school curricula.

The one drawback has always been that this association had no standing which would enable it to see its decisions made operative in the conduct of our school affairs. It is possible to present resolutions, argue them at length and adopt or refuse to adopt them. But when resolutions make their way to the advanced stage of being approved they be forwarded to the authorities in whose hands rest the framing of our school courses. Nor is there a thing to guarantee or even hopefully suggest that they will ever be incorporated in actual practice.

Probably members of Board of Education come a little closer to getting their hands on the real problem of education, but we have known a number of ardent folk who have served well and faithfully and they entered this service feeling that in such way they would come to grips with the educational system; they would be sitting in the place where decisions were made. We have heard a number of these same people admit that their time had been actually occupied with problems of schools but not of scholars. They could attend to the schools regarding heat, ventilation, paint, sanitation, and so on. They might even have a voice in deciding that this teacher should be engaged instead of that one, and they might on occasion have opportunity of passing on what the teacher was doing in the way of efficient work. But as to what the teacher was teaching—that was outside of their scope. That is all determined in advance. So it's much that way when the Ontario Educational Association swings into annual session. They can discuss—and they do—but they just have to take a long chance that anything of which they approve will ever see the light of day in the training of scholars.

"Socially Prominent"

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte died the other day at Palm Beach, Florida, and she had that long name on account of the number of husbands she had acquired before she went out at the age of 47. She was referred to always as being "socially prominent," but beyond that her life seems to have been complex.

But what a strange life. Her first husband was Col. John Jacob Astor, who was lost on the Titanic in 1912. It was mentioned at the time that Astor was old enough to be his wife's father, for Madeline Force had then only graduated from a New York finishing school. There was a trust fund of $5,000,000 arranged for her, but that was good only as long as she did not marry again.

But she did marry again and her second husband was an acquaintance of childhood. She didn't need to bother about the trust fund, for William K. Dick was rated as being worth $4,500,000. There were two children in this family, but the thing cracked up in 1933 and divorce ended it.

But the lady was not through. For the third husband she took an Italian prize fighter, Enzo Fiermonte, and to add to the unusual event the wedding took place in a hospital where the lady was recovering. Two years ago the bloom wore off that union and divorce made the lady a free agent. Fiermonte was 26 and his wife was 40 at the time of the marriage, and it cost the wife $17,000 by way of a settlement to get rid of him.

She started out as Madeline Force, and ended as Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Just how do the neutral countries get their money back for the ammunition they have to hurl at belligerent aircraft?

General Gamelin reviewed part of Canada's overseas division just too late to get into the election advertising.

Agnes MacPhail is out of politics before she succeeded in having the Trent Canal filled in and converted into a highway.

The recent election cost $3,000,000 and among those who will think that it was not worth that sum will be Hon. R. J. Manion.

Germany has decreed death as the penalty for profiteering in the collection of old metals for war purposes. That at least is definite.

The fight between the Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit the other night suggests that Canada has lots of material left for a third overseas division.

Alberta seems determined to have social credit. And so far as the rest of Canada is concerned the western province can keep it.

There is no joy in Hastings. The Boston Bruins captained by Hastings' own Dit Clapper are out of the running for the Stanley Cup.

There are probably nearly as many folk in Canada who thing they should be made Air Minister as there are politicians who believe they should be in the Senate.

The head of the Japanese-created Chinese government is Wang. Judging by what Japan has done to China Wham would have been a more appropriate name.

The election must really be over. The Chatham News is out with an editorial warning its readers to use smoked glasses in looking at the solar eclipse this month.

Parliament will meet in May. Shortly after that we will get an idea of how costly war is through the new taxes the Government will have to pile on the shoulders of the Canadian people.

We read a report saying the school teacher at Glen Allen occupied the pulpit in the church on Sunday because the minister was away preaching for a call. Up in that part of the country they at least believe in being quite frank and outspoken about what's going on.

STRANGE

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My plumber friend I see each day, I pass him often on the way, I chat with him and talk; he sees me coming down at noon, he waits and hums a little tune, together then we walk.

¶ At lodge I see him now and then, we gather there with goodly men, we often pass a joke; I often see him at the store, in fact I think I see him more, than I do other folk.

¶ At times he drives down to his shop, he sees me and comes to a stop, and we sit side by side; he says my feet are none too good, and I'm not travelling like I should, and so he makes me ride.

¶ When it comes time to dig the ground, I know just where this man is found, his habits are all made; for he will be around I know, to borrow both a rake and hoe, and also want the spade.

¶ But when my pipes bust out today, I wanted him right straight away, he couldn't come too soon; I know where he is when he works, I know he jumps around and jerks, and where he is at noon.

¶ But when my pipes were spouting grief, and time to come was mighty brief, and damage too I feared; I telephoned both here and there, and couldn't find him anywhere—he'd just clean disappeared.

The Woodshed Gymnasium Hard To Beat

(By Ernest H. A. Home in the London Free Press)

SAY what you will, as a place of exercise an old-fashioned woodshed is hard to beat. We have practiced physical "jerks" in up-to-date gymnasiums, on barracks squares, and in the privacy of our bedroom. In all these places we have zealously waved our arms and wiggled our toes, pushed our chest out and our spinal column in, till our eyes popped from our head and our knees went on strike—all without adding one cubit to our stature or achieving any mortal good whatever. Not till we again became a simple-lifer, got us a woodshed, a bucksaw and a great stack of beech and maple logs did we begin to notice any improvement in our state, mental, moral, or physical.

For some time now we have been on intimate terms with a bucksaw, and as a companion we cannot speak too highly of it. Time was when we used to do as we were told—pack all our troubles in our old kit bag and smile, smile, smile. Nowadays we take all our troubles out to the woodshed and introduce them to our bucksaw. There, in the words of another old song, "they fade away and gradually die." Do we feel anxious over Hitler's latest speech or move? We take him, in the shape of a mean-looking limb, plant one foot firmly on his middle, and in a short while reduce him to little pieces with great gusto. Does Mussolini spoil our rest? Him also we lay across the saw-horse, and with swift strokes dispose of in like manner. The same with Joe Stalin; in fact, we have decapitated and quartered him so often that we have quite a pile of his remains alone waiting cremation.

No problem is too knotty for us. We can dispose of half the troubles of the world when armed with our bucksaw. It's surprising. And it is doing no end of good to our muscles. The organ we think with works better too. There are even days when, busily sawing, our thoughts flow as freely as rivers. We have not only solved our country's budget problem, but—a much harder task—balanced our own private one too with a bucksaw in our hand. It is exhilarating to be able to do this.

And soon, with one's nostrils full of the woody fragrance of freshly-sawn logs, one just naturally thinks of a fire, of a fire and a frying pan, of a frying pan and sausages all strung together as logically and as beautifully as one's thoughts. And, of course, thinking of sausages, one realizes that one is hungry. And so the happy association of ideas goes on, and one saws away and saws away till called from one's labors by a cheery, "Dinner's ready!" and the rich smell of it through an opened door.

As recently as yesterday we actually had sausages cooked over the wood we had sawn in our woodshed. And eating that dinner, which was topped off with bananas and whipped cream, just after we had disposed of Japan's army leaders on our saw-horse, our exercise-sharpened wits suddenly recalled a certain essay most suitable to the moment written by none other than a Japanese boy on the two most acceptable dishes before us. Here is the essay:

"The banana are great remarkable fruit. He are constructed in the same architectural style as sausage, difference being skin of sausage are habitually consumed, while it is not advisable to eat wrapping of banana. The banana are held aloft while consuming; sausage are usually left in reclining position. Sausage depend for creation on human being or stuffing machine, while banana are pristine product of honorable Mother Nature. In case of sausage, both conclusion are attached to other sausage; banana on other hand are attached to one end of stem and opposite termination entirely loose. Finally banana are strictly of vegetable kingdom, while affiliation of sausage often undecided."

Repeating this gem, we went back to sawing almost forgiving a nation that could produce such a boy. We strongly suspect that instead of being a devotee of jujitsu he is a disciple of the bucksaw or its Japanese equivalent.

Yes, sawing wood with a bucksaw has much to recommend it. Even the ex-Kaiser has improved since he took to it.

NO TRUTH IN IT

ONCE MORE the story is going round that Hitler is suffering from a milignant disease of the throat, and that his days are numbered. There is no truth in it. It can be stated that unquestionable authority that whatever may be wrong with his mind, there is little wrong with his body.

Although his hysterical speeches hardly suggest it, he takes the greatest care of his health. The pleasures of the flesh do not appeal to him. He neither smokes nor drinks, is practically a vegetarian, and in any case eats very little solid food.

He is, of course, highly strung, and suffers the usual reactions from his nerve storms. His vocal cords, too, are easily strained, which is not to be wondered at considering the over-use they have had lately. But otherwise it may be taken as certain that his physical conditions is unusually good for a man of 50.—News of the World.

HITLER IS SLIPPING

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

Hitler must be slipping. He spoke only eleven minutes at Berlin Sunday. But he had an audience of only 600—which might account for it.

SO HE CAME AT ONCE

• Fathers And Sons In Parliament

THE ELECTION returns reveal the pleasant fact that we seem to be developing in Canada the tradition of families in politics, says the Ottawa Journal. Thus Mr. Ernest Lapointe's son has been returned for Lotbiniere and will sit in the House with his father. From Saint John comes D. King Hazen, a son of the late Sir Douglas Hazen, sometime Minister of Naval Affairs under Sir Robert Borden, and later Chief Justice of New Brunswick. From the same province come sons of the late Henry Emmerson (once a stalwart behind Laurier) and of Mr. Peter Veniot, who was once Postmaster General under Mr. King. From Ontario there will be C. W. Gibson, son of a former Lieutenant Governor.

It was said of the great Joseph Chamberlain that the only time he showed deep emotion at Westminster was when his son, Austen Chamberlain, made his maiden speech. "Joe" Chamberlain was then the bitter foe of Gladstone over Home Rule, but when the "G.O.M.", with characteristic chivalry, rose and paid moving tribute to the younger Chamberlain's speech, the implacable "Joe" all but broke down.

Mr. Lapointe will taste that same pleasure now, and no father will not understand it, nor fail to share it with him, in imagination at least. All will hope, too, that the son will follow in the footsteps of his father, one who, whatever the spirit of combat may do to him in the passions of an election, has been a brilliant light in our parliamentary life.

For Canada, finally, the tradition of families in politics is one we should try to nurture. We need trained men in our public life; need more respect for the authority of government and the majesty of Parliament—more pride in the glory of our democratic institutions. As some writer put it the other day, and finely, men have faced firing squads, and died on scaffolds and rotted in dark dungeons to win such things for us; to win the right of the common man to go into a polling booth and there, expressing his free soul and conscience, put his cross on a ballot. Anything we can do to ennoble that, to create pride for it, and loyalty and reverence, is for the good of all our future.

ALBERTA'S FUTURE

PIPE-DREAMING Premier Aberhart has won again in Alberta, though his victory was very much less satisfactory than it was in 1935, when he had fifty-six seats out of the then sixty-three in that province. Today he has thirty out of fifty-seven, with eight still in doubt.

It seems difficult to understand at first glance why Mr. Aberhart has succeeded once more in persuading sufficient electors in Alberta that he and he alone can save them from ruin. But it is necessary to bear in mind that he was appealing in 1935 to a public the great majority of whom had been harder hit by depression and by bad crops than any other part of the Dominion; that they voted in the first instance for Aberhart because he promised them the now notoriously mythical dividend of twenty-five dollars each; and that they were in such a desperate condition that this looked to them like manna from heaven.

Many people will wonder why, in view of the fact that the manna never materialized, Mr. Aberhart should still have retained the confidence of as many voters as he has. The explanation of that may probably be found in the fact that these voters still believe that he was sincere in his promises and have accepted his assurance that he would have been able to keep them but for the antagonistic action of the Federal Government.—Montreal Star.

DOUGHNUTS AWEIGH

TIME: March thirtieth. Place: Bangor, Main. Event: Maine Hotel Men's Association honors the humble doughnut and the man who modernized it.

Ninety years ago Hanson Gregory, captain of a schooner and dabbler in the culinary art, is said to have first put the hole in the doughnut. According to legend, the captain once lost six men overboard after they had eaten too many soggy holeless doughnuts; they "sank to the bottom like plummets before a rescue could be made."

From the foregoing incident, it is said, the name "sinkers" was evolved. But the captain believed that doughnuts did not deserve such a bad reputation. Consequently he began experimenting, and finally invented the life-preserver pattern which permits the fat to encircle the dough inside and out, and to fry it thoroughly. The doughnut became justly more popular after Gregory evolved the new style. The hotel men's gesture reminds all Americans how well the schooner captain served them, with no thought of personal profit.—Christian Science Monitor.

HOG CHOLERA

The outbreak of hog cholera in some portions of the province is just too bad. Some one blundered and blundered seriously. However that may be, it is the duty of all concerned to get rid of the disease. We are informed that the disease is always with us, but some parties have a way of not reporting it. Such a practice is altogether to the bad and simply must be eradicated and the parties practicing the concealment punished without mercy. Anything short of so doing imperils the industry upon which so much of the prosperity of the farming community depends. The community cannot afford to have its welfare sacrificed to meet the meanness of an individual. —Exeter Times-Advocate

GERMAN RAILWAYS

REPORTS of chaotic conditions on the once fine German state-owned railways are coming to light with the forced resignations of important officials. That there has been a serious breakdown of the German transportation system is well known and the many fatal accidents are said to have been caused by faulty equipment, overloading and bad management. Undoubtedly bad conditions on the German railways have caused headaches to the German High Command.—Niagara Falls Review.

TWELVE-WORD SPEECH

THE ELECTORS of Gomox riding are to be envied. Regularly they go to the polls without the least doubt or misgiving in their minds and vote for Mr. A. W. Neil. It looks as if they would do it again in the present election with less doubt and misgiving than ever.

Mr. Neill occupies a unique position among all the 672 candidates in this election. Both Liberal and Conservatives in Comox, by formal vote, have endorsed him. He is opposed only by the C.C.F.

When accepting nomination Mr. Neill made a speech which must have been unique in the annals of Canadian politics. It consisted, if we recollect, of 12 words. — Vancouver Sun.

HIS INTERPRETATION

DEMAREE BESS, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, has a new interpretation of this late lamented Finnish-Soviet war.

He says the fight was promoted by Germany with the hope of drawing Russia, England and France into it. Germany wanted Russia in there to take a licking, because Stalin was becoming too bumptious as a partner.

She wanted the Allies in there to use up some of their enthusiasm for fighting.

But Russia was shown up as a vast lumbering incompetent—and is not much more than a German colony now.

We hope Mr. Bess is right.—T. R. Henry, in Toronto Telegram.

SOLDIER JOURNALISTS

IN TIME of war, it is generally recognized that control must be exercised by military authorities over war correspondents reporting the doings of contending forces. No country at war can afford, in this modern day, to let reporters run about at will and write what they choose.

Germany, however, has brought control of the press to the point where dependable reporting becomes a by-word. She has made soldiers of her war correspondents, enlisting them in the army and making them subject to military discipline the same as any private of the line. Reasonable and necessary control has given place to complete domination. German war correspondents no longer write for their newspapers or news agencies, but for the military commanders.

With this fact known to the world one wonders how Germany can expect anyone, anywhere, to believe one word of "news" that comes from her battle front.—Windsor Star.

APPLES SCARCE?

SEVERAL ARTICLES have appeared in this paper about the apple situation and its inconsistencies this year. In spite of a large surplus of apples and the efforts of the Dominion government to help growers market their crops, apples have been scarce and highly priced and the quality has been poor.

There's something wrong somewhere. If there was such a surplus of excellent apples, why were they not made available to Canadians who would gladly have taken more of them if the price had been reasonable and the quality good? — Fergus News-Record.

PRACTICAL PACKAGE

The first letter the family received from the pilot-son who was stationed in the Near East told them to look out for a parcel which was on its way home.

There was great speculation in the house as to what weird and wonderful examples of naive craft the parcel would contain.

Two days later it arrived. It's contents were seven shirts and a dozen-and-a-half sock together with the brief note, "Please wash and mend."—Montreal Star.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time....

But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy....

For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth and the flower thereof falleth away; but the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you.—I Peter 1, 3-5, 15, 16, 24, 25.

FEMININE SPEECH

MEN, and even editors, generally know what is meant by the words "hem," "pleat," "embroidery," and "tuck." Editors, like other men, are likely to be uncomprehending and even skeptical when a reporter (female) brings in a story describing somebody's wedding or party frock. The terms of description often seem like pure jargon, and there is a natural male suspicion that they could not mean anything to anybody.

That, of course, is a masculine error. For our comfort, it is announced that one Mary Brooks Picken, an authority in such matters, has compiled a dictionary of terms having to do with fabric, sewing and dress design—and there are more than 8,000 words in the list. How could we be expected to know them?—Decatur, Ill., Herald and Review.

SOURCE OF SATISFACTION

(Letter in New York Herald Tribune)

I don't know when anything has given me as much satisfaction as to read of Mr. Cromwell's speech in Toronto.

If Mr. Champ Clark, Mr. Sweeney, Mr. Barry and some others would take a little time off to do some serious reading instead of that Pollyanna stuff they seem to be filled up on they would have a better perspective. Nothing but ignorance could be responsible for their utterances.

GERMANY'S MAIN LACK

(Gustav Stolper, in the Yale Review)

"Most precarious of all for Germany is the oil situation. We know approximately the German peacetime consumption in oil of all sorts. It was about 7 million tons, roughly, 50 million barrels. Of this about one-third was covered by domestic production, about 75 per cent of that being synthetic oil. The German oil imports came, for the greater part, from North and South America, that is, from areas from which Germany is now completely cut off by the British Navy."

Detroit Police Find Second Man Murdered

DETROIT, April 1 — (AP). — Police sought an answer to a riddle of two killings last night after having found the body of a young garage mechanic in a crudely dug grave in the basement of a house.

Shot twice in the back, fingertips and hands burned by lye, the body of Philip Loyst, 24, who had been missing since February 26, was removed from a six-foot grave beneath a house on Detroit's East side.

Inspector John O. Whiteman, head of the police homicide squad, said a real estate man had told him the house had been rented by a young cab driver and car lot employee four days before Loyst's disappearance.

Since surrendering March 2, the cab driver has been held without charge while authorities pushed inquiries into the Loyst case and a strangely similar one — the torch murder of Dorsey E. Bowman.

Bowman, whose charred body was found on a dump heap February 15, also had been shot twice in the back. Acquaintances of both men said that shortly before disappearing each had talked of selling his automobile. Police suspected a "murder-for-profit" gang might have been mixed up in the disappearances.

In the house police found ashes of burned clothing in a washtub, a bag of quicklime, a pair of blood-stained gloves, and newspaper clippings of Bowman's death and Loyst's disappearance.

Springville Couple Given Tea Service

SPRINGVILLE, April 1.—(Special).—The many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown gathered at their home here on Friday night and presented them with an address and a beautiful silver tea service on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Melville H. Johnston very capably performed the duties of chairman for the short program given, which consisted of a guitar duet by Misses Laura and VioletNeils, readings by Misses Jean Fairbairn and Hazel McIntosh tap dancing by the Misses Reynolds and an address on "Building a Home" by the Rev. J. F. Everson. The address was read by Mrs. Albert Hunter and the presentation made by Gordon McIntosh. Mr. and Mrs. Brown both made brief replies. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

PARADISE IS HERE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.
BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.
YESTERDAY: The girls move into the luxurious apartment of Romany's wealthy aunt, who is abroad.

CHAPTER THREE

TERRY'S BOOMING voice shook the apartment when Romany opened the door.

"Well, if it isn't Gorgeous, the glamor gal of old Indiana U herself!" Terry grabbed her in a strangling hug. "Give the old song plugger a kiss! It won't hurt you and it'll do him so much good."

"You haven't improved," Romany laughed, pulling away to give her hand to Baxter Tree. "Subdue him, Cholly, before we get dispossessed."

Terry bounded toward Cholly and picked her up in his arms, planting a resounding kiss on her little mouth.

"Have I remembered to ask you to marry me today, Macushla?"

Cholly was relieved that his breath was free from the fumes of the Beer Barrel, his favorite haunt. He didn't give her chance to answer him. Sitting her down in a chair, he turned, grinning, to Baxter.

"Didn't I tell you, Bax, the little Hallie is the glamor gal of old Indiana? You two were just made for each other, I'm thinkin'. With your beauty, Gorgeous, and his brains, nothing could stop you. You write the shows, Bax. Gorgeous'll star in 'em. I'll sing your theme song in my never - to - be - forgotten Irish tenor. The future Mrs. O'Rourke here will play the accompaniment."

"Dry up, and give someone else a break," Cholly broke in, "now that everybody's future is settled."

Bax, who hadn't had a chance to speak, sat down on the couch beside Romany.

"Didn't you have a part in the junior play last spring?"

"A bit," Romany smiled. She was a vision in Aunt Cassie's dotted swiss. "About three sides."

"I remembered you by your eyes," the writer nodded.

"Didn't I tell you!" Cholly howled. "I told Romany you'd remember the girl with the gray-green eyes."

"You were quite famous for them around our digs," Baxter teased. "I don't think anyone ever bothered caling you by name. You were just the Girl With the Eyes."

"Is that flattering?" Romany laughed a little self-consciously.

"Oh, certainly." He offered her a cigaret. "Otherwise I shouldn't have mentioned it."

"Amazing!" Terry sat back, lighting his pipe. "The technique of the guy! Lock at all the noise I've got to make to get anywhere with a gal. While there that darn continuity writer sits dishing up lines from his new show and you two dames are eating it up like cream. Well, darlin'," Terry grinned at Cholly, "I remember you as the wench with the pug nose.

"I'll kill you." Cholly threatened to throw a little metal ash tray at his head.

Terry jumped up.

"Time's a wastin'! Let's go places. I've reserved a table at the Silver Door. This all calls for a celebration.

Cholly's heart sank. A table at the Silver Door! The evening before he'd been down to his last dollar, and four days till payday. Surely he hadn't borrowed money again.

The air-cooled Silver Door was filled. But the party was led to a ring-side table. The farce of it added to Cholly's bitterness. The money they would spend would mean so much to Mom and the kids. Terry was as expansive as a new millionaire who had just struck oil.

They had a bottle of wine and chicken dinners, dancing between courses. Romany smiled, looking up at Baxter during a lovely waltz.

"Thank heaven you're tall. I've an awful time finding dancing partners with my five feet seven inches.

"I'm six two," Bax said, dancing surprisingly well for a bookworm. "And I was just thinking I seldom see a girl who meets with my approval in height. I usually have to bend over like a weeping willow."

"Tell me about your radio show," Romany said then, "Cholly tells me you've sold several."

"I've sold five half-hour scripts," Bax replied. "But it's been a pretty dull year. Two of my scripts have been broadcast from Hollywood, with movie casts. Of course, I've got a kick out of that."

"That's grand! How about your five-day-a-week show?"

"It's being cut tomorrow. But I'm holding my breath."

"Cut?" Romany lifted an inquiring eyebrow.

"Oh, I forgot you're new to the business. That means a record is to be made tomorrow. It'll be cast and put on wax for a sponsor to hear. At least I hope a sponsor will hear it. The title is 'Paradise Is Here.' Like it?"

"Intriguing," Romany smiled. "Do I play the lead?"

"Oh, but surely," grinned Bax. "You'll probably be a full fledged leading woman by the time it goes on the air. This is a crazy business."

"I've heard that several times today."

"You'll find out," Bax sighed. "I still can't believe the Byrd-Cromwell agency won't burn down tomorrow before 'Paradise' is out."

The orchestra leader motioned for the musical signature and the band stopped playing. When the dancers had returned to their tables, Mack McDermott, master of ceremonies, held up his hand for quiet.

"Folks," he beamed, "we've a little extra special attraction for you this evening. An old friend of mine, and yours, has dropped in and kindly consented to sing for us. Folks, I give you that famous football streak of lightning from Indiana university, Big Terry O'Rourke."

The Silver Door shook with cheers. In spite of her heavy heart, Cholly swelled with pride. Was there ever anyone more handsome than Terry, standing there in the spotlight with his upraised hand and his shining devil-may-care smile?

Terry sang two new songs, "Smilin' in a Rain Barrel" and "So It Wasn't Love After All."

His rich Irish tenor was entirely out of keeping with his big frame. By all rights he should have been a roaring basso. But when Terry O'Rourke sang, even men who swore they despised tenors paused and listened and wanted him to sing again. Women wept and wanted him to hold them in his arms. Even Cholly had almost forgotten how angry she was with him when the roar of applause had subsided and the crowd reluctantly let him go back to his table.

"Oh, Terry," Romany's eyes were misty, "you sing like an angel."

"You shouldn't be plugging songs," Bax agreed. "You should be way up in the money. It's a waste of time, and talent."

"He will be way up at the top some day." Cholly reached over and touched his cheek. "Because he's going to work hard and climb there."

"For you, Macushla," Terry leaned toward her, his eyes deep with longing, "I'd crawl up there on broken glass."

Then, flushed with success and the applause that still rang in his ears, his mood changed.

"Waiter!" He raised his hand. "Another bottle of wine!"

The light left Cholly's eyes and Romany saw them cloud with disappointment and worry. Baxter saw, too, and tactfully asked Charlotte to dance with him. She got up, glad for an excuse to step into the dim lights and blink away her tears.

Left alone with Terry, Romany had to bite her tongue to keep from telling him that he was a fool.

"I don't believe you approve of me," Terry suggested.

"Don't you?" Romany shrugged. "That's too bad. I would approve of you if you had the horse sense you were born with, Terry O'Rourke. But I don't like to see you break the heart of a girl like Cholly. Anybody but Cholly."

"She's an angel." Terry pushed back his glass of wine. "And I'm not worth one little headache. She ought to kick me out."

"I think so, too." Romany smiled to take away the sting. "But I wouldn't know why she hasn't because I've never been in love."

"When you do fall in love," Terry predicted, "you'll be just as bad. Or worse."

Romany's answer was interrupted when Cholly and Bax came back to the table.

"How'd you like to come down to the agency and sit around while my records are being made tomorrow?" Bax asked Romany while they were dancing later. "Soak up some atmosphere and sort of learn the ropes. You can watch the auditions and learn how it's done."

Romany accepted the invitation with deep gratitude.

"I don't know much about radio," Baxter then said modestly, "but what I do know I'll be very glad to teach you. Maybe I can help a little with your reading. If you'd like to work on some scripts with me."

U.S. Snubs Wang Adds Strain To Jap Dealing

TOKYO, April 1 —(AP)— The United States' refusal to recognize the new Japanese-approved regime of Wang Ching-Wei in China, although expected, added strain today to relations between Washington and Tokyo.

Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, declared the announcement of State Secretary Cordell Hull that the United States would not recognize the three-day-old government "can hardly be described as constructive."

He said it would damage efforts to improve Japanese-United States relations.

Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita said yesterday at Osaka that continued United States recognition of the Chungking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had been foreseen "in view of the American attitude since the outbreak of the Manchurian incident."

Nevertheless, Arita said, Japan will set as her first goal the support of all Chinese for Wang's regime and, after that, third powers will be "compelled to recognize the National government, whether they like it or not."

(Japan's conquest of Manchoukuo never has been recognized by the United States.

(Hull Saturday called the new Nanking government an apparent "further step in a program of one country by armed force to impose its will on a neighboring country and to block off a large area of the world from normal political and economic relationships with the rest of the world.")

Japan today named former Premier Nobuyuki Abe as ambassador to China and Suma said formal recognition of the Nanking regime would be given within the month.

Hull's reference to a closed economic bloc drew the spokesman's rejoinder that "it is not entirely true."

"Foreign rights and interests will be respected," he said. "What has been mistaken for a closed bloc is only a transient phase between hostilities and peace."

Suma said he would not go to the extent of holding that United States recognition of the Nanking government was necessary for a settlement of Japanese - American problems in China. But, he said, "obviously such an abrupt announcement" as Hull's "will hamper our attempts to ameliorate relations with the United States."

Springbrook WI Plans To Make More Quilts

BONARLAW, April 1 — (ENS). —The regular meeting of Springbrook Women's Institute was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas H. McKeown, Springbrook, with an attendance of twenty-three members and seven visitors. The president, Mrs. J. F. Baker, presided. The roll-call was "Name a self-made person." It was moved by Mrs. George Eastwood, seconded by Mrs. George Thompson, that the Institute donate $2.00 to the Federated Institute fund. A quilt top was made by the branch and Mrs. Sid Mason volnnteered to quilt the quilt free of charge. Tickets will be sold when finished and proceeds will be used for war purposes.

It was decided to hold a pot-luck dinner at the club rooms, Bonarlaw, on Tuesday, April 2, the afternoon to be spent in quilting another quilt. The convener for education was unable to be present so the president acted as chairman for the following program:

Thet motto: "How do we expect to harvest thought without a seed of character?" was given by Mrs. A. Burkitt; a travelogue was given by Mrs. Florence Bateman on her trip last year to Niagara Falls and the U.S.A. Several pictures were shown of scenery, also some tokens she received while visiting different places. Community singing of Irish songs, with Mrs. Jason Baker at the piano. Mrs. Arthur Reid gave a paper on "Education." Current Events was taken by Mrs. George Eastwood.

A jolly contest was put on by Mrs. Hugh Jones, which was a real puzzle and lunch was served and a social half-hour spent.

1,300 PERFORMANCES

OBITUARIES

MRS. HORACE P. BINGHAM

Emma Jane Bingham, wife of the late Horace P. Bingham died Saturday afternoon in Nicholls Hospital. She was 53 years of age.

The late Mrs. Bingham was born in Manvers township, daughter of the late John Fair and Elizabeth Staples. Her mother is still living. During the past several years Mrs. Bingham lived at Georgetown, Ontario, moving to this city fifteen months ago. She has been ill for the past six months.

Surviving are two daughters, Beth and Catharine at home, and three sisters, Miss Ada Fair, of Cavan; Mrs. Harry Earle, Grimsby; Miss Wilma Fair, Toronto and one brother, William of Cavan.

A funeral service will be held on Monday, April 1st at eight o'clock in the evening at Belleghem's Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street with the Rev. M. Waterson, officiating. The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 10 a.m. with interment at Georgetown, Ontario. Motor funeral.

WILLIAM WASSON

Following a brief illness of four days' duration, the death occurred on Thursday morning of William Wasson in his 95th year.

The deceased was born in Warsaw and lived there nearly all his life until moving to Peterborough some fifteen years ago, and latterly living with his daughter in Asphodel where death occurred. He was the last surviving member of an old pioneer family being the son of the late John Wasson and Alice Crowe.

Mr. Wasson was predeceased by his wife (Mary Elizabeth Robeson) nearly four years ago, and is survived by four children: Cecil of Peterborough, Ralph of Warsaw, Alice (Mrs. John Moore) of Asphodel, and Ruth of Cobourg.

The funeral took place on Saturday at 2 o'clock from the residence of his son-in-law, John Moore in Asphodel to the Warsaw United Church, where the friends and neighbors gathered to honor the memory of one who had given his time and energy to the building of that edifice nearly fifty years ago.

The service at the home, church, and the committal service at St. Mark's Cemetery was conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Warsaw, assisted by Rev. Mr. Parr of George Street United Church, Peterborough.

MRS. JOHN COWLING.

ROSENEATH, April 1 — (ENS). —Funeral services for the late Mrs. John Cowling were held Saturday afternoon at the family residence, Fenella. Mrs. Cowling was seized with a sudden illness on the evening of March 27, and died soon after being admitted to Cobourg General Hospital. She was in her 66th year.

Formerly Mary Emma Pillage of Coldsprings, she was the wife of John Cowling, a prominent farmer living at Fenella, three miles southwest of Roseneath. Mrs. Cowling was a woman of fine Christian character, a member of Fenella United Church, a member of the W.M.S., and also active in community work. In addition to her husband she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Cecil Roberts of Whitby, Mrs. George Mouncey of Roseneath, Mrs. Frank Down, of Fenella; one son, Roy of Fenella, and a sister, Mrs. James Elliott of Cobourg.

The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Eugene Beech. Mr. Beech's subject was "The Uncertainty of Life," his text, "Watch, therefore, for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come" (Matt. 24. 42).

Interment was made at Bethesda (Harwood) Cemetery.

Bomber engines are to be made in the new $5,000,000 factory in Lidcobe, Australia.

Whether more university degrees or more privately-owned farms are better for the country, is being discussed in Eire, which sends many university graduates to America.

LOANS
WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 on your own signature, if you can repay $7.78 a month — No credit questions asked of friends or relatives — See table for other loans and payment plans — Quick, private service

You can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make regular monthly payments on your loan. You may make these payments on the schedule which best fits your monthly income. You may repay a small amount each month. Or you may repay in larger instalments and thus reduce the cost.

Choose your own payments

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will find, for instance, that monthly payments of $7.78 each will repay your loan in full in fifteen months. Or, if you wish to repay sooner, you may make twelve monthly payments of $9.46 each. When you borrow at Household Finance, you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. The payments shown in the table, when made on schedule, include all charges. You pay nothing more.

You can borrow $20 to $500 if you can make these convenient monthly payments

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you prepay your loan, in full or in part, since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at the rate of 2% per month as authorized by the Small Loans Act, 1939. R. E. HOUGHTON, PRESIDENT

What you do to borrow

Simply tell us your needs. We require no salary or wage assignment, no bankable security. No credit questions are asked of your friends or relatives—and you don't have to ask friends, employer or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan on your own responsibility—without delay and without embarrassment.

Fair treatment

In a case of sickness or unemployment, while paying on a loan, Household shows the borrower every consideration. During the past seven years Household has made over 225,000 loans to Canadians amounting to over $38,000,000 and in not a single instance foreclosed a mortgage or garnisheed a wage cheque.

Find the amount you need in the first column of the table and choose the monthly payment which you can conveniently make. See how you can repay your loan on the schedule which best fits your monthly income. Then phone or visit us. You will be under no obligation to borrow.

Conant To Stop "Log Rolling" By Provincials

TORONTO, April 1. — "Log-rolling" or attempts to secure preferment, transfer, or promotion, "or any disposition other than on merit will not be tolerated in the Provincial Police Force," Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General, warned on Saturday in a special police inquiry sitting at Queen's Park.

Moreover, in his summary of the evidence, the Attorney-General intimated that "log-rolling" has been in existence in the force for many years. "This thing must be stamped out or it will destroy the Provincial Police, and I am going to stamp it out with every means at my command," he said. "It is too important an organization and performs too great a service to our people to allow it to be destroyed by this canker, which, from the frequency that such, although less striking, incidents have occurred, would appear to have been eating at its vitals for many years."

Commended for Zeal.

The Attorney-General's warning fell not only on the ears of headquarters' staff officers, many of whom gave evidence at the hearing, but of ten Provincial constables, representing nine Provincial Police districts, who have been attending the police school in Toronto.

The men were paraded before the inquiry opened and were commended for zeal and interest in police work by both the Commissioner and the Attorney-General. "One of the greatest defects in the policing of the Province is the deficiency in training," Mr. Conant told them. "I may say that this applies more to the municipal police. Naturally an efficient officer is much more valuable to the Province."

The inquiry was called by the Attorney-General and Provincial Police Commissioner William H. Stringer in the case of an officer of the motorcycle patrol, who, it was charged, had petitioned another Cabinet Minister to intervene on his behalf.

The accused officer, stated by his inspector and by Commissioner Stringer to be an efficient officer, admitted the charges and asked clemency. Mr. Conant advised him that, in due time, he would instruct the commission as to the disposition that is to be made of his case.

In Interests of Force

"The facts and circumstances might justify dismissal from the force, but I want to consider the whole matter calmly and cooly in order that, in the final result a disposition may be arrived at, fair and just to the constable, and in the best interests of the entire force," said the Attorney-General.

In opening the hearing, Mr. Conant said that, in the ordinary course of events the matter would have been disposed of by the Commissioner. Under the circumstances, he claim, the issue was so far-reaching in its possible effects that it merited a broader consideration.

Witnesses were examined by Walter Martin of the Attorney-General's Department. The Commissioner said the accused officer had interviewed him on March 14, and asked to be transferred to the Criminal Investigation Branch. He claimed, said the Commissioner, that in attempting to add to his usefulness in the force, he had taken a correspondence course in crime detection work. He was advised, said the Commissioner, that he could not be passed over the heads of senior men and "I told him that he would be passed from the patrol to a detachment at the first possible opportunity."

"While the constable is to be commended for his endeavors to improve his efficiency and value as a police officer so that he might advance in the service, the methods he adopted for securing such advancement were entirely wrong, and must be severely censured," commented Mr. Conant.

"If promotions, transfers or other disposition of the force were to be made as the result of intercession by persons outside the force, it would completely demoralize and ruin the discipline and morale of the force. Furthermore, the usefulness and value of any member of the force obtaining preferement by such means would be largely impaired if not entirely destroyed."

Holds Important Balkan Key

Emerging from the war situation as an outstanding diplomat, King Carol of Rumania, followed by Crown Prince Michael, is leaving the parliament building in Bucharest after opening the current session of parliament. As the leader of one of the richest of the Balkan nations, it has been Carol's difficult task to steer a neutral course between the powerful tugs being made by both sides of the current war.

Chief interest centred in possible further steps to keep German merchantmen from using Norwegian waters as a lane through which to transport Swedish iron ore to feed the Nazi war machine.

It was generally accepted that this leak in the Allied blockade had been given careful study by the War Council.

Want Tighter Blockade

The British press, endorsing Churchill's warning to neutral states demanded measures to make the blockade more effective, and pointed to increased exports from the United States to Germany's neutral neighbors.

Tightening of the contraband control by "rationing" imports of neutrals on the basis of their normal needs was suggested as one means of meeting this situation.

The press also pointed out by means of maps, other leaks in the blockade—namely, the transportation of Russian oil across the Black Sea and "backdoor" shipments from Vladivostok by way of the Trans-Siberian railway.

The foreign office denied reports in Balkan diplomatic quarters that the Allies had obtained permission from Turkey to send Warships through the Dardanelle into the Black Sea to close this oil route.

"We have not asked for permission and they have not given it," a spokesman said.

The principal development on the war front over the week-end was the reappearance of German scouting planes off the northern tip of Scotland yesterday, but the raiders were driven off by pursuit ships and anti-aircraft fire with the bombs still in their racks.

A 10-minute air raid alarm was sounded in the Shetland Islands and a 40-minute alarm in the Orkneys, where splinters from anti-aircraft shells fell in the streets.

The ministry of information said that a German Dornier bomber had been disabled by a British pursuit plane far out over the North Sea. When last seen, the Nazi craft was flying low over the water with black smoke pouring from one engine.

Weygand Attends

Sharing attention with the cabinet meeting was the presence in Paris of General Maxime Weygand, commander of French forces in the near east, who arrived here Saturday for a military conference, the nature of which has not been disclosed.

Also the subject of considerable interest was the address Premier Reynaud is scheduled to broadcast to North America at midnight (6 p.m., E.S.T.) Wednesday.

Originally to have been delivered last Saturday, it was deferred on account of static to tonight and then postponed a second time.

The following is an outline of the new three-point domestic program inaugurated by the government.

A nationwide census was started preparatory to immediate issuance of food and fuel ration cards similar to those already in use in England and Germany.

Only troops actually eating food provided in army messes were exempt from this census.

Every other man and woman, from President Albert Lebrun to the newest-born baby, had to be listed for a card.

The cards will set the allowance for food and fuel in each household on a daily basis. Even the number of meals habitually eaten away from home each week is taken into consideration.

Authorities explain that the rationing system is intended as much to equalize the hardships of war for rich and poor as to conserve food.

Prizes For Babies.

An amplified "family assistance" program went into effect, providing prizes for babies and aid to needy families of mobilized Poilus.

This program was decreed last July 29. It not only establishes allowances of not less than 2,000 francs ($40) for a baby born to a needy family but under an elaborate system grants a sliding scale of payments to families hard hit by the war.

It is estimated that 9,000,000,000 francs will be necessary to carry out the plan. This, in part, will come from extra taxes on bachelors and childless families.

While inheritance taxes in the lower income brackets for families of four children are halved and are eliminated for those of five or more, the tax is raised correspondingly for families with less than two children.

A special allowance is to be paid to mothers unable to earn their own living because they have to stay at home and care for children.

A drive to enlist more women in munitions works was planned, with 1,000,000 women workers as its goal.

If this number cannot be reached on a voluntary basis, the Labor Ministry may use its authority to make female labor compulsory in some industries.

Employers are asked to give priority, to women who have lost other jobs because of wartime shutdowns or whose husbands are mobilized.

The hiring of women has proceeded slowly up to now because it has been necessary to convert considerable machinery and to train women to operate it.

However, 29 per cent. of the personnel in state factories working for the Air Ministry is female and the proportion is constantly increasing in other industries. One Paris factory, for example, hired 1,000 new women workers over the week-end.

turning officers will add the active service vote totals to those recorded by civilians, thus completing the election returns.

Altogether the active service votes went into 972 boxes in three electoral areas in Canada and one in England. But only the votes in 968 boxes will be tallied because those for Three Rivers were voided when that election was postponed to April 22 by the death of a candidate.

No Soldier Vote Here.

Th election was deferred after the active service vote had been cast and the April 22 voting will go forward without any vote by airmen, sailors and soldiers of the Canadian forces. It cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 to take this vote for all constituencies and an active service vote for one riding would be too expensive.

Meantime everything was ready in the chief electoral officer's establishment for receiving the vote totals from the special returning officers, combine them for each candidate and forward the figures to returning officers.

Active service men voted from March 14 to 23 in England and from March 16 to 23 in Canada, the ballots being cast in camps and barracks before commissioned officers and then mailed by the electors to special returning officers for sorting and, after polls closed, for counting.

In each special returning office, London for the United Kingdom, Halifax for the Maritime Provinces, Ottawa for Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, and Edmonton for the rest of Canada, were 242 ballot boxes.

As the votes were received they went in the box designated in each voter's declaration, showing where last was a civilian. In that manner the sorting was completed before counting began a 6 p.m., local time, March 26 when civilian polls closed.

Broilers Lower On The Market

Broilers at 30 cents on the market on Saturday were down five cents from the previous week. Last July chickens, some of them weighing up to eight pounds, sold at 25 cents, with smaller ones at 23 cents, and other were marked down to 20 cents.

Butter was unchanged at 29 and 30 cents; and eggs were 20 to 23c. Potatoes were also in the groove at $1.10 to $1.15 for Cobblers and White Stars.

Fresh meat prices were also at the same levels as a week ago. Harry Gill quoted pork at 13 and 15 cents, beef at 12 and 14 cents, lamb at 20 and 22 cents, and veal at 16 and 18 cents.

All the apple men reported brisk business. Norman Monerief quoted Northern Spies at 45 and 50 cents, Tolman Sweets, Russets, and Starks at 30 cents or $1.00 a bushel.

Dunford Brothers of Lakefield had green mixed wood at $6.00 a cord. Attendance was below the average, country roads being still closed to motor cars in many parts of the district.

Arrested For Assassination

Mahoned Singh Azad does not easily forget an injury to his people even though it occurred more than 20 years ago. Azad is an Afghan. He is shown being taken to a police van.

Dr. Moore remained secretary of the general council until his retirement two years ago, but he continued to devote his energy and ability to the work of evangelism and social service. He was a staunch believer in applied christianity as the solution to present-day ills.

He was a native of Acton, Ont., and for a time was editor and publisher of the Acton Free Press. After his ordination in 1884 he held pastorates in many Ontario centres. Twice married, his second wife, the former Annie Laura Forster, survives with three daughters.

Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen, Anglican Primate of all Canada, added his tribute to Dr. Moore, saying he had always found him "willing to cooperate for the good of the country and the Christian cause."

Rev. Dr. H. H. Bingham, past president of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, said the Christian forces of Canada have lost a real friend in the passing of Dr. Moore. He was a wise counselor and a notable champion of every righteous cause; a man of broad sympathies that made him beloved of all communions."

this week, the Chicago wheat price indicated producer income as a whole should not suffer. Above dollar wheat, due to the crop situation as well as war in Europe and Asia, is almost 40 cents higher than at this time last year and double the low prices of 1931 and 1932.

Revenue To Stand Up.

Grain men estimated that at current prices United States production of both winter and spring wheat could fall as low as 500,000,000 bushels and still have a potential market value as great as the 755,000,000 bushel 1939 crop had at prices prevailing a year ago. However, much of the 1939 wheat was sold at prices considerably higher than the 68 cents quoted at this time last year.

The current price is based partly on an expected 1940 harvest of around 600,000,000 bushels, which includes the preliminary government December 1 forecast of 400,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and a normal spring crop of 200,000,000. These figures, however, are subject to change due to weather conditions and the fact that the spring crop has not yet been planted because of dollar wheat and poor prospects in the southwest, northwest farmers are expected to seed in the next few weeks 10 per cent. more acreage than last year.

After the breaking of the drought in the southwest as a result of good mid-winter snows, some Chicago experts were inclined to raise their estimates of probable winter wheat production. A month ago one authority forecast a crop of 434,000,000 bushels compared with 563,000,000 in 1939. The only years since 1900 in which the crop has fallen below 400,000,000 was in 1933 when production totalled 376,000,000 bushels and in 1917 when it was 389,900,000.

Milk Tester Is Recommended For The Season

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1 — (ENS).—Thomas Fry of Seymour township was Saturday recommended by the executive of the Northumberland County Cheese Producers' Association as milk tester for Northumberland county. The recommendation of the executive will take effect following ratification by the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, President George S. Vanvolkenburg who was chairman of the meeting, said. Departing from the policy adopted in previous years, the milk tester will be engaged for the entire season providing the Department acts upon a resolution of the association urging this step. Formerly it was the practice for the inspector to be hired only until the end of October, but following the experience of 1939 when some factories operated until well into December it was felt this change should be instituted. "It is towards the end of the season that we really need the inspector's services," said Mr. VanVolkenburg, adding that under the present arrangement he would remain on the job as long as the milk was coming to the factory.

MY WIFE OUGHT TO BE A NURSE!

She is a marvel at relieving sore muscles and stiff joints

Knowing just what to do in cases of pain or discomfort, has endeared many a wife in her husband's eyes. Most women who are good at nursing, use Sloan's Liniment. "Nothing quite so good as Sloan's," they say, for home treatment of painful muscles, stiff joints, everyday aches and pains, or when a cold settles on the chest.

The reason for Sloan's quick relief is in the penetrating, stimulating warmth it brings to the stiff or painful part. And Sloan's does its work without rubbing. Just pat it on. It is not greasy. When used according to directions, Sloan's Liniment is active enough for adults—mild enough for children. 12P

FRESH YEAST to help digestion

VITAMINS for vitality

Of course it's hard to keep going, when you have to fight fatigue, or when little digestive upsets keep your vitality low.

See if Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast can't help you. It is a splendid tonic food supplement, scientists say, because it gives you vitamins and fresh yeast together.

The vitamins are needed for steady nerves and vitality.

Only in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast can you get such an abundant supply of the 4 important vitamins A, B_1, D and G, and all the vitamins of the amazing vitamin B complex.

See if eating two cakes every day doesn't help you to feel more energetic, fit and self confident.

Hitler's Jewish Terror In Warsaw

Flanked by agents of the Gestapo these Polish Jews form a pitiful column as they are marched to a concentration area. Most of the men are elders in the Community who preferred to stay in the city of their birth rather than flee when they had the chance.

Head of the Class and fit to be tried!

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 McLaughlin-Buick to claim your attention — that is, if you really want to know what's what in motor cars.

For instance, you've got to admit from the way folks are swinging over to McLaughlin-Buick, that it must have something value-wise that's important for you to measure.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

And the "rave" notices BuiCoil Springing gets, the talk you hear about five-foot front seat-room in the Super—finger-flick transmission — these suggest there's something here you ought to know about, too.

But even skipping this, there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer. That's the fact, obvious from the very looks of other cars, that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year—and right now, style-wise, comfort-wise and feature-wise, it is the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveller. Sit in it—handle its controls — drive it.

We think we know what the result will be. Even if you don't discover that McLaughlin-Buick is an immediate "must," you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

Little Hoarding Now Going On Board Claims

OTTAWA, April 1—With business adjusted to a war footing, hoarding and attempts at profiteering in essential commodities have virtually disappeared in the Dominion, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board reported in its second quarterly summary issued Saturday.

In the first three months prompt action was required from the board to prevent unwarranted price increases but since the first of the year, the board reports, there has been no acute shortage of any necessity of life in Canada. "Thus there was both less temptation and less opportunity to take advantage of the consumer, and the board had to make less use of its regulatory and preventive power," the report states.

With the early pressure removed, the board has had more time to plan for the future and has extended the scope for its investigations. It has, for instance, developed plans during the last two months to ensure maximum movement of Maritime coal during the summer months into Ontario and Quebec to head off any shortage during the coming winter. The problem of maintaining supplies of all essential commodities has been surveyed from at least a year ahead.

Wool Still a Problem

Wool, the report reveals, still remains a problem. There are adequate supplies of the cross-bred types to meet all Canadian military requirements up until Sept. 10 and enough over to meet a substantial proportion of civilian requirements for the same period. A note of caution is sounded however.

"While there appears to be no probability of any scarcity of wool in Canada," the report states, "nevertheless all cross-bred grades will have to be used with economy. It will continue to be necessary to substitute, to some degree, finer and reworked wools for these grades."

An earlier fear that the Canadian carpet-making industry would be hit by the wool shortage has proved groundless. The wool administrator has been able to secure release of sufficient quantities of East Indian wool from the British wool controller to look after the carpet needs of Canada for some months to come.

While keeping supplies moving, the board, it was announced, has commenced a preliminary investigation "of the price spreads and markups in the manufacture of woollen and worsted clothes."

Sugar gave the board its first battle. A second skirmish in the same war was fought in December and January, the report reveals, but fought so quietly that it received no public notice. Rumors about a possible price increase created a sugar-buying flurry which persisted through the greater part of January. The refiners, the report reveals, with the approval of the sugar administrator, in many instances limited sales to industrial users and distributors to the volume which had obtained in January, 1939. There has been no change in the price which the sugar administrator pays for raw sugar, nor has there been any change in the wholesale price of refined sugar in Canada.

As one direct result of the sugar control a most-favored-nation agreement was negotiated during March with the Republic of San Domingo whereby in return for the purchase of raw sugar Canada secured important tariff concessions in that country for various products, including fish and seed potatoes.

Queen Alexandra School Retains Lead In Penny Bank Deposits

Schools in Peterborough and the immediate vicinity, according to the official report just issued, had less money in the Penny Bank at the end of February than was on deposit a year ago. The total amount was $18,494.86, while the figure at the end of February, 1939, was $19,658.64.

During the first two months of this year, a weekly average of 51 per cent. of the pupils attending Peterborough schools made regular deposits in the bank. The two schools that made by far the best showing in this respect were Queen Alexandra, 88 per cent. of the pupils of which added regularly to their school bank accounts, and King Edward School with 80 per cent. of its pupils coming through every week.

The figures for other schools were: Central School 55 per cent., King George 48 per cent., Queen Elizabeth 47 per cent., Confederation 42 per cent., Queen Mary 39 per cent., Prince of Wales 33 per cent., and May's School 24 per cent.

Altogether in Ontario, 522 schools are connected with the Penny Bank and their pupils have on deposit $1,451,261.53.

Bonus Schools Teaching Only English?

TORONTO, April 1 — (CP). — W. J. Miller of Bognor, former Grand Master of Ontario West in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, said today he planned to do nothing further about an attempt to obtain a bonus for those schools which teach only the English language.

The Ontario Educational Association decided on Saturday to take no action on a motion forwarded by Section 13, Penelon, Victoria County, and supported by Mr. Miller, in which governments were asked to give bonuses to schools teaching only English. The Penelon body wrote a letter declaring: "It is in the interests of Canada to have only one language."

"We are told in Holy Writ that a house divided against itself cannot stand," Mr. Miller said. "If this condition goes on, it will destroy our democracy."

Carter Is Charged Second Offender

Arrested in an automobile on London street on Sunday afternoon by Constables John Naples and Archie Menzies, Harry Carter appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

The magistrate informed him that he was being tried as a second offender under the Liquor Control Act.

Carter pleaded not guilty and asked the court for an adjournment but Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., suggested that a remand would be more in order.

Euchre Party Is Held By Red Cross Society

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1 — A euchre party sponsored by the Campbellford and Seymour branch of the Red Cross society was held in their work rooms in the Public Library here on Friday evening. Over sixty attended the affair which was designed to raise funs for the society which has been actively engaged in doing war work since its organization. N. Alex MacColl complimented those who had arranged the party and expressed his appreciation for the good attendance. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Ackerman, Mr. H. Beatty, Mrs. Williamson and Mr. Harry Redden.

Weather Ideal For Making Of Maple Syrup

Weather conditions are ideal for the making of maple syrup according to district farmers who point out that warm sunny days and sharp frosty nights make the ideal combination for a steady sap run.

Tapping has been underway for ten days and reports from all parts of the district are favorable on the run. Farmers are handicapped to some extent by the deep snow in the maple stands but this is compensated to some extent by the fact that it provides good sleighing and makes the roads through woods comparatively smooth.

Dominion Department of Agriculture estimates that 50,000 farmers in Ontario, Quebec and Maritime provinces will be harvesting the annual crop of maple syrup and maple sugar by April 1st. More than 20,000,000 maple trees will be tapped for their sweet liquid, and by Saturday next there should be a good supply on all local markets.

Prospects throughout Eastern Ontario are bright for a good run. Last year the yield was comparatively low due to unfavorable weather conditions. In 1939 the total yield of maple syrup was 2,302,200 gallons and the production of maple sugar was 2,900,200 pounds. The province of Quebec accounts for about eighty per cent of total output of maple products with the Eastern Townships as centre of production. Ontario is becoming a competitor by leaps and bounds and each year more trees are being tapped as farmers find this new branch of the farming industry more lucrative. In this district the city of Peterborough and the numerous villages presents a ready market for all the syrup that can be produced, and there is some demand from buyers at Toronto and Hamilton.

It is expected that the demand this year for maple products will be greater than for several years previous.

Along the main street today hardware men report a brisk sale of spiles and tin pails essential to the industry.

Two bad fires in January, the Moldaver warehouse and coal sheds on Bethune street and the billiard rooms on Charlotte street where the fire did some damage to the lingeries shop next door pushed the fire loss total for the first three months of the year above the two years previous.

In the three months of 1939, January, February and March there were seven fires involving losses and the total was $3,439.80. In the same three months of 1938, there were 9 fires with a total loss of $531.95. This year the total number of fires were sixteen and the total loss figure up to April 1st is $4,850.27.

CAMPBELLFORD

Welfare Convener Is Named For Blind

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1 (ENS) —In an effort to keep in closer contact with the blind people of this district the local branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind appointed Mrs. D. N. O'Keefe as Welfare Convener. The meeting was called by Chairman F. F. Long who introduced James McDonald, district representative, Oshawa who addressed the gathering briefly suggesting creation of the new office that would assist the committee in their work locally. Plans to hold their annual tag day late in the summer were tabled.

Choir Holds Social

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1 (ENS) —The Choir of St. John's United Church enjoyed a delightful social time on Friday evening when Mrs. A. G. Watson, Oliver Road kindly loaned her home for the evening. Several contests formed the principal entertainment to the more than 25 who were present and at the close a delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

Troop Armor?

Ottawa, April 1 (CP).

A PROPOSAL to equip the Canadian Active Service Force with a new type of body armor has been made to the National Defense Department by a United States company.

Consideration is being given the plan in the same manner as hundreds of other new war devices are investigated, it was learned tonight, but no decision has been reached.

The armor jacket weighs fourteen pounds, slips over the shoulder like a sleeveless sweater and covers the front, back and sides of the body with processed steel plates.

The company claims it will stop shots from rifles, fragments of shells, anti-aircraft missiles and hand grenade fragments.

Boosted Hitler – Now a Refugee

Fritz Thyssen, the German steel magnate whose backing boosted Herr Hitler to power is a refugee now. He is reported to have opposed Der Fuehrer's war aims, and as a result had to flee the Reich. Herr Thyssen is pictured here with his family in exile at Locarno, Switzerland. Standing, LEFT to RIGHT, are Thyssen, his wife and son-in-law, Count Zichy. His daughter, Countess Zichy, and her son, Fritz August, are seated. Thyssen is reported to have left Switzerland for France.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up By Examiner Reporters.

FIRST MAPLE SYRUP.

MORE HOGS COMING

Receipt of hogs at Canada Packers was beginning today to pick up some of the volume lost last week by the snow blockade of township roads throughout Central Ontario. Production dropped as a result of the decline in deliveries at the local plant.

PICKED UP IN TORONTO.

Missing since Saturday morning a ten-year-old Mark Street lad was picked up in Toronto by Queen City police on Sunday, and placed in the Children's Aid Society shelter. The Toronto police notified the local Police Department, who in turn informed the parents here that the missing boy had been located.

ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT.

Charged as a third offender a local young man was successful in securing another adjournment in a drunk charge in Police Court this morning. "There's illness in the family," Chief Constable Newhall informed the court in support of the accused's request.

TO HONOR DRIVERS

Bell Telephone truck drivers whose traffic logs are clear of accidents will be presented with merit awards at a dinner in the Empress Hotel Thursday evening. The men are coming here from Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg and elsewhere in the district, with branch office officials and also some of the headquarters officers.

HYDRO POLE SMASHED.

A Hydro pole at the intersection of Charlotte and Park Streets was struck by an automobile on Friday night and broken. Police discovered that the car involved belonged to a Haliburton man and the latter claimed that the machine had been driven off without his knowledge or authority by his cousin, who subsequently became involved in the accident.

COLLIDE AT CORNER.

As Vernon O'Connor, 562 Douglas Avenue, was driving north on Stewart Street on Sunday his car and another automobile being driven east along Sherbrooke Street came into collision at the intersection. The rear fender and rear door of O'Connor's machine was damaged and the front of the other machine, which was owned by L. Pfohl, 929 Bay Street, Toronto, also received injury from the impact.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN.

When George Pinch was charged in Police Court this morning with having assaulted George White, occasioning actual bodily harm, the complainant White informed the Magistrate that he wished to withdraw the charge. "You will have to get the consent of the Crown," Magistrate Langley stated. "I have no objection," Crown Attorney McElderry said. "It was a family affair."

TULIPS GROWING

Tulips were sprouting vigorously this morning among the Raybestos shrubbery on the south and sunny side of the office.

PLAN FOREST LODGE

The reforestation committee of the county council discussed last Friday afternoon plans for a small lodge to be built in the county's forest. The work may be undertaken this season.

COUNCIL ENGAGEMENT.

The April meeting of the City Council to-night will prevent its members from attending the Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Empress Hotel at which Rev. Dr. Cody will be the guest speaker.

VALUATING STARTS.

The assessor's department of the city swung into action this morning for the annual assessing of all city property. Bert Graham started in the north-end and Max Sloan began his work in Ashburnham.

AT TORONTO MEETING

WILD DUCKS ARRIVE.

When John Lillico looked out the west window of his home this morning he saw a small flock of wild ducks splashing in a pond of surface water. They had arrived during the night on their migrant way north.

ONLY DEATH INCREASE

Seven more deaths than for the same period last year were the only variation in Peterboroughs vital statistics in March. In that month last year there were 59 births, 11 marriages and 36 deaths; and in March of this year the figures were 59 births, 11 marriages and 43 deaths.

CHEERY NOTE.

The last day of March brought the first robin to Lakefield. Ernie Waldon of Queen Street reports one cheerfully chirping away in the north-end on Sunday morning evidently in the belief Old Man Winter was licked.

DRIFTS PILED HIGH.

Farmers report to-day that it is very unlikely any work can be done in the fields for at least a month as drifts are still piled ten and twelve feet high in some places. This would make it a late spring in this district.

SPRING SONGSTER.

Ormie Ball says he heard the first troubadour of spring at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, and looking around the trees at the Whittington Service Station out the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway he saw the robin that had called him outdoors.

SNOW DISAPPEARING.

Farmers in the city this morning brought news that winter is in full retreat along the township roads. The mild week-end weather melted a lot of the snow from the fields and road sides, leaving expanses of water that has not yet reached the ditches.

IN HIGH GEAR.

Jim Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and his two assistants worked at top speed all day selling car markers to tardy motorists who realize now that provincial and city police are not going to fool with offenders who drive with 1939 plates. At ten-thirty this morning there were three lines of applicants purchasing markers and drivers' licences.

Speaking School For Canadian Politicians Suggested Before Meeting of Drama League

KITCHENER, Ont., April 1 (CP) —A speaking school for Canadian politicians was suggested in an address before a meeting of the Western Ontario Drama League here Sunday by Robertson Davies, a Canadian who is a member of the old Vic Theatre Company in London, England.

Mr. Davies, son of Rupert Davies of Kingston, president of the Eastern Ontario region of the Dominion Drama Festival, said he arrived in Canada at the time of the Federal election campaign and found "much of what was said extraordinarily difficult to follow without intense boredom."

"The politicians appeared to lack the knack of how to say a thing and get it across. Political doctrine would be more understandable if there were not such bad pronounciation, poor diction and lamentable voice production.

"I am not sure but that there should be a school for politicians and that they should be required to have a diploma. It is a distinctly Canadian fault to neglect that aspect of life to speak in public with insufficient style."

All Fools' Day Rules At Rotary Luncheon

From the moment that a torpedo exploded beneath the gavel of President E. L. Sackville as he called the meeting to order the spirit of April 1 ran riot throughout today's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel.

Rotarians who ordered chicken on toast got it all right but it was merely a little toy chicken while the apple fritters turned out to be boiled onions served in syrup.

The climax came when Constable Archie Menzies chased a supposed-to-be pickpocket through the dining room. That feature of the program backfired a little when one of the bellboys, believing the pursuit was genuine made a flying tackle of the fugitive.

When Rotarian Jack Smith was called upon to lead the singing he responded with a speech on the history of barbering showing that the profession dated back to early days in the African bush and that barbers formerly discharged some of the functions of the surgeon.

Then Rotarian Mac Gordon who was introduced as the guest speaker announced that instead he would lead the singing whereupon pianist George Nicholls entered an objection as the result of which he was the song leader and Rotarian Gordon presided at the piano.

Rotarian Gordon S. Matthews, assisted by Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin presented a number of special awards.

They went to Ivan McRae for keeping down the number of industrial accidents in Central Ontario, J. K. Hughes for bringing Col. Jack Dewart back to take part in the Liberal campaign, T. J. Carley and E. L. Sackville for the assistance they gave the Conservative party in the recent election. Tom McArthur for his prowess in curling, Fred L. Roy for his part in "giving Withers the garbage contract," Ed. Humphage in connection with publishing the salaries of city officials, Chris Graham for his chicken on toast, Jas. Dutton for defending Murray Fraser at Board of Health meetings, Fred Reed for his temerity in sitting at the "high brows'" table, Tom McKay for "having been taken in by Archie Menzies," Jack Smith for his talk on barbering and Roy Cutting for "very special services."

The prizes were all trick cigars, cigarette-lighters and similar gadgets that exploded when opened.

President Sackville expressed thanks to Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the entertainment committee for the month for taking advantage of All Fools' day for an unusual program.

War Bulletins

Received By Examiner Over Canadian Press Leased Wire

LONDON—(CP)—Britain's chief censor, Sir Walter Monckton, today was ordered to take a fortnight's rest because of overwork.

BUDAPEST—(CP-Havas)—Hungary wants to gain her objectives in the Danubian Basin peacefully "if possible," Premier Paul Teleki said today on his return from Rome.

His conferences with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, Count Teleki said, did not prepare the way for any new departure in East European affairs.

SOFIA—(AP)—Police today ordered foreigners prohibited from visiting Bulgaria's two principal ports, Bourgas and Varna, except by special permission.

Both ports on on the Black Sea. A new Russian air line between Moscow and Sofia has a base at Bourgas. Russian oil for Germany is transhipped through Varna.

LONDON—(CP)—More than 70,000 children between the ages of eight and 11 returned to school today for the first time since the outbreak of the war.

Compulsory attendance was first enforced last month for those from 11 to 14 years of age and now is being extended to children of lower ages as additional air raid shelters are constructed.

Flood Eases

THOROLD, Ont., April 1. — (CP) —Flood waters of Beaver Creek dropped two feet overnight and threat of a serious flood had passed today although the waterway continued to overflow its banks in some sections.

The fast-moving waters, rising steadily until midnight, inundated a large section of the residential area here, but a few flooded cellars was main property damage.

Bruce D. Clegg Passes Away In Hamilton

Member of the famous Dover patrol and one of the few Canadians who participated in the immortal British raid on Zeebruge, Bruce Dean Clegg, Peterborough-born officer in the Royal Navy during the Great War died in hospital in Hamilton on Saturday night.

Son of the late Samuel Clegg, he was born here 50 years ago and was educated in the local public schools and Collegiate Institute before graduating from the School of Practical Science, University of Toronto. Afterwards he became engaged in the mining machinery business and travelled extensively in New Ontario and elsewhere.

When war broke out he joined the British navy and eventually had the command of a motor patrol boat belonging to the Dover patrol. In the raid on Ostend and Zeebruge, one of the most glorious episodes in the history of the Royal Navy he was gassed.

Since the war Mr. Clegg had not lived in Peterborough very much but travelled considerably on business. He returned here in January but was taken ill shortly afterward and was finally sent to hospital in Hamilton where his death occurred on Saturday.

Surviving him is his mother, Mrs. Samuel Clegg, 205 Stewart street; Col. E. B. Clegg of Peterborough is an uncle and Mrs. W. H. White, an aunt of the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of D. Belleghem and Sons.

Office On Wheels

ALDERSHOT, England, April 1. —(CP). — Lieut.-Col. Peter R. Shields of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps has outfitted himself with a mobile office so he can keep up with his multiple tasks when in the field.

He has a small but complete wooden desk built into the rear section of his camouflaged sedan. There is a compartment for food and drink. Hot food can be taken along in thermos kits.

Not even the nightly blackout required by air-raid precautions can keep Colonel "Pete" Shields from getting on with the job. Heavy curtains can be dropped between the front and rear sections of the sedan and over all windows.

Revolt Nipped

QUITO, Ecuador, April 1—(AP) —The government announced today that quick precautionary measures by the police and army had forestalled a revolutionary plot. It said an attack against the Ataphuilpa military barracks here had been scheduled for this morning but the placing of soldiers and police in readiness to crush any uprising kept it from taking place.

Finns Carry On

Helsinki, April 1 (AP)

THE GOVERNMENT is mapping "the greatest land reform program in Finnish history," to provide homes for 340,000 Finnish farm residents removed from areas ceded to Russia under the terms of the peace treaty.

Juho Kolvisto, Minister of Agriculture, said today a bill will be introduced in parliament to permit division of many large estates into small farms. The government also plans to parcel out large sections of land now owned by the state.

$108 In Fines Following Gambling Raid

Provincial revenues took a sharp upward trend in police court this morning when eight young men in quick succession pleaded guilty to charges of having been found in a common gaming house and were each fined $10 and $3.50 costs.

The alternative imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., was ten days in jail but all eight promptly paid their fines, the total being $108.

The charges followed a raid by provincial and city police on a place on the Chemong Road early Saturday morning. Some of the men arrested on that occasion were fined Saturday and the balance of the foundins paraded before the magistrate this morning. The charges were laid by Provincial Constable Silvester.

Six Fire Alarms Received In Seven Hours

March went out like a lion as far as the Fire Department was concerned for Sunday was the busiest day of the month for the smoke-eaters. Between 12.50 noon and 9.18 Sunday evening they had received six calls, five of which were answered and the sixth was a chimney fire on High street, outside of the city and no assistance was given.

The first alarm was to the home of D. Whitlow, 667 Stewart street where sparks from a neighbor's chimney are believed to have ignited the shingles on the roof, and with a strong wind blowing the blaze spread rapidly. Firemen had to skin off a strip about a yard wide on the roof to subdue the blaze and damages will amount to approximately $20.

A chimney fire at 476 Patterson street at 6 o'clock was handled without any particular damage and another at 7.33 in the Grand Central apartments, George street was a simple enough fire to control. At 8.46 an alarm came in from the Maple Leaf Milling Company on Dalhousie street when a leaky valve set the sprinkler system working.

At 9.18 Sunday evening fire broke out in the woodshed at the home of Mrs. Nicholson, 632 Union street. Firemen claim the fire originated from hot ashes being placed in a cardboard box contrary to city by-law and the fire had burned a hole in the woodshed floor before being extinguished.

C.G.I.T. In Marmora Hears Fine Talk

MARMORA, April 1.—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Pals C.G.I.T. of St. Andrew's United Church was held at the home of the leader, Mrs. W. P. Fletcher, Friday, with an Easter worship service, followed by an Easter quiz as to the meaning and significance of Easter customs and traditions.

Keitha Tandy, the president presided at the business session. It was voted that five dollars would be given C.G.I.T. special project of the W.M.S. It was decided to join in the celebration, C.G.I.T. week April 21-28, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Canadian Girls in Training movement.

At the invitation of the group Dr. D. L. Curtis was present and gave an interesting and instructive address on the structure and care of the teeth. The girls have been studying about India and they were very much interested when the speaker opened his talk by pointing out that the practise of teeth cleaning began in that country.

Petes May Play With East For Puck Honors

Peterborough's intermediate "A" hockey team may get a chance to playoff for the Eastern Canada championship this spring. In fact, it is pretty certain—provided the Petes knock off Kitchener Greenshirts to win the O.H.A. championship. This much has been learned from both the O.H.A. secretary, Wm. Hewitt, and the local club officials.

It was learned over the week-end that the Maritime-Quebec winners would playoff in two out of three games this week in Ottawa—the north deciding not to send down a team—and the victor of this series would meet the O.H.A. champions for the intermediate "A" championship of Eastern Canada.

The C.A.H.A. has set aside $800 for Eastern Canada intermediate "A" playdowns this year, with the Maritimes winners probably getting over half of it for their heavy expenses in travelling to Ottawa and staying there one week, and possibly two. The Quebec winner would also share in the $800 expense money, as would the Ontario victors. There is a chance, too, that the O.H.A. would put up some expense money, if necessary for the O.H.A. winner in such playdowns. At any rate, the Petes could figure on probably $200, if not more, for their Eastern Canada final series.

An Experiment

The idea of it is to test the teams and public reaction to inter-provincial hockey playdowns and playoffs of intermediate "A" calibre. Each year, the senior "A" and junior "A" champions of all provinces engage in playdowns, the two finalists meeting for the Allan Cup for senior and the Memorial Cup for junior—Oshawa last year taking the Memorial Cup. At present, Western Canada stages playdowns between provinces for intermediate "A" honors, and with the east trying it this year, the C.A.H.A. hope of eventually having it held across the county is nearer.

While the Petes haven't as yet won the O.H.A. title, being put one game up after the first fray in the three-in-five finals with the Greenshirts—and playing in Kitchener tonight—the locals are definitely interested in the Eastern Canada playoff proposition. They were queried on the subject over the week-end by the O.H.A. secretary and expressed willingness to tackle such a series, if the financial aid was forthcoming and sufficient. Certain details have to be worked out yet, after the O.H.A. final series is over, but the Petes are hoping to win the provincial crown and then get a crack at Eastern Canada honors. It would be the first time such a thing had happened in Peterborough hockey history.

Providence Reds To Meet Hornets

HERSHEY, Pa., April 1 — (CP) —Bun Cook will have to find a way to stop Billy Taylor if he hope to carry on what is becoming a family tradition and win the International-American Hockey League title.

Taylor, who a year ago was sparkling Oshawa Generals toward the Memorial Cup, put Pittsburg Hornets into the Int-Am final Saturday night as he scored both goals in a 2-0 victory over Hershey Bears.

The victory gave Hornets the series two games to one and gave them the right to meet Providence Reds in the last round. Cook is coach of the Reds and if his team beats Pittsburg it will mark the third year in succession that a Cook-coached team has won the title.

With Bun at the helf, Providence won in 1937-38 and last year his brother Bill led Cleveland Barons to the title, eliminating the Reds on the way.

Taylor's goals were the continuation of the fine play that has marked him as the star of the playoffs. He got his first in the second period and his second after 14 minutes play of the third.

As Feller Shows "Us Fella's" How It's Done

Bob Feller, 21-year-old strikeout king of the major leagues, does some fancy pitching in the above series of photos taken with the magic eye camera, revealing how the youthful pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, twirls them over the plate for another strikeout. The ease of his wind-up and the speed of his delivery, can easily be distinguished. Young Bob won 24 games and lost eight last year and is expected to better his record this season. It is reported that his new contract with the Cleveland Indians gives him the largest salary ever paid to a Cleveland pitcher.

St. Paul's Squad Lose To Toronto By 58 to 44 Score

St. Paul's, last year's champions, ran into unexpectedly strong opposition in Toronto Saturday night in their Ontario intermediate "A" Church Basketball League playdown series with the Toronto winners, being beaten 58 to 44 by a smooth-moving College United Church squad. The second game will be played here this Saturday night and the Peterborough entry will find themselves faced with the task of picking up fifteen points to win, a formidable task in view of the strength of the Queen City representatives. The game should be the feature attraction of the local basketball season.

College United proved a much stronger crew than the church league playdowns have produced from Toronto in recent years. Huminick, their top scorer, was a star with Varsity for three years and Hunt, a giant guard, was formerly with Broadviews in the senior loop. Two of their players stand 6 feet, 4½ inches.

The Toronto squad showed a strong zone defence, with plenty of speed, accurate shooting and clever ball handling and they opened out at a pace that had St. Paul's back on the ropes. As a matter of fact the game was won and lost in the first ten minutes for at the end of that time the Peterboro team were behind 17 points to 3. Then the Saints changed their attack and began to roll with the result that by half-time the score was 25 to 16 for the ultimate winners.

The pace was lightning fast in the second half and baskets were alternated in speedy fashion with Thorburn getting lose for a number of typical field goals. Scoring was even until the final moments of the half when several quick baskets gave College a five-point margin for the half and made the final score 58 to 44.

For the winners Huminick, the former Varsity player, starred on the attack, registering 19 points. The two big guards, Hunt and Goheen, were a tower of strength. Their fast breaks got their forwards away free and enabled them to take set shots from centre, a feature of their attack, although both teams scored often from under the basket. Davis, the other regular forward, also turned in a good card.

Thorburn, with 19 points for the Saints, matched Huminick in scoring effectiveness while Pete McArthur tossed in 14 poinst for St. Paul's. McPherson was strong on both defence and attack and the other players gave a good account of themselves. The losers had only one alternative, owing to some of the players being unable to make the trip.

The game was played in the gymnasium of College United Church and the lineup was as follows:

Toronto College United (58)—Hodge (4), Davis (10), Denley (1), B. Goheen (10), Hunt (9), Huminick (19), Comrie (3), H. Goheen, Neen, R. Denley.

Peterborough St. Paul's (44)—Gemmell (3), Thorburn (19), McArthur (14), McPherson (4), Sedgewick (3), Marsh.

CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

BISBEE, Ariz., April 1.—(AP). — Chicago Cubs were reported considering deporting Outfielder Bill Nicholson, but they're probably thinking differently now. Regaining his batting eye, Nicholson hit two homers good for six runs against the White Sox yesterday.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Four Philly regulars had unpleasant food for thought to-day in looking back at yesterday's 6-1 victory over Rochester. Manager Doc Prothro removed Moe Arnovich, Merill May, Ed Levy and Joe Marty from the lineup and their replacements gave the team so much zest it overshadowed all previous performances.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Back at their training base for a two-day stay before breaking camp, Boston Bees were ordered into double sessions to-day by Manager Casey Stengel, who announced his pitchers all needed work. Jim Tobin and Bill Posedel were pronounced nearest ready for the full distance.

WAR ALLOTMENTS

LONDON—(CP)—Portions of four Royal parks in London will be taken over as garden allotments during the war emergency. The parks are Bushey Park, Regent's Park, Richmond Park and Greenwich Park.

K. of C. Bowling

Monday

Following are the past week's score for the St. James' Y.P.S. Bowling League:

D. Freeman	787	701	697—2185
N. May	650	660	663—1973
K. Meredith	660	690	736—2086
Z. Harvie	775	763	653—2191
V. Freeman	767	945	907—2619
M. Gregson	792	813	759—2364

Charles Porter had high three for the men with 625 (214-222). Stan Leggitt was the only other bowler to top 600 with 604 (219-208). V. Freeman with 523 had ladies' high three.

Tuesday

Six teams from the Dominion Woollens inaugurated a post season league from this club which last week concluded their regular 22 weeks' schedule. Captains of the six teams are Ed Simmons, Billy Manbeck, George Pryde, Deb Hillier, Gord Ellis and Bill Cavanagh. Each team is composed of three lady bowlers and two men and some interesting games are expected. Scores for this week are as follows:

E. Simmons	532	484	558—1574
W. Manbeck	692	579	647—1818
D. Hillier	579	587	585—1739
G. Pryde	489	553	424—1459
W. Cavanaugh	689	1011	786—2486
G. Ellis	855	811	827—2493

Mike Doris with 619 (219-249) was the only bowler to top 600. Beatrice Brierly with 580 and a nice single game of 242 had ladies' high for the evening.

Wednesday

The high-powered Wednesday Nite post season league took an awful slump this week when the boys all found the going extremely tough. Ed Johnston took high three honors for the night with 762 with Fred Martin's 701 the only score over 700. Bowlers to top 600 were as follows: Warren Ferguson 665, Bill McMahon 607, Red Fisher 659, Tommy Martin 615, Harry Vass 600, Lud DeCarlonis 602, Bill Martin 608. Some notably small scores were also turned in with honorable mention for Joe Mattucci 85 and Joe DeNoble 99.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Other years, when we were more streamlined and quicker on the takeoff, we opened this pillar April 1st with some atrocious lie—getting good customers of this sheet very indignant indeed. And ourself in grave danger of a punch on the snoot. But we'll pass this April Fool's Day up and try to behave and tell as much truth in this column as the law requires. Or pretty nearly, anyway. It will have to be a hasty shot of baloney today as we're fixing to pull out with the Petes around noon for Kitchener, the local puckists tackling the 'Shirts in their own dry cleaning establishment this eve in the second of the best-of-five series for the O.H.A. intermediate "A" title. Our gang won the first, or hadn't you heard? Period scores will be wired back.

* * * * * *

All the Petes are in good shape, except Don Crowe. The hard-hitting defenceman has a touch of tonsilitis and may sit this game out, being saved up for the Wednesday joust. A good idea, too, as he may be needed plenty later, and Crowe below his right form makes a difference on that defence. It'll give Les Burton, a good hard-working husky—who has not seen as much action as he'd like to have, being the extra man—a chance in a final playoff struggle. The third game is billed Wednesday for Peterborough, but if there is good ice here that day we'll eat the weather-beaten chapeau instead of tossing it away in usual spring fashion. Dunno for sure whether it'll be in Oshawa day after tomorrow or not.

* * * * * *

The Old, Old Cry

Too bad there isn't artificial ice in this town. A crying shame for a good puck centre this size—and there are mighty few towns in the province with 20,000 or more population still getting by with the horse-and-buggy arenas and ice that depends on the vagaries of winter weather. Owen Sound, for instance, has a swell new plant paid for entirely by the city—with the blessing of the voters—and that burg is little better than half our size. We could list a dozen cities our size in a hurry that have good artificial rinks, including Central Ontario spots like Oshawa and Kingston, and we can't offhand think of one place in Peterborough's class that is without one. Except here. Oh, well....

* * * * * *

Here's an interesting angle we learned over the week-end. The Petes, if they win the O.H.A. championship—and the local guys aren't figuring on anything else, y'know—will playoff for the Eastern Canada title. Yessir, that's what they're seriously thinking of now! It seems that the Maritimes' victor is due this week to playoff with the Ottawa-Quebec intermediate "A" winnah, in Ottawa, while the north isn't sending a team down to compete. So the O.H.A. will aid financially in sending its intermediate victor in against the other for the championship of Eastern Canada. They do it out in Western Canada now and, in time, the C.A.H.A. hopes to maybe have the intermediates in a Dominion-wide elimination playdown series the same as the seniors and juniors are in now.

* * * * * *

Nobody Gets Hurt

At times, one hears a fan squawk about the round-robin playoff series, being a money racket by the O.H.A. We've kicked, too, when they dragegd some club that had no right into this series. But on the whole it is a good idea and no one is hurt. There is no sudden fluke whereby a good team is out. The fans see the four or five best clubs of that calibre in the province—instead of just one or two in the old climination system—playing it off, the clubs have a chance to make some dough and keep busy, and the O.H.A. of course rakes in its pound of flesh. Even the travelling scribes don't kick too much, though they lose a lot of sleep. Which isn't anything new to low-lifed sports writers, eh?

* * * * * *

Another observation we'd like to make—well, it keeps us from biting our fingernails when there's nothing else to do!—is about puck referees. Those poor screwballs on skates who haven't a friend in the world. But who get paid pretty fair wages for guessing. It's simply this: N.H.L. and O.H.A. arbiters don't get the backing of their parent association that they should. If an N.H.L. magnate in Toronto or Detroit, for example, doesn't want King Clancy as a referee, he doesn't get him all season. In the O.H.A., if we don't want Max Reesor (again, for example), well Max doesn't come here all winter. Just let any club try to get away with that in baseball! They take whatever umpire is assigned to them (in pro or amateur ball) and that's that. Why don't the puck moguls pick efficient officials and then send 'em wherever they like, and pay no attention to squawks by clubs. Big League ball, you know, is run efficiently, too.

Trophies And Eats

Annual Church Puck Loop banquet is Thursday night at 6.30 in All Saints' parish hall. All the winning teams expect to have full turnouts at the table, while officers and guests will bring the total to between 50 and 60. Crests for the victors have been received and will be presented by officers of the four losing finalist squads, George Beauclerc, Maurice Dunkley, Harold Rehill and Art Maiby. Ministerial Trophy goes to Bill Lawson. No ducats have been given the guests, who were invited to just present themselves. Faces are their tickets, we suppose—and trust no tickets are checked by punching. Members of losing teams are welcome, at half-price.

Well, sir (and senorita), there are several spicy basketball items this glorious morn around here. First, let's mention that the men's senior City Cage League two-in-three final series opens at eight Wednesday e'en in the Y.M., Bees playing the Zephyrs. Then, congrats to the Orfuns, classy local lady hoopsters, for amazing markmanship at the Y.W. on Sat'day night in racking up a 34-12 win o'er St. Catharines. It gives the Orfuns a 22-point lead in their L.O.B.A. series. Our St. Paul's men basketeers got off to a slow start and dropped a 58-44 high-scoring tilt to College United in Toronto Saturday, having but one sub, in an O.C.B.A. fixture. They're back here this week-end. Girls' city league has its big banquet and presentation of trophies at 6.30 Wednesday eve in the Y.W.

Greg Rice Sets New World 3-Mile Mark

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—The spotlight's dazzling eye picked out a shiny bald head and a slick black head of hair, and blase Madison Square Garden, which has seen them all from girl softball team to heavyweight champions, rocked with the crowd's roar.

The walls also rattled with applause when Greg Rice, the ex-Notre Damer, came winging home with a new world three-mile record in 13 minuts, 52.3 second last night; when Allan Tolmich, the Detroit jackrabbit, posted two new hurdle marks; when Georgetown's Al Blozis upset shot put standards; and when Taisto Maki, the new Flying Finn rewrote the books for 2½ and 2¾ miles.

But the 14,000 sets of sore tonsils sported by the folks who turned out for the Finnish Fund track show here were largely the fault of Paavo Nurmi, and the veteran Pennsylvania board-pounder, Gene Venzke. Both of them ran a little. Neither won anything. Yet the folks cheered them as if they were smashing records.

Put On Track Suit

Paavo used to break a record, at one distance or another, almost before each meal back in the roaring '20's'. Old Paavo came home last night. He hadn't been on those garden boards in 11 years, and he felt so good about it, he just had to put on a track suit and take a four-lap turn.

Venzke trotted out for the mile and a half run, against Chuck Fenske, Walt Mehl, of Wisconsin, and Ralph Schwarzkopf, of Michigan. The announcer said: "Say howdy to Gene Venzke, folks." And how they did. Gene stayed in the running right to the finish, but he was no match for Fenske and Schwarzkopf, who wound up in front in that order.

High Spot Of Events

The three-mile grind was the high spot. Rice went to work a lap and three quarters from home, sprinted all the way to the wire and finished 10 yards in front of Don Lash, with Maki back another five. His mark of 13:52.3 compared to the listed world record of 13:56.2, which Willie Ritola posted back in 1925 and 13:55.9, which Rice, himself, set durng the curernt season.

On the way, Maki, by holding the early lead, cracked a couple of more of Ritola's records. He was timed in 11:40 flat for the 2½ miles, 5.8 seconds better than Willie did in '25, and in 12:51.9 for the 2¾ miles, compared to Ritola's 12:57.8.

Tolmich and Blozis started the proceedings off to a general rewriting of the record books. First the Detroit timber-topper lopped six tenths off the standard for the 70-yards high hurdles in 8.4 secs. He came right back with six flat for the 50-yard lows, erasing by two tenths the record Jim Eller set in Philadelphia 25 years ago. Larry O'Connor of Toronto finished third in both events.

Then along came Blozis, who pitched the 16-pound ball 55 feet, inch, considerably better than Jack Torrance listed world record of ft., 1½ inches, but some short of his own toss of 55 feet, 3¾ inches earlier this year. Then he fired the 12-pound shot 65 feet even compared to the 60-foot 7¾-inch world mark. Just to wind it up, he next went all out for 78 feet, ¼ of an inch with the eight-pound marble, just under eight feet more than the accepted world standard.

Win First Game By 34-12 By Fine Sniping

Orfuns maintained their L.O.B.A. winning streak and moved a step closer to an Ontario title here on Saturday night by hanging up a 22-point lead in the first game of their total point series with St. Catharines St. Georges. The score was 34-12.

Carrying the attack ot the opposition from the outset, Orfuns did not so much outplay as outshoot St. Kitts, taking the lead early and remaining out of danger. Orfuns used a fast break with the frint line carrying most of the offensive and hanging up all but one of their total points.

St. George's had almost as much of the play as the winners, but their fast-breaking attack bogged down as they tended to bunch in the free throw area and Orfuns' close checking stopped them there. The locals owed a large part of the glory to the tight defensive display put on by their guards, but the good shooting of the forward line was actually the big factor in their victory.

Some Tough Luck.

The losers played good basketball but tough luck under the basket and a zone defence that was drawn out and allowed Orfuns to slip in behind the back line for run-in baskets caused their downfall. And they missed an excellent chance to cut down their deficit by counting only two of their 12 free throw chances as Orfuns roughed it up at times. Orfuns made both of their efforts from the free throw line.

B. Blade, R. Thompson, and A. Craig led the locals offensively with the last named dropping eight field goals for 16 points and A. Livingstone starring at guard. W. Rudge, V. Gray, I. Volgi, and B. Shonis were the pick of St. George's in a fine effort for the losers. The teams:

St. Catharines 12—V. Gray 4, B. Shonis 1, I. Volgi, W. Rudge 4, W. Mathews, R. McLeod, S. Masher 2, J. Davis.

Peterborough 34 — B. Blade 8, M. Blade ,A. Livingstone, R. Thompson 9, M. Hawthorne, A. Ellis 1, M. Ferguson ,A. Craig 16, D. Ackord.

Referees—W. Thirnbeck and H. Macdonald.

N.Y. RANGERS DETHRONE STANLEY CUP HOLDERS, BOSTON BRUINS

es Patrick's Well-Balanced Team aptures Four Games n Series With The Boston Bruins

By H. M. PETERS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EW YORK, April 1.—(CP). — New York hockey fan to-day convinced that Lester Patrick assembled and brought to the k of condition one of those ms of destiny" that the National Hockey League produces every years.

The fan reached that conclusion he saw New York Rangers deively outplay Boston Bruins to hrone the Stanley Cup holders r games to two in their cup elimtion series that ended Saturday ht with a 4-1 Ranger victory. ow the Rangers, a well-balanced cocky squad and favored along adway at 8 to 5 to win, go up inst Toronto Maple Leafs in the final. It will be a clash between cup-hungry clubs. It was 'way k in 1933 that Rangers last won cup; Toronto have to look as as 1932 for their last victory.

ens Tuesday Night

heir series will open here to-morrow night and continues Wednesday. Then the teams will go to ronto to play out the string of best-of-seven final. The third me will be played next Saturday ht, and the fourth the follow-ing Tuesday. If further games are necessary, the fifth will be played April 11th; the sixth April 13 and the seventh April 16.

The Bruins, with four regulars out of action due to leg inuries, were clearly outplayed Saturday by an alert Ranger squad that reevaled no perceptible flaw on attack or defence.

Bruins Scored in First.

Boston scored in the first period, Roy Conacher netting on a play with Flash Hollett and Terry Reardon. The New Yorkers wiped out that advantage in the second period, on Alfie Pike's goal, went ahead in the third on Shibicky's shot and then, when Red Hamill took a major penalty for slashing Shibicky across the nose, clinched the game on two goals while he was off. Clint Smith and Phil Watson, centremen, caged the pay-off goals. From there on it was merely a question of holding the advantage over the tiring, short-handed Bruins.

Missing from the visiting line-up were Dit Clapper and Des Smith, defencemen, and Art Jackson and Mel Hill, forwards, a casualty list that made the final result almost inevitable.

Rangers opened the series in New York with a 4-0 victory, lost two in Boston, 4-2 and 4-3; tied it up with a 1-0 triumph at home, repeated that score in Boston in the fifth game, and finally delighted a sellout crowd of 15,968 with Saturday's masterful display.

Kirkland Lake One Game Up On Millionaires

TORONTO, April 1—(CP)—Action in the Eastern Canada senior hockey semi-finals shifted to Ottawa today with Kirkland Lake Blue Devils one game up and Sydney Millionaires hoping to do better in the colder atmosphere of the capital's auditorium. Second game of the best-of-three series in scheduled for Ottawa tomorrow night.

Blue Devils won the series' opener before 8,048 fans here Saturday. Afterward the husky Millionaires admitted the warm air of the Maple Leaf Gardens bothered them.

But it was more than humidity that upset the Maritimers. The blistering speed of the Lakeshores was enough to make most teams wilt.

Despite the loss, Sydney came up with the game's outstanding star—Jack Atchison. This rangy right winger grabbed all his team's goals on the strength of some uncanny shooting coupled with clever stickhandling.

Dick Kowcinak chased Atchison right to the wire in the race for starring honors, the Kirkland Lake centre scoring two goals and assisting in a third. He was ably seconded by his front-line partners, Blink Bellinger and Hal Cooper.

Bellinger also got a goal while the other tallies went to Bobby Walton, Doug Boston and Stu Smith. Cooper picked up two assists.

Verdun Outfit Takes Perth In First Game

MONTREAL, April 1 — (CP). — Coach Art Therrien was confident to-day his Verdun Maple Leafs would take Perth Blue Wings in two straight games as the Leafs awaited at Ottawa the second game of their Eastern Canada semi-final to-night.

Therrien pointed to the way Verdun came from three goals down to defeat the Ottawa district champions 9-4 in the first game of the best-of-three series here on Saturday. He believed that comeback had put the "Indian sign" on the Blue Wings.

During the first period, it looked as if Perth would walk away with the game. They took a 4-1 lead on goals by Tony Licari, Armand Potvin, Pumple and Stan Rooke, while Paul Hebert bagged the Leafs' only counter on a breakaway.

Slim Roland Rossignol was the thorn in Perth's side in the second period, however. He scored an unassisted tally on a pretty solo rush that seemed to demoralize the Blue Wings soon after the start of the frame and bagged two more counters in the period while setting up Marc Gruninger for another to put Verdun ahead 5-4.

The final period was all Verdun as Perth wilted badly. Defenceman Jimmy Gauthier bagged a pair of tallies and Maurice Richard and Roland Desbiens scored one each as Verdun skated almost at will through the Perth defence.

Remember When—

Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, played goal for more than half a Stanley Cup playoff with Montreal Maroons 11 years ago tonight. Lorne Chabot was injured early in the second period and Patrick, 44 years old, donned the pads. He let only one goal in and Rangers won the game 2-1 in overtime.

Third Successive O.H.A. Junior Title Captured By Oshawa; Rout Marlboros 8-1 In 5th Game

OSHAWA, April 1.—Those supermen of junior hockey, Oshawa's power-laden Generals, came down the pike in devastating red waves here on Saturday night to crush Toronto Marlboros 8-1, before a capacity audience, and gather in their third successive O.H.A. junior A title.

Submitting conclusive evidence of their superiority over the dauntless Dukes, the Generals turned the fifth and deciding game of the hottest Provincial final series in years into a cakewalk after their first shot on the Marlboro net produced a goal. From there in, the defending champions, excelling in all departments, and skating with the speed of darting swallows, capitalized on every opening.

Defenceman George Ritchie fired the most important blow of the conflict when his pot-luck drive from centre ice nestled in the Marlboro net after only nineteen seconds of play. Ritchie got the puck in his own defence bone shortly after the opening face-off, weaved to centre ice and then decided to direct a drive at the Marlboro cage. The shot seemed to catch the unsuspecting Billy Moores off guard, glanced off the goalie's pads into the twine and the ball game was over almost before it had begun.

Generals Scintillate.

Their pre-game plans of playing a waiting game jolted by that unforeseen circumstance, Marlboros were forced to open up. In that type of endeavor, they fell easy prey to the opportunistic Generals. Oshawa led 4-0 at the end of the first period, gleaned the only goal of the middle session, and ran the count to 7-0 before big Bob Goldham, driving spark of the Dukes, charged in for the goal that deprived Dinny McManus of a shutout.

There was no doubt about the outcome once the Generals broke in front. The sheer fighting spirit that enabled Marlboros to gain an even split in the first four games of the series was still in evidence, but the best offensive mustered by Hal Cotton's buckos foundered on Gibraltar-like Oshawa defence. Every inch of the way, the Generals fought a masterful battle and Saturday's showing convinced even their severest critics that it will take a remarkable team to prevent them form retaining the Memorial Cup.

Most recent Oshawa hockey proverb, "As the McAtees go, so go the Generals," was borne out in telling fashion in the pay-off game. The McAtees were simply flying and Norm and Jud paced the Shawmen's blistering attack. Jud sniped two goals, while Norm notched one and set up the stage for an additional three. The rest of the scoring was evenly distributed, significant of the all-round power exhibited by the Generals.

Potent Offensives.

After Ritchie's unexpected goal, the Generals settled down to make it decisive. They had two perfect openings soon after that only agile netminding by Moores nullified. The McAtees combined for the second goal at the 12.37 mark, a sweeping passing play that Jud converted. Another four minutes elapsed before R nWilson batted in the third fore Ron Wilson batted in the third Oshawa score after Moores had saved from Norm McAtee. A penalty to Bobby McLaughlin set the stage for Oshawa's fourth marker at 19 minutes, and this time Norm McAtee blazed the puck into the Mariboro mesh.

Marlboros settled down in the second session, but could make no indelible impression on the Oshawa defence, and a neatly executed passing play, Eddolls to Sawyer to Hellyer, provided Oshawa with the only counter of the chapter.

Attempting a now-or-never comeback, the Dukes moved into the third period action in the fashion of shock troops storming a fortress. The plan quickly backfired and the Generals had two more goals in five minutes. The McAtees broke away for the first, Jud scoring, and Roy Sawyer sifted through alone for the second. Goldham fought his way through from a melee for the lone Marlboro goal at 5.55, but it was a mere threat. Generals blocked all inroads, and another breakaway at the 14-minute mark manufactured the final goal, Daniels relaying to Knott for the score.

Fifth Title Is Sought By Port Arthur

WINNIPEG, April 1—(CP)—Port Arthur Bear Cats, seeking a fifth Canadian Senior Hockey championship for the lakehead city and the second in succession, open a best-of-five western final with Calgary Stampeders in Saskatoon on Thursday.

Bear Cats, apparently as formidable as when they beat Montreal Royals three games to one in the 1939 Allan Cup final at Montreal, stepped into the cup semi-final at Regina Saturday night by defeating the Saskatchewan champions, Moose Jaw Millers, 4-3 in overtime.

It was Port Arthur's third straight win in the best-of-five series for they won the first two games on home ice by identical scores of 6-1. The Laprade brothers, Bert and Edgar, figured in all four goals, Edgar scoring the tying goal with only 29 seconds left to play in the third period and Bert passing to Bones McCormack for the winner at 3:44 of the overtime.

Eliminated Trail

Only Stampeders, Alberta champions who eliminated the well-rated Trail Smoke Eaters of British Columbia in three straight games, stand between Bear Cats and the championship battle for the Allan Cup Port Arthur won in 1925-26-29-39.

Port Arthur also remained in the running for the junior championship which has never gone to Thunder Bay. Ports tied a best-of-three Western semi-final with Kenora Thistles, Manitoba champions, with a Tar victory here Saturday night. Thistles won the first game by the same score and the series will be decided here tonight.

Awaiting the winner of the Manitoba-Thunder Bay skirmish is Edmonton Athletic Club, western junior finalist for a third consecutive year by virtue of a 6-2 victory at Edmonton Saturday night over Regina Abbott-Generals. The Saskatchewan champions fell three games to one.

First two games of the best-of-five western junior final will be played in Edmonton Thursday and Saturday, the venue of further games to be decided later.

SPORT BRIEFS

ORLANDO, Fla.—Manager Bucky Harris ventured an opinion that the two rookies he plucked from the Class D Florida State League will be regular members of his Washington Senators pitching staff. Sid Hudson and James H. Dean are the boys, up from pennant-winning Sanford.

LAKELAND, Fla.—While developing an eye for catching fly balls, Hank Greenberg is being careful his batting eye stays as good as ever. He hit his seventh homer of the grapefruit season yesterday and has an average of .373, with 24 runs batted in.

es Patrick's Well-Balanced Team aptures Four Games n Series With The Boston Bruins

By H. M. PETERS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EW YORK, April 1.—(CP). — e New York hockey fan to-day s convinced that Lester Patrick assembled and brought to the k of condition one of those ams of destiny" that the Nation- Hockey League produces every years.

The fan reached that conclusion he saw New York Rangers de- ively outplay Boston Bruins to hrone the Stanley Cup holders r games to two in their cup elim- tion series that ended Saturday ht with a 4-1 Ranger victory. ow the Rangers, a well-balanced d cocky squad and favored along adway at 8 to 5 to win, go up inst Toronto Maple Leafs in the final. It will be a clash between o cup-hungry clubs. It was 'way k in 1933 that Rangers last won cup; Toronto have to look as as 1932 for their last victory.

heir series will open here to-mor- night and continues Wednes- . Then the teams will go to onto to play out the string of best-of-seven final. The third me will be played next Saturday ht, and the fourth the follow- ing Tuesday. If further games are necessary, the fifth will be played April 11th; the sixth April 13 and the seventh April 16.

The Bruins, with four regulars out of action due to leg inuries, were clearly outplayed Saturday by an alert Ranger squad that reevaled no perceptible flaw on attack or defence.

Bruins Scored in First.

Boston scored in the first period, Roy Conacher netting on a play with Flash Hollett and Terry Reardon. The New Yorkers wiped out that advantage in the second period, on Alfie Pike's goal, went ahead in the third on Shibicky's shot and then, when Red Hamill took a major penalty for slashing Shibicky across the nose, clinched the game on two goals while he was off. Clint Smith and Phil Watson, centremen, caged the pay-off goals. From there on it was merely a question of holding the advantage over the tiring, short-handed Bruins.

Missing from the visiting line-up were Dit Clapper and Des Smith, defencemen, and Art Jackson and Mel Hill, forwards, a casualty list that made the final result almost inevitable.

Rangers opened the series in New York with a 4-0 victory, lost two in Boston, 4-2 and 4-3; tied it up with a 1-0 triumph at home, repeated that score in Boston in the fifth game, and finally delighted a sellout crowd of 15,968 with Saturday's masterful display.

How It's Done

You women who want to improve your bowling game examine his photo of Floretta D. McCutcheon, 52, world's champion woman bowler, closely because she's demonstrating the bowling form that results in strikes. She has rolled 10 perfect "300" games in ten pins since she took up bowling at the age of 35. The ball "frozen" on the alley a split second after leaving her hand clean- ed the 10 pins off the alley.

Kirkland Lake One Game Up On Millionaires

TORONTO, April 1—(CP)—Action in the Eastern Canada senior hockey semi-finals shifted to Ottawa today with Kirkland Lake Blue Devils one game up and Sydney Millionaires hoping to do better in the colder atmosphere of the capital's auditorium. Second game of the best-of-three series in scheduled for Ottawa tomorrow night.

Blue Devils won the series' opener before 8,048 fans here Saturday. Afterward the husky Millionaires admitted the warm air of the Maple Leaf Gardens bothered them.

But it was more than humidity that upset the Maritimers. The blistering speed of the Lakeshores was enough to make most teams wilt.

Despite the loss, Sydney came up with the game's outstanding star—Jack Atchison. This rangy right winger grabbed all his team's goals on the strength of some uncanny shooting coupled with clever stickhandling.

Dick Kowcinak chased Atchison right to the wire in the race for starring honors, the Kirkland Lake centre scoring two goals and assisting in a third. He was ably seconded by his front-line partners, Blink Bellinger and Hal Cooper.

Bellinger also got a goal while the other tallies went to Bobby Walton, Doug Boston and Stu Smith. Cooper picked up two assists.

As Pittsburg Defeated Philadelphia

Caught off base and run down Al Brancato, Philadelphia Athletics' third baseman (RIGHT) is about to tag out Elbie Fletcher, Pittsburg first-sacker, in the third inning of an exhibition game in Seals stadium, San Francisco. Fletcher was trapped on an attempted double steal. Catcher Earl Brucker (LEFT), and Pitcher George Caster also took part in the play. The umpire is Babe Pinelli. Pittsburg won however, 5 to 4.

Big Air Crash Is Recalled

WINNIPEG, April 1—(CP)—Winnipeg Toilers no longer figure prominently in the Canadian basketball picture but surviving members of one of the greatest of Toiler teams still gather annually in memory of victims of an airplane disaster that broke up that last championship machine.

The plane carrying Toilers home from a series of games in United States crashed March 31, 1933, near Neodosha, Kas., killing two of the players and injuring others so severely they never played again. The pilot, co-pilot and two United States men connected with the tour also died in the crash.

The star forwards, Joe Dodds and Mike Shea, were killed but on every March 31 since that day their team-mates have gathered here to honor their memory.

Yesterday morning on the seventh anniversary the Toilers who survived the crash attended first Presbyterian church. They met in the afternoon to talk of old times and of the club's three national championships.

At night when Al. Silverthorne, George Wilson, Bruce Dodds, Hugh Penwarden, Andy Brown, Lauder Phillips, Ian Woolley and President A. C. Samson sat down to dinner there were two vacant chairs—for Joe and Mike.

Verdun Outfit Takes Perth In First Game

MONTREAL, April 1 — (CP). — Coach Art Therrien was confident to-day his Verdun Maple Leafs would take Perth Blue Wings in two straight games as the Leafs awaited at Ottawa the second game of their Eastern Canada semi-final to-night.

Therrien pointed to the way Verdun came from three goals down to defeat the Ottawa district champions 9-4 in the first game of the best-of-three series here on Saturday. He believed that comeback had put the "Indian sign" on the Blue Wings.

During the first period, it looked as if Perth would walk away with the game. They took a 4l lead on goals by Tony Licari, Armand Potvin, Pumple and Stan Rooke, while Paul Hebert bagged the Leafs' only counter on a breakaway.

Slim Roland Rossignol was the thorn in Perth's side in the second period, however. He scored an unassisted tally on a pretty solo rush that seemed to demoralize the Blue Wings soon after the start of the frame and bagged two more counters in the period while setting up Marc Gruninger for another to put Verdun ahead 5-4.

The final period was all Verdun as Perth wilted badly. Defenceman Jimmy Gauthier bagged a pair of tallies and Maurice Richard and Roland Desbiens scored one each as Verdun skated almost at will through the Perth defence.

Remember When—

Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, played goal for more than half a Stanley Cup playoff with Montreal Maroons 11 years ago tonight. Lorne Chabot was injured early in the second period and Patrick, 44 years old, donned the pads. He let only one goal in and Rangers won the game 2-1 in overtime.

Third Successive O.H.A. Junior Title Captured By Oshawa; Rout Marlboros 8-1 In 5th Game

OSHAWA, April 1.—Those supermen of junior hockey, Oshawa's power-laden Generals, came down the pike in devastating red waves here on Saturday night to crush Toronto Marlboros 8-1, before a capacity audience, and gather in their third successive O.H.A. junior A title.

Submitting conclusive evidence of their superiority over the dauntless Dukes, the Generals turned the fifth and deciding game of the hottest Provincial final series in years into a cakewalk after their first shot on the Marlboro net produced a goal. From there in, the defending champions, excelling in all departments, and skating with the speed of darting swallows, capitalized on every opening.

Defenceman George Ritchie fired the most important blow of the conflict when his pot-luck drive from centre ice nestled in the Marlboro net after only nineteen seconds of play. Ritchie got the puck in his own defence bone shortly after the opening face-off, weaved to centre ice and then decided to direct a drive at the Marlboro cage. The shot seemed to catch the unsuspecting Billy Moores off guard, glanced off the goalie's pads into the twine and the ball game was over almost before it had begun.

Generals Scintillate.

Their pre-game plans of playing a waiting game jolted by that unforeseen circumstance, Marlboros were forced to open up. In that type of endeavor, they fell easy prey to the opportunistic Generals. Oshawa led 4-0 at the end of the first period, gleaned the only goal of the middle session, and ran the count to 7-0 before big Bob Goldham, driving spark of the Dukes, charged in for the goal that deprived Dinny McManus of a shutout.

There was no doubt about the outcome once the Generals broke in front. The sheer fighting spirit that enabled Marlboros to gain an even split in the first four games of the series was still in evidence, but the best offensive mustered by Hal Cotton's buckos foundered on Gibraltar-like Oshawa defence. Every inch of the way, the Generals fought a masterful battle and Saturday's showing convinced even their severest critics that it will take a remarkable team to prevent them form retaining the Memorial Cup.

Most recent Oshawa hockey proverb, "As the McAtees go, so go the Generals," was borne out in telling fashion in the pay-off game. The McAtees were simply flying and Norm and Jud paced the Shawmen's blistering attack. Jud sniped two goals, while Norm notched one and set up the stage for an additional three. The rest of the scoring was evenly distributed, significant of the all-round power exhibited by the Generals.

Potent Offensives.

After Ritchie's unexpected goal, the Generals settled down to make it decisive. They had two perfect openings soon after that only agile netminding by Moores nullified. The McAtees combined for the second goal at the 12.37 mark, a sweeping passing play that Jud converted. Another four minutes elapsed before R nWilson batted in the third fore Ron Wilson batted in the third Oshawa score after Moores had saved from Norm McAtee. A penalty to Bobby McLaughlin set the stage for Oshawa's fourth marker at 19 minutes, and this time Norm McAtee blazed the puck into the Marlboro mesh.

Marlboros settled down in the second session, but could make no indelible impression on the Oshawa defence, and a neatly executed passing play, Eddolls to Sawyer to Hellyer, provided Oshawa with the only counter of the chapter.

Attempting a now-or-never comeback, the Dukes moved into the third period action in the fashion of shock troops storming a fortress. The plan quickly backfired and the Generals had two more goals in five minutes. The McAtees broke away for the first, Jud scoring, and Roy Sawyer sifted through alone for the second. Goldham fought his way through from a melee for the lone Marlboro goal at 5.56, but it was a mere threat. Generals blocked all inroads, and another breakaway at the 14-minute mark manufactured the final goal, Daniels relaying to Knott for the score.

Fifth Title Is Sought By Port Arthur

WINNIPEG, April 1—(CP)—Port Arthur Bear Cats, seeking a fifth Canadian Senior Hockey championship for the lakehead city and the second in succession, open a best-of-five western final with Calgary Stampeders in Saskatoon on Thursday.

Bear Cats, apparently as formidable as when they beat Montreal Royals three games to one in the 1939 Allan Cup final at Montreal, stepped into the cup semi-final at Regina Saturday night by defeating the Saskatchewan champions, Moose Jaw Millers, 4-3 in overtime.

It was Port Arthur's third straight win in the best-of-five series for they won the first two games on home ice by identical scores of 6-1. The Laprade brothers, Bert and Edgar, figured in all four goals, Edgar scoring the tying goal with only 29 seconds left to play in the third period and Bert passing to Bones McCormack for the winner at 3:44 of the overtime.

Eliminated Trail

Only Stampeders, Alberta champions who eliminated the well-rated Trail Smoke Eaters of British Columbia in three straight games, stand between Bear Cats and the championship battle for the Allan Cup Port Arthur won in 1925-26-29-39.

Port Arthur also remained in the running for the junior championship which has never gone to Thunder Bay. Ports tied a best-of-three Western semi-final with Kenora Thistles, Manitoba champions, with a Tar victory here Saturday night. Thistles won the first game by the same score and the series will be decided here tonight.

Awaiting the winner of the Manitoba-Thunder Bay skirmish is Edmonton Athletic Club, western junior finalist for a third consecutive year by virtue of a 6-2 victory at Edmonton Saturday night over Regina Abbott-Generals. The Saskatchewan champions fell three games to one.

First two games of the best-of-five western junior final will be played in Edmonton Thursday and Saturday, the venue of further games to be decided later.

BORN

WHIBBS. — On April 1st, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Whibbs (nee Mary McManus), Indian River, the gift of a daughter.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Starr, Water street, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Jean, to Lloyd Bernard McCurrie of the R.C.A.F., Trenton Station, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCurrie of Ottawa. The marriage to take place the latter part of April.

DIED

BINGHAM, Mrs. Emma Jane. — On Saturday afternoon, March 30, 1940, Emma Jane Bingham, in her 54th year, widow of the late Horace P. Bingham of Georgetown, Ontario. Service at 8 o'clock Monday evening, at the Funeral Home of D. Belleghem and Sons, 190 Hunter street. Funeral at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Interment, Georgetown, Ont., by motors.

BEAVIS, Mrs. Harold Wesley. — At Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Sunday, March 31, Ella Maude Stevenson, beloved wife of Harold Wesley Beavis, in her 65th year. Resting at the family residence, Norwood, for funeral service on Tuesday, April 2, at 2 p.m. Interment Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings (at a later date).

BUTCHER, Mrs. M. J.—At Gravenhurst, on Saturday, March 30, Mrs. M. J. Butcher, widow of the late M. P. Butcher, and formerly of 679 Stewart street. The death occurred at home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell. She was 82 years of age. Funeral by motor from Gravenhurst to Little Lake Cemetery on Monday at 4.30 with Rev. Armstrong of Gravenhurst Free Methodist Church officiating.

CLEGG, Bruce Dean—In Hamilton, Ontario, on Saturday, March 30, 1940, Bruce Dean Clegg, son of Mrs. Hattie Clegg and the late Samuel Clegg of Peterborough. Funeral on Tuesday, April 2, at 2.30 from Funeral Home of D. Belleghem and Sons, 190 Hunter street; with Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United Church officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

BARNES. — In loving memory of Alfred Barnes, who died April 1, 1939.

He suffered patiently and long,
His hope was bright, his faith was strong,
The peace of Jesus filled his breast
And in His arms he sank to rest.
—Lovingly remembered by his Mother, and sisters Edith, Eliza and Clara.

BARNES.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Alfred Barnes, who passed away April 1, 1939.

He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew;
He was so kind, so generous and true;
On earth he nobly did his best;
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
We have lost our soul's companion,
A life linked with our own,
And day by day we miss him more
As we walked through life alone.

BARNES.—In loving memory of our brother, Alfred Barnes, who died April 1, 1939.

However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.
—Ever remembered by his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnes.

HESMOND.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Richard Hesmond, who died April 1, 1939.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever lovingly remembered by his Wife and Son.

CARD OF THANKS

long as this girl stays in the house with me no one knows of their relationship. What do you think of all of this? AN UNHAPPY WIFE

ANSWER:

Well, I'll say that Patient Griselda had nothing on you. I have never heard of such a story of meekness and forbearance and the love that passes all understanding as you tell. It is one that every woman will read with tears of pity for you.

There is no use in asking why you love this poor, weak, miserable man to whom you are married and who has broken even the most elementary laws of decency by betraying both you and the young girl who was under his own roof, and further expecting you two, mistress and wife, to live together in harmony. Probably you do not know yourself why you are the slave of an emotion that is too strong for you to resist and that makes you willing to eat the crumbs of kindness he throws you. Only God who made the mystery of a woman's heart can understand a wife like you.

Nor can anyone tell you what to do under the circumstances except to warn you that you must send the girl away. You owe her, at least, that much protection after the harm she has come to in your house. You cannot keep your queer triangle a secret, and when it is known there will be plenty of scandal about the three of you living together. For polygamous husbands are rare enough to make juicy news.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

FORESEEING THE PLAY

"WHAT WOULD you lead from this hand against 4-Hearts?" is a form of question which most players are asked from time to time. The canny campaigner will always answer with another query: "How was it bid?" Until he knows that, he has no idea of what would be the best lead. Sometimes the bidding gives a very thorough picture of the hands held by the declarer and dummy, and therefore indicates the probable line of play, as well as the type of defense that may wreck the contract.

♥A75
♣Q64

What would you lead in the West, holding this hand, if the bidding had been as under the four sequences below?

1. South	1♠	2♥	4♥
North	3♣	3♥
2. South	1♥	2♥	4♥
North	1♠	3♥
3. South	1♥	2♥	3♥
North	2♣	2♠	4♥
4. South	1♥	2♣	3♥
North	1NT	2♥	4♥

In the first case, it should be clear that the declarer has a cross-ruffing situation. He can trump diamonds in the dummy and clubs in his own hand. Break it up, by leading a trump—in this case the ace and then another, which probably will cut him to two trumps only left in each hand for ruffing purposes.

In the second situation, the declarer probably will make out best by dropping trumps first, then running the spades and discarding on them one or more of his minor suit losers. You lead one of the minor suits for two reasons—to pick off whatever losers are there and to try to knock out the side entry for the spade suit, if there is one.

In the third line-up, the declarer again probably will drop trumps first, then go after the clubs. If the dummy has a side entry for them, it is in spades; try to knock out that spade entry.

The fourth situation shows a declarer who probably will try to bring in his own club suit, first ruffing losers in it. Take out the dummy's trumps, with the ace and another.

Poison Hinted In Girl's Death On Orgy

DETROIT, April 1 (AP)—Federal authorities pressed their investigation today into the mysterious death of 18-year-old Charlotte Mary Cranson aboard a United States naval reserve training ship after a coroner reported she had succumbed to "something other than natural causes."

The girl was found lying in a pool of blood on the gun deck of the U.S.S. Dubuque early Saturday as an aftermath of an all-night party described as a "drunken orgy."

Dr. Albert E. Hughes, Wayne County coroner, who performed the autopsy, withheld his report pending a chemical analysis of the dead girl's organs. He said he had ordered the analysis because "something other than natural causes led to her death."

Detained for further questioning by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, who assumed full charge of the case, were John W. Klanauskas, 20-year-old caretaker of the Dubuque, and five other surviving members of the party.

Held with Klanauskas, escort of the dead girl, were David Palmer, 19; Robert Newman, 18; Marjory Smith, 19, and a 16-year-old girl.

Dr. Hughes said Miss Cranston might have been poisoned by something she ate or drank, or that she might have succumbed to some disease.

Investigators discovered evidence that chloroform had been administered to Miss Cranston as a "prank."

Klanauskas admited spending the night with Miss Cranston and awakening early in the morning to find her body twenty-five feet away in a pool of blood.

Gold Reserve Slips

ROME, April 1—(AP).—Italy's gold reserve diminished 543,000,000 lire (about $27,000,000), or about 15 percent, during 1939, the annual report of the Bank of Italy disclosed today.

The reserve on Jan. 1, 1940 was 3,131,600,000 lire (about $156,500,000) compared with 3,674,000,000 lire on Jan. 1, 1939. The figures include both the actual gold reserve and the bank's holdings of foreign currencies considered the equivalent of gold.

War's Flotsam

Fire Damages Factory Shed At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1. — (ENS).—A spectacular blaze in a shed owned by the Campbellford Cloth Company, Mill street, brought many citizens from their beds at three o'clock this morning. Though actual damage was slight the eerie sound of the factory whistle penetrating the air to summon the fire department caused added apprehension to upwards of four hundred who find their livelihood at the plant. The shed, which at one time was used as a house is now used primarily to store large bales of card waste, an oily by-product of the mill. It was in this waste matter that the blaze is thought to have originated.

The alarm was sounded by the night watchman to whom the smell of smoke was the first signal that there was a fire on the mill property. The 30' x 60' shed burst into flames shortly after three o'clock, seriously threatening a store block on Tice street but offering little threat to the factory which is located 400 yards east on the opposite side of the street.

Firemen worked with three lines of hose for ten minutes before the blaze was brought under control, while a crowd of between five and six hundred gathered on the street. Damage was placed at less than $300.

A Mother's Work Is Never Done

Police Go After All Drivers With '39 Plates

TORONTO, April 1. — Car and truck drivers with 1939 licence plates and operators' permits will be charged with violations of the Highway Traffic Act after 8 a.m. to-day, under instructions issued to Provincial and city police by Provincial Police Commissioner W. H. Stringer.

The 8 a.m. deadline was fixed at a week-end consultation between the Commissioner and Attorney-General Gordon Conant. Decision to allow no leeway beyond the eight hours from midnight, the time set by regulation for expiration of the 1939 licences, was made in consideration that ample warning had been given in successive statements by not only the Attorney-General and the Provincial Police Commissioner but by Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, as well.

Tardy drivers got home this morning with their old licence plates and will have to walk or use the T.T.C. to get their plates to-day.

It was also stated that the Highways Branch had provided additional staff to accommodate applications long before any rush was apparent at either the main Queen's Park office or branch offices established in Toronto and other cities. Chief Constable Draper and the Chief Constables of Hamilton and London were advised of the deadline last night and were requested to co-operate with the Provincial authorities.

A roadside check of cars yesterday revealed that one in from ten to fifteen drivers did not have their 1940 plates. In a ten-minute check on the Lakeshore Road, 165 cars with 1939 plates were counted.

HASTINGS

History Of Alberta Related To W.A.

HASTINGS, April 1—(ENS).—Mrs. J. Cruikshank opened her home on Thursday afternoon, to the members of Trinity Woman's Association for their monthly meeting.

Mrs. D. E. Scriver gave the scripture reading and followed with an inspiring talk on the "Resurrection of Our Lord". The history of Alberta which appeared in the "Calgary Alberta" under the topic entitled "Sod Busters" and which was an interesting account of pioneer days to the present day was sent to Miss Flo German, who chose the reading for the main feature of the program and Mrs. H. E. Edwards read the account.

Following the meeting the members quilted a quilt for the Misses Kate and Flo German which was pieced seven years ago by their mother, the late Mrs. B. German. A 10-cent tea was then served to the 22 ladies present by the ladies of group 3.

Personals

Misses Margaret and Clarine Scriver are spending a 10-day vacation as guests of their mother, Mrs. J. B. Scriver of Kitchener.

Mrs. James Dickey and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dickey visited the former's sister, Miss Jessie Millar and her brother-in-law, Mr. James Wood of Keene, who so recently suffered a loss through losing their home by fire.

17 Bonarlaw Girls Honor Edna Bateman

BONARLAW, April 1. — (ENS) —On Monday afternoon 17 brave young ladies boarded a sleigh and journeyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bateman in honor of their daughter Edna, whose marriage took place on Wednesday to Mr. Gerald Broadworth.

Miss Bateman was the recipient of many beautiful pieces of cream and red granite kitchenware.

The afternoon was spent in talking over the girls' work of the past few weeks. Miss Bateman thanked the girls for their lovely gifts, and a social afternoon was enjoyed by all.

New River Bridge

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., April 1. — (AP)—Engineers have completed preliminary surveys for a new St. Lawrence River bridge, and will submit data on seven possible site. In addition, officials have abandoned consideration of the originally chosen site at Chimney Point, just east of Ogdensburg.

Coastal Rivers Threaten Flood

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 (AP)—Northern California rivers rose dangerously near the flood stage today, routing many families from homes that already have been inundated this year.

Residents along the Napa River, hard-hit by February floods moved out last night, with all movable possessions. The river was about three feet below flood stage.

E. H. Fletcher, U.S. meteorologist, warned of growing danger in the Sacramento valley.

"We expect dangerous high stages, with critical conditions developing," he said. "Waters are rising rapidly in the upper branches of the Sacramento, Feather, Yuba and American rivers."

The Yuba, Feather, and American rivers all are tributaries of the Sacramento. Melting snow up to the 6,000-foot level in these rivers' drainage areas added to the danger, caused by rains and high tides.

Predict Improved Anglo-Jap Dealings

TOKYO, April 1 — (AP). — Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador to Japan, today predicted an improvement in relations between Great Britain and Japan.

The two nations, he said, in a speech "ultimately are striving for the same objective, namely, a lasting peace and preservation of our institutions from extraneous, subversive influences."

At the same time, he announced that he and Lady Craigie would leave in mid-April for a 2½-month trip to the United States on a "private holiday."

The Ambassador's distinguished audience at a luncheon of the Japan-British Society included Prince Chichibu, Princess Chichibu and Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita.

"Bearing in mind the declared intentions of the Japanese government and the measure of success already achieved," Sir Robert said, "I have a definite feeling of confidence in the future of British-Japanese relations."

Warsaw

Miss Lila Burgess, teacher of the junior room in Warsaw School, is seriously ill with pneumonia at her home in Norwood.

Fred Platt has enlisted.

Harold Barnett accompanied Oliver Douglas to Toronto on Friday.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY A. MATTHEWS.

WARSAW, April 1 — (ENS). — The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Matthews, widow of Joseph Matthews, who died on Easter Sunday after a long illness, patiently borne, took place on Thursday afternoon from Mrs. Ruby Payne's private hospital, Warsaw. On account of the bad road conditions, the funeral had to be postponed from Wednesday. Burial took place in Gordon Crowe's lot, St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw, where her husband is buried. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson officiated at the house and at th grave.

Flower-bearers were grandsons: Harold Lane, Ronald Matthews, and Lionel Lane.

Pall-bearers were Walter Carveth, Ernest Butler, David Brown, George Brown, Henry Little, and Alec Darling.

Mrs. Matthews was in her 73rd year. She had a family of seven, four daughters, Mrs. Arthur La Fay, Toronto, Mrs. Gordon Crowe, Hall's Glen, Mrs. Ernest Ayrhart, Picton, Mrs. Reginald Dunford, Detroit; and three sons, Wellington, in Peace River District, Hilliard, Hall's Glen, and Harold, at White River, near Sudbury. All were present except Mrs. Dunford, who had visited her mother quite recently. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. Wallace Anderson, Warsaw, Mrs. Newnham, and Mrs. Mullen of Oklahoma. The four sisters were together in Warsaw quite recently when the two from Oklahoma visited old friends. Only one brother, William Dodds, is living and in Alberta. Mrs. Matthews was a member of Zion United Church, and had spent her life in the township.

Cavan

Rural r... is have been practically closed to traffic for the past few days.

Rural mail carriers have not been able to complete their routes since Thursday. On Tuesday morning when the wind-storm was past men turned out to open the roads for horsedrawn vehicles.

In spite of bad weather and roads the sale of farm stock and implements on Mr. William Stark's farm on Wednesday was quite successful Everything offered was sold at fairly good prices. Mr. J. Roddy, Baillieboro, was the auctioneer. Mr. Stark and Miss Stark intend moving to Bethany in the near future. Mr. Carl Porteous is working the farm.

On Friday Mr. Joe Braithwaite held a successful sale of farm stock and implements. Mr. T. Jackson, Port Perry, was the auctioneer.

On Easter Sunday, many services in rural churches were withdrawn as the roads were impassable. In Cavan United Church, the Rev. W. E. Honey had evening service with only members and adherents in the village present. A beautiful Easter lily was on the table in front of the pulpit. After the service, the lily was sent to an aged member, Mrs. J. Bradburn.

Mr. Floyd Honey of Toronto University is spending his vacation at the parsonage with his parents, the Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Honey.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Honey and babe of Toronto were also Easter guests of his parents.

Miss Alma Perrin of the Toronto Public school teaching staff is spending her Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

Miss Gwenyth Staples and Miss Dorothy Smith of the Peterborough Normal School are spending their Easter vacation at their homes in Cavan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swain, Dundas, were Easter visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Swain.

Y.P.U. At Fraserville Has Social Evening

FRASERVILLE, April 7—(ENS). —The Young People's Union met in the hal ion Thursday evening, the president opening the meeting with a worship period.

Sympathy was expressed for a member, Mr. Roy Bothwell, who this week was taken to Nicholls hospital for an appendicitis operation. It was suggested Mrs. Horton be responsible for getting flowers and fruit to send him. The crokinole party which was postponed due to bad roads will be held on Monday, April 1.

The meeting was turned over to Doris Horton, Culture convener. Poems were read by Mary Atchison and Dorothy Moffatt. Doris also gave a short reading. A social hour was enjoyed in games and contests and refreshments were served at the close.

Hastings Homes Are Flooded

HASTINGS, April 1.—(ENS). — Spring weather here Sunday brought its complications. A creek running adjacent to T. A. Coughlan's residence on New street reached alarming proportions and flooded four or five yards of surrounding homes near the corner of Front and New streets. At two homes, it was impossible to enter or leave without rubber boots.

Members of the Hastings council were called out to decide on some measure to alleviate the growing stream. Blasting was tried but without much result.

At the residence of Walter Hubbel, two and a half feet of water was in the cellar. The residence of Mrs. A. White and Dr. J. A. MacDonald presented similar complications

Mount Julian

By diligent shovelling the road gang managed to get the roads open for sleigh traffic in time for voting on Tuesday, but a section between Joseph's Church's farm and James Reid's is still blocked.

Horses and sleigh have been used by Stock's Bakery to carry supplies on the Mount Julian side roads.

The mail reached the local post office on schedule during the whole storm period.

A Red Cross euchre was held at W. T. Northey's home on Wednesday evening. Owing to the bad road conditions the attendance was not large. Four tables of cards were played.

First prizes went to Ottis Northey and Mrs. Stanley Northey. Second prizes were taken by Stanley Northey and Mrs. John Northey.

Another Red Cross euchre is to be held at Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson's home on Friday evening April 3.

Allies Tighten Blockade Net With New Neutral Trade Deals

Germans Lose Fight For Markets

Scandinavia, Dutch Belgians Sign In New Allied Coup

LONDON, April 2.—(CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain disclosed to the House of Commons today a series of trade agreements with neutral nations surrounding Germany and warned that the Allies are "determined to prosecute the economic war to the utmost of their power."

The prime minister outlined steps to choke off German supplies and said he looked forward to an "intensification" of the blockade against Germany and of British trade exchanges with neutral countries.

The Allies are determined to "continue and intensify the blockade in every possible way," Mr. Chamberlain said.

The prime minister declared the neutral nations concerned in the trade agreements "must realize that we cannot agree to make available to them products from Empire sources unless in return they are prepared to give us guarantees of the limitation of their future trade with Germany."

Before beginning his statement on the conduct of the war Mr. Chamberlain in answer to a question said that German-Russian cooperation

As for the prospective tightening of the blockade against Germany, Mr. Chamberlain said "His Majesty's ships have already taken certain practical steps to interfere with the unimpeded passage of German cargo ships from Scandinavia." Still other measures are under consideration, he said.

Port Arthur Fire Snuffs Out Six In Family

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 2 (CP)—Six persons, two adults and four children, were suffocated early this morning when a house was destroyed by fire on Port Arthur outskirts (147 Pine street).

The victims: Mrs. Ali Metsa, 29; her father, Oscar Blom, 54; and the woman's children, Elsie, six, Raymond, four, Harold, three, Allen, 11 months.

The bodies were found in a hallway not far from the door. Apparently the man and woman attempted to rescue the children but failed when overcome by smoke only a few steps from safety.

The father of the children, Jauna Metasa, who works at night in nearby Fort William, had not returned home at the time of the fire.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

300 More Join Oshawa Strike

Oshawa, Ont., April 2 (CP)

THREE HUNDRED employees of Fittings, Ltd., an Oshawa steel concern, today joined in idleness 200 employees of the Ontario Malleable Iron Company who have been on strike for the past week seeking higher wages and union recognition.

At a meeting of union workers last night held in connection with the situation at Fittings, it was decided to accept a proposal that the plant remain closed today while negotiations for higher wages and union recognition continued.

German Raiders Miss Convoy; Many Sky Scraps

LONDON, April 2—(CP). — The Admiralty announced tonight that a German air attack on British convoys in the North Sea this afternoon had been driven off.

A communique was issued saying:

"Enemy aircraft attacked our convoys in the North Sea this afternoon but were driven off by gunfire. At least 10 bombs were dropped, but no hits were obtained and no damage was done. The convoys are proceeding on their voyages.'

A series of sharp air clashes over the North Sea and a German plane's approach to southeastern English coast today gave a spurt to the war in the air.

Apparently the most important fight occurred near Germany's Sylt Island naval base, where, the Air Ministry said, Royal Air Force planes bombed patrol boats yesterday.

Junkers Turns Tail.

Returning from a search for German naval vessels, a British plane encountered a German Junkers over the North Sea last night and forced it to flee with a damaged fuselage.

An early morning engagement between three R.A.F. planes and two German bombers, part of the time flying only 20 feet above the North Sea, was described by an Air Ministry announcement which said one British plane landed near the coast after its pilot suffered a slight leg wound.

R.A.F. planes chased off a plane which appeared to be German as it approached the southeastern English coast.

Convoy Raider Sunk After Bombs Force Crew To Yield

LONDON, April 2 — (CP). — The Admiralty announced today that the German freighter Mimi Horn, out of Curacao, Netherlands West Indies, had been intercepted in "northern waters" by British men-of-war and fired and scuttled by her own crew.

The Admiralty announcement said the sinking brought to 303,946 tons Germany's merchant ship losses by capture and sinking. The Mimi Horn, whose port of registry was Hamburg, was a 4,007-ton vessel.

Losses to Allied and neutral shipping for the week ending last Sunday midnight, meanwhile, were reported at 13,901 tons, the fourth lowest weekly figure since the start of the war and the lowest since the first week of 1940.

An informed source laid the decrease in Allied and neutral shipping losses to the work of British minesweepers and to the fact that German submarines "think it unwise to attack convoys."

One of the vessels included in the list of losses for the week was the 5,742-ton British tanker Daghestan, which sank after being bombed by German aircraft off the north-east coast of Scotland.

The 5,439-ton freighter Barnhill, which was bombed and set on fire the preceding week, also is regarded now as a total loss. Neither the Barnhill nor the Netherlands fishing trawler Protinus, which was sunk by a mine on March 26, were

Soldier Vote Highlights

OTTAWA, April 2—(CP). —A total of 56,942 soldiers, sailors and airmen, in England and Canada, marked ballots. Of these, 28,385 voted for National Government candidates and 23,372 for Liberals.

National Government candidates were given majorities in 132 of the 244 seats at stake. Liberals led in 99.

J. S. Woodsworth, veteran leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation who feared his slender lead in Winnipeg North Centre might be wiped out by the soldier vote, squeezed through safely with a margin of 125 votes.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative Leader Manion were given majorities by the active service voters in Prince Albert and Fort William, respectively. The Prime Minister was a winner and Dr. Manion a loser.

The C.A.S.F. vote in Ontario was two-to-one for the National Government—

Swiss Call Up Thousands New Troops

Order Brings Nation To Verge Of Full Mobilization

BERNE, Switzerland, April 2 — (AP).—The Swiss General Staff today called up tens of thousands of soldiers for April 15 and 22, putting the confederation close to general mobilization.

The order said that the various units recalled for duty had been summoned to replace others recently demobilized. It was noted, however, that few units had been released and a total of 41 units of varying size had been recalled.

The High Command said it was determined to keep the Swiss military strength as nearly as possible on a par with the number of troops which any one belligerent had stationed near the frontier.

It has been reported in Switzerland that the Germans now have between 12 and 18 divisions in the Baden and Wurttemburg areas north of the Swiss border. Swiss officials said, however, that their presence "gives no immediate cause for alarm."

Major Parties Boost Vote Over 1935, C.C.F. Loses Ground

(By the Canadian Press.)

Canada cast a record vote in the Dominion elections, according to the second Canadian Press popular vote summary issued today. Complete Canadian active service vote but lacking final civilian counts in a number of outlying constituencies, showed a total of 4,458,861 votes compared to the 1935 Dominion election record of 4,406,854.

Both Liberal and Conservative parties received a greater popular vote than in 1935 while the incomplete tabulation indicated the C.C.F. and New Democracy (Social Credit) vote was smaller.

A Liberal popular vote of 54 per cent in the latest figures elected 180 Liberal candidates, including three Independent supporters. Thirty-one per cent went to National government candidates, supporting Conservative leader Manion, of whom 40 were elected including one Independent. In 1935 ,the Liberal vote was 47 per cent and the Conservative 30 per cent.

The Canadian Press compilation showed a total of 370,710 C.C.F. votes—8.4 per cent—compared to 393,715 in 1935. The New Democracy ticket, on which Social Credit candidates ran, won 119,038 votes in the incomplete figures compared to 182,767 Social Credit votes in 1935. Eight C.C.F. and nine New Democracy members were elected.

Ottawa, April 2 (CP)

ACTIVE SERVICE electors in Canada cast at least three votes in the Dominion election that could not be credited to any candidate, Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, revealed today.

Instead of writing on the ballot the name of the candidate of their choice, these voters wrote:

"I vote for May West."

"I vote for Mackenzie King and free beer."

"I vote for the regimental sergeant major."

A majority of 178 votes for Gordon K. Fraser in the election in West Peterborough last Tuesday was announced this afternoon by Vincent Eastwood, returning officer for this riding, after opening the ballot boxes and tabulating the votes for each candidate as reported by the deputy-returning officers.

The total number of votes both civilian and soldier for Mr. Fraser was 9,683 and for R. M. Glover 9,505. The Examiner's count of the civilian vote in the riding a week ago was only one figure different from those reported to-day. It was apparently one vote less for Mr. Fraser than revised total show.

The returns from the polls that were counted last Tuesday night and on Wednesday were the preliminary statements from the poll officials, which were supplied to Mr. Eastwood for the purpose of an immediate indication of the electors' decision. The official statements were contained in envelopes which were placed in the ballot boxes and locked with other elector stationery. They were made available when all the boxes were opened in Mr. Eastwood's office at 11 o'clock this morning. The work was concluded at 2.15 p.m.

Mr. Fraser was represented at this final detail of the voting by D. J. Lawrie and Mr. Glover by Alex L. Elliott, M.P.P.

There were 128 spoiled and rejected ballots.

King Carries Own Seat By 55 To 49, Manion 111 To 58

OTTAWA, April 2—(CP).—Without causing a single turnover across the country, the votes of Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen in the general election were added today to civilian totals in 244 seats. Results were announced here by Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer.

The active service vote favored the National Government candidates of Hon. R. J. Manion but took nothing from the sweeping triumph scored by the Liberals whose return to power was conceded on the basis of the civilian vote a few hours after the polls closed a week ago.

The army, navy and air force, at home and overseas, rolled a total of 56,942 votes. About 90,000 members of the Canadian active service force were eligible to vote. Apparently many stationed in their home constituencies voted as civilians.

Supporters of Conservative Leader Manion, running as National Government candidates, polled 28,382 votes—just 50 per cent. of the total. Liberal candidates polled 41 per cent., 23,372 votes. Bulk of the remainder went to C.C.F. candidates with a total of 3,032 or 5.3 per cent.

132 Manion To 99 King.

In 132 of the 244 constituencies the active service vote favored National Government candidates. Liberals were given a majority in 99, C.C.F. candidates in two, Independent Liberals in two and representatives of other groups in six. There were three ties.

Cromwell Sticks Close To Record But Admits He Prefers Fireworks

TORONTO, April 2—(CP)—James H. R. Cromwell, United States Minister to Canada, whose address here two weeks ago drew an admonition from State Secretary Cordell Hull, was on record today as an outspoken critic of those who would "destroy human dignity, through enforcement of unquestioning obedience."

In his address two weeks ago, Mr. Cromwell declared a victory for the Allies in the war was necessary to the welfare of the United States. Later, he received from Mr. Hull notice his anti-German remarks were not in accordance with instructions to United States diplomatic representatives, and should not be repeated.

His only reference last night at the annual dinner of the Old Boys' Association of the University of Toronto Schools to the previous address was a humorous one.

"I like fireworks, but I have been told they should be saved for the fourth of July, and even then state officials are not supposed to take part in using them. So there won't be any fireworks tonight, because I have to read off the record. You'll understand I don't want to read off the record, but I'll have to."

Important Item Now

Speaking on "Education for Democracy," he said propaganda, in the self-interested sense, has usurped much of the place of education. Therefore education for democracy was, perhaps, as important as any utilitarian or cultural course which Canadian and United States schools now offer.

"One may ask why we need education for democracy when we actually live and breathe under such a social system. The answer is that in the battle of ideas, now being fought out in every part of the world, deception and camouflage have been developed to an art as great as in war. To be sure, words and slogans instead of guns are used. But what do we see?"

Words of false security were being used by those "who would divest

Rumania Drafts Land Army To Meet German Demands

BUCHAREST, April 2.—(AP)—The Rumanian government announced today that it would draft 4,000,000 young Rumanians to form an agricultural army in an attempt to keep 1940 production normal and to meet export demands—especially from Germany.

Germany had proposed that Rumania demobilize 500,000 of the 1,600,000 men she has under arms and put them to work raising grain for Germany.

The government announced that the plan adopted provides for release of many students from school for a two-week period. It was drawn up at a meeting of the chiefs of the Rumanian Youth Movement and the ministers of agriculture and education.

As an inducement Germany has offered to send 6,000 agricultural experts to Rumania to speed production of cereals, it is learned on high authority.

Quarters close to King Carol's government, however, said it was doubtful if Rumania would grant any demobilization request, regardless of the inducement or the pressure. Rumanians argue that relaxation of defence is not safe.

The conflict of opinion has arisen since the arrival two weeks ago of Germany's economic negotiator, Dr. Karl Clodius, assigned to stimulate Rumanian's lagging deliveries of oil and grain to the Reich.

Meanwhile, Rumania has started negotiations with a Japanese delegation over the possibility of exchanging petroleum for Japanese-made armaments and with a Yugoslav delegation, over extension of an existing agreement for exchange of oil for metals.

U.S. Flood Areas Fear Crest Not Yet Reached

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Fearful of fresh devastation, communities along 100 miles of Pennsylvania's flood-choked Susquehanna river watched anxiously today as the crest rolled southward, with thousands homeless and other thousands ready to flee.

Flood-ravaged towns drew some encouragement from a prediction by Federal and State forecasters that although the normally placid stream still was rising at some points, "stationary or falling stages will prevail" throughout the entire system, including two branches.

Downstream at Sunbury, where the north and west branches of the river meet, the level began receding after back waters from creeks flooded two square miles. The town's 17,000 inhabitants, half of them fled to higher ground, predicted there is a 50-50 chance the worst of the flood is over.

At least six persons were known dead. Estimates of homeless ranged as high as 25,000. None ventured to hazard an estimate of property damage.

In New York State low temperatures continued to check flood threats as the death toll reached five.

High waters were receding in central and southern New York, while the Genesee river was due to reach its peak at Rochester early today.

Gunners Are Needed

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP) — The Royal Canadian Air Force needs men to be trained for the dual role of Air gunners and wireless operators, it was learned last night.

Under the British Commonwealth air training plan those selected for this duty spend four weeks at an initial training school, 16 weeks at a wireless school and then some time at a bomber and gunnery school. By the time their training is completed they are qualified to handle a plane's wireless as well as air gunnery and bombing.

With the majority of R.C.A.F. applicants seeking to become pilots, there was a dearth of recruits for the gunnery-wireless jobs. It was expected, however, that many of the pilot applicants would be transferred to other positions as the need arose during their training.

Australia Trade Move To Cost Canada Millions

SYDNEY, April 2.—(CP Cable)—Canada stands to lose annual trade worth at least £1,000,000 ($3,120,000) as a result of Australia's new import restrictions which became effective yesterday, it was learned authoritatively today.

This is the equivalent of one-seventh of Canada's annual trade with Australia. Products hardest hit are canned fish, imports of which are to be reduced 20 per cent.; electric razors and wallpapers both of which are prohibited; reapers and binders, in which Canada has been developing a large market, both prohibited; clocks and watches, reduced 50 per cent., and typewriters, reduced 25 per cent.

The biggest individual item affected is canned fish, imports of which have been valued at nearly $600,000 annually. It is declared that the 25 per cent cut is really the equivalent of a 50 per cent reduction, since the cut is based on pre-war figures while present prices are 25 per cent higher.

U. S. Parties Split On Probe Of Charges By Germany

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP).—A proposal that the United States Senate Foreign Relations committee try to ascertain whether Ambassadors William C. Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy have made unneutral statements to-day drew Republican support and Democratic opposition.

The inquiry was proposed yesterday by Senator Robert Reynolds (Dem.-North Carolina), who said German publication of documents purporting to quote the envoys to Paris and London made an investigation necessary.

A similar demand came from Representative Hamilton Fish (Republican-New York). He said a special committee should determine whether the facts warranted "impeachment of any American ambassador or minister or even of the President."

Senator Gerald Nye (Rep.-North Dakota) told reporters that "there is a definite obligation on the Foreign Relations committee to find out what has been done in the name of the United States by its alleged diplomats."

Although saying he did not believe Kennedy had engaged in any unneutral activities, Nye agreed with Reynolds that Bullitt, now in Washington on leave from his Paris post, should be called before the committee. Senator Wallace White (Rep.-Maine) said the inquiry "shouldn't do any harm."

The documents in question, purported to have been taken from Polish government archives, were published Friday by the German foreign office as a "white book." Some of the papers were alleged to be reports from Polish envoys, ascribing pro-ally statements to Bullitt and Kennedy.

Saar Basin Guns Kept Hot, Nazis Resent Mine Threat

PARIS, April 2 (CP-Havas) — Heavy artillery fire south of Saarbruecken accompanied by intensified German air activity over the front lines continued today to feature the war along the Western Front, French military sources reported.

German observation planes came over the Maginot Line in formations of as many as 10 planes and were attacked by French pursuit craft. No definite information on the resulting dog-fights was available, but it was authoritatively stated that no French planes were shot down.

Artillery activity near Saarbruecken has been extremely violent for a week. In this sector the French hold a threatening salient pointing straight at the heart of the industrial basin of the Saar. The Germans have been compelled to abandon mines and foundries here because of the proximity of French artillery observers.

In upper Alsace another artillery duel occurred last night when French and German gunners in the reinforced concrete positions on either bank of the Rhine exchanged salvos for an hour.

The French military communique this morning reported "a calm night on the whole" with some "reciprocal actions from the casemates across the Rhine in upper Alsace."

From Berlin Germany today reported a British raid on German patrol boats protecting the Sylt Island aviation base in the North Sea. A shower of 25 bombs missed their mark, the Germans claimed.

One British plane was shot down and sank so quickly its crew could not be rescued, according to the German news agency, which expanded on the German high command communique reporting three Allied planes downed in air fighting yesterday.

French Premier Faces Test On Action Plan

PARIS, April 2—(AP).—Premier Paul Reynaud's government faced a new test of confidence as the Chamber of Deputies reassembled today amid developments which seemed to indicate an Allied diplomatic offensive against Germany among her neutral neighbors.

Observers expected the Premier, who barely won an absolute majority in his first appearance before the Chamber March 22, to open this afternoon's session with a general statement announcing the Allied War Council's decision to tighten the blockade against Germany.

(Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was expected to make a simultaneous declaration to the British House of Commons).

Whether Reynaud's statement would be followed by a general policy debate and a confidence vote was not apparent in advance.

The Radical-Socialist followers of former Premier Edouard Daladier, split in their support of the new government in which he hold the Defence portfolio, were summoned to meet before the Chamber session to determine their attitude in view of developments during the Easter recess.

May Avoid Showdown.

Some observers believed the Premier might try to strengthen his majority with a new vote of confidence, while others predicted he 12,659 against 6,397 for Liberal candidates. In Quebec the vote was 4,694 for the Liberals and 2,739 for the National Government.

Rogers Is Edged.

The vote went slightly against several Cabinet Ministers who were successful in the election, including Defence Minister Norman Rogers in Kingston City, Finance Minister J. L. Ralston in Prince and Hon. Ian Mackenzie in Vancouver Centre. Rogers trailed Kidd by 8 ballots, the vote going 400 to 392.

Ralston was down 10, polling 131 to McPhee's 141. Mackenzie ran behind 109, getting only 243 to Sherwood's 352, and for the riding 26 Communist soldier votes were cast.

The one-vote lead P. C. Black, National Government, held over K. J. Cochrane, Liberal, in Cumberland, Nova Scotia, on the civilian count was increased by 17 on the soldier vote, 122 to 105.

Only two of the 669 candidates in the election failed to receive a soldier vote. Both were in the Quebec constituency of Lake St. John-Roberval, where 15 C.A.S.F. votes were cast. Louis Even, New Democracy, and J. O. Dumoulin, Independent Liberal, received none. Even had a civilian-vote total of 3,698 and Dumoulin 758.

Two Tie Votes.

In only two constituencies where there were straight two-man contests was the soldier vote split evenly. Both were in Quebec. Armand Couture, Liberal, and Joseph Garon, Independent Liberal, had 23 each in Drummond-Arthabaska, and in Shefford 12 votes each went to Hector Choquette, National Government, and J. H. Leclerc, Liberal.

The active service vote in Montreal St. James increased the highest majority in the Dominion that was held by Eugene Durocher, Liberal. With a soldier vote of 235 against 165 for three opponents combined, Durocher's majority over all the others was 24,046.

In the eight-candidate constituency of Montreal Verdun, P. E. Cote, successful Liberal, ranked fourth with 67 in the soldier vote, while E. J. Wermenlinger, National Government, who was fourth in the civilian vote, was high man in the C.A.S.F. count with 210.

The Independent - Anti-Conscription candidate in Rimouski, J. Blanchet, who lost to E. Danjou, Liberal, polled 19 soldier votes. Danjou had 38.

Apps Loses by 80.

Sylvanus Apps, National Hockey League player, who trailed G. E. Wood, Liberal, 4,664 to 4,563 in the civilian vote in Brant, was still behind when the Active Service vote came in, although he polled 34 against Wood's 13.

Communist candidates all received C.A.S.F. votes. Tim Buck in Hamilton East polled seven of the 359 cast. A. C. Campbell, who ran as Communist in Prince Albert against Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and R. R. Manville, National Unity, had three of the 114 total.

Highest soldier vote for any one candidate went to G. B. Isner, one of the two successful Liberals in Halifax. He received 1,022.

All constituencies of Toronto and the adjoining Yorks polled heavy soldier votes for National Government candidates. The highest was 457 that went to the veteran T. L. Church in Toronto Broadview. The high for the Liberals was 142, cast for J. H. Rooney in Toronto St. Paul's.

In three of the four Winnipeg constituencies National Government mandidates outscored Liberals. The total for all four was: National Government, 1,230; Liberal, 1,019; J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, who was successful in Winnipeg North Centre, had 195 soldier votes against 285 for his National Government opponent and 223 for the Liberal contestant.

Hon. W. D. Herridge, New Democracy leader, polled six soldier votes in Kinderaley against 19 for C. E. Henderson, successful Liberal candidate, and eight for A. H. G. Mitchell, C.C.F.

Woman Member Trails

Mrs. D. W. Neilsen, who was the only woman elected to the House—on the basis of still incomplete returns—trailed in the C.A.S.F. vote. Mrs. Neilsen, Unity candidate in North Battleford, received 19 votes against 33 for C. R. McIntosh, Liberal.

W. G. Brown, who died yesterday, received strong support in the active service balloting. Mr. Brown, elected in Saskatoon City as United Reform member, was given 249 votes, against 183 Liberal and 25 Social Credit-National Unity.

ricane pilots of a Royal Air Force fighter command, who never before had been in battle, fought two German Heinkel raiders." At times the battling planes came within 20 feet of the sea.

Pilot Plays Safe

"A British fighter pilot, a young officer, received a slight flesh wound in his leg," the announcement continued. "Rather than run the risk of not reaching his aerodrome he landed his Hurricane immediately after he crossed the coast.

"Patrolling over the North Sea before breakfast the pilots came upon the Nazi raiders who were searching for shipping. As the leading fighter pilot opened fire with eight guns, one of the Heinkel gunners fired a short burst and then stopped suddenly. He did not fire again during the action.

"The Heinkels then made off but not before the Hurricanes' pilots got in several effective bursts."

A plan believed to be German was spotted flying a high altitude over the southeast coast early this morning. Searchlights criss-crossed the channel from both sides and light flares were observed coming from the French coast. At one British coast city it was reported that a plane flew near it for some 15 minutes. There was no alarm.

Germans Lose

"If we are to bring this war to a close with the least possible destruction and dislocation we must deprive Germany of materials most essential for prosecution of her aggressive policy," the Prime Minister said.

Mr. Chamberlain said that any suggestion Britain seeks to involve the Balkans in war is untrue, and added:

"We are confident that our agreements with Turkey contributed most effectively to maintain peace and security in Southeastern Europe."

The calling home of British Envoys to the Balkan States for consultation within the next few days was referred to in a passage in which Mr. Chamberlain said "The House will welcome this initiative which we hope will have fruitful results, both for the Allied cause and for maintenance of peace and security in that area."

The Problem Of Peace.

The House cheered when Mr. Chamberlain said that proposals for a peace, of whatever scourse, would not even be discussed before Britain and France had reached a full agreement on the requirements for a true peace, "safeguarding our own security and that of the other free nations of Europe."

The problem "which Germany has raised of the double standard of neutrality" is now one which "we and the neutrals" have to face, Chamberlain said.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the picture presented to the War Council was one of Germany "putting her own interpretation on the obligations of neutrals and accompanying it with threats of dire consequences" which would result from "failure to comply with German demands."

The policy of the Allies, he said, has been determined "by a scrupulous regard for neutral rights," whereas Mr. Chamberlain continued, Germany has "not hesitated to destroy neutral property and murder the nationals of neutral states whenever it suited her policy to do so."

Harsh Fate In Store

Any aid which the neutrals might give "if carried far enough" might render them "liable to the hideous fate that has overtaken previous victims of German policy," he said.

Mr. Chamberlain told the house that trade agreements had been successfully concluded with Norway, Sweden, Iceland, Belgium and Holland and "as I speak an agreement with Denmark is being signed at the foreign office."

He added that the vice governor of the Yugoslav national bank is in London for economic and financial discussions and that a mission is expected shortly from Rumania to discuss revision of the existing payments agreement.

Discussion also is proceeding in Paris for a similar agreement between the Allies and Switzerland, he announced.

The Allies, said Mr. Chamberlain, are determined to "continue and intensify the blockade" in every way. He added that all war trade agreements into which Britain had entered contained "stipulations providing for a strict limitation of export to Germany of fats essential to her war effort."

Purchases, which the Prime Minister called "another weapon in our armoury," have been employed to tighten the blockade, he said. He added that Britain was concentrating on buying selected commodities such as mineral fats and oil and had arranged to purchase the entire exportable surplus of Norway's current catch of whale oil.

Allied purchases of minerals in South-eastern Europe also have been on a large scale, he declared.

Navy Taking Control.

"His Majesty's ships have already taken certain practical steps to interfere with the unimpeded passage of German cargo ships from Scandinavia," the Prime Minister said, "and other measures are under consideration."

He said this showed once again "how empty are the German boasts that control of the North Sea has passed into their hands," and assured the House that "we have not yet reached the limit of our effective operations in this region, the scene of the sinking of so many neutral ships and the murder of neutral seamen."

"His Majesty's ships have recently stopped in Far Eastern waters Soviet ships suspected of carrying contraband destined for Germany via Vladivostok," Mr. Chamberlain said, appeared to be "most marked" by the economic sphere.

Intimidating Neutrals

Then in his statement the prime minister said that Germany was intimidating neutral nations with threats to make them conform to what he called the German "double standard of neutrality."

Dealing with the possibility that Germany may have increased supplies by land routes hitherto hardly used, he declared, "We intend to take suitable measures."

The Prime Minister said he hoped that the meetings of the Supreme War Council, which he described as an "outstanding example of Anglo-French collaboration in all spheres," will be held more frequently and at more regular intervals.

He said he hope this will be done not only to forward prosecution of the war but "to enable us to perfect the machinery required for consolidating a European peace at the end of the war."

If We Do Not Win

Clement Attlee, Leader of the Opposition, told the House that "the democracies know quite well" that there will be "no more international law if we do not win."

"It will be only a law of the jungle enforced by Nazis," he said. "For our task is not merely to win the war but to win the peace."

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said Britain's defence expenditures between April 1 and August 31, 1939 were £237,000,000 ($1,054,000,000) but added that details of such expenditures since the war started are being kept secret.

Sir John denied reports he plans an "attack" on small wage earners in this budget statement to be made April 23.

The parliamentary spokesman for the Ministry of Mines said he hoped the restriction of individual coal purchases to 200 pounds at a time, due to shortage of supplies, will be removed soon.

"No important event on the western front. Air reconnaissance continued at an increased rate above the North Sea and against France. On the latter occasion a number of air battles occurred between German reconnaissance planes and enemy pursuit planes. "A Dornier shot down a Curtiss model French pursuit plane. Another German plane shot down a French Morane plane. A British reconnaissance plane which attempted to penetrate German Bay was shot down by a group of 109-Messerschmitts. A German reconnaissance plane did not return from an expedition against the enemy."

Again Serving The Allies

Madame Emelienne Moreau was awarded a Military Medal from King George V. for bravery displayed in the first World War when she was a girl of 17. At that time she stayed behind in Lens after the Germans had occupied it, nursing English prisoners and helping them to escape. This British general is greeting her at the selfsame town of Lens in the present war.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 3.

A rather perplexing and contradictory state of affairs may be read from this day's planetary configurations. In an attempt to break up some static or long-crystallized conditions there may be much strenuous effort brought to bear on knotty problems or peculiar frustrations. The mental outlook may be shrewd enough, but a propensity to attack difficulties by main force, impetuosity or rash tactics may complicate matters. The interference of strangers as well as friends should be considered with due caution. Help from unexpected sources may benefit and writings, contracts or correspondence may be winning factors.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which there may be difficult or conflicting situations to handle. These had best be attempted by naturally clever and intellectual processes rather than impetuous and reckless emotional stresses or turbulence. There may be novel or surprising developments in which both friends and strange influences must be met with calmness, sagacity, and the use of writings, documents or correspondence. The solution to difficult problems may come through intervention from high places.

A child born on this day may be versatile, with fine intellect, studious, profound and industrious. It may have some original creative talent, in expressing which there may be a singular conflict or opposition. Support may come from surprising and influential sources.

NEED A LAXATIVE? Help Constipated Area Don't Upset Whole Tract!

In spite of the different symptoms of constipation—headache, dullness, dragginess—most constipation occurs in one place. The big bowel! That's where help is needed—and that's why so many people who know the true facts always keep CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS on hand. Unlike calomel, salts and oils which affect other parts of the bowels, CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS concentrate their action right in the big bowel—moving jammed-up waste those last few inches, helping you feel better faster! Each foil-wrapped tablet a dose, and 12 tablets for 25c. Taste like fine milk chocolate. For free postpaid sample, write "Cascarets", Dept. C-11, Windsor, Ont. (Advt.)

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be sought at once. For this purpose get from Mother-mid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemmex and use as directed. This formula, easily used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemmex is highly recommended. In case of piles and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Advt.)

300 Draw Fines In Toronto For Old Plates

TORONTO, April 2—Three hundred city motorists who allowed their fondness for 1939 auto markers to go a bit too far, were given summonses by police yesterday. They will each pay $5 for not having obtained the yellow and black 1940 plates before the March 31 deadline.

While the police were kept busy taking names and listening to a variety of excuses from penitent motorists, suburban authorities, with only one exception, failed to encounter any motorists driving cars with last year's plates. The law was strictly observed in York Township, East York, North York, Forest Hill, New Toronto, Etobicoke and Weston. Scarboro' police said "a few" were given summonses in that municipality.

There was no April Fool business about the summonses. Motorists who had hoped the Provincial authorities would relent and tack on a few more days of grace, found themselves out of luck when they drove along the streets.

Central Ontario Soldiers Aid Manion Vote

The soldier vote registered majorities against Liberal candidates in every riding of this section of Ontario, the offical returns of the Active Service voting shows.

In Hastings - Peterborough the civilian majority of George S. White, National Government nominee was increased for the soldier vote added 107 to his total as against 49 for Rork Ferguson.

Col. McAlpine, National Government standard bearer in Victoria, secured the biggest boost from the soldier vote scored in this district, getting 159 votes from the active service men while Bruce McNevin obtained only 45. However the civilian vote was ample to return the latter.

Jamieson Bone, National Government candidate in Northumberland while badly beaten in the civilian vote had the satisfaction of outscoring his successful rival 115 to 85 on the basis of the soldier vote.

In Durham Ross Strike, the defeated National Government candidate secured 77 soldier votes while W. F. Rickard, the victorious Liberal nominee, had 43.

4 Fishers Missing

SHELBURNE, N.S., April 2. — (CP). — Captain Leo Hines of the Boston fishing schooner Adventure said to-day there still was no word of four fishermen missing in two dories off the southeast tip of Nova Scotia.

Capt. Hynes, who telegraphed the United States coastguard for assistance in searching for them yesterday, said he was considering getting in touch with naval authorities at Halifax.

The Adventure was fishing off Cape Sable in a thick fog on Saturday when the men became separated from the schooner. She cruised around for 24 hours before putting in to Shelburne for assistance.

Lauds Army Idea

LONDON, April 2—(CP-Cable).—The Times, in an editorial on the growth of the British army, to-day praised the Canadian policy of combining old and young men in its soldier ranks.

It recalled that doubts had been expressed in the Times whether the average army age was not rather low and whether a larger admixture of more mature years, especially in the infantry, would not give greater solidity and imperturbability under the nerve-wrecking conditions of modern warfare.

OBITUARY

ALEX BROWN.

HASTINGS, April 2.—(ENS). — Hastings lost one of its most prominent citizens Monday about seven o'clock when Alex Brown passed away at his home following a short illness. The late Mr. Brown moved to Hastings from Roseneath several years ago when he retired from farming. For the past few years, he was local agent for the International Harvester Company of Hamilton. As a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Hastings, the late Mr. Brown took an active part in religious affairs of this village and was an elder in the church. Funeral arrangements will be given later.

Car Is Damaged

HASTINGS, April 2.—(ENS). — Art Turner, tannery employee, has learned his car is not safe from damage even though it is standing still and away from any traffic. He parked the machine near one of the company buildings and, on returning to drive it home the next morning, found it in a damaged condition. The top had been crashed in by a large piece of ice which slid off the roof of the building, leaving a gaping hole in the

Home and School Association News

Speaking on child psychology, Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, gave an interesting address at the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association meeting, held Monday in the Kindergarten Room with the president, Mrs. V. R. Henry, in the chair.

Miss Young told of the early Greeks and Spartans who judged a child's life by physical fitness — only those who measured up to the test were allowed to grow up, and they were educated fully, mentally, morally, physically and spiritually. This age was followed by the Christian era, when all children were allowed to live—it was during this era that the idea of the fear of God was introduced. Miss Young described present parent education. She stressed that it was not "problem children," but problem parents who must be considered. Once problem parents, problem teachers and problem supervisors have been dealt with, then it is time to deal with the problem child. The most important years, declared the speaker, are the pre-school years or home age, then comes school, church and other recreations.

Home-training for children calls for all the finest things in a parent, such as common sense and knowledge. Love was mentioned as the most important, which triumphs over everything in teaching a child. Parents must set the examples of truth and honesty. In conclusion, Miss Young pointed out that parent education is only acquired by careful reading and discussion.

A full report of the Home and School Council Convention, held during the past week in Toronto, was presented by Mrs. V. R. Henry, who attended as a delegate. Mrs. R. Parnall, president of the local Home and School Council, also gave an outline of convention proceedings, and a special report was given by Mrs. L. M. Richardson, Health convenor.

An invitation to Home and School members to attend a bowling tournament at St. Andrew's United church, extended by St. Andrew's Bowling Club, was read by the president, and accepted.

Arrangements were discussed for an Open School and Fathers' Night, to be held Thursday evening, May 9.

Represent City At Concert In Massey Hall

Peterborough was represented at the Ontario Educational Association's annual concert in Massey Hall last week by twelve pupils from the Central and Prince of Wales Schools, who took part in the Elementary School Choir, made up of pupils from forty-one public schools of the province, and conducted by Mr. George Smale of Brantford.

The Central School Choir, trained by Mr. C. D. Munro, consisted of Betty Leeming, Olive Copperthwaite, Shirley Delahaye, Kathleen Armstrong, June McNab, and Marcelle Doogan. The Prince of Wales Choir consisted of Dorothy Anderson, Jean Allison, Beverly McCullough, Isobel Weaver and Olive Childs, and were trained by Mr. A. J. Noftall. Mrs. Fred Delahaye acted as chaperone.

The local public is to be given two opportunities of hearing these combined choirs—first at Central School on Monday, April 8, and again at Prince of Wales School on Monday, April 29.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

(By Mary Moore)

SUNDAY
Rhubarb Juice Cocktail
Standing Prime Rib Roast of Beef
Corn Popovers or Richmond Corn Cakes
Chopped Spinach with Drawn Butter
Peach Whip (see note) Coffee
NOTE: For peach whip soaked 1 tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup cold water, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 cup peaches drained from liquid (or fresh peaches may be used), 1 cup cold water, whites 2 eggs. Dissolve the gelatin over hot water. Mix together with the sugar, the peaches cut in small pieces, and the water, then add the gelatin. Let stand until mixture begins to harden. Add the unbeaten whites of eggs. Beat until white and frothy. Fill glasses and garnish with slices of peach. Serve plain or with whipped cream or boiled custard.

MONDAY
Sliced Cold Roast Beef with Horseradish
Corn au Gratin

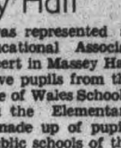
About Town with FLORA



Remember my telling you last week about the new BILTMORE RESTAURANT — formerly the Elite Grill — which is now under new management? Remember how enthusiastic I was about the noon-day luncheons from 25 cents up that included such delicious desserts—and the dinners that are so quickly and expertly served? Perhaps I didn't tell you that the menu is changed EVERY day; removing any possibility of monotonous fare; that the atmosphere is as new and restful as the management, and that the air is so fresh it reminds one of the great out-doors. If you haven't already done so, be wise and join the many Peterborites who are finding daily meal-time pleasure at this new and delightful place to eat.

With a hundred and one things to see during those busy days prior to your wedding, you prospective brides will bless me fervently for the good news I pass on to you today—news about a shop in town—Levine's Ladies' Wear at 369 George Street, to be exact—where you may outfit yourself from exquisite bridal gown, and frocks for your attendants, down to the last lovely dress, travelling suit, or chic hat of your trousseau. Should your bewildered brain need it (and what bride-to-be's doesn't), your choice will be prompted by experienced advice as to the right type of bridal array for your wedding, be it a huge church affair or quietly informal. And also, girls, don't hesitate to ask the clever lady whose friendly counsel solves your clothing problems about other troublesome items —she's seen many a bride through puzzling pre-nuptial details.

Sparkling spring inspires us, one and all, to add sparkle to our wardrobes and beauty to our hair — because I know that to achieve a perfectly groomed appearance is the goal of all smart women, I am advising you to visit the Lewis Hairdressing Salon at 167 Hunter West, where Miss Jean Jamieson, their clever haircutter and hair-stylist, has a deft hand for sculpturing your locks into a modern coiffure that is individual because it is planned definitely for YOU. "Difficult" hair is nothing new to the specialists at this salon, either. They recognize your problem in a twinkling, and are up-to-the-minute in marcelling, tinting and permanents, including the machineless wave that has no weight or heat and is a pleasure even while you're getting it—permanents are from two to seven dollars. And by the way, an appropriate feature this week is the Scarlett O'Hara coiffure. 4432 is the 'phone number—its wise to make appointments early.

POCKET POPULARITY

By ALICE ALDEN

POCKET enthusiasts or not, it's probable that all of us will appreciate the pocket editions for beach and play wear this summer. Unlike the pockets on our street frocks and suit jackets, these are meant to be used, even jammed if we like. Just for the fun of it, the majority button on in the manner shown. This denim jacket has matching little boy shorts. Belts with button-on pockets are popular accessories for golf and tennis fans, in particular, but give a tricky touch to spectator sports skirts and frocks as well. Also, there's the belt with button-on handbag which is competing with the shoulder bag.

Do You Know?

When knitting, cast on two stitches in the usual way, then put the needle between these stitches, put wool over and pull through. Continue by putting the needle between each stitch until required number is cast on. This gives a neat edge and it isn't necessary to knit into the backs of the stitches of the next row if it is used.

If your silver shoes are a little shabby, try rubbing them over with a smear of cream of tartar, and they will rival the silver paper round a bar of chocolate! Shabby velvet frocks are another problem. Try holding them in the steam from a kettle and you'll be surprised how the pile will rise.

DOROTHY DIX

Will Power Is The Only Cure For a Woman Who Is Neurotic, Forcing Yourself To Make The Best of a Situation Better Than Doctor's Medicine.

Dear Miss Dix—What can I do to change a bad disposition? I used to be a gay, pleasant, popular girl, but since I was married ten years ago I have become mean. I don't know why, because my husband is a sweet, noble person who apparently still loves me, though heaven alone knows why he does. I hate to spend money, although we have a good income. I bark at my two little boys, who are just normal, playful, healthy, noisy children, and I am afraid I am making them nervous with my constant nagging. My husband greatly resents my manner with them, yet will do nothing to discipline them himself. Before I was married I was a copy writer in an advertising agency and loved it, being completely absorbed in it. I often long for the hustle and bustle of a busy office, but my husband would not want me to go back, as it is not necessary for me to work. I am not interested in keeping house and I do not care for club or organization work. I am physically well and strong, but inclined to be nervous, but what I need is a different point of view. How am I to get it?

ANXIOUS TO CHANGE

ANSWER:

A woman as intelligent as your letter shows you to be knows the answer to that question, but lacks the courage to answer it honestly and take the bitter medicine it calls for to cure her.

Nobody on the outside can help her. She has to help herself. She has to be her own doctor. No surgeon can cut out the selfishness in a self-centered egotist. No physician knows any drug that will soothe out the rough places in an irritable, high-tempered woman's disposition and make her sweet and amiable. The woman who knows that she is self-centered and shrewish has to eradicate her own faults by forcing herself to think of other people and shutting down her teeth on her nagging and her sharp speeches.

You see your own faults. Why don't you correct them? You can if you wish to. It is just a matter of will power. People make me smile when they say they can't control their emotions, because they can and do when it is to their interest to do it. The termagant woman who flies in rages at her husband didn't talk back to her boss when she had a job she wanted to keep. The mother whose children get on her nerves with their noise can listen to a jazz band braying in her ears and like it. So there you are.

Evidently you are bored with your husband and children and home and want to get back into the business world. Well, you deliberately chose marriage as a career. Why can't you be a sport and make the best of your bargain? Lots of people have to do work that they don't like, but if they have any real brains and intestinal fortitude they don't smother themselves in self-pity and get morbid and neurotic as you have done. They quit looking over the fence into the green pastures beyond, and do the work they have set their hands to do so well that they learn to like it.

And, believe me, the new point of view which you are seeking lies right under your eyes, only you shut them and will not see it. It is to quit thinking about being happy yourself and try to make your husband and children happy. For the only way we can ever find any real happiness is in doing our duty. It is to be a gentle and patient mother instead of a nagger. It is to force yourself to cure your miserliness by giving; to turn a smiling face instead of a discontented one on the world.

When I see a woman like you, with youth and health and a fine mind, with a loving husband, splendid children and a beautiful home, with money to keep her safe and lapped in luxury, yet who does not pay God even the poor compliment of being satisfied and happy with the great gifts He has lavished upon her, I wonder if she doesn't strain even His infinite mercy and make Him very tired.

Dear Miss Dix— We are a couple in our middle fifties. Have been married many years. My wife is very kind to me, a very good cook and fine housekeeper and I am very fond of her, but she likes to go out much more than I do, although I go with her a great deal, too, so she has a man friend who takes her out.

Of course, I don't altogether like this, but in a way it is a relief to have somebody else amuse my wife so that I can stay at home and smoke my pipe and read. And anyway, I can't stop her because she is very independent and does as she pleases. If I spoke to her about it we would only have trouble, whereas now we get along fine.

Now, don't you think that I would be foolish to break up my home just because my wife goes out with another man once in a while?

FASHIONS

A basic dress is a joy to have. Change your accessories, and you have a new frock. This style is particularly adaptable for spring with its slim, high waistline, flared skirt and smart bolero. A plain color silk or rayon crepe, perhaps navy blue or dark green, is the perfect foil for lacy pockets and collars. A halter top tha ties on, made of a bright print, and a hat to match makes this dress look like the newest bolero suit.

Style No. 3238 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material for bolero and dress.

Halter pattern No. 3248 is designed for one size, adaptable to any size and must be ordered separately.

Hat No. 2144 is designed for one size adaptable to any headsize and must be ordered separately.

Nicholls Hospital Auxiliary Starts Bottle Collection

An appeal to Peterborough women for bottles of any kind — from medicine to gallon jars, was made at the general meeting of the Nicholls Hospital Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon, held in the Sunday School room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Bottle collections are to be made during the month of April, and citizens are requested to get in touch with the conveners appointed to take charge of each section of the city—their 'phone numbers appear elsewhere in today's issue. Trucks will call for bottles some time during the month if word is left with the convener as to where contributions may be picked up.

Miss E. Morrow, convener of the buying committee, told of the purchases to be made for the hospital with membership money, and of the contribution of a clock from Mr. J. H. Vernor of the Western Clock Company. It was decided, she said, that an electric food service conveyer be purchased which would provide food "piping hot" for all patients in public wards. Kept in thermos containers in this cart, the food is served in the ward, a decided improvement over the former method of conveying food by trays. Bedside curtains for a four-bed public ward, which will add to the privacy and comfort of the patients, as was done in a number of other wards two years ago, are also to be purchased by the auxiliary.

Announcement was made that proceeds from the penny sale, to be held sometime during the month of May, are to be used, not only for the building fund, but also for some special hospital equipment.

Mrs. Ivan Lillico, president, was in the chair for the meeting, and a special word of welcome was extended to the ladies by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

Mrs. E. V Morphet, treasurer, announced a special savings account of $673.62 plus two $500 bonds; savings account of $543.91, membership account, and a life membership account of $422.84 plus one $500 bond.

Mrs S. J Graham, reporting on membership, said that it had gone over the 2300 mark, including 61 life members. Mrs. J. Comstock, sr. reported 320 calls since the last general meeting, for the visiting committee. Mrs. J. Detcher, for sewing, reported that 1,065 articles had been taken out, with 800 finished articles returned to the hospital. Mrs. G. R. Scott, convener of life memberships, reported five new members with several others in view; It was reported that Mrs. R. Ross entertained at her home for a number of nurses; Miss E. Morrow read correspondence from the Y.M.C.A. regarding their coming annual Pageant; Miss Violet Davidson gave the transportation report, stating that nurses are transported once a month to St. Joseph's hospital for lectures, and a report of the Thursday Club, which meets each Thursday afternoon and makes two layettes each month in addition to sewing done for soldiers, was made by Mrs. W. H. Hill.

Announcement was made by Mrs. E. Wand, president of the Local Council of Women, of the coming visit to the city of Dr. Harry Ebbs, a former Peterborough boy who will speak at the Y.M.C.A. the evening of April 10 on "Malnutrition." A Hospital Auxiliary members. Arrangements for the speaker are in charge of Dr. Agnes K. Moffat.

Of much interest at yesterday's meeting was the yearly superintendent's report, presented by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, outlining work covered by the Hospital during the past year, and changes made in the staff.

Raya Garbousova Celloist Heard In Fine Program

A color harmony of soft-blue gown, aureole of golden hair, a glistening brown cello, was a romantic introduction to a program of almost perfect enchantment when Raya Garbousova, young Russian 'cellist, played in the Collegiate Auditorium Monday night in the final series of Canadian Concert Association program for this season. The program included Henri Eccles' G Minor Sonata, Boccherini's Concerto in B Flat Major; Sonatine of Weber; Tschaikowsky's "Variations on a Rococo Theme," Ravel's Habanera, Klengel's Scherzo and two encores.

A quaint old sonata by Eccles was a gentle prelude; two lovely, smooth, slow melody movements, two jaunty jigs of rhythm...and then came a rare old Boccherini Concerto on which the pianist, Mr. Valbert Coffey, was so radiantly "en rapport" with the cello that only a rather ravishing old cadenza with no piano revealed how clumsy the finest concert grand piano is compared to the lithe lyric animation of Garbousava's supple wrist—flex bowing and the winglike flutter of her left hand.

A sonatine by Weber, built on a perfect rollick of a rampant march-song that everybody wanted to play on a piano, developed four of the most piquantly artistic variations ever heard on a cello. But the variations on a Theme Rococo, were the most opulent opus on the program. In these the player had a Flora's holiday with about four octaves in tonal pageant that ranged in tone-color from indigo-black to ultra-violet as clear as the top notes of a roller canary. The rhythms in these variations were a picnic of splendid panoramic pranks.

Ravel's "Habenera" was a lovely bit of modern tone painting in striking contrast to a scintillating scherzo by Klengel that with the vividly contrasted encores ended a recital that for the joy of being alive in these savagely destructive days was an inspiring keynote for impediable 1940. And the art of it was gloriously shared by the pianist.

The artist's face mirrored the beauty of her playing. Not a shadow of expression touched her music—vivid sensitive music—but was pictured in her countenance radiantly and lovingly. Her bow is as smooth as Casals' own, it might have been oiled for the suave song of it. Yet it bites in the softest staccato, and in long drawn adagios it sings with poignant sweetness. Her shading is delicate but broad. Her taste and restraint are masterly.

Raya Garbousova, whose gracious manner with the Peterborough members whom she met last night won instant and admiring approval, speaks English clearly but with an engaging accent. She is regarded as one of the outstanding 'cellists of the day, but so delightfully human that a number of local 'cellists who had clustered in the wings were rewarded by a personal "lesson" from the artist during the intermission. She is a native of Tiflis, Russia, where her father is a professor at the conservatory. She started taking 'cello lessons when only seven years old and was admitted to the conservatory two years later.

At the age of 14 she graduated with high honors and was sent to Moscow on a concert tour as the most promising prodigy of the State of Georgia. Her first appearance on this continent was in New York, December, 1934, where she made a most favorable impression. Since then she has been constantly in demand for concert work.

Valbert Coffey, the pianist, is accompanist for the Ford Symphony Hour and for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, an interesting personality whose outstanding art was apparent from the moment he sat down at the keyboard.

Dr. J. J. Craig, president, expressed thanks last night to Association members, and asked their cooperation for next season, when the series will include the original Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers with Serge Jaroff, conductor; Margit Bokor, Hungarian Soprano; Roland Gundry, brilliant young American violinist, and Poldi Mildner, pianist, who has played in public since she was eleven years old, and made her concert debut at that age in Vienna.

Announcement was made that Mrs. A. W. Turner and her committee would be at Hooper's upper store, 414 George North, every afternoon and evening of this week, and Dr. Craig requested that as many as possible call and renew their memberships while the committee was on hand to receive them.

Putting On The Clamps

Russia has created another republic within the Soviet Union, making in all twelve in number, and into that goes almost 14,000 square miles which was once within the boundaries of Finland. The nearest approach we can make by way of illustration in our own land is the province of Nova Scotia which has 21,000 square miles, so Finland has had to give an area about two-thirds the extent of the Canadian province.

We have seen it stated several times that "Finland will get her rights when we are through with this war," but actually that is the result of wishful thinking. If one cares to spend a little time profitably looking at the map it will be seen how difficult it is for any outside nation, no matter how powerful, to go in there to wrest the conquered section of Finland from Russia. Germany is the one exception and Germany is not minded to go to the aid of Finland. That is why there is a degree of finality to the fate of Finland. The world detests it, but there it is.

The only possible way to go into Finland is by way of Norway and Sweden. From Leningrad to the Arctic Ocean is 500 miles north, and for almost the entire distance the boundary of Russia is also the boundary of Finland, so the amount of pressure which Russia could bring to bear there would be considerable at any time. The invader seeking to aid Finland would have to overcome the prejudice of neutral countries, while Russia would have no such problem. It looks very much as though that which has been done cannot be undone.

Only Two Members!

There are thousands of people living in Canada today who can recall having heard Sir Wilfrid Laurier speak. There is not much doubt that he ranked as the greatest orator Canada ever produced. One might reasonably claim he had everything in the way of equipment—appearance, a beautiful flow of carefully-selected words, an absence of ridicule and sarcasm, and greatest of all, the ability to convince. He died in February, 1919.

We mention that because it is just 21 years since the time of his departure, and yet when the new Parliament meets in May there will be but two members who were in the House when Sir Wilfrid was prime minister. One of them is the present Prime Minister and the other Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. Mr. Lapointe followed Sir Wilfrid in the Quebec East riding, which the former Liberal chief held from 1878 until 1919, a term of 41 years, and Mr. Lapointe has had that seat for 19 years. So since 1878 Quebec East has had but two members. Mr. Lapointe has been continuously in the House for 36 years.

The manner in which almost the entire personnel of the House of Commons has changed since the days of Sir Wilfrid is a plain enough reminder that the same individual does not continue to keep on holding a seat indefinitely. There are two hazards they have to face, (1) the most obvious, that they may be defeated at the polls, and (2) one which is frequently operative, that the sitting member may not again receive the party nomination. That second tendency has been more marked in recent year. There are younger men in the parties and they are not content always to sit back and wait until the old member is through. They shove toward the front and frequently are successful in taking the seat.

Only two members in the new Parliament were there in the days of Sir Wilfrid. That old phrase tempus fugit has a wealth of meaning.

They Can't Afford It

Eight young men appeared in magistrate's court at Peterborough to mark the beginning of business for the week and each in turn contributed a fine of $10 plus $3.50 costs. They had been in a house when it was raided by police. A common gaming house according to the titular classification given to it by police.

That was $13.50 each and whether the average group of eight young men have that much money to spare is doubtful. Our belief is they couldn't afford it, and they would have to do without something else so they could pay up and keep from going to jail.

There's something all wrong about it. No person takes pleasure in seeing a number of young men having to fork over their money when they are getting nothing in return. But they would know in advance of what they were doing. They would know the place was apt to be raided, and they would know—at least they should—that they could not all go out there and come away with more money than they took along with them.

A gaming house does not exist to hand out money to people. It has nothing in common with the Santa Claus idea. It is run for the purpose of making money no matter on what basis it operates.

One can feel more sorry than angry when seeing young men caught in the police net in such a spot. They are lacking in wisdom and in the ability to properly discern things which are of value and those which are plain junk. And that is not merely a bit of advice hastily tossed together. Rather is it the experience of a number of years sitting in a place where one sees day after day the grist of magistrates' courts in many centres. The wonder is that young men or older ones cannot see that a common gaming house can continue to exist only to the extent to which unwise people permit themselves to hand over their hard-earned money to support the place.

The Little Soldier

It has always been more or less of an open question whether there should be regulations saying a short set man cannot join the army. Take the case of Private D. Eaddie, who is 5 feet 2½ inches, which is 1¼ inches below the standard. He is with the Canadians at Aldershot and the reason is they couldn't keep him out.

When he heard of the war Eaddie was in Alberta's Peace River country 230 miles away from the nearest recruiting station in Grand Prairie. He hitchhiked, thumbing rides in canoes, then on trucks and the rest of the distance on foot. The recruiting sergeant had an eye for a well-finished man; he told Eaddie he was too short and underweight. He was out.

But he hadn't reckoned with Private Eaddie. Edmonton was a mere 350 miles away and he took to the trails and the roads again. Once again he made application and in he went. In all he went 580 miles in order to enlist, so it's small wonder he looks upon the customary route marches as nothing more than a stroll. So we chalk up one for the little fellow.

In Days Of Puddles

"Be kind to the little man beside the puddle; we may have to walk ourselves after this war is over," is the timely advice handed out by the London Free Press and we pass it on for the benefit of local motorists. This is the season of the year when the pedestrian has a right to claim special consideration from the man at the wheel of a car. Streets are full of puddles of muddy water and the driver who splashes his machine carelessly through the miniature lakes may drench unfortunate persons who are walking on the sidewalks.

It is true that the careless driving section of the Highway Traffic Act now makes it possible for the offending motorist to be charged in court but that, after all, is not very effective protection for the pedestrian. By the time she has wiped the muddy water from his eyes it may be too late to catch the license number of the car involved.

The existing condition of many streets affords an effective test of the character of the folk who drive cars. They write their own appreciation of themselves if they refuse to consider the clothing of all the pedestrians within range.

Groundhog In The Snow!

A resident of our lakes district reports he has seen a groundhog trying to make his way through some rather deep snow. At this time of year the animal would not be in shape for much of a snow-wading trip. Now and then they leave their burrows if they are exposed to the sun, but even on the first short excursions they are generally rather groggy at this season.

It is not likely there are any definite facts regarding the length of time the groundhog hibernates, but in a season such as this it would be close to five months, and during that time he lives on the fat he has packed on during summer and fall. According to tradition he comes out on the second of February to see how things look in the outside world, but there is not a thing to indicate that such a habit ever existed.

The groundhog as a rule will go in for the winter in advance of the bear. During deer-hunting season in November it occasionally happens that hunters will come across a bear, but they never see a groundhog. So the one which was seen wading through the snow was probably trying to find his way home, convinced he had made a serious error in venturing out too soon.

Ready To Assist

A colorful addition to Peterborough's list of organizations has been made by the formation here of a company of the Legion of Frontiersmen.

Local citizens had an opportunity on Sunday to see the Frontiersmen on parade as members of several Toronto companies of the organization visited the city and attended service at All Saints' Church and the picturesque uniforms and martial bearing of the Frontiersmen were admired.

The Legion of Frontiersmen is a civil body organized on military lines and their principal object is to be ready to assist the civil and military authorities in time of emergency. They stand to at all times to render assistance whenever their services are needed to preserve law and order or to assist the authorities in the case of riots, big fires, or any similar emergency. The members, many of whom saw service in the last great war, as their rows of medals testify, receive military training, buy their own uniforms and dedicate themselves to emergency service.

There is much in the movement to admire and nothing that suggests itself in the way of criticism. That being so, Peterborough citizens will wish the local Frontiersmen a successful career and look forward to their parades as likely to add a spot of color to the more or less drab routine of everyday life.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Young man in Toronto was arrested for theft while working in a polling booth on election day. Possibly he thought that would be one place where police would never think of looking for a dishonest person.

Samuel Untermyer has an estate near New York worth $35,000,000, and in his will he offered it to the city of Yonkers as a gift, but that was refused. The same offer was made to New York state with like results. The catch was that it cost $1,000,000 per year for upkeep.

Ontario Women's Teachers' Federation members were told that if more of them would get married there would be quite an improvement in the standing of the superannuation fund. And that is based on the belief that when a woman is married her financial worries are over.

In seven months of war Britain and France placed orders for over $600,000,000 worth of goods, and no attempt has been made to increase prices. And that is about as far removed as anything can be from what was taking place in the previous world war.

At a sale in Wisconsin a Holstein bull consigned from Macdonald College, Ont., was purchased for $1,500, and a man with a few animals of that kind around the place would feel safer if he also had a padlock, a shot gun and a cross dog.

The biggest circus in the world has left winter headquarters in Florida and is heading north. That may indicate something or other but it doesn't guarantee a man a chance right away to go and see how the winter wheat has been standing the racket.

Thieves at Atlantic City stole fifty pounds of sleeping powders, and it is said there is sufficient in the lot to put half the people in Atlantic City to sleep. Perhaps that is what the thieves have in mind before proceeding with the rest of their business.

Mayor Morrison of Hamilton addressed a banquet of Boy Scouts, and said he had never known of a Scout who appeared in court. That same claim has been made before, and while it does not in any way describe the Boy Scout movement it is worth repeating in an age when youth and crime are becoming miserably linked together.

SOCIETY

¶ Aunt Phoebe went out the other day, in haste she was to get away, you couldn't keep her tied; it was an afternoon affair, and crowds of folk were gathered there, reception for a bride.

¶ The bride lived always just next door, she wed when she turned twenty-four, Aunt Phoebe knew her so well; she'd seen her married and she'd heard, the neighbors passed around the word, that she'd done rather well.

¶ Aunt Phoebe was anxious for the trip, she'd stop a while and chat and sit, perhaps she'd stay for tea; for as a child the bride would run, and into Aunt Phoebe's place she'd come, and sit upon her knee.

¶ So Aunt Phoebe fluttered all a-throb, but found herself caught in a mob, so many people there; it didn't seem to her so good, because she simply stood and stood, and couldn't find a chair.

¶ And after she'd been there some time, she got herself pushed in a line, went farther on inside; her corns were hurting quite a lot, and she was feeling flushed and hot, half-minute with the bride.

¶ She got some cake, a cup of tea, not half enough to feed a flea, then started down the block; of such affairs she don't think much, she was as touchy as a crutch—no chance to sit and talk.

Germany Seeks To Sway Opinion In The States

IT IS SCARCELY an accident that the German Foreign Office has published its White Book on the "role the United States played in starting the war" just after the return of Sumner Welles to report to President Roosevelt. The German propaganda department made a good thing out of Mr. Welles while he was in Europe and no doubt is trying to continue to take advantage of his presence in the news. The White Book publication appears to have been timed to discredit Mr. Welles and President Roosevelt simultaneously in the eyes of Americans insistent upon keeping out of the war. It looks as if it was designed deliberately to block the publication or to reduce the influence of the report which President Roosevelt was expected to release on the Welles European trip.

The publication by the Germans of the documents, which they declare they discovered in the archives of Poland, is another proof that their cleverness as propagandists should not be underestimated. The propaganada with which they flood their own country may appear clumsy enough to outsiders—it is anything but clumsy for their own purposes—but there is nothing clumsy about the way they conduct propaganda operations designed to have their effect on the people of other countries. Since the Welles visit to Berlin there has been a distinct cooling in popular American regard for the Allies, as reflected in the popular American press, and there is no logical explanation of this unless it be the skilled manner in which Dr. Goebbels and his associates used Mr. Welles' presence in Europe to get tons of thousands of words into the American newspapers. Without the slightest difficulty they got across the idea to the uncritical reader that nothing but the stubbornness and the aggressive intentions of the Allies is preventing a return to peace.

Mr. Welles, says Kingston Whig-Standard, undoubtedly saw through the way the Nazis were using him and was possibly furious about it, but he was committed to silence. President Roosevelt was probably furious about it, too, but he could not logically issue any statement until Mr. Welles had returned and reported. In the statement regarding the trip which the President has been expected to make, it was reasonable to suppose, however, that something would be done to repair the damage. So the German propagandists, knowing that they have nothing to gain by attempting to woo Mr. Roosevelt, and knowing also the intense desire of the majority of Americans to keep out of the war, have rushed to represent the American President as an instigator of war. Their hope has been that the American people would turn against their President and pay little attention to the report he would give them of Mr. Welles' study of the situation in Europe.

IT IS POSSIBLE that, for all their cleverness, the German propagandists have overshot the mark this time. President Roosevelt, Cordell Hull, Ambassador Bullitt and the Polish Ambassador in Washington, Count Jerzy Potocki, have all issued statements branding the German White Book as fabricated propaganda. It is particularly interesting that the Republicans have promptly proceeded to react exactly as the Germans probably expected that they would react. Representative Hamilton Fish has already suggested that the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee should hold an investigation, and he has added that "If President Roosevelt has entered into secret understandings or commitments with foreign governments to involve us in war, he should be impeached." The Germans, it might also be noted, have said that the White Book is only the first of a series of such "revelations" which they will make about the origin of the war.

The new development in German propaganda is fairly certain to get President Roosevelt's back up. During the past few months he has been expressing his views about totalitarian states with a great deal of restraint. At any time now he can be expected to blast forth against them again as he used to do around the time of Munich. When he does this, the Germans will find that they have more than met their match in the art of swaying public opinion of the war, the aggression against Czecho-Slovakia, the aggression against Poland, the efforts and sacrifices made by Britain and France to preserve peace, are recalled by the American President, a hundred and thirty million Americans will more quickly give up their determination to keep out of the war than they will give up their deep and fundamental sympathy for the principles which the Allies are fighting to maintain.

PREFER FREEDOM

THE evacuation of the Finnish population from the areas that have been ceded to ussia is a sufficient answer to the Soviet claim that the invasion of Finland was designed to liberate the enslaved Finnish proletariat and allow them to come under the benign rule of a Communist government. If the resistance of Finland were not sufficient evidence of the Finnish determination to maintain Finland's independence, the withdrawal of the Finnish people from regions where they would be under Soviet rule should convince Russia that her assertion that the Finns were prepared to set up a government on Communist lines was false.—Fort William Times-Journal.

• Beastly Things On News Stands

THERE HAS arrived in this office, for the instruction of the editor, a bundle of about a dozen monthly magazines, regularly published in the United States and regularly sold, seemingly without official let or hindrance, on a great many of the newsstands of this city which pass for respectable businesses.

There is no doubt at all that these magazines are horrible things that can conceivably work a great mischief in the impressionable minds of school children.

It is also apparently no secret that school children, principally schoolboys from 12 to 14 years old, are the readers of these magazines.

There is no good reason that any decent man can give why the authorities should not prevent the sale of these beastly things by any means within the lawful resources of the law offices of the Crown.

You will have no difficulty in recognizing this stuff, if you happen not to know what it looks like. These prints are recognizable by their covers, which are almost invariably alike in a highly-colored suggestion of an illiterate's feast of sex and crime.

If you are really in doubt, you may ask for them by their trade name of "Horror Mag." The news agent will almost certainly know what you mean. If he is candid he will admit that generally he depends on customers—if you are adult—very much younger than you.

It is at a glance obviously true of these magazines that "sex and sadism is the basis of their appeal." Even if they are not by legal definition obscene (and that is something very difficult to prove at law), the unconcealed commodities which are their bid for custom are lewdness and crime. They are at least dreadful trash, very mischievous stuff for the secret reading of children.

It is no surprise to hear that a number of cities in the United States, aroused by the protests of parent-teacher associations and the like, have dealt radically with the evil of the unrestricted and open sale of these magazines. They have proceeded by police action against the news dealers and obtained convictions and (what is often even more effective) publicity for the people who traffic in this stuff.

Also, in our case, the customs and the postoffice have powers of interdiction at the border.

There is no arguable question of freedom of the press here. This is a simple case of preventing the exploitation of childhood for the profit of a conscienceless scum of the publishing trade and the way to clean up this thing is to get rough and clean it up.—Vancouver Province.

• Ribbentrop Visiting The Pope

IT WOULD BE interesting to know why the German Foreign Minister asked the Pope for an audience. Was it to explain the new German religion? Only last Christmas Goering's organ said of the Fuehrer that he was "for the German people what Christ was to the world nearly 2,000 years ago, the messenger of the Almighty who proclaims peace on earth and goodwill for suffering mankind."

Herr Streicher, speaking of the German race, said: "In your blood you are listening to the voice of God." The first of a series of propositions drawn up by a leader of the Hitler Youth for the instruction of young men in Austria runs as follows: "Christianity is a religion for slaves and idiots."

Ribbentrop is a man of great self-confidence, but even he might doubt whether he would convert the Pope to these views.

The Nazi religion was condemned by the late Pope in a powerful Encyclical on the persecution of the Church in Germany in 1937: "He who takes the race, or the people, or the State, or the form of Government... and defies them with an idolatrous worship perverts and falsifies the order of things created and commanded by God."

Much has happened since 1937. The Nazis, after dividing Poland with the Bolsheviks, have treated their Roman Catholic victims worse than the Bolsheviks theirs. The Pope has denounced with passionate severity the inhuman treatment of the whole people of Poland, "the most pious and devout nation of Europe," and the report broadcast from the Vatican last January moved the conscience of the world. Ribbentrop is a man of great self-confidence, but he is also a man with a grim dramatic sense.

For among the Germans who accompanied him to the Vatican were members of the Gestapo, the instruments employed for the worst of the barbarities inflicted on the Christians who look to the Pope as their father.

It is as if Abdul Hamid had gone to visit the Pope with his Bashibazouks. —Manchester Guardian.

CAUSE OF GRAY HAIRS

FRANK REEVES, Toronto locomotive engineer, has retired after 40 years of service. His hair is gray, and it is no wonder. Railroading was exceedingly dangerous when he was a younger man; for then, they had nothing but hand brakes and link and pin couplings. Twice he was compelled to jump from his cab to save his life.

But that isnt what caused the gray hairs, he says.

The greatest test of a railway engineer's nerves is the reckless or thoughtless motorist who tries to beat the train to the grade crossing. Engineers also tremble when they see motorists rushing up to the crossing at almost full speed and then stopping short just in time to avoid a collision — merely trying to display the control they have over their cars. The fellow who skims in front of the engine, then stops his car and waves to the engineer with a self-satisfied grin is the bane of the railwayman's life.

Did you ever come to a full stop well in advance of an approaching train, and then wave to the engineer when the locomotive sweeps past? Try it some time and you will be cheered by the friendly wave and happy smile that will greet you from the engine cab. If every motorist would do that, there would be fewer engineers with gray hairs.—Chatham News.

SPEAKING OF CROPS

ON the whole South Alberta enters the new crop season with a fair degree of moisture. There is less than there might be of subsoil moisture, but more than we have seen in many seasons. The crop is assured a fairly good germination, and if Nature rewards us with the average moisture during May, June and July we will do very nicely.

In an event, we have not had to watch dust storms causing a blackout of the sun this Winter season as we have had to do in some past seasons, and that is a distant advantage from the standpoint of the farmer about to sow his new crop. — Lethbridge Herald.

A Bit of Nonsense

Sailors Don't Care

The young sailor was just about fed up with his aged aunt's persistent questioning.

"Aren't you simply terrified at the thought that at any moment your ship may be at the bottom of the sea?" she asked in an awed tone.

"What's the blinkin' odds," he replied. "It aint' my ship, is it?"

Lynching Suggested

A sergeant had been drilling a bunch of new recruits on a very hot summer day. At last his patience was nearly exhausted, and, wiping his brow, he remarked:

"I don't know what to do with you chaps."

Perspiring recruit (hopefully): "There's some trees over there, sergeant."

"I know," replied the sergeant, "but I havent' got a blinkin' rope."

Sense of Rhyme

"What is that song you are singing?" I asked the little Cockney evacuee.

"Tike yer plice," she replied.

Smilingly I told her she ought to say:

"Take your place."

She looked at me with contempt, as she asked:

"And how's that going to rhyme with 'bibyface in the next line, I'd like to know?"

HIS CABLE TO STALIN

(Time)

CLEVELAND'S Russian-Born Telephone Diplomat Abraham ('Abe') Pickus, maker of expensive long-distance calls to foreign statesmen on behalf of peace, cabled to Joseph Stalin: "Get wise to yourself. Tell the world that Russia was and is willing to disarm and settle all disputes by arbitration. Call a world conference. Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain, Daladier are savages. Try to bring them to the table with the help of President Roosevelt.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Blessed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the Lord. Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart....Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law....Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth.—Ps. cxix. 1, 2, 18, 142.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness. Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron....He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder....

He sent his word and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions.—Ps. cvii, 8-10, 14, 20.

LIABILITY INSURANCE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—It is amusing to notice the recommendation of the Legal Committee when the above tenders were called and Mr. Eastwood's was for $2,302.11 and Mr. Wilson's $2,750, a difference of just $548.11. Mr. Wilson states (who had the insurance for five years) he had lost on the Peterborough business, then drops his tender $548.11 after the tenders were opened.

According to Mr. Gordon's oratory the adjustors would cut down liabilities; that is certainly giving the people a raw deal. Just bunk we all know. There have been differences between Mr. Gordon and Mr. Eastwood in the past over the City Trust funds. Mr. Eastwood has always worked for the city and deserves credit the way said funds were safeguarded, and is entitled to a square deal in this transaction and no matter who gets the insurance, Mr. Eastwood saves the city $548 by his tender.

LAKEFIELD

Cemetery Board Re-Elects D. H. Webster

LAKEFIELD, April 2—(ENS).—D. H. Webster was re-elected president of the Lakefield Cemetery Trustees when the board met for the annual meeting in the Memorial Hall, Lakefield, on Monday afternoon.

The secretary-treasurer, G. H. Spence, reported the balance on hand at the beginning of April, 1939, as $1,021.80. The receipts for the year were $1,445.74, with expenses of $806.11. The board has the sum of $7,237 invested in various bonds. During the past year a $1,000 bond was purchased in the new war loan.

A. E. Higgins, superintendent of the cemetery, presented his report, showing that there had been forty-six burials, six lots sold and ten foundations put in during the year, also that $190 had been received for permanent care of graves.

Mr. Higgins suggested that a power lawn mower be purchased. Since the new part of the cemetery has been added there is a great amount more work added. He also asked for an increase in his present salary, saying that since the new part took more work it had to hire help in order to keep the grass cut, etc. The board has been paying for any extra help needed for the new cemetery.

It was decided that the caretaker be given an increase in salary of forty dollars for the year with the board hiring help. An advertisement to be put in the Examiner for help for the superintendent for four months of the year.

A new power mower will also be purchased.

J. H. Sherin was appointed chairman for the election of officers, which resulted in the following being re-elected to office: President, D. H. Webster; Vice-President, Arthur Fitzgerald; Secretary-Treasurer, G. H. Spence; Finance Committee: D. H. Webster, J. H. Sherin, and G. H. Spence; Property Committee: S. Rosborough, T. Mburn, A. Fitzgerald and N. S. Higgins and Auditor, A. H. Clark.

County Road Is Open In Ennismore

ENNISMORE, April 2—(ENS)—As a result of work done by the county snowplow on Saturday and Sunday, the main road through the township back of Gannon's Narrows is now open to car traffic. Due to heavy drifts of snow, considerable difficulty was experienced in opening the roads, but with the assistance of a crew of snow shovels the work was satisfactorily accomplished.

2 Miners Saved

CARBONDALE, Pa., April 2. — (AP).—Two anthracite miners were recovering in hospital today from effects of a 17-hour imprisonment 30 feet underground, the result of a cave-in.

Steve Daynock, 58, and Michael Hurchick, 36, were brought to the surface in a dramatic rescue yesterday. Scores of miners dug frantically Saturday night in a night-long effort to free the men from a subleased northwest colliery mine between Simpson and Vandling. They augmented their efforts with a steam shovel yesterday.

This radiophoto is the first picture on Germany's recently published White Book which condemns President Roosevelt as a war-monger and which has been issued by the German propaganda bureau. This is the letterhead upon which it is alleged by the German government that Polish Ambassador Potocki reported on an interview with William Bullitt, U.S. Ambassador to Paris, in which Bullitt is alleged to have declared that the U.S. would "finish war on Allies' side." President Roosevelt, Ambassador Bullitt and Ambassador Potocki termed the reports as sheer propaganda.

PARADISE IS HERE

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:

ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.

CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.

BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.

TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.

BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.

YESTERDAY: Bax offers to teach Romany something about radio technique.

CHAPTER FOUR

BAXTER arrived at the advertising agency several minutes before Romany. The girl at the desk motioned him to go into the recording room. He passed through a crowd of actresses and actors that might have been a broadway convention.

Representing every age and class of the show business, they stood around in little groups complaining or bragging. A great many of them had been vaudeville headliners, while others had been well-known Broadway leading men and women or bit players. Most of them declared they hated Chicago.

Baxter entered the control room with a fast-beating heart. It was a thrill to see the director of radio for the Boyd-Cromwell agency, a tremendously high-salaried youth of his late twenties, sitting smoking a cigaret. Things were really going to start moving at last!

"Miller hasn't arrived. I see." He shook hands with Bob Lane.

Miller was the director he's been hired for "Paradise Is Here." He was perhaps the only man in Chicago whom Baxter felt sure would be able to bring out the spiritual quality of his brain child and make of it the thing of beauty he had wished it to be.

He crushed his cigaret.

"No, Tree, I'm afraid Stan Miller is out. Too busy. But Cain Delacarte is here will do a swell job, I'm sure. Have you two met?"

Behind his disappointment with Miller, A swarthy little man looked up from a bunch of scripts and nodded cryptically:

"Hello!"

Baxter acknowledged the greeting. Before he had time to do so Delacarte had resumed his perusal of the scripts. Lane grinned, motioned for Baxter to sit down. He did so miserably. Delacarte, a large pencil in his hand, was crossing out lines and writing in others. Baxter, wincing, asked:

"How do you like the show, Mr. Delacarte? Or have you had a chance to read it?"

"Read it! Hell! I've rewritten it!"

Baxter looked a little pale, and looked to Lane for encouragement.

"Who," Delacarte asked him sarcastically, "told you you could write dialog? And why didn't you learn a little about business before you started trying to sell dramatic shows?"

Bob Lane laughed.

"You'll have to get used to Cain, Tree. He speaks no punches."

"So I see," Bax said quietly. "What have I directed, Mr. Delacarte? I'm afraid I've never heard of you before."

"That makes even." The dark face cracked in an unattractive grin. "I've never heard of you, either."

"Cain does a couple of shows for us," Lane stepped in. "Very successful ones, too. 'The Adventures of Uncle Kip' and 'Aces of the Clouds'."

"I see." Bax by that time was feeling a little sick. "Kid stuff."

Delacarte grew slowly red around the collar. When he looked up, his black eyes were definitely unfriendly.

"Yeah," he sneered, "kid stuff! And so lousy I'm making over seven hundred bucks a week. So what?"

Before Bax could assemble an answer, Lane got up, laughing again:

"Let's go into the studio a while, Tree. I think it's getting a little warm in here."

"I don't get it, Lane," he began. "I thought you agreed with me that 'Paradise' needed someone who would appreciate—"

Lane held up his hand:

"Don't blame me, Tree. I'm only the head of the radio department. Delacarte spent the week-end out at the big boss' country place and I guess Byrd decided his old drinking pal, Cain, was having a hard struggle trying to get along on two shows. Anyway, this morning he told me to let him have your baby. Delacarte's going to marry a singer with two kids Saturday and I guess with the new mouths to feed it's going to be hard to make both ends meet."

"I see your position," Bax said with an effort. "But God help poor old 'Paradise'!"

From the Studio Baxter could look into the control room and see Delacarte frowning and slashing away at his brain child. He writhed inwardly. Lane, seeing his discomfort, told him without smiling:

"You're young in this business, Tree. You must learn to take little things like this in your stride. The important thing is to get the show on. Maybe it won't sound like your show when it does, but you'll have an income of four or five hundred dollars a week. That's all that counts, really."

"That's important," Bax agreed, "but I don't like to assume the responsibility for that guy's writing job."

"When Delacarte gets through with your little effort, it'll be a carbon copy of all the other ghastly five-day-a-week dramatic shows we've got. No doubt. But if he didn't make it that way a sponsor would probably be afraid to buy it because it'd be too much like pioneering."

"You make me feel like going out and getting a job with the WPA," sighed Bax.

"Above everything," Lane said kindly, "learn to hold your temper and your tongue. Between ourselves, I hate Delacarte's insides. But I wouldn't let him know it because he's in too good with the boss. I make the imbecile think he's funny. If he gets down on you, he can do you a lot of harm."

"Thanks for the tip," Baxter smiled. "It's swell of you to bother so much with me."

"Say!" Lane lit a cigaret. "Don't thank me. I've got ideas about the kind of writing job I'd like to see done for the air, too. I like your work. Some day I think we will probably be able to get together and turn out something that doesn't smell quite so badly. But we'll both have to wait for the revolution, I'm afraid."

Lane grinned, getting up:

"I guess we might as well call in the gang that's to be auditioned and get a load of Delacarte's rewrite job."

Baxter sighed hopelessly. Then he remembered Romany.

"Do you object to a young lady friend of mine sitting in the control room with us?" he asked then.

"Not if she's beautiful." Lane smiled. "But she'd better keep out from under Delacarte's feet and keep her mouth shut or he'll murder her. I'm going to leave after the cast is selected. You two find a corner and let him and the engineers run the show."

Bax found Romany, looking stunning beyond description, standing in a far corner watching the crowd. She was in the gray-green suit, matching her eyes, and to the ensemble she had added Aunt Cissie's priceless gray furs. Pausing, Bax heard a slim little blonde ask the man beside her:

"Who is the prima donna with the marvelous green eyes? I've never seen her before."

"Neither have I." The man glanced toward Romany. "But she's probably a debutante friend of somebody who knows somebody. Up here looking for a nice soft job, no doubt."

"Looking like that, she'll probably get it," the girl said, not without a touch of envy in her silvery voice.

Bax pushed through the crowd.

"Hello, Glamor Gal," he greeted her with a hand shake. "I'm sorry to have kept you waiting."

"Oh, think nothing of it," Romany smiled sweetly. "After all, you are the author."

"Am I?" Bax half grinned. "Wait'll you see the hen tracks a so-called director has made on my script and you won't think so. Sit tight and keep very quiet in the control room. I'm told that's the thing to do. I'll tell you the worst later. Will you have dinner with me?"

"But certainly," Romany said delightedly. "Honored, Mr. Shakespeare."

Brent Nelson, near the desk, saw Romany going into the studio. He smiled with amusement. It hadn't taken the little Haile long to meet an author and get into the inner sanctum of Byrd-Cromwell. But why should it? If ever a girl had everything, the girl with the unforgetable big gray-green eyes had. He'd thought of her many times since his interview with her the evening before.

And, he decided, he was going to know her better. He would go in and invite her to have dinner with him. He had another engagement, but that could be broken.

Rev. C. C. Boyter President Of City Ministers

Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park Street Baptist Church was elected president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association at the annual meeting of that body in the Y.M.-C.A. Monday. He succeeds Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church.

Other officers elected included Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, vice-president; Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, secretary; Rev. T. J. Floyd, treasurer.

Plans for the inauguration of religious training in public schools were furthered when the matter was referred to a committee composed of Rev. Dr. E. W. Young, chairman; Rev. F. W. Craik, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Rev. T. J. Floyd, and Adjutant Norman Buckley

Dr. Young and Mr. Floyd were appointed to interview the trustees of May's and Confederation schools at their meeting last night, and three representatives, Dr. Young, Rev. R. T. F. Brain and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe will attend the Board of Education meeting tonight to ask for permission for ministers to give religious instruction in public schools in this city.

Dr. Young was the appointed speaker at the association meeting yesterday. His subject was "Religious Education in Public Schools."

Religion, he said, is the dynamic of morality and the Christian religion is rooted in historical facts which require study for their interpretation. The authority for Christian moral standards is based on these historical facts.

Religious education in public schools assumes two forms. There are the devotional exercises at the beginning and end of the school day. "This is of great value and we are indebted to the teachers for the zeal with which they carry on these exercises," he said. "Of much more value, however, is the scheme of systematic intruction in the historical facts of Christianity, and their application to the lives of the scholars.

East Is Favorable

"When we look at the situation across Canada we find that the Eastern provinces including Ontario are favorable to the teaching of religion in the schools. The Western provinces are not so favorable. Quebec is unique in this respect as the schools there are under church control. Half an hour each day is allotted to religious instruction which is given by the teachers. It i a compulsory subject, and the Protestant young people of Quebec have a much better background of religious knowledge than those of Ontario. The Quebec scheme is similar to that of the British Isles.

"We must admire the care which the Roman Catholic Church gives to the instruction of its youth. That is its strength, as it is, alas, our weakness.

"The Ontario regulation provide devotional exercises with memory work at the beginning of every school day. They also provide facilities by which a Ministerial Association like ours may appoint one of its members to visit the public schools to give religious knowledge for a half hour each week to the scholars who belong to the churches represented by that association. These facilities are availed of in about 200 places in Ontario, including cities like Brantford and St. Catharines. This teaching must be strictly undenominational, and these is a conscience clause by which parents may not allow their children to attend the class room in which the instruction is given.

"Generally speaking, however, the atmosphere is most favorable. The teachers welcome the ministers, and the parents and children are glad to have them visit the schools. A comparison has been made by authorities as follows:: The time given to religious instruction of Protestant children in Ontario at the present time averages 40 hours a year; Jewish children in places where there are Jewish schools receive 300 hours, and Roman Catholics, 240 hours.

"We should be ashamed of these figures. We are making a request to the Board of Education in this city for the opportunity to avail ourselves of the facilities provided by the government of Ontario to give religious instruction in the schools of the city and the adjoining district.

Rev. F. W. Craik, president, was in the chair, and Secretary Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt introduced the business of the day.

To Present Cup

The secretary reported that the Church Hockey League cup will be presented at a social meeting to be held next Thursday at All Saints' Church.

A letter was read from Rev. G. Webber of the Lord's Day Alliance, appointing April 28 as the date on which the work of the Alliance will be presented to a number of congregations in the city.

It was decided to hold Bible Society Sunday late in May, and to ask the committee in charge to have the annual canvass at that time. The members felt that the work of the society should not suffer on account of the war.

The president, in his concluding address, thanked the members for their cordial co-operation throughout the year, and gave a list of the functions he had attended. On motion of Rev. E. W. Rowland and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Mr. Craik was thanked for his splendid services to the association.

Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe announced that the annual Vacation Bible School will be held in St. Andrew's Church early in July; also that a rally for Sunday school officers and teachers will take place in Knox Church next Wednesday at 8 p.m., at which Miss Betty Ross of Toronto will be speaker.

Makes Fortune In 25 Years, Comes For Bride

WEST CHEZZETCOOK, N.S., Apl. 2.—(CP)—A Nova Scotian who turned sourdough a quarter century ago is back in his native Halifax County village to take up an old romance where he left off twenty-five years ago.

Fred Roma, a former ironworker, left for the West shortly after the Halifax disaster of 1917. He worked in the grain lands of the Prairie Provinces and then went to the Yukon to try his luck at panning gold. All the time he kept up his correspondence with Rose Bonang, whom he "used to go with."

When he put his pick and pan away his luck changed for the better. Now he is a prosperous hotel-house operator in Dawson City and he intends to marry the sweetheart of his youth. Both are in their late forties.

No date has been set for the wedding, but Roma intends to stay here for several weeks to catch up on his courting. Then he plans to return to Dawson City to dispose of his hotel-house interests, because the Northland "is not such a good place for a wife."

House Is Destroyed On Lindsay Highway

OMEMEE, April 2 — (ENS). — Fire destroyed the home of Langton Wilson about two and one-half miles east of Omemee on Monday afternoon... ... ... Bert Capen, living there at the time, tried hard to extinguish the blaze alone, but finally had to go to his neighbor, Albert McConnell, where the alarm was sent in and help summoned. Mr. Wilson has been living with his son in Peterborough during the winter. It is believed the fire started in the chimney and the fire-fighters were unable to save anything. The house is a complete loss.

Church Bait

Scituate, Mass., April 2 (AP)

THE Men's Club of the First Parish Church has discovered a new formula for increasing church attendance. Announcement that members, personally, would serve breakfast before services increased attendance 135 per cent and brought 26 new members into church.

Verulam Wolf Outruns Posse

LINDSAY, April 2 — (ENS). — Lindsay Knights of Columbus held their annual Communion breakfast in the Parish Hall here on Sunday morning. A feature of the affair was the presentation to Catholic soldiers of Lindsay of prayer books and rosaries on behalf of the Catholic Women's League. The presentations were made by Deputy-Grand Knight H. H. Baker. Guests of the Knights were Catholic soldiers and the Boy Scouts. An address on the work of the Catholic Youth Organization was delivered by Leo Begley.

Election returns have not been completed in this riding as yet. There are still a number of polling divisions unreported, and it is believed a definite total of votes will not be obtained until the official count on Friday.

Several Verulam Township farmers chased a huge wolf for hours late last week, but were unable to shoot it. The wolf was seen by Wesley Reeds near his barn, and it was followed all day by the hunters. Mr. Reeds believes the wolf was after his sheep.

Ill Mother Tries To Slay Two Daughters

GALT, Ont., April 2 (CP)—A depressed mother was blamed by authorities today for an attack on her two young daughters and an attempt to take her own life. She is Mrs. Michael Lesko, 36, a Czechslovakian, now held in jail at Kitchener for a mental examination.

Fifteen-year-old Mary Lesko remained in a critical condition last night after her mother attacked her with an axe in their home. The girl received a glancing blow and X-Ray pictures have been taken to determine whether her skull was fractured.

After striking the older girl, Mrs. Lesko was said to have taken seven-year-old Annie to the attic and placed a noose around the child's neck, another noose around her own. Meanwhile, Mary recovered sufficiently to escape through a window and ran screaming to a foundry where her father was working.

Lesko broke down the front door, rushed to the attic and cut down his wife and child. While he was carrying Annie downstairs Mrs. Lesko dashed from the house after making another attempt at her own life. She was overtaken by Lesko at the railway tracks near.

Mrs. Lesko had been ill for a year. At Kitchener, Crown Attorney W. P. Clement announced a mental examination would be made this week "which will probably preclude any further investigation."

England's 7,000 vaudeville performers traveled nearly 7,000,000 miles last year to fill engagements.

Socks for Soldiers

Mr. Picobac stood watching his wife, and Betty his daughter-in-law, knitting socks for the Red Cross.

"Well", said he at last, "I take off my hat to the women of Canada. The heart of Canadian womanhood is an inspiration to us men."

He applied a match to his pipe and the fragrance of Picobac tobacco, mild and sweet, floated forth.

"If I were only twenty years younger", he sighed.

"You did your bit last time my dear", said Mrs. Picobac. "Will you see if the kitchen fire needs more coal?"

"Keep the home fires burning", sang Mr. Picobac, taking up the coal scuttle. "That's me."

VOL. LXXXIII, No. 78 PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1940

Dr. L. A. Clarke Is Appointed Acting M.O.H.

On the recommendation of the Board of Health, Dr. L. A. Clarke, D.P.H., Toronto, was appointed acting medical officer of health and city physician at a salary of $3,000 by the City Council last night. The appointment becomes effective on April 15. An allowance of not more than $125 was made to Dr. Clarke to cover the cost of his moving to Peterborough.

Alderman Dutton, chairman of the board, informed the council that Dr. Clarke had practiced his profession as physician at Port Dover for ten years and a half, and was medical officer of health for that municipality. His interest in this special work prompted him to take the special course at the University of Toronto and was awarded the diploma of Doctor of Public Health. Latterly he has been engaged in the Department of Social Hygiene, Toronto, in an administrative capacity under Dr. Bates.

Alderman Stocker said that Dr. Clarke had been recommended by Dr. Bates as one of onl, ten men in Ontario who are fully qualified in public health work.

In reply to a question by Alderman Bradburn, Alderman Dutton said that Dr. Clarke would continue in the position of acting medical officer of health until Dr. G. Murray Fraser returns from overseas and resumes his position or until a definite resignation was received from Dr. Fraser in the event of his decision not to take up his work with the city on his return from military service.

As city physician, Dr. Clarke will be expected to attend to employees of the fire department, police department and Board of Works who may meet with injuries while on civic duty.

Another proposal from the Board of Health that milk sold in restaurants be served in sealed half-pint bottles was referred to the legal committee.

March Relief.

Peterborough expended $10,059 on relief last month. The details reported by City Clerk Armstrong were: Provisions, $5,016.71; milk, $719.10; fuel, $2,031.09; clothing, $388.34; medicine, $10.21; rent, $1,418.61; doctors, $475.30.

The fire loss for the month was $353, of which $323 was on buildings and $30 on contents. Chief Gimblett reported 78 fires.

Herb. J. Withers' contract for the collection of garbage for the year beginning April 1 for $10,600 was confirmed by by-law.

Alderman Stocker complained that there was not sufficient inspection of the work done by Mr. Withers to make sure that he complied with the regulation requiring the use of tarpaulins in covering the wagons in which ashes are collected. Alderman Dutton commented that the agreement included a clause providing for the withholding of ten per cent. of the money due Mr. Withers if he failed to perform any part of the contract.

Alderman McCannan, chairman of the property committee, said he was in Toronto on Good Friday, and saw ashes being collected in open motor trucks. "Mr. Withers or his men may be in a hurry sometimes to get their work done, and the wagons may not be always covered, but if there are some minor irregularities they are more than made up by the good points in Mr. Withers' work."

200 To Aid Finns

LONDON, April 2 — (CP). — Two hundred of the 250 British volunteers who reached Finland before the end of the war with the Soviet Union had decided to stay in the country to help in its reconstruction, it was disclosed here to-night.

Sell Programs At Show's Premiere In City

Contrast between the early American times of "Gone With the Wind" and the modern method of its portrayal by motion picture in color, was carried out even by members of the Jeanette Scott Chapter of the I.O.D.E. who were on hand at the Peterborough opening of the picture Monday night, selling souvenir programs in aid of the Red Cross war effort. For two of these four girls are dressed in early American costumes, the others in modern clothes. From LEFT to RIGHT they are Dorothy Finnie, Dorothy Gavine, Grace Comstock and Elizabeth Scott. —Examiner Staff Photo.

Reeve James Gifford Heads Ontario Chamber

Reeve James A. Gifford of Ennismore was elected president of the Ontario Chamber of Agriculture at its annual meeting Monday in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

Two former Peterborough men are associated with Mr. Gifford in the new slate of officers. They are Vivian S. Milburn now of Toronto, and M. M. (Bobbie) Robinson of Burlington.

The officers elected on Monday are as follows:—

Honorary President—H. H. Hannam, Toronto.

President—James A. Gifford, Ennismore.

Vice-president—Howard L. Craise, St. Catharines.

Secretary—V. S. Milburn, Toronto.

Treasurer—Earl Kitchen, Woodstock.

Directors—R. J. Scott, Belgrave; Eric Simpson, Elmvale; and M. M. Robinson, Burlington.

The Peterborough branch of the Chamber was represented by Reeve Gifford, its president; Reeve M. H. Johnston, North Monaghan, the vice-president; and F. C. Paterson, the acting secretary. W. W. Dawson, representing the Eastern Ontario section of the Ontario Threshermen's Association, was also present.

The meeting was largely attended. Eleven counties are now affiliated with the new farm organization of which Peterborough county was the first in Ontario to form a local unit, and its action was largely inspired by the county council.

Several of the county groups are in the process of organization but not yet complete. Lincoln and Haldimand counties are among the lates to join the expanding agricultural movement. Others like Gray, Wentworth and Huron are moving toward organization.

The address at the noon luncheon was given by R. A. Stewart of the Barrie Canning Company, who is a member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He spoke chiefly about the methods of organizating employed by the manufacturers.

One of the proposals of the convention was a recommendation to change the name from Chamber of Agriculture to Federation of Agriculture.

Reeve Gifford was elected president of the Peterborough branch at its inceptive meeting about fifteen months ago. The annual meeting of the county chamber has been postponed during the recent winter months because of the distraction of the federal elections.

New Refrigerator Is Ordered By Council

Purchase of a refrigerator for the provincial laboratory in the city buildings was authorized by the council Monday night on Alderman Stocker's motion seconded by Alderman Bradburn.

Alderman Dutton explained that the government is planning to engage another technician for local work in Dr. Waite's department, but there was a stipulation that larger refrigerating capacity would be required. "There was a danger of losing this laboratory some years ago, and we would feel very badly about it if that happened. We are recommending this purchase to meet the requirement of the department," Alderman Dutton said.

Bishop Honored

OTTAWA, April 2—(CP)—Most Rev. Louis Rheaume, O.M.I., Bishop of Timmins, Ont., has been appointed assistant to the Pontifical throne and a Roman Count, according to word received from Vatican City by Most Rev Idebrando Antoniutti, Apostolic delegate to Canada.

London's population increased 80,000 last year.

Farmers and trapper in the Indian River-Rice Lake district report the marshes are frozen solid. There is a little surface water but they feel muskrat trapping will not be underway for a week south of Highway 7. The Otonabee river is opening up fast from Peterborough south.

BENCH WARRANT ISSUED

The non-appearance of a man charged with non-support whose case had been adjourned until this morning's session of the police court resulted in a bench warrant being issued for the arrest of the accused. In the meantime the case was adjourned for another week.

IS CALLED UP.

Jack Raine, brother of Tobacconist Dick Raine, has been called up for duty in the Naval Reserve, where he placed his application some time ago. He will serve as a commissioned officer, although his exact rank is not yet known. He was in the merchant service until 1934, and has been manager of the Friendly Store at 240 Rubidge Street for some time.

HOSPITAL OFFICER

Application for the appointment of Dr. L. A. Clarke, new M.O.H., as hospital officer, was made by the council Monday night on Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Roy. Thirty days' notice of the application must be given by the council. The position of hospital officer is sought in connection with indigent cases, it was said.

MANICURING STREETS

The Board of Works had a large gang of men cleaning up the downtown streets today and getting rid of the accumulation of sand that remained as a souvenir of slippery days during the winter. The improvement was appreciated by both merchants and shoppers.

MAIN ROADS GOOD

All main highways in the Peterborough district are in good shape according to travellers. No. 7 east to Marmora is a little rough between Havelock and Marmora but otherwise is fine. Paved roads No. 28 Peterborough-Port Hope and Peterborough-Lindsay are perfect. Highway 28, Peterborough to Apsley is clear, but there are numerous pitch holes north of Young's Point and one must drive slow. Side roads are in bad shape almost without exception in the country.

CLEANING BRIDGE

Water on the plowed road across Lake Chemong is quite deep and it is believed the snow will be cleaned off the floating bridge this week so that traffic may use the bridge. The structure is in good shape at the present time and there is a great deal of snow on the ice of the lake.

"REALITY."

"Reality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for First Church of Christ Science on Sunday. The Golden Text was "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." (James 1, 17.) Selections from the Bible included the following from Genesis 1, 1: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following, "Spirit and all lithings spiritual are the real and eternal.

TWO MORE ROBINS

Roy Feeley reported this morning that he had spotted a pair of robins, trilling out their song of greeting to a snow covered world at the corner of Braidwood and Park streets this morning. Several other residents have reported seeing flocks of grosbeaks in the city but the exact variety was not known.

CHEQUE FROM GOVERNMENT

A cheque for $6,000 was received from the Dominion Government at Monday night's meeting of the council as the federal contribution to the payment for the laying of a permanent surface on the road that parallels the canal from the old Norwood Road to the C.P.R. The cheque was sent by A. L. Killaly representing the Department of Transport.

REMARKABLE PICTURE

That most heralded of all pictures "Gone With the Wind," was shown at the Capitol first time on Monday. Much longer than usual, the performance runs four hours. Technically the picture is superb, and of historic interest there is much. Civil War of 1861-64 is known to us as an historical fact, but the film lives through it, and it shows probably with complete historical accuracy what happened in the Confederated states of the South in the battle with the North. The sweeping away of the old plantation homes, the complete ruin of old families, their reduction to a state of pauperism, and Sherman's march toward the sea with the purpose of cutting the Confederate states in two—one sees it all again in "Gone With the Wind."

Youth Pleads Guilty To Stealing Wire

A North Monaghan youth was allowed to go on suspended sentence in police court this morning after he had pleaded guilty to stealing a quantity of wire fence, the property of the Peterborough Agricultural Society.

The wire in question, valued at under $25 had been used as a drag at the Exhibition Grounds and was supposed to have been locked up in one of the buildings.

The accused stated, however, that he had found it outside the building and had hauled it away and tried to sell it.

He was placed on suspended sentence for two years on condition that he remain away from the Exhibition grounds and reports regularly to Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan.

New Low Tender Is Accepted By City Council

Accepting a new low tender at the last minute, the City Council Monday night switched its public liability insurance to McClellan and Clegg, agents for the Halifax Insurance Company, at a premium of $2,000.

Several months ago, it seems, the council began the consideration of the renewal of its insurance. One bid was received from A. E. Wilson and Company of Toronto through G. S. Evans for $2,750, another from Vincent M. Eastwood for $2,202.11, the premium which also quoted by Stanley Darling, both of whom represented the Union Insurance Company of Canton. The Wilson company are associated with Lloyds of London.

At the legal committee meeting last week, Mr. Evans was asked if he would assume the risk for $2,202.11, and on the strength of his acceptance the Wilson and Company tender was recommended by a majority of the committee.

Gordon Clegg was present at Monday night's meeting of the council. He said he had been invited to attend the legal committee meeting, but was not altogether prepared to present a bid in the circumstances. Since then he had gone to Toronto, and got a new low quotation from the Halifax Insurance Company of Canada. Founded in 1809, it is one of the oldest Canadian companies operating in this country.

Follow Precedent.

"I am not particular about handing in this bid, unless you are prepared to receive it," Mr. Clegg said. He suggested that as the legal committee had accepted a reduced bid at last week's meeting, the council for the same reason should receive the new tender from Mr. Clegg.

Mr. Clegg also said that he had previously put in a bid from Lloyds at $2,750, but the new tender of $2,000 was the first from the Halifax Company.

Mr. Eastwood, responding to Mayor Hamilton's question as to whether he wished to say anything, contended that the contract should be dealt with on the basis of the bids that were originally received by the council.

G. S. Evans of A. E. Wilson and Company, Toronto, informed the council that the company's average annual loss on the city's business during the last six years was $2,360, as compared with the premium of $2,750, leaving nothing for the cost of the service, the company's expenses and so on.

Ald. Duttons Comment.

Alderman Gordon moved the adoption of the report of his committee recommending acceptance of the A. E. Wilson and Company offer at $2,202.11.

An amendment by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Alderman Roy, proposed that the business be transferred to V. M. Eastwood at $2,202.11.

Alderman Dutton said he felt that the council and all concerned with the affair had been embarrassed by its development. The original tenders had been submitted in good faith. They were based on the city's experience of losses, and it seemed to have been a mistake in not accepting one of the bids received in the beginning. Alderman Dutton said he did not consider it ethical to proceed in the manner that had been followed in this case.

Alderman Ovens enquired whether it was in order to open and consider the bid of McClellan and Clegg.

Alderman Dutton said he regarded the whole procedure as an unethical way of doing business.

Alderman Ovens moved as an amendment to the amendment, seconded by Alderman Bradburn, that the Clegg-McClellan bid of $2,000 be accept. It carried with the following support: Aldermen Wilson, Stocker, Cotton, Bradburn, Ovens and Gordon.

Alderman Wilson had seconded Alderman Gordon's motion and said he was going to stand by the committee in its report. Those who did vote for the second amendment were Aldermen McIntyre, Roy, Dutton and McCannan.

Alderman McIntyre declared that he would not be a party to the action of the committee in asking the A. E. Wilson and Company whether they would cut their price down to the level of the V. M. Eastwood bid. He said it was "a poor way of doing business," and was as unfair as it would be for a contractor to be shown the bid of a competitor and then invited to cut his own price down to get the job.

Alderman Gordon nettled Alderman McIntyre by interjecting the remark, "You are being very impudent," that brought a vigorous reply, but Mayor Hamilton quickly stamped on the display of heat by intervening with a distracting question.

Stanley Darling wrote the council that the report of the committee meeting suggested that his quotation of $2,202.11 was a price-cutting figure. "My quotation was set by the Underwriters' Association who set the rates of all tariff companies in the province and these rates are based on actual experience of losses which the Underwriters have obtained over the past five years."

Mr. Darling also pointed out that in the Wilson bid of $2,750, property damage in the amount of $500 was not included.

Apsley League Guests Of The Institute

APSLEY, April 2—(ENS). — On Thursday evening the ladies of the Women's Institute entertained the Boys' League to an evening of games in the library building. After an enjoyable time playing Monopoly and other games, lunch was served. This was a way of saying thank you to the boys for making a large table for the library.

The St. George's Women's Guild held their semi-monthly meeting at the rectory on Thursday evening, with a large attendance. Mrs. J. Downing presided.

The main business of the evening was discussion and plans for the supper and dance to be held in the Parish Hall on April 3. It was decided to clean the kitchen and tidy the hall on Monday afternoon. The different committees gave reports. The Menu committee's report was accepted. Miss Margaret Hastings read a chapter from the study book, and the meeting closed with the Blessing. Lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed. The next meeting is to be at the Rectory on April 11.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kilborn and the Rev. F. McMulken motored to Toronto on Friday with 14 pupils from five different schools in this district to take part in the musical festival held on Friday evening. The return trip was made on Saturday after the children had enjoyed a movie show. The pupils who enjoyed this trip were: George Trotter, Clanricarde; Lawrence Johnson and Marjorie McCauly, Hale's School; B. Smith, M. Kilborn, D. Downing, Lois Reid, G. Kilborn, Apsley School; H. Wilson, Jean Nichols, J. Eliot, K. Tanner, Upper Apsley School; Alice Jeff, J. Tucker, Tucker's School.

The Red Cross Society held its March meeting in the hospital on Friday night, with a good attendance. Mr. Hastings, vice-president, was in the chair, acting for N. Lean, president, who was in Peterborough.

Miss Irene Tucker entertained a few of her little friends to tea and afternoon of games on Saturday, to celebrate her ninth birthday, which is on April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Watson and son Keith and Gerald, also Mr. Ted Reynolds of Clanricarde and Edwin Smith motored to Peterborough to spend the day on Thursday.

Mrs. S. Windsor motored to Peterborough on Friday.

Mrs. H. Skelcher and children have returned home to Bensfort after spending the last two weeks with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ointment of Norwood were visitors in Apsley on Sunday.

Mrs. N. James, Chandos, spent Sunday with Mrs. Henry White.

OBITUARY

JOHN A. CORRIN.

Death came to-day to John A. Corrin at his home at 231 Bethune street, after an illness that lasted only three days. He was in his 81st year.

An employee of the De Laval company here for more than 20 years, he retired ten years ago. A highly respected member of this community, Mr. Corrin came to Peterborough from Port Perry, where he was born, in 1901.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Corrins, and his wife, Theresa Flynn, died in 1925. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. A. J. Bolwell of Toronto, and Mrs. Harold Pilling of Orillia; and three sons, Russell Corrin of Port Perry, Nelson Corrin of Toronto, and Harry Corrin of Peterborough; also one sister, Miss Mary Corrin of Port Perry; and two brothers, William Corrin of Port Perry and Thomas Corrin of Oshawa.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, of Knox United church, officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

MARTIN CORKERY

ENNISMORE, April 2—(ENS). — Word was received by Edward Corkery of the death on Saturday last of his brother, Martin Corkery, of Michigan.

The deceased was born in Ennismore, where he spent the earlier years of his life before leaving for the western states. Two other surviving brothers, James and Stephen, are residents of Peterborough.

JOSEPH FRANKLIN HUGGINS.

CENTREVILLE, April 2 — (ENS) —The sudden and unexpected death of Joseph Franklin Huggins, one of the best known and highly respected citizens of South Monaghan Township, was a severe shock to this community on Friday.

During the morning he had been working at the barn as usual, and shortly afterwards suffered a heart attack and died almost immediately.

He was a lifelong resident of the township and took an active interest in the affairs of the community. His friendly attitude and Christian spirit of neighboliness won him many friends.

He was a member of Centreville Presbyterian Church.

Left to mourn his loss are one son Carl Huggins, on the homestead at Benefort; one daughter, Mrs. G. Brown of Peterborough; and three grandchildren. His wife died several years ago.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held on Monday. A short service for the family was held at the house at one o'clock, after which a service was held in Centreville Church at two o'clock, conducted by his minister, Rev. A. R. Gibson, and assisted by the Rev. D. A. McKenzie.

There were many floral tributes. Interment took place in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

Petes Notified Of Friday Game

Word was received by the Peterborough Hockey Club this afternoon from the O.H.A. that the third game of the intermediate "A" finals between Kitchener and the Petes would be played Friday night in Oshawa. The latter rink is available as "home" ice for the local hockey players, who have no ice of their own now.

The club officials here, upon learning the definite date of this game, immediately announced that a special train excursion—sponsored by the Hockey Club—would run from here Friday evening. A large block of reserved seats in the centre portion of each side of the arena will be available to Peterborough fans. Further details will be announced later.

Water In Cellars Puts Out Fires

HASTINGS, April 2 — (ENS). — The flood situation in the western section of this village has become worst since Sunday, when it flooded several yards surrounding homes near New and Front Streets. In at least five cellars, the water has risen to the extent that home owners are not able to use them. At the residence of Sidney Spooner, water extinguished the furnace and last night they were without means of heating their home except with a coal oil stove. The flood area has extended to the home of Henry McMillan on Front Street, where water has begun to enter his cellar and the chicken farm of W. C. Whitred north of Front Street. Mr. Whitred has been pumping the water from his cellar for the past two days.

Several men were employed yesterday in digging drains on Front Street, near the flood area and when little effect was seen on the rising menace, more blasting was done in an effort to tear up a section of the road at the corner of Front and New Streets.

Reason for the flood was given that a considerable depth of ice had formed in the creek running along New Street and the water could not follow its usual channel. As a result, the creek overflowed inundating the surrounding homes.

Soldier Given Four Months On Theft Count

Pte. Frank McIntosh of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning to four months definite and two months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory on a charge of stealing a sum of money from a Toronto traveller in a local bootleg spot.

McIntosh had pleaded guilty to the theft, admitting that he had taken $41.

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., produced his record this morning and it was scanned by the magistrate who remarked that the last time the accused had been in trouble was only last fall. McIntosh said that he only enlisted a few days before his arrest.

"There has been some suggestion of suspended veritence because this man is in uniform," said the Crown Attorney. "I could not consent to that in view of this record."

"There is no officer here from the regiment in regard to the case," commented Magistrate Langley.

"The officer commanding communicated with the Chief Constable and said that so far as he was concerned the law would have to take its course," said Mr. McElderry. "In any case he would have no right to interfere."

In sentencing McIntosh Magistrate Langley said that in view of the fact that the accused had enlisted for overseas his punishment would be much lighter than it otherwise would have been. He acceded to the request of the prisoner and ordered that the four-month sentence should date from the day of McIntosh's arrest.

Describe Work Among Deaf

He described the operation of the school, causes of deafness, and also gave a full description of the splendid work being done for boys and girls who cannot hear or speak. A. Gordon, rythm teacher in the school and two pupils, Phyllis Thompson and Glen Robertson accompanied the principal to Peterborough and gave a demonstration of how the pupils dance, merely by feeling the vigration of the piano on the floor. The speaker also explained the mysteries of lip reading.

Mr. Rutherford and Miss Deannard of this city, both former teachers at the Belleville School were guests of the club at the luncheon and meeting.

During the evening the club members were entertained by the Examiner Harmonica Boys Band under the leadership of George Hall, and tribute was paid to H. B. Cowan, Jr., Circulation Manager of the Examiner and a member of the Lions Club for his interest in these boys, as he has welded the group into a clever musical organization. Clifford Cruikshanks, a guest of the club sang a solo that was a treat to hear.

Roosters' Crowing Disturbs Family

"Sleep no more; the cockerels doth murder sleep." That is perhaps what R. H. Brawn, 271 Mark street, felt like writing to the council in his letter Monday night complaining that roosters owned by a neighbor begin crowing about three o'clock in the morning, and from then on there is no more knitting up the ravelled sleeve of care.

"I don't think there is anything we can do about it," said Mayor Hamilton, acknowledging the limitation of the council in its authority and jurisdiction.

"Unless we could apply that anti-noise bylaw," Alderman Gordon said.

And because they could think of no other way of getting some redress and sleep for Mr. Brawn, the council sent the letter along to the police department.

Kenora Thistles Blank Pt. Arthur 4-0

WINNIPEG, April 2 (CP)— Kenora Thistles, Manitoba junior hockey champions, entered the western final with Edmonton Athletic Club by beating Port Arthur's Thunder Bay representatives 4-0 here Monday to take the best-of-three series two games to one. Kenora won the first game 5-4 and Port Arthur the second by the same score.

Thistles came out of the Interprovincial playoff without injury and now head for Edmonton and the first game of the best-of-five Western final Thursday.

Kenora found their scoring punch late in the second period and the remainder of the game was an almost-continuous bombardment of the Port Arthur net.

Owen Sound Greys Rub Out Oshawa

OWEN SOUND, April 2.—Oshawa's Junior "B" team was eliminated from further competition in the round-robin series for the O.H.A. Junior "B" championship here last night, when they were defeated by the Owen Sound Greys in overtime by a score of 6 to 5, Hale scoring the winning goal for Greys three minutes after the start of the overtime period on a pass from Burlington.

Oshawa put on the pressure for the balance of the period, but Dundas was sensational in the Greys' nets to hold them off.

The Greys scored twice in the first period, Gee and Prokop doing the sniping, but Oshawa came back in the second period with three straight goals to take the lead.

Burlington tied it up on a flashing solo goal, but Jackson put Oshawa ahead again only to have Hale even up, and the period ended with four goals each. Burlington scored all alone at 10:20 in the third period, but McMullen evened up at 14:40, and there was no more scoring until Hale scored the winning goal in overtime.

The Greys are now tied with Waterloo Siskins to head the series, but the latter have played one more game.

Bowling At Duffus'

Keen rivalry between departments of the Westclox led to a bowling match last night between two men's teams, Automatics and Office. The Autos edged the leadger-keepers by eight pins in total pinnage. The Autos had a lead of 96 pins in the first two games which was just a little too much for the ledger-keepers who managed to cut-off 88 pins in the last game. The final totals: Automatics 3086, Office 3078.

Mel Starr of the office gang led the high scorers with 730 (314), followed by G. Millen 668 (304), H. Guppy 643. H. Thompson led the Automatic with 671, followed by W. Brady 650, and S. Vant with 645.

CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

LAKELAND, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Detroit Tigers, facing a long slow journey home to Briggs Stadium, are planning even more extensive travels next spring. They are considering adding an exhibition series in Havana to the usual "Grapefruit League" program. The Tigers wind up their stay here tomorrow and start north.

EL PASO, Tex.—Chicago's White Sox are giving two rookie infielders, Third Baseman Bob Kennedy and Second Baseman Don Kolloway, a thorough test in their cross-country exhibition series with the Cubs. Both may be in the starting lineup if Eric McNair's arm fails to improve and Jackie Hayes' eye fails to respond to treatment. They're doing pretty well so far, too, for the Sox and Cubs have won five game apiece.

DALLAS, Tex.—Here's another warning to New York Yankees' American League rivals: Babe Dahlgren, now is leading the Yanks in home-run clouting with four—three in the last seven games—and Joe DiMaggio hasn't hit a single in four days. They all were extra-base blows.

COLUMBUS, S.C.—Jimmy Foxx, Boston Red Sox clouting first sacker, is quitting cigars, cigarettes and "eating" in the hope it might allay his chronic sinus attacks. He doesn't mind missing his daily dozen smokes but complains its tough on the field without his chaw.

Johnny left yesterday's tilt with the Red Sox in the second round after giving five runs, six hits and two walks. Beggs, who claims he gets more zip behind the ball by raising up on his toes just before the pitch, announces: "I've got my old bounce back."

Oshawa Homebrew Puckist Honored

OSHAWA, April 2.—Don Daniels, the Oshawa homebrew product of the local City League who, instead of travelling afield like most hockey aspirants, remained right at home and became the first player in the history of forty-seven years of junior O.H.A. hockey to win three junior O.H.A. championship medals in successive years with the same club, was tendered civic recognition at the weekly meeting of the Oshawa Council here last night.

Commenting on Daniels' remarkable feat, his Worship Mayor J. C. Coleman, himself an ardent hockey fan, remarked: "It is particularly appealing to Oshawa fans that a local boy has set this new junior hockey record."

At the same meeting, Alderman (Russ) R. D. Humphreys, another regular hockey patron, moved that the Council pass a resolution of thanks to the Generals. He said: "In winning another junior title the players have not only done credit to themselves, but have brought glory and distinction to the City of Oshawa as a whole." The motion was passed unanimously.

Otto Laderach Is Made Life Member

The Peterborough Ski Club heard reports of a most successful season, elected directors for the next year and presented prizes to its winners of the events of the past winter at an enjoyable banquet in the Y.M. C.A. Monday night. The affair was attended by a large representation of seniors, student class and juniors and was one of the most enthusiastic in the club's history.

A feature was the presentation of a life member's certificate to Otto Laderach, the first time the Peterborough club has so honored one of its members. The certificate was read by Miss Isabelle Reid, secretary of the club and declared that it was presented for eighteen years of service on behalf of skiing and good sportsmanship contributed by Mr. Laderach.

The popular Otto was greeted with the singing of "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" and three hearty cheers when he arose to acknowledge the presentation.

In reply he stated that skiing was just one of his weaknesses and that the happiest moments of his life in Peterborough had been when he was associated with the members of the Ski club.

Directors Elected

The directors who will carry on the affairs of the club for the next year and who were elected by ballot from a list named by the nominating committee are Eric Westbye, Otto Laderach, Jerry Duffus, Bob White, George Cook, Jack Richardson, Graham Eastwood, Jack Holland and Don Shiner. The new executive will meet later to elect officers.

Graham Eastwood, president of the club presided during the program and the community singing was led by Jerry Duffus with George Broadley at the piano.

In presenting the secretary's report Miss Isabelle Reid stated that the club had a total membership of 233 of which 109 were senior members, 46 student members and 42 junior members. Miss Reid referred to building of the chalet at Bethany and stated that visitors from all over Ontario had come there during the winter. She also referred to the success of the junior meet which was attended by 160.

Reports Balance

Jack Richardson, treasurer, gave a detailed report of the club's finances, showing that with everything covered including the cost of the chalet the club would wind up with a balance of over $40. The total revenue for the year was $785.12 and $231 had been paid by guests at Bethany during the season.

Eric Westbye reported that the Telemark had had a very successful season and had had splendid assistance from the advertisers with the result that it would have a balance.

Jerry Duffus reporting as representative of the Peterborough ski zone said that six new clubs had been organized in the zone during the year and plans were on foot to organize half a dozen more. As zone representative he said that he appreciated the co-operation that had been given by the Peterborough club Mr. Duffus also reported for the building committee, telling of the building of the chalet at Bethany and the improvements to the structure that were contemplated.

In his address President Eastwood thanked the directors and members for the splendid co-operation they had accorded him during the year. He paid a special tribute to Jerry Duffus to whom the club owed the chalet at Bethany that had proved such an asset. He also mentioned Bob White for his work with the juniors, Jerry Dawson, in charge of equipment and Jack Holland, all-round handy man of the club.

Prizes Presented

Miss Lahring Parsons had the important task of presenting the prizes to the winners of the various competitions held during the season and she did the honors very gracefully. The list was as follows:

A feature of the program was the presentation by Roy Pitchford of the Roy Studio of a number of interesting movie films, showing the senior meet at Bethany and the others dealing with skiing, skating and tobogganing in Quebec. The pictures were thoroughly appreciated.

Tigers Drop Eight

LAKELAND, Fla., April 2—(AP).—Detroit Tigers of the American Baseball League sent eight players—five pitchers, two outfielders and an infielder—back to the minors on Monday preparatory to breaking camp here Wednesday.

Pitchers Hal Manders and Clay Smith, Outfielder Ned Harris and Infielder Perry Boyd were shipped to Beaumont of the Texas League on 24-hour optional recall. Buffalo of the International League drew Outfielder Floyd Giebell on the same terms.

Leslie (Phil) Fleming, another pitcher, was released outright to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League. John Tate, former Beaumont hurler, also was dropped, but club officials were undecided where to send him.

Loses Fight

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 2 — (CP). — Funeral of William Huron, 27, who died in hospital here yesterday after a gallant fortnight fight against a blood infection diagnosed by doctors as staphylococcus, will be held here to-morrow. Huron is survived here by his father and a sister. Last Wednesday when Mr. Huron's temperature reached a hitherto unknown height here of 107 degrees, a new drug was used for the first time in Canad in an effort to save his life.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

One more victory and the Petes are champs Yeah, they've got two O.H.A. puck wins in ye olde gunny sack now and they can emerge champions with their next home game, if it's a victory for 'em and not the Kitchener Greenshirts. Of course, it won't be a home game insofar as this city is concerned. (So we don't need artificial ice, eh?) The ice is being taken out of the Brock now for another year and, while it is six to seven inches thick, it's all cut up and soft on top—so there wouldn't have been a chance to play it here anyway, in this weather. Club expects to play in Oshawa, probably Friday—instead of tomorrow eve—and that's the latest dope we've got. An excursion will be run from here.

* * * * * *

Last night, the local speed-demons journeyed to Kitchener, home of hockeyists, lager and sauerkraut, and they knocked off the scrappy 'Shirts by a 5-2 tally. No arguing with that score, it was clear-cut and earned every inch of the route. And the boys think they can rub out the K's in the next number and advance into the Eastern Canada intermediate "A" finals. Before dealing any further with last night's lulu on ice, maybe we'd better try to untangle the Eastern Canada business. It's something like this:

* * * * * *

Down Ottawa Way

The Ottawa and District winner—called the Maxville Millionaires—is slated to play this week with Glace Bay Xidos (what a monicker!), the Maritimes' victor. Quebec sent its team into the Allan Cup playdowns, so they won't be around and the northern Ontario champs have declined to come down to Ottawa. So it's the Millionaires and the Xidos, the winner to meet the Petes—provided we cop the O.H.A. title—for the Eastern Canada championship. There was some talk of another Maritime team protesting Xidos' right to playoff, but we've heard no more of that. The Petes, if they win, will go to Ottawa next week for the final series.

* * * * * *

There was no stopping the locals last p.m.; they were really flying on the attack and back-checking like fighting fools. On the back fence, our defencemen played their heads off, bumping, blocking, skating rivals off and covering up. And occasionally getting away for some dangerous dashes down the pike. And Goalie Harding was in grand form once more, especially when they pelted him with rubber in the third-period power play. Ellis staged a lovely scrappy and effective display and Gardner was about equally as gingery back there. Drake Jopling was cool and very effective in his own heady manner, whilst Les Burton didn't weaken the defence a bit. He went fine. While Tompkins and Kingdon—both brilliant—led the snipers, all the forwards were hot and the team really clicked as champs should.

* * * * * *

And Things Popped

Fireworks were touched off in the hectic third chukker. Two fist fights, a near free-for-all, plenty of bumping around and some hard feeling cropped up through this chapter—and the big crowd of payees loved it out loud! Gardner and Lang battled all over one end of the rink and nearly embroiled every guy on the ice, several little fights busting loose but being quelled by peace-making buddies. A fan poked Harding and Ray was right riled for a moment. Later Ellis and Simon tossed fists. Jim decided to soften up big Gamey Lederman—the husky ex-pro — right at the start of the struggle and he really went after the big boy. Ellis wasn't picking any soft spots for himself, but he can hold his own okay.

* * * * * *

And that seems to be the works. As complete as we can think of it coming on daylight. Just a sizzling encounter throughout, fast as a fireman going down a pole and studded with thrills and spills. No love lost betwixt the clubs, both being well-matched and anxious for that pennant, but the Petes look a little better to us and with two wins in as many starts are pretty nearly a sure-thing bet now. They ought to draw a big local crowd on the excursion next game in Oshawa.

* * * * * *

Getting Lined Up

A business meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club executive officers is called for 7.30 tonight at King's Hotel, and all those belonging are requested to be on deck. In a short time, various important rebuilding plans will be put into operation and some preliminary work is required. Don't fall over in a dead faint along about the latter part of next month to see several new lacrossers working out with the Petes, nor don't be surprised if this gang doesn't repeat its triumph of two years ago and sweep through all opposition. It promises to be a hefty hunk of a year locally in the gutted-stick game.

* * * * * *

Wednesday night's senior men's City Basketball League playoff will be a nifty hoop tidbit, Bees and Zephyrs tangling at eight in the Y.M. It is the first of two-in-three finals, and will produce more action than a tight-rope walker in a high wind. And Saturday eve here sees the return O.C.B.A. intermediate semi-final betwixt Toronto College United and the local St. Paul's, the latter being down 14 points on the round at the moment. Orfuns return soon to St. Kitts in their ladies' provincial playdown, the local lasses toting a 22-point edge. Gals' cage banquet in the Y.W. C.A. will be held tomorrow at 6.30 in the gloaming.

"HOME RUN" FRANK BAKER BABE RUTH OF YESTERDAY

Milking cows was "Home Run" Baker's recipe for success.

Down on the eastern shore of Maryland he was chaperone to a herd of cows. He got the vise-like grip which later made him a home run king by milking the bossies. Franklin Baker developed his squat, muscular frame in the farm chores, in the fields and on the farm wagon.

Baker loved baseball. He wanted to pitch. The semi-pro ball club at Ridgley, Md., heard about him and gave him a job. A wise manager moved the husky, big-shouldered youngster to third base. He stuck there. He looked awkward and ungainly when he scooped them out of the dirty. But few men could dig them up and throw them the way Baker could.

Mack Signs Him

Baker's apparent awkwardness cost him his first big chance, with the Baltimore Orioles. Heartsick, he went back to the Maryland farm for a while. Meanwhile, Connie Mack had heard about the big fellow and came down to see for himself. One look was all he needed.

Baker was trembling with eagerness to deliver for the famous Connie Mack. Baker had the fire and enthusiasm it requires to make and keep the grade in professional baseball's fast company. When they can smack the ball like Baker they are bound to come through.

The Maryland farm boy joined the Mackmen and became a member of Mack's far-famed "$100,000 infield." He batted .334 that year. The bleachers loved him. The grandstands adored him.

Two crashing home runs brought Frank Baker his celebrated nickname. He cracked out the first one, a towering drive, off one of Rube Marquard's pitches in the 1911 world series. Later, in the same series, he laced another one out of the park off the great Christy Mathewson.

Grand Total—27 Homers

"Ye-ay!" screamed the bleachers.

"Home Run Baker!" And it was Home Run Baker ever after that.

Baker led the American league in home runs in 1911, 1912 and 1914, but home runs were scarce in those days. Baker poled nine homers in 1911, 10 in 1912 and eight in 1914.

Connie Mack sold Baker to New York and Baker quit baseball. "Home Run" told Mack that New York was too far from his Maryland farm. Baker loved the eastern shore. "I'm only a country boy loves his birthplace. Still protesting, the great home run hitter went into exile from baseball. He returned to the farm in Maryland.

In its 100 historic years baseball has produced its Ruths, Kleins, Foxxes and Gehrigs, but "Home Run" Baker was the daddy of 'em all—the home run king of yesterday.

Locals Draw Nearer Puck Title With Classy 5-2 Win n Hectic Battle With 'Shirts

In a furious puck playoff, feat-red in the third period by two fist ights and a near free-for-all, the tes defeated the Greenshirts 5-2 t night in Kitchener. A roaring owd of 1,800 fans saw the Buck-nd bunch win its second straight as many starts of the O.H.A. ntermediate A three-in-five finals Without the services of Don rowe, out with tonsilitis, the reamlined locals—after their long ip—still shaded the scrappy 'Shirts n an exciting and hectic tussle. hey earned the win but had to ght every foot of the way in a rand game, one that saw play weeping back and forth at a hot lip throughout. Next game is ex-ected to be in Oshawa on Friday.

Feelings were heated almost from he start, with Ellis and Lederman euding early and both sides lay-ng on the gad at times. Real hos-ilities did not break out till mid-ay through the sizzling third and hen things happened fast. Simon nd Gardner bumped it out along he boards with the former being enalized for charging. He return-d and then Lang and Gardner ixed furiously in a corner, both winging and then wrestling. Half dozen other fights were narrowly verted by the referee and peace-aking players who pulled would-e battlers apart. A fan leaned ver and punched Harding, and the oalie was all for climbing into the rowd. A few minutes later, Simon nd Ellis also drew majors for ighting, and the teams for a time played four a-side, counting goalies.

Penalties Even.

Of the 10 penalties handed out, the Petes drew five and each squad had two majors for fighting. The visitors racked up a 2-0 lead in a fast first frame, and carried a 4-1 edge into the third. Play was quite even in the third, with Kitchener doing a lot of ganging up, but being threatened by Peterborough breakaways on the fast artificial ice surface.

Outstanding for the victors were Goalie Ray Harding, and Bun Kingdon and Honey Tompkins up front. Both Bun and Honey were in on three goals each, and the latter nearly notched several more with some fine puck-work. Harding was brilliant in the cage, being practically unbeatable all the way, and rising to heights when his team was shorthanded or when the Shirts ganged up on him. The other forwards for the Petes were almost equally good going both ways, while Ellis turned in a fine scrappy game on defence, with Gardner also biffing them hard. F. Jopling was steady as ever and Les Burton (filling in for Crowe) made a swell job of it. The whole team clicked in championship form this tilt.

Goalie Is Star.

While the first line of the Greenshirts worked hard and were always dangerous, the second-string squad gave Harding a busier night with some nifty hockey. The defence, barring Simon, was only so-so and had trouble blocking the fast-stepping visiting forwards on the attack. Goalie Bindernagel once more thefted the Petes often in a four-star net showing.

Early in the initial inning, Tompkins rounded defence to slap a fast angle shot into the corner before the goalie had a good look at it. Ellis and Lederman bumped each other about and nearly tangled. Grau came close for Kitchener and then Tompkins and later Coughlin got in for nifty tries. It was plenty fast with the Petes having a slight edge. A Heal-Kingdon thrust almost paid off, with later Lederman and Grau teaming up for a hard drive. When Drake Jopling went off for tripping, the Shirts put on their power play, but did not get many shots on the net in close. Jopling returned and Gardner got the gate for cross-checking and again they pressed, Harding having to jump several times to hold them out. Tompkins nearly got one on a breakaway, and Bauer and Harding almost mixed it up. With all back near the end, Heal scored at close range, with Kingdon and Tompkins aiding, Honey first missing the net. Ellis and Clair went off for roughing it, and Coughlin pulled a good rush at the end.

Looking Better.

Gardner and Kingdon teamed up to test Bindernagel early in the second as Petes again looked a bit better. The first line pressed and later Blewett and Coughlin got in for a hot stab. Again Ellis and Gardner rushed with Smith on a return dash giving Harding a busy moment. Grau and Vrooman also came close. Kingdon made it 3-0 on Gardner's assist at point-blank range, Jack missing the net but recovering and passing it out nicely to Bun. A Coughlin-Starr thrust looked good and later J. Jopling batted one into his pads. Blewett took Coughlin's pass inside defence to make it 4-0 and Tompkins tried hard as the Petes dominated play the last part of the heat. Clair went off for tripping, and with the visitors ganging up, Simon broke away fast to sink the disc for the first Kitchener counter.

It started slowly in the third, with checking close, but soon stepped up again. The 'Shirts' second line bothered Harding for a space, but then Simon was waved over for charging and the Petes applied the pressure, but in vain. With all back, F. Jopling and Coughlin got inside for a shot, but it was blocked. Half way through, five of the homesters went on the attack to make it hot for the hemmed-in Petes. Gardner and Lang touched off the fireworks with a fist fight, nearly embroiling both teams. When order was restored several minutes later, both drew major penalties. Blewett came close on a solo and Vrooman was robbed on two tries. Simon and Ellis came to blows and drew major penalties, Tompkins scored the Petes' last goal on Kingdon's rebound as they both broke away fast from the ganging-up Greenshirts. For a man being in the local crease, Bauer got a penalty shot which Harding stopped neatly. With all back, Grau scored for the home club in close, Fehrenbach aiding as they put on the power play, Heal pulled a good rush, and Starr nearly notched one on a breakaway. Just before the finish, Blewett again tested Bindernagel.

The teams:

Petes — Goal, Harding; defence, Gardner and Ellis; centre, Kingdon; wings, Heal and Tompkins; alternates, F. Jopling, Burton, J. Jopling, Starr, Coughlin, Blewett.

Kitchener — Goal, Bindernagel; defence, Simon and Lederman; centre, Bauer; wings, Grau and Vrooman; alternates, Clair, House, Lang, Fehrenbach, Smith.

Referee—T. Ivanoff, Brantford.

The summary:

First Period.

Petes—Tompkins 2.00
Petes—Heal (Kingdon, Tompkins 16.00
Penalties—F. Jopling, Gardner, Ellis, Clair.

Second Period.

Petes—Kingdon (Gardner) ... 10.00
Petes—Blewett (Coughlin) ... 12.30
Kitchener—Simon 18.00
Penalty—Clair.

Third Period.

FROM BARBER SHOP TO DIAMOND; THAT'S STORY OF SAM CRAWFORD

By Central Press Canadian

Sam Crawford was working in a barber shop at Wahoo, Neb., when baseball beckoned—"Come!"

Sam went. Life had not been all beer and skittles to young Samuel who had taken up a pair of barber's clippers rather than a harvest scythe. The townsfolk said he was the "talkingest" barber they ever saw, talked nothing but baseball and talked it all the time. Why didn't he forget barbering and play baseball?

Sam got his first chance in 1898 when "Snakes" Crawford—no relation—took a hay wagon full of boys from Wahoo community on a barnstorming baseball excursion through Nebraska. At Superior, Sam got the range of the opposition pitchers and murdered the ball all afternoon. Next day when the rest of the boys climbed back on the wagon and pulled out, Sam stayed behind. He signed a contract with Superior.

East Calls

Word of the sensational Wahoo slugger reach West Point, Nab., and the West Pointers took Sam away from Superior for the rest of the season. Sam was powerful with the bat and fleet in the field. His fame echoed beyond the Nebraska corn fields and agents from the big eastern teams came out to look him over.

It was Sam Crawford's golden opportunity. Baseball's ivory hunters had found him as they had found hundreds of stars before him, as they will find hundreds more stars in the future.

Wahoo Sam landed with Cincinnati in 1899, switching in 1903 to Detroit where he remained for 15 years. Crawford's outfield work was excellent, but it was his tremendous batting that made him famous and steadily increased his income.

Owner E. S. Barnard of the Cleveland Indians grew weary of Crawford's towering smashes over Cleveland's right field fence. Up went a 45-foot wire screen atop the right field wall.

Detroit came back to town again and Crawford filed his answer to Barnard's challenge. It was a screaming drive that cleared the barrier by a full eight feet. It was the kind of stuff that fills grandstands. Sam Crawford had it in plenty.

From Wahoo, Neb. (population 2,100), Sam Crawford went to flourishing Cincinnati, Detroit and eventually, Los Angeles, building a comfortable fortune and lasting fame in America's national game.

Leaf Speedsters To Keep RangersHopping

NEW YORK, April 2.—(CP). — Making a case for Toronto Maple Leafs to beat New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup final opening here to-night is not hard, despite the prevailing opinion that this best-of-seven series will be just a breeze for the Blueshirts after their set-to against the burly Boston Bruins.

The Rangers dethroned the league champions and last season's cup holders in six hard games. They won because the Ranger streamliners outskated the big, aud slower, Bruins and because the Boston defence had a bad habit of letting blue-shirted speedsters sweep around them and away from their checks.

The Leaf defence probably is no tougher to crack than Boston's, but the young men in Maple Leaf uniforms have more speed than the Bruins—and speed is going to play an impotant part in a series between two young clubs that emphasize offence ahead of defence.

The Leafs have a great first line—Syl Apps, Gord Drillon and Bob Davidson — that drew only slight consideration in the all-star balloting only because it was broken up by injuries so many times during th regular National League season. Now all three are in perfect health, with Apps making perfect plays and Drillon again the deadly sharpshooter.

On the season's record—the Rangers won four games, lost one and tied three with the Leafs—the Blueshirts have been made 2-to-0 favorites. These odds will go down if the Leafs can get an even break in the two New York games to-night and tomorrow night. The balance of the series will be played on Leaf ice before Leaf fans—and the Leafs are tough at home.

INSTRUCTOR'S BADGE

Generals Level Porkies 10-1 In First Battle

OSHAWA, Ont., April 2 (CP)—The Memorial Cup drought has lasted seven seasons in Northern Ontario and barring a miracle the section will miss the Dominion junior hockey title award again this year.

Hopes of the North, South Porcupine Porkies, absorbed a 10-1 licking here last night at the hands of the champion Oshawa Generals. The young miners were far from the class of Sudbury's Cub-Wolves who won the junior honors for Northern Ontario in 1932.

The Porkies carry their slim hope to Toronto tomorrow night when they meet the Generals in the second of a best-of-three game series for the right to meet Verdun Maple Leafs in the Eastern Canada finals.

Ron Wilson led the Oshawa scoring parade with three goals while Buddy Hellyer counted two. The others went to Nick Knott, Gar Peters, Jud McAtee, Orv Smith and George Ritchie. The Porkies were eight goals down when Jimmy O'Mara batted home Bill Koadick's rebound to rob goalie Dinny McManus of a shutout.

Verdun Hoists Perth In 2 Straight

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP)—Overthrow of Perth Blue Wings completed, Verdun Maple Leafs looked forward today to the Eastern Canada Junior Hockey Finals and the chance they hoped to have of tangling once more with Oshawa Generals.

The Quebec provincial champions defeated the Ottawa and district titleholders 7-5 last night to sweep their best-of-three series in straight games. Now they would like nothing better than to clash with the Dominion champions who upset them in their title march a year ago.

"Naturally, the boys' ambition is to win the Memorial Cup, but right now it's Oshawa we want," said Coach Arthur Therrien. "We took one game from the Generals last year and without Billy Taylor to lead them, we figure we can take them this time."

The Generals at present are engaged in an All-Ontario series with South Poroupine but are heavy favorites to win the final berth following a 10-1 victory last night in the first game of a best-of-three series.

Roland Rossignal and Paul Hebert paced the Leafs to victory over Perth, scoring a pair of goals each and contributing sparkling two-way efforts throughout the game.

SPORT BRIEFS

LAKELAND, Fla.—Joe Kraskauskas, big blond Washington southpaw, is being Joe Kraskauskas for a change and his prospects look good for an A-1 season on the mound. For almost five years the former Hamilton, Ont. hurler has tried to imitate such as Lefty Gomez, Carl Hubbell and Mose Grove without success. This year Coach Benny Bengough persuaded him to stop experimenting.

BORN

MARRIED

MURNEY—PARK.—To-day, April 2, by Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, Jean Joyce, daughter of Mrs. Sam Duval and the late Thomas Park of England, and step-daughter of Mr. Sam Duval, Peterborough, to Private Charles (Chuck) of the Hastings and Prince Edward Infantry of Picton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murney of Peterborough.

DIED

CORRIN, John A. — On Tuesday, April 2, 1940, at his home at 231 Bethune street, John A. Corrin, in his 81st year. Funeral on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Knox United Church officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

BROWN, John Alexander.—At his residence in Hastings on Monday, April 1, John Alexander Brown, in his 69th year. Funeral notice later.

IN MEMORIAM

McINROY.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Isaac McInroy, who died two years ago, April 2.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered; since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever fondly remembered by Husband and Family.

BALL, James.—In loving memory of dear husband and father, James Ball, who passed away, April 2, 1931.

There comes a time to all of us
When loved ones have to part,
But treasured memories linger on Forever in our hearts.
—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

ANSWER:

I certainly do. I think it is always a mistake for a man and woman who have been married a number of years, and who have gotten adjusted to each other and have learned to jog along in comfort together, to break up their home unless something terrible has come up that makes their living together an utter impossibility. They shouldn't do it or the other of them at middle age for no better reason than that one develops a mild taste for philandering. When men and women in their fifties do that, it means nothing at all except they are making a last nibble at forbidden fruit into which they cannot set their false teeth after all.

Yet many women are foolish enough to take their aging husbands' capers seriously when they go hay-wire about some girl young enough to be their granddaughter. They throw up everything they have worked for all of their lives and the companionship that has become a part of their very existence, instead of just sitting tight and waiting for rheumatism and returning sanity to bring their wondering old boys back to them.

After youth has gone and romance has been worn to tatters the thing that mattered so much once do not matter at all in marriage. What a husband and wife want then is peace and comfort, somebody to live with who knows all their little ways and caters to them, somebody with whom they have learned to live without friction, and whose faults they have sidestepped so long that they do not even perceive them.

And so I think that if you have a wife with whom you get along finely and who is a good cook and housekeeper, you should just let things rock along, and make no objection when she steps out occasionally with the gentleman friend. Probably they don't step any farther than a neighborhood movie.

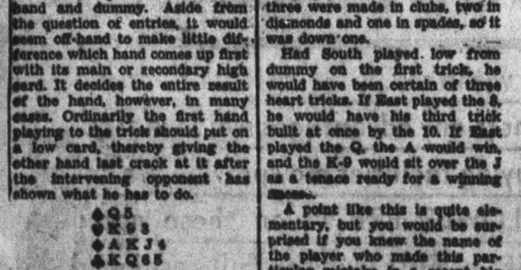
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T BE A SQUANDERER

DECLARERS frequently find that a particular suit holds cards of exactly equal value in their hand and dummy. Aside from the question of entries, it would seem off-hand to make little difference which hand comes up first with its main or secondary high card. It decides the entire result of the hand, however, in many cases. Ordinarily the first hand playing to the trick should put on a low card, thereby giving the other hand last crack at it after the intervening opponent has shown what he has to do.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♠	Pass	1♠
Pass	2♣	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

West led the heart 4, whereupon South counted up his riches and decided the contract was a cinch. Almost without thinking about what seemed to him an unimportant detail, he played the 9 from dummy—and the beans were spilled. He tried hard thereafter, but could get no more than eight tricks. East covered the 9 with the Q, forcing the A. Now, unless West would lead the suit again, the declarer could get only two tricks in it, and West was not so obliging. Besides those two tricks, three were made in clubs, two in diamonds and one in spades, so it was down one.

Had South played low from dummy on the first trick, he would have been certain of three heart tricks. If East played the 8, he would have his third trick built at once by the 10. If East played the Q, the A would win, and the K-9 would sit over the J as a tenace ready for a winning guess.

A point like this is quite elementary, but you would be surprised if you knew the name of the player who made this particular mistake in a recent big championship tournament, and then failed to try an end-play in clubs and diamonds.

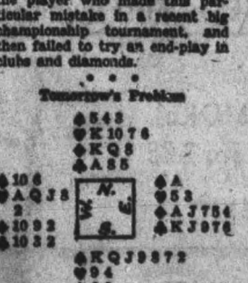
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

If the defenders take their three aces, then fail to cash the club K, East leading a heart instead to the J and K, how should South play for 4-Spades?

Hastings Service Featured By Sacred Drama

HASTINGS, April 2.—(ENS).—The sacred drama, "The Challenge of the Cross," which was to have been presented on the evening of Easter Sunday in Trinity church, by the Young People's Society, but owing to the bad weather was postponed, was presented on Sunday evening.

It followed the regular opening by the Rev. J. E. Glover, and the rendering of a beautiful solo, "Sunrise To-morrow" by Miss Margaret Johnston of Havelock.

The religious drama will again be presented next Sunday evening in Westwood and later will be presented in Peterborough for the Presbyterial competition.

Young ladies as disciples of Jesus, in flowing white gowns, trimmed with tinsel, were seated among the congregation and when the church was dimmed, light was reflected around the pulpit surrounded by lovely Easter lilies and ferns, where Miss Helen Collins, as Evangel, stood and challenged her disciples to take up the cross and followed Jesus. Miss Collins had a difficult part to fulfil as her challenge was based upon actual words of Scripture. The first five disciples, Misses Claudine Hoard, Margery Scriver, Ruby Fleming, Rhea Preston and Mrs. Alton Thompson, when called by Evangel, came slowly forward and offered to bear the cross. Five different crosses were offered, but after putting the disciples to a test they were rejected by Evangel. One found the cross too rough and heavy, another was ashamed of the cross and wanted to hide it, another wanted to wear it openly and still another wanted the cross but hated to give up worldly pleasure.

The singing of "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone," "Ashamed of Jesus" and other sacred numbers interspersed the various parts of the drama, and as the choir sang "I Am Coming, Lord to Thee," Mrs. Cecil Oliver, as the sixth disciple, came slowly forward with a humble heart willing to take up the cross and bear it. After being accepted by Evangel, she knelt before a huge cross and when each of them in turn had accepted the crosses previously offered them, they gathered around Evangel as the choir sang "Jesus I My Cross Have Taken."

Arriving To Report To F.D.R.

Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles follows his chief, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, as they arrive to report to "the chief" in the White House on Mr. Welles' fact finding tour of the European capitals. Undersecretary Welles arrived in New York on the S.S. Conte de Savoia from Italy, and instantly sped to Washington to make his report.

MORE ABOUT—

But the general election result was unchanged with Prime Minister Mackenzie King's following in the House of Commons the largest in history. With the result in one constituency—Acadia in Alberta—still doubtful, the Liberals had 177 members conceded election. The National Government total remained at 39, C.C.F. 8, New Democracy 9, Liberal-Progressive 3, Independent Liberal 3, Independent 1, Independent Conservative 1, Unity 1. Election in Three Rivers was deferred and the death yesterday of Rev. W. G. Brown, United Reform member-elect for Saskatoon City, created the first vacancy in the new House.

The situation in still-doubtful Acadia became more acute than ever. With five of the 203 polls unreported, A. M. Day, Liberal, and Victor Quelch, New Democracy were tied with 3,731 votes each. In third place George B. Smith, C.C.F., had 780.

The service vote took away Quelch's slender lead, obtained on the basis of reports from 196 civilian polls. The vote was: Day 17, Quelch 14, Smith 12.

Woodsworth Gets By.

There were other close finishes, notably in Winnipeg North Centre where J. S. Woodsworth, veteran C.C.F. Leader, scraped under the wire with a plurality of 125 over A. R. Macdonell, Liberal.

The complete civilian vote had given Woodsworth a lead of 153 and he had expressed doubt that it would survive the Active Service ballot. Final count gave Woodsworth 11,324, Macdonell 11,199, and G. Stefansson, National Government 5,412.

In nearly all cases, however, the comparatively light soldier vote fell far short of causing upsets. It was divided so evenly between many Liberal and National Government opponents that the difference was only a few votes changed after the additions.

In 1917, Canada's last war-time election, the civilian popular vote was close, 841,944 to 744,849—but the soldier vote made the outcome decisively in favor of Sir Robert Borden's Union Government. Soldiers voted 215,849 for hte Government and 18,522 against.

14 Turnovers in 1917.

Announced three months after the civilian vote in 1917, the soldier vote accounted for 14 turnovers, all the seats going into the Union Government column.

Active Service voting this time took place in England from March 18 to 23. The voter wrote the name of his choice on the ballot, sealed it in an envelope, and after that envelope was placed in a larger one, he mailed it to the special returning officer of his division.

Four divisions were established—one each in England, the Maritime Provinces, Central Canada, and the West. Results were cabled and telegraphed to the chief electoral officer in Ottawa after they had been counted in each division.

The National Government vote outnumbered the Liberal vote in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia. The advantage was two-to-one in Ontario. In Quebec and Saskatchewan the Liberal margin was three-to-two.

Leaders Do Well

Party leaders made a good showing. Dr. Manion, defeated in Fort William constituency by Dan McIvor, Liberal, obtained 111 active service votes to 58 for the winner, while Garfield Anderson, C.C.F. candidate, got only four.

In Prince Albert, where he won, Prime Minister King's soldier vote was 55 to 49 for R. R. Manville, National Unity; seven for Pete Strelive, C.C.F., and three for A. C. Campbell, Communist.

Only two C.C.F. candidates in the country benefitted by the active service vote, and one of these was M. J. Coldwell, first lieutentant of Mr. Woodsworth, who slightly increased his winning margin in Rosetown-Biggar. In Wood Mountain, N. L. Buchanan, C.C.F., headed the military poll but was beaten for the seat by T. F. Donnelly, Liberal.

Prince Edward Island sent four Liberals to the House of Commons, but the active service votes gave National Government candidates the advantage in every instance. Finance Minister J. L. Ralston, who won handily in Prince, trailed J. A. McPhee, National Government, 141 to 131 in the service vote.

Scotia Stays Liberal.

In 11 of Nova Scotia's 12 constituencies, Liberals were winners and the active service vote was strongly Liberal too, giving Government candidates the edge in eight constituencies. Revenue Minister J. L. Ilsley increased his margin in Digby-Annapolis - Kings over Hiram Thomas, National Government.

Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Fisheries, also increased his winning margin in Restigouche-Medawaska, but seven of the 10 New Brunswick seats had National Government support from the active service force. Five Liberals and five Manion followers were elected in New Brunswick.

Quebec, almost solidly Liberal in the civilian vote, generally was unchanged. Quebec soldiers also voted Liberal, giving Government candidates majorities in 49 of the 64 constituencies.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, had a 258-to-56 lead over Paul Bouchard, Independent Nationalist, in Quebec East; Hon. C. G. Power, Postmaster-General, polled 336 to 130 for his National Government opponent in Quebec South, and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Public Works, increased his lead in Richeleau-Veroheres.

Ontario Goes 74-8 N.G.

Ontario voters, however, swung to the National Government in 74 of the 82 constituencies. Defence Minister Norman Rogers, who won decisively in Kingston City, trailed T. A. Kidd, National Government, 400 to 392.

Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, trailed in Waterloo North, and Hon. N. A. McLarty, Minister of Labor, in Essex West. Both were elected. Transport Minister C. D. Howe led in Port Arthur.

Manitoba also swung to the National Government side, though it elected a majority of Liberals. Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources, was a bit behind in Churchill. Saskatchewan soldiers voted Liberal as the civilians did. Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, was given a majority in Melville.

In Alberta, where the seats were won by Liberals and New Democracy candidates, the active service voters gave majorities to nine Liberals, seven National Government candidates and one New Democracy standard-bearer, Hon. J. A. MacKinnon had a majority in Edmonton West.

British Columbia's military majorities were divided pretty evenly. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions, was behind in Vancouver Centre.

included, however, in the British figures.

The only vessels which appeared on the list in addition to the Daghestan were the 1,146-ton Danish ship, Britta, which was torpedoed; the Norwegian Burgos, 3,219 tons, sunk by a mine while in convoy, and the Norwegian Cometa, 3,794 tons, torpedoed.

Bag Convoy Attacker

The sinking of a German submarine which had torpedoed a neutral ship in convoy "some weeks ago" was described in an eye witness account made public through the Ministry of Information.

Three British destroyers, a French destroyer and a British flying boat dropped depth charges and bombs, forcing the submarine to the surface it was said and there it surrendered, fatally damaged.

All of the submarine crew were picked up, according to the British except the commander who remained aboard his craft. The submarine then sank.

Members of the destroyer crews said the submarine was located by a new "hush-hush" device, which naval officers lyrically describe as "impalpable fingers groping beneath the surface of the sea."

An escort vessel sighted the periscope and dropped depth charges. Later the submarine was sighted two miles away. Escort vessels opened fire and a flying boat dropped a bomb. With the exception of the commander, the German crew then abandoned the sinking U-boat.

Ill Health Costs Havelock Its Music Teacher

HAVELOCK, April 2 (ENS)—Resignation of H. C. Renaud as music supervisor from the local teaching staff was accepted at a special meeting of the Havelock School Boards held in the school last evening. Present were Trustees Mrs. Rigby, D. F. Miller, H. Bannon, H. W. Roche, P. T. Greenley, D. Anderson and J Covert, with chairman Bernard Smith presiding.

Tendering his resignation because of ill health, Mr. Renaud requested that it take effect immediately. Having on hand an application for the vacancy, the board hired Mr. Wesley Wildman of Norwood to undertake the duties of music teacher on the local staff, at a stated salary of $300 per annum.

Also at this meeting Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, M.O.H., presented his report which was accepted on motion of Trustees Rigby and Greenley. Chairman Smith appointed the property committee to investigate the possibility of having the windows open from the top rather than the bottom, in accordance with Dr. Holdcroft's recommendation for for adequate ventilation.

In an interview, Mr. Cromwell expressed the opinion it would be possible for him to run for the United States senate and retain his present post, although he hadn't given "much thought" to seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination in New Jersey, as was reported.

"I just forgot about it," was the stock excuse given by the majority. Two or three motorists frankly said they didn't have the money.

One motorist put the blame on his wife. "She was supposed to look after it when she took the car downtown last week-end," he lamented. (The wife was not present in the car.)

A woman in the west end of the city thought it was all very unfair. She explained to an officer that she hadn't used her car since she bought it last summer during the C.N.E. "And the very first day I take it to work I get pinched," she said indignantly.

A $5,000 Haul

MONTREAL, April 2 (CP)—Three men in a dark blue sedan stole about $5,000 from a collector for Greenberg's dry goods limited after forcing the collector's truck to pull up at the curb today on Park Avenue near north-end Rachel street.

Two of the men, all between 30 and 35 years old, took the money at revolver point after their car crowded him to the curb, the collector, James Robertson, told police. He said he was carrying the money which he had collected during the morning in a bag on the front seat.

Bishop's Letter Travels Via NW Passage

LONDON, April 2 (CP)—What is believed to be the first letter to reach England from Canada via the Northwest Passage has arrived here for the secretary of the press and publications committee of the Anglican Church Assembly.

The letter, mailed by Rt. Rev. Archibald L. Fleming, Canadian Bishop of the Arctic, completed its 10,000-mile jaunt by motorship, iced-aled, dog team, airplane, transcontinental train and ocean liner, in about 17 months.

Posted at Craig Harbor, Ellesmere Island in the Arctic, on Aug. 26, 1938, the letter bears postmarks and a statement by the postal superintendent at Edmonton, Alberta, that it reached Arctic Bay on Aug. 28, 1938, and Fort Ross, Bellot Strait, Aug. 31, 1938.

The motorship Aklavik was unable to complete its journey to Fort Ross in the fall of 1938 because of ice conditions and the letter remained there until March 15, 1939, when it was carried by dog team to King William Island.

Police Relay

After another five-month delay at King William Island the letter finally was picked up by a motorship and reached Perry River in September 1939. From Perry River it was carried to Camridge Bay by a Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol dog team, reaching Cambridge Bay Nov. 24, 1939.

On Jan. 8, 1940, another Royal Canadian Mounted Police dog team took the letter to Coppermine, Northwest Territories, and last Jan. 25 a Mackenzie Air Service plane picked it up and brought it to Edmonton, where it arrived on Jan. 27.

From Edmonton the letter was forwarded to England without further exceptional delay.

ing. Col. Hicks-Lyne in his introduction gave a sketch of the life history of Canon Cody, setting forth a few of honors bestowed upon him, and also listing the many great accomplishments of the visitor. "Dr. Cody is a man who needs little introduction to any Canadian audience, and I can say that his reputation and influence has even been felt in other countries." The members stood to acknowledge the introduction, and greet the distinguished guest.

In his first remarks Canon Cody paid tribute to the work being done by Chambers of Commerce across Canada, and added to this a word of praise for the city itself, which he said had contributed many fine men to the life of Canada in many spheres of endeavor.

Heritage Worth Guarding

In speaking of the heritage of Canadian people Canon Cody said that three things stood out in his mind as follows, that Canada has a heritage worth guarding, that her heritage is being attacked today and third that we as Canadians have made up our minds we will meet the challenge.

He enumerated the various conditions which must exist for a worthwhile civilization, all of which this country has and he added that Canada is a country with a balanced variety of industry and agriculture.

"Have we the people living in this Dominion today who have the brains, character and diligence to protect and develop this heritage. Democracy is only a system of government and if the character of citizenship fails democracy will also fail."

Canon Cody traced the settling and development of Canada from the time of the first French settlers to the United Empire Loyalists who changed the whole course of Canadian history.

"They laid the foundations of British Institutions and ordered freedom in this country."

There was another influx of Anglo-Saxon stock after the Napoleanic wars and so through the years there has come to us from the Motherland, people who brought with them an appreciation for British institutions, and a democratic government preserved by the religious conviction that the individual is worth more in the eyes of God.

Owe Debt to Britain

"We owe a debt incalculable to the litle islands from whence we came. Don't let us ever forget this debt we owe.

"A combination of spirit and adventure, a desire to trade and with a profit, and a desire to improve and gain better opportunities has within the short space of three centuries built up the British Empire, a great treasure house of material wealth, but it stands for far more than mere material wealth, it stands for freedom — of conscience, of speech, of worship, of the press, freedom to wander where one wills. Freedom is that talismanic character in the British that transmutes from baser metals into nobler. Trustworthiness, justice and tolerance all combine to make the real Empire.

"At the end of the nineteenth century when there was no nation strong enough to challenge Britain's power, was there any weak nation who felt afraid. No. Britain's power was used for the good of the world, not always but in the main.

"Western civilization is the result of Christian ethics and the reign of law as against that of brute force and tyranny, and every particular of this western civilization is challenged to-day.

"Everything we cherish is menaced by our protagonist, Mr. Hitler.

Canon Cody digressed a little to tell his audience that 160 members of the faculty of the great university of Krakov in Poland had been arrested and taken in trucks to a concentration camp. When thirty-eight had died, they were sent back to Krakov.

"Alas that a great nation like Germany could come to this. We are not challenged in respect to territory or material wealth. The challenge to-day is against spiritual values that make life worth living. We are vitally interested in this war and so are the neutrals although they may not realize it yet because on its issue depends the happiness and safety of the whole world.

"Nobody can say that the British started the war. We have a clear conscience on that point but we also have a good memory and we remember that Prussian power that time and again has started wars. Those who care for the things that really count have made up their minds that this infernal thing must stop, and to-day we find every Canadian solidly behind the Government in its war effort.

"Each man in his own secret shrine prays that he may have the chance to do his duty, and he is heartened by that glorious epic of the seas from the battle of the Graf Spee to the rescue on the Altmark, when the cry rang out "The navy is here."

The issues involved are so stupendous that whole future of mankind under God is challenged by these "evil things."

The thanks of the gathering was voiced by J. J. Turner and then the chairman called on Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate and classmate of Canon Cody to speak. Dr. Kenner declined saying he was too proud of the speech of his old friend to say anything just then.

Those at the head table were Fred Overend, J. J. Turner, Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Rev. F. W. Craik, C. A. Salmonsen, Rev. George S. Easton, Alex Elliott, M.P.P., John Comstock, Rev. Canon Paterson, Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, J. J. Dorris, M. Ruiter and G. A. Macdonald.

Music during the dinner was provided by the Northrop String Trio and at the conclusion of the dinner two talented singers delighted the audience with solos. Mr. Ed. Rowe sang, 'I Love Life,' and for an encore sang 'Lucky Jim.' The lovely soprano voice of Mrs. O. E. Cameron was enjoyed as she sang 'The House of a Friend' and responded to an encore with 'O Flower Of All the World.'

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were taken as read on prompt motions by the members in deference to the guest speaker and these will be published at a later date.

On his first test in the Chamber Reynaud received only one vote more than an absolute majority, with 268 deputies in favor, 156 against, and 111 abstaining. Changes announced later in the official Journal boosted his majority to 17, with 277 for, 153 against, and 107 abstaining.

The new Government's apparent determination to pursue a more vigorous diplomatic policy designed to tighten the blockade against Germany was reflected in a continuing series of conferences which brought French envoys home to Paris.

Reynaud talked yesterday with Paul Bargeton, Charles Corbin, and Andre Francois-Poncet, Ambassadors to Belgium, Britain, and Italy, respectively. He planned to confer later with diplomats called home from the Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey.

These talks were to be followed later in the week by a London conference between Blockade Minister Georges Monnet and Ronald Hibbert Cross, British Minister of Economic Warfare.

Edmonton Regiment's Chief And His Batman Get Together For 2nd Whack At Germans

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 2.—Lieut.-Col. W. G. Stillman of the Edmonton Regiment and his batman are preparing for their second war together.

Private J. H. Phillips was detailed to "bat" for the then Second-Lieutenant Stillman on the day during the First Great War he received his promotion from the ranks of the 31st Battalion, a Medicine Hat unit.

The oceans of water that have coursed under the bridge since the armistice gave the world a brief space of peace carried the young subaltern and his batman far apart. But this war promptly drew them together again—as officer in command and his "bat."

The outbreak found Lieut.-Col. Stillman serving Alberta a assistant deputy provincial treasurer. Private Phillips had a prosperous poultry business. His years—he admits to 45—might have kept an ordinary man out of khaki but Phillips desire to serve his King and his colonel again was not ordinary.

Like his O.C., Phillips has enjoyed a step up. He is Lance-Corporal Phillips now.

Marooned Over Week by Big Storm Janetville Is Finally Dug Out

JANETVILLE, April 2.—(ENS).—The county snow plough made its appearance in the village around 10.30 Saturday night with an auxiliary of twenty men with shovels from the vicinity of Caesarea, not to mention a dozen or more local men who set out with their shovels in the afternoon to meet it.

This was the first appearance of the plough since the vib snow storm which was ushered in with the first few days of spring ten days ago. For over a week there was no road at all, not even for horses. As a result no mail arrived during that time and the supply of many lines of groceries was getting low in the two local stores, especially bread and butter.

The election was the quietest in history, only 130 votes polled out of a possible 250, with 64 being for Strike and 56 for Rickard.

Only two or three made the trip to the village by sleigh, the remainder journeying many miles by foot and in the evening could be seen wending their way homeward in groups with bags of the most necessary groceries slung over their shoulders.

With the soft weather setting in the roads are still precarious and in many places flooded.

On Sunday Dr. Logan of Lindsay, who was making a hurried call to the village was stranded in water in the long swamp until a passing motorist Roy Marshall came along and brought him to the farm of Everett Stinson who drove him by team and sleigh through fields to the Janetville turn where he was met by James Howe who conveyed him to and from the village by car.

War of Watching Ahead Says Laborite M.P.

LONDON, April 2—(CP)—Colonel Josiah C. Wedgwood, Labor member of the House of Commons, who scoffs at air raid precautions and is skeptical of possible bombardment of London, said yesterday that "I believe that this will be a long war in which we will sit down and watch each other."

He said such a war can only be won "by wits, new ideas and criticism, which has freer play in a free country than it has under dictatorship."

Another Labor member of parliament, Hugh Dalton, told his constituents Saturday that "an increasing number of people in this country are deeply concerned at our failure to wage the economic war as though we meant it."

He said that "it is imperative that we should wage the economic war at full blast otherwise there is no way in which we can win."

The annual conference of the Association of Women Clerks and Secretaries today passed a resolution protesting against schemes for raising compulsory "forced loans to the government through reductions of weekly pay envelopes."

Making Worker Pay

The resolution charged these schemes were "part of a campaign by the rich to make the working population pay for their war."

Another resolution adopted asked for increased allowances to army, navy and air force dependents, bringing increases into line with what is necessary to avoid deterioration in the mental and physical health of women and children.

A further motion was adopted urging the trade Union Council to support demands of the National Union of Journalists "for free access by the press to all news not of definite military value to the enemy," and also condemning news restrictions on the British Broadcasting Corporation and the cinema.

15 P.C. Neutral

NEW YORK, April 2 — (CP). — Sentiment in the United States remains overwhelmingly behind Great Britain and France, according to a nation-wide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion. The chief question was: "Which side do you want to see win the present war—Engand and France or Germany?"

To this, 84 per cent replied they wanted the Allies to win, one per cent expressed a preference for Germany, and 15 per cent were "completely neutral" or had no choice or opinion.

SUFFERERS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE, WEAK KIDNEYS, LAZY LIVER, NERVOUSNESS AND GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION

What It is!

SYNTONA is an advanced medical compound of 12 of the finest medicinal herbs, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts within 10 minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness, bloating, and belching. At the same time SYNTONA drives the poisons from the kidneys and relieves backache bladder irritations, and weakness.

What It Does!

It acts on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It DRIVES out rheumatic and neuritis pains; puts a stop to boils, pimples, and other common blood disorders, by ELIMINATING THE CAUSE! It builds strong, healthy nerves. It will free your system of its oversupply of acidity. Those ravaging acids that accumulate and irritate your stomach—fill you with gas—sour your food and cause constipation.

Now, whether SYNTONA will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25 cents, only a fraction of its worth. This introductory offer is good Friday and Saturday ONLY. Act at once. British Far Eastern Policy Unchanged Butler Announces

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—British Far Eastern policy has undergone no change and the British government will continue to recognize the Chungking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek as the legitimate government of China, the House of Commons was informed today.

R. A. Butler, secretary for foreign affairs said of British policy in the Far East:—

"It has always been our endeavor to conduct our policy in the Far East in accordance with the principles underlying the nine-power treaty and so keep step with the French and American governments."

(Under Japanese direction a new "central government of China" under former premier Wang Ching-Wei was established at Nanking last Saturday in opposition to Chiang Kai-Shek. Immediately Secretary of State Cordell Hull of the United States announced that the United States would continue to recognize the Chungking govrnment).

Mr. Butler said that foreign secretary Viscount Halifax was "quite ready" to accept responsibility for the speech delivered by the British ambassador to Japan Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, before the Japan-British society in Tokyo last Thursday.

Sir Robert, said Butler, had no intention of suggesting that British policy had undergone a change. He added that there was no question of Britain changing her view as to what she continued to regard as SERGEANT-PILOT James Miller, whose father lives at Jarvis, Ont., given a military funeral by The Netherlands government Friday.

Miller was killed when Netherlands Fokker fighters shot down a Royal Air Force bomber near Rotterdam Feb. 28. The Canadian, jumping out of the plane at a height of 35 feet, was struck by one of the wings and killed instantly.

Miller, who was 26, had been in the R.A.F. 18 months.

Expect Lord Woolton To Handle Food Replacing Morrison

LONDON, April 3 — (CP Cable). —The Press Association to-day said it is expected Sir Samuel Hoare, Lord Privy Seal, will succeed Sir Kingsley Wood as Secretary of State for Air in the forthcoming ministerial reshuffle.

It is believed the changes will be announced almost immediately.

Sir Arthur Salter, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Shipping, is considered a likely successor to Sir John Gilmour as Minister of Shipping.

Minister of Food

Lord Woolton, formerly Sir Frederick Marquis, the merchant prince, is mentioned as a possible new Minister of Food, succeeding W. S. Morrison.

Lord Chatfield, Minister for Defence Co-ordination, and Lord Hankey, minister without portfolio, have been mentioned also as likely to be involved in the changes.

The authoritative sources said Sir Kingsley Wood probably would take over Sir Samuel Hoare's post as Lord Privy Seal, thus remaining a member of the War Cabinet.

In addition to Sir Arthur Salter, R. S. Hudson and Lord Essendon are regarded as possibilities for the shipping post. Mr. Hudson is Secretary to the Overseas Trade Department.

Turks Claim Balkans Safe

ANKARA, April 3.—(AP)—Turkey "perseveres in her decision to remain outside the war," a spokesman stated today in discussing a conference between President Ismet Inonu, Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu, and the British ambassador, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, who is leaving for London soon to report.

An official spokesman said the ambassador was informed that "Turkey does not intend to enter war against Russia" and that she is firmly determined to live peacefully and work for the maintenance of peace."

"No danger of war exists in the Balkans," said the spokesman. Turkey "thus far has not been subjected to any pressure or proposal that she depart from a peaceful policy."

(The Turkish statement agreed with Prime Minister Chamberlain's remarks in the House of Commons yesterday when he said that German propaganda claims that Britain aimed to disturb the peace of the Balkans are "of course untrue."

("We are confident," Mr. Chamberlain said, "that our agreements with Turkey have, on the contrary, contributed most effectively to maintain peace and security in southeastern Europe.")

A Fire Hazard

New York, April 3 (AP)

THE Board of Education gave Mrs. Marguerite S. Cunningham, 275-pound fifth grade teacher, a special fire drill, and reports she is definitely a "fire hazard" as charged.

This was the gist of board president James Marshall's remarks several days ago when he pleaded for legislation to enable the board to retire unfit teachers.

At that time Marshall cited the case of Mrs. Cunningham, who he said constituted a danger to pupils because of her general lack of alacrity. So the surprise fire drill was arranged and this was the report of the board's agent-on-the-scene:

"Before Mrs. Cunningham had limped down the stairs the children in her class were a block away from her."

3 Canuck Fliers, Stoker Held Nazi Prisoners

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—Prisoners of war information bureau of Canada announced today receipt of word respecting four Canadians, members of His Majesty's forces, who have been interned in Germany, one interned in Belgium, five Canadian civilians interned in Germany and seven Canadian civilians resident in Germany but not interned.

Prisoners of war in Germany are.: Pilot Officer Robert Maxwell Coste, Royal Air Force, Toronto; Pilot Officer A. B. Thompson, R.A.F., Penetanguishene, Ont.; Hugh Barr, stoker on H.M.S. Rawalpindi which was sunk by German naval fire; and Philip Templeman, R.A.F., held in a German hospital.

Canadian addresses of Barr and Templeman were not contained in information received here.

Pilot Officer R. A. G. Willis, R.A.F., of St. Thomas, Ont., was listed as interned in Belgium.

Charles Grant of Toronto and Zygmunt Sedziak of Winnipeg were listed as held in a civilian camp.

Job Check Shows Housewife In for It Few Women Seek Spring Cleaning

TORONTO, April 3 (CP) — The Ontario Department of Labor reported today that it may be more difficult this year for housewives to obtain women to help them housecleaning.

"The registration of women for this work is not as great as last year," says the weekly report.

Little change is noted in industrial employment during last week. A few extra hands are being taken on in factories dealing with automobile accessories. Construction work "is not very active just now."

"On the whole, employment gains of recent months are being maintained in the Brantford and other areas, reports show," it was declared. Steel and textile plants at Brantford are busy.

Single and experienced workers are wanted on the farms.

Start on construction work at Trenton airport will begin shortly. The supervising engineer for new building projects has arrived.

The demand for women is slightly better than for the past few weeks, say the interprovincial government employment offices at Fort William. Boats are being outfitted for the opening of navigation.

Farm Hands Scarce.

Guelph reported difficulty in getting experienced farm hands to fill the demand. Beatty Brothers of Fergus expect to start a war contract shortly. Women inspectors for the firm are being sought.

Hamilton reports brisker manufacturing than for two or three weeks. One new company has made a start installing machinery to manufacture airplanes.

In Hamilton there is a demand for experienced women textile operators. The call for competent maids is noted at Kingston.

Yugoslavia Lends Ray Of Cheer To Hitler In His Blockade Gloom, Announcing Nazi Ships May Hug Their Waters to Trieste

By GUY RHOADES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BELGRADE, April 3 — (AP). —Yugoslavia will sanction use of her territorial waters for German freighters seeking a blockade-proof route for carrying Yugoslav bauxite to Tricste, Italy, according to an official source.

The government declared units of the British Fleet, on the watch for blockade evaders, thus far had not been sighted north of Corfu by Yugoslav ships. Corfu is a Greek island near the entrance to the Adriatic.

Bauxite, mineral base of aluminum, "is not considered a war material" by Yugoslavia, this official source declared to-day.

Germans hope that bauxite, and later other supplies, can be carried through neutral coastal waters to Trieste for shipment by rail to the Reich.

Germany replied to-day to Allied tightening of the blockade by an outburst of threatening words, apparently designed to keep up the courage of her home front.

In Berlin Field-Marshal Herman Goering, Adolf Hitler's heir-apparent, declared that "a decisive blow must be struck in the West" and that Hitler has "mobilized all resources" for the assault when he feels the time has come "to end the war."

There is no reason why anyone outside Germany need be impressed by the speech. If Germany hopes to beat the Allies on the field she must fight them in the West, because that is where they are.

That Goering should predict "we shall certainly win this external fight" was not surprising either. Everyone assumed when Hitler went out on a limb over the conquest of Poland that the German government believed it could win the war, simply because nations do not look for fights unless they think they can win.

Whether the highly-placed Nazis still feel certain they can win is less sure, because circumstances which were unpredictable to them at the beginning have since occurred. But whether they believe it or not, they must keep saying they do.

Six Air Schools Are Added To Training Plan

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—Locations of six additional schools for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and the carrying on of negotiations regarding buildings and properties for others were announced today by Defence Minister Rogers.

Establishments definitely located are: Elementary Flying Schools at Lethbridge, Alta., and Windsor, Ont.; a Service Flying School at Kingston, Ont.; Bombing and Gunnery Schools at Jarvis, Ont., and Mossbank, Sask.; an Observer School at Regina.

The minister said negotiations were being carried on with the Manitoba government and Brandon city for use of the Brandon Winter Fair buildings as a manning depot; with the Saskatchewan government and the governors of the University of Saskatchewan and Regina College for use of Regina College and Regina Normal School as an initial training school; and with the Alberta government for the Alberta Institute of Technology and the Calgary Normal School as a wireless school.

Earl Of Athlone Reported New Governor

OTTAWA, April 3—(CP). —A report today that the Earl of Athlone had been appointed Governor-General of Canada, brought a statement from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King that the question of a successor to the late Lord Tweedsmuir was under consideration and that as soon as arrangements were completed an official announcement would be made.

The Earl of Athlone, 66-year-old brother of Queen Mary, mother of King George VI., was Governor-General of South Africa from 1923 to 1931.

Lord Tweedsmuir, whose term as Governor-General of Canada would have expired this summer, died in Montreal early in February from the effects of a fall in his dressing-room at Rideau Hall, the Vice-Regal residence here.

White Is Given 264 Majority On Final Count

George S. White, Madoc lawyer and National Government candidate, has a majority of 264 over Rork Ferguson, Liberal, according to official returns released Tuesday night by H. W. Sabine of Marmora, returning officer for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough. Ferguson held the constituency within the Liberal fold in the last election. There were 41 rejected and spoiled ballots. The two candidates and W. B. Gordon of Peterborough, who represented Mr. Ferguson were present when the boxes were opened.

The soldier vote for this riding, made known Tuesday, enhanced the majority of 219 piled up by Mr. White in the civilian vote, as 107 soldiers voted National and 49 Liberal, a gain of 58 for George White.

Official returns on the civilian vote is only three votes different from the figures collected and compiled by the Examiner after the elec-

Fined $100

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 3.—(CP)—Paul Greenwood, who pleaded guilty four weeks ago to a charge of keeping a cockpit was fined $100, with costs of $10.75, when he appeared before Magistrate S. A. Jones today.

At the requis of Crown Attorney F. E. D. Wallace, K.C., charges against 50 found-in- were withdrawn after the magistrate had called the 50 names.

Ready To Sing

New York, April 3 (AP)

DISTRICT ATTORNEY William O'Dwyer said today that Harry (Happy) Maione, alleged vice-president of the Brooklyn killers-for-hire syndicate known as Murder, Inc., had offered to make a complete confession—presumably identifying for the first time the ring's long-sought "master mind."

O'Dwyer said he had received a communication from Maione, now in jail under first-degree murder indictment for the slaying of George Rudnick, a police informer, which said:—

"I don't want to burn (in the electric chair). I don't care how long I stay in prison, but I want to live."

RAF, Nazi Pilots Down Each Other In Coast Duel-1st UK Defence Loss

LONDON, April 3 (CP)—An air duel off the Yorkshire coast ended today when each participant shot down the other at sea.

The pilot of the Royal Air Force plane, a Spitfire fighter, was rescued, as were five German airmen who were picked up by a trawler after their Heinkel bomber was forced down even though its British adversary already had been disabled.

Britons said the Spitfire was the first fighter plane lost defending the British coast since the war started.

Another plane believed to be German was chased over the Shetland Island.

Convoy Raid

BERLIN, April 3 (AP) — DNB, German News Agency, today reported that Nazi warplanes had "successfully" attacked merchant ships in a British convoy in the northern part of the North Sea this noon.

The agency offered no amplification of the claim.

PARIS, April 3—(AP). — Allied air scouts on patrol duty above the Western front were reported by military sources today to have shot down at least five and possibly six German fighting planes yesterday.

The French officially declared their planes had shot down two Nazi planes and perhaps a third, while unofficial reports credited the Royal Air Force with destroying three Messerschmitts out of a squadron of nine.

One French plane was forced to land in Luxembourg, the French command said.

Artillery exchanges were noted west of the Vosges Mountains in the Nied and Bitche sectors.

French air scouts reported there have been no unusual German troop movements which might indicate an offensive is in the making.

The morning communique of the French high command said merely

Britishers Repulse Two Raids By 20 Nazi Bombers On Scapa Flow—No Damage

Convoy Escapes Unhit Ten Bombs Falling Into Sea

LONDON, April 3—(CP).—British sea and air defences stood ready today to beat off fresh German air attacks, expected in retaliation for yesterday's announcement of an important economic victory.

Indication that a wave of fresh attacks might be expected came at dusk last night when British forces turned back two German raids, one on the strategic naval anchorage of Scapa Flow, the other on a North Sea convoy.

Two civilians living near Scapa Flow were slightly hurt by anti-aircraft shell fragments during the battle, but government said the Germans were chased home without damaging the anchorage or ships.

An air raid alarm was in progress 45 minutes during the raid, and spectators corroborated an Air Ministry announcement that one Nazi machine was believed downed. The manager of a public works project said he saw it spiral toward the sea.

The civilians heard fierce anti-aircraft fire from warships and land batteries for five minutes, along with the thunder of exploding bombs.

One Bomb On Land.

One bomb fell on land but caused no damage, it was announced. Spectators said they saw other bombs fall into the sea. They placed the number of German planes at about 20.

British fighter planes pursued the raiders which, the spectators said, converged on Scapa Flow from

Buried 22 Hours By Slide Miner Rescued

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. April 3 (CP)—Another chapter of bravery and perseverance was written into the annals of Northern Ontario mining today as weary rescue workers rested after more than 22 hours of digging through rock and muck to save the life of 22-year-old Percy Robinson.

The miner was released from a prison 150 feet below the surface of Chesterville-Larder Lake Mine early today where he was trapped since being caught beneath a slide yesterday morning.

While officials of the mine 28 miles from here, near the Quebec border, investigated the cause of the slide Robinson joined his mother and two brothers, apparently none the worse for his experience.

Shifts of 20 miners worked for hours without relief to crash through the 10 feet of rock which imprisoned Robinson near the first level of the mine. Working carefully to avoid creating a further slide which would have meant certain death for the young man who was employed as a machine-runner, the rescue crew was near exhaustion at the completion of their task.

Most of yesterday, the rescue crew were in communication with Robinson through a pipe which was forced through the debris. He told them he had plenty of room to

Ottawa, April 3 (CP)

CANVAS CITIES will spring up at half a dozen or more places across Canada next month as members of the Canadian Active Service Force move into camp for summer training.

It is understood plans are under way to move all troops in Canada into camp shortly after May 24. There they will have full opportunity for the field exercises and for training in the practical use of arms and equipment.

Included in the troops moving to camp will be the whole of the Second Division of the Canadian Active Service Force and various units of corps or specialist troops who have been mobilized since the start of the war but not sent overseas.

Reds To Prison

Paris, April 3 (AP)

A FRENCH military tribunal tonight imposed maximum sentences of five years imprisonment and loss of civil rights to 36 Communist former members of the Chamber of Deputies, accused of carrying out the orders of the Communist International.

Eight others tried on the same charges also were found guilty but because of extennuating circumstances received suspended sentences of four years imprisonment.

Neutrals Fear Blockade

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—(AP)—Scandinavian states, concerned with maintaining their precarious neutrality, viewed today with mingled anxiety and optimism the British-French Allies' announced determination to tighten the blockade against Germany.

While sections of the Danish press foresaw the beginnig of a new "war of nerves" menacing the neutral status of the northern states, Norwegian newspapers inclined to a more hopeful outlook.

Although Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain tol dthe House of Commons yesterday that the Allies were taking "certain practical steps" to halt the passage of cargo ships from Scandinavia to Germany, the Oslo newspaper Tidens Tegn said there was "no reason for nervousness" in Norway.

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON — (CP). — German aircraft dropped 15 bombs on a British convoy this afternoon, but the Admiralty said no damage was done and that the raiders were driven off by escorting warships.

MONTREAL — (CP). — A gunman escaped with several hundred dollars from the St. Catherine and Dorian Street branch of the Provincial Bank to-day. His holdup was partially frustrated by the branch manager's appearance and he fled.

VANCOUVER — (CP). — Several persons were injured, some seriously, by an explosion to-day at the Vancouver gas house in downtown Vancouver. Shortly after the blast was reported hospital attendants said a man named John Kirkhope had been rushed there for treatment of injuries, and said they understood four more persons were on their way.

OTTAWA, April 3 (CP)—The war supply board announced today that purchases for the past week amounted to $1,457,234. Of this sum $866,951 was spent on aircraft supplies.

Nazi War Chief Boasts Flank, Near Safe Allies Next Victims

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering, chief of Germany's air force and Adolf Hitler's No. 1 aide, declared today that "the fuehrer has mobilized all resources" for an attack "in the west" against Britain and France.

Goering gave no hint as to when the signal would be given, saying only that Hitler would decide when the time had come to "end the war."

"Having their rear and flanks secure," the field marshal said, "the German armed forces in one firm bloc are facing Britain and France in the west.

"It is here that the decisive blow must be struck and for this decisive blow the fuehrer has mobilized all resources."

It was the third declaration within 12 hours by high Nazi leaders of their confidence in Germany victory.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, told propaganda officers last night that "the will of the German people is determined to make it, as the fuehrer said, the most brilliant victory of German history."

Robert Ley, leader of the Nazi labor front, told army and party leaders at Kassel: "Germany victory is self-evident; we don't discuss the prospect of victory—it is before us to grasp—it is here."

The speech was delivered before an audience of fledgling airmen af-

Canadian Troops To Guard Royal Palace

LONDON, April 3—(CP Cable).—Canadian troops will mount guard at Buckingham Palace from April 17 to 24 inclusive, it was announced tonight.

The Royal 22nd Regiment of Quebec will furnish the guard for the first four days and the Toronto Scottish for the second period.

It was understood that Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the Canadian Active Service Force, discussed the arrangements with the War Office and palace authorities while he was in London in February.

The suggestion that the French-Canadian Royal 22nd Regiment should participate in the Buckingham Palace guard is said to have emanated from a high official of the Dominion's office.

The duty of mounting guard at Buckingham Palace is a privilege hitherto reserved exclusively for the brigade of guards, though in a few instances the rule has been relaxed, such as during the Coronation when Dominion troops took a turn.

CAPE May, N.J., April 3—(AP).—A tense, sharp-eyed advance guard from Gloucester's romantic old fishing fleet searched Atlantic waters 100 miles southeast of here today for 1940's first school of mackerel.

Twelve boats left yesterday in search of the wily and mysterious fish. A score of others will leave today, and by tomorrow night probably 100 boats will have joined the search. First mackerel of the year almost invariably show up during the first week of April.

Each boat will try to arrive at Schellenger's wharf here with the season's first load of mackerel. The captain who brings the first load will achieve lasting fame among his fellow-fishermen. And also the highest price—possibly 16 cents a pound for fish worth less than four cents later in the season.

A hundred workmen, rapid and skilful with the carving knife, have been waiting for arrival of 1,000,000 mackerel. And a dozen refrigerator cars, freshly iced, stand ready to hurry the first consignment to city markets.

Nobody knows where mackerel go in the wintertime. Nobody even knows where they come from in April, but for more years than any fisherman can remember, the Gloucester fleet has been following mackerel all the way up the coast each spring until they disappear off the coast of Maine late in May. Most people think they are headed for the Bay of Fundy to spawn. But some mackerel are found to have laid their eggs before they get to Cape Bay.

Sir, when you see a mackerel salted away in a wooden bucket and ignominiously displayed beside the pickerel barrel in a back street

4 Ottawa Youths Lose Race And Gun Battle

OTTAWA, April 3—(CP). — Following a running gun battle through the city streets, four Ottawa youths were held today by police on charges of armed robbery and theft of an automobile.

The youths were booked as Eugene Larment, 18; Walter Byrne, 19; Albert Henderson, 19, and Michael Nychai, 18. Police allege the quartet stole a car in Ottawa early last night, drove to Prescott, Ont., 60 miles south of here, staged an armed holdup of a service station on the outskirts of the town. The loot was $27.

They returned to Ottawa, police said, and were spotted by a prowler car in the west end. The prowler pursued the car, ordered it to stop and when it spurted ahead the constables opened fire. The youths returned the fire and 16 shots were exchanged as the two automobiles careened along the streets.

One of the bullets fired by the youths pierced the police car's radiator and police shots went through the back window of the other car, narrowly missing its occupants, who were uninjured.

The chase concluded on the Chaudiere Bridge between Ottawa and Hull, Que., when the driver of the pursued car lost control, struck another automobile and crashed into an iron rail.

At Prescott, two service station employees told police four youths drove up shortly before midnight and asked for gasoline. When the tank was being filled, one of the four brandished a revolver and threatened the two employers. Then the four trussed them up and took the money from their pockets.

number of elementary flying schools so far settled to seven out of the 26 projected; the number of service flying schools to five out of 16 projected and the number of air observer schools to five out of the ten projected. The two bombing and gunnery schools announced are the first of 10 projected.

The minister also said elementary flying training would continue as in the past at some of the civilian flying clubs not yet selected for development as Commonwealth training plan schools.

If the Brandon Winter Fair buildings are obtained as a manning depot it will be the second such establishment and will serve Western Canada. At present a manning depot is in operation at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto.

The plan calls for three elementary training schools and one already has been fixed for Toronto on the premises of the former Eglington Hunt Club. If the Regina College and Normal School property is secured that will be the second.

One wireless school now is operating in Montreal. The proposed school at Calgary will be the second of four projected.

In all 21 of the 71 training schools involved in the plan now have been located. They will open according to a prearranged time schedule as the plan expands to its maximum capacity over a period of three years.

The first school will open next month in Toronto, the initial training school where some 1,000 recruits will receive ground instruction, ordinary recruit training and tests to determine their suitability for one of the three classes of airmen to be trained, pilots, air observers and air gunners. When the first class completes its four weeks of initial training there, elementary flying, air observer, bombing and gunnery wireless and air navigation schools will be ready to carry on with more advanced training.

Nervous as a blooded race horse and stubborn as a mule, the mackerel never stops moving from the day he is hatched until the fateful hour he is iced. When he has a destination, no power but a fisherman's net can swerve him. He rarely turns around in one spot, but goes onward, onward. Every line of his build is eminently adapted to speed, and his power and endurance are a match for his speed.

No mackerel would think of eating anything that wasn't alive and wiggling, and nature rewards this splendid habit with a plentiful supply of tiny baitfish which he chases merrily all his life.

And no greater brotherhood hath any man. Mackerel move in a body as if they had one great mind in common. When a shark appears at one end of a school, the mackerel at the other end—maybe half a mile away—will scoot so fast that nets can't be dropped in time to catch them.

Mr. Butler said that the Finnish Government had made no official approach to Britain regarding reconstruction assistance. He added that at the end of the war Finnish orders in Britain for arms and munitions amounted to £5,500,000 ($24,475,000).

Asked whether the Russo-Finnish peace treaty prevented Finland entering a defensive alliance with Norway and Sweden, Mr. Butler replied:

The Secretary for the Colonies, Malcolm MacDonald, said some illegal immigrants recently had landed in Palestine and had been held in detention camps suspected of being German agents. He added that there were strong reasons for such suspicions, but inquiries had not yet produced conclusive proof.

(The German high command acknowledged that two German planes were missing in Western Front action, but that three "enemy" pursuit planes had been shot down.)

"Yesterday morning on the Saar front a fighter patrol of the R.A.F. intercepted enemy reconnaissance aircraft.

"Our fighters gave chase, but before they could close with the enemy who turned eastward they themselves were attacked by two enemy fighters.

"A sharp engagement followed.

"Both enemy planes were driven down, but their destruction is unconfirmed. One of our fighters was disabled. The pilot who escaped by parachute, is unhurt."

BERLIN April 3 (AP)—The text of today's communique by the German high command:

"On the western front livelier scouting activity.

"On April 2 air reconnaissance continued over the entire north sea along the English coast to the Shetland Islands and over eastern France.

"One German reconnaisance plane, after an airfight with three British chasers was forced to descend on the sea. The crew was rescued by another German scouting plane.

"In the evening hours British naval forces at Scapa Flow were again attacked. Although the weather was unfavorable and defence was strong, it was possible to damage several ships by square hits or close explosions.

"Air fighting occurred at several places in the west, where three enemy pursuit planes were shot down. Two of our own planes are missing."

Eyes Work More Than Intended Since Electric Lights Invented

CAMPBELLFORD, April 3—(ENS)—The value of good lighting and the effect of poor light was discussed by Rotarian F. G. DeCarrol at Monday's luncheon held in the St. Lawrence Hotel. Tracing man's early emergence into artificial light the speaker expressed the opinion that the eyes were doing more than they were originally intended to do. Good lighting must be properly planned with the surface to be illuminated; height of ceiling and color must all be taken into consideration. One of the greatest problems of the lighting engineer is to eliminate the glare which causes most of the eye strain.

Stressing particularly the value of adequate light in selling merchandise Mr. De Carrol claimed that it offered not only the advantage of better display but also the diminished fatigue of clerks working in well-lighted stores and offices caused increased efficiency.

The glare and strong contrast provided by moving pictures are very hard on the eyes said the speaker, who demonstrated by means of a light meter the varying degrees of light intensity in the room. In an effort to illustrate the advance made in manufacturing light bulb samples of those in use thirty years ago were passed around among the members who then had an opportunity to compare them with one of the new oblong 500-watt bulbs which the speaker claimed represented the peak of efficiency.

Very often inferior grades of light bulbs are less efficient because the filament has not been placed in the exact centre of the bulb causing one side of it to darken.

Mr. Mel Booth was a guest at the luncheon.

JAMES A. BROWN.

HASTINGS, April 3—(ENS).—The funeral of the late James Alexander Brown, who passed away on Monday evening, April 1, at his home on Front Street, Hastings, will be held on Thursday afternoon from his late residence, thence to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for service at 2.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. D. K. Perrie.

Interment in the Trent Valley Cemetery.

MRS. MARY ANN SHERWIN

CENTRETON, April 3 (ENS)—The death took place on Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Steven Mann, Cobourg, of Mrs. Mary Ann Sherwin, widow of the late Mr. Anthony Sherwin.

Mrs. Sherwin was Mary Ann Free before her marriage and was born in England. She was in her 78th year and had been in ill health for some time. Since the death of her husband she has made her home with her children, after many years residence on the farm north of Centreton. She was a member of the Methodist, now United, church, and was well known by a large circle of friends here where she had resided since her early years.

The funeral service was held at the United church Monday afternoon, Rev. W. P. Woodger, B.A., Cobourg, officiated.

The remains were laid in the family plot in Centreton cemetery. Many relatives and friends were present and beautiful floral tributes were sent.

MICHAEL J. MALONEY

MARMORA, April 3—(ENS). — After a long illness, Michael J. Maloney, a well known and highly respected resident of Marmora passed away on Monday night, at his home.

Mr. Maloney, who was in his 65th year, was born in Marmora Township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Maloney. His parents, born in Ireland and coming to Canada in their early youth, were hardy pioneers of Marmora Township, who by their labor and perserverance, were rewarded by being owners of one of the finest farms in Marmora Township.

Mr. Maloney followed the occupation of farming for some years before moving to Marmora village, where he entered the garage business in partnership with the late C. A. McWilliams and later with George Forestell, until ill-health forced his retirement. He made many friends by his kindly disposition, and his upright and honest character. He was very fond of fishing and hunting, and much of his spart time was spent in this pastime. During his illness he composed a number of interesting and some humorous poems.

In 1905 he married Miss Lillian Cook, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cook, of Marmora Township, who passed away in 1906. In 1919 he married Miss Rose McEvoy, daughter of Mrs. McEvoy and the late John McEvoy of Marmora Township. Besides his widow, he is survived by one daughter, Maurice, and one son, Tom, both at home. Also one daughter by his former marriage, Miss David Lynch of Timmins. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Richard Dunlay of Campbellford, and Sister Mary Maurice of Winnipeg. Also three brothers, Matthew of Niagara Falls; John of McCloud, Alberta; Hugh of Marmora Township.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Forsythe street to Sacred Heart Church on Thursday morning.

2 Tartan Scarves Presented McNaughton

ALDERSHOT, England, April 3—(CP). — Two hand-woven tartan scarves of the McNaughton clan have been added to the growing collection of mementos prized by the popular Commander of the 1st Canadian Division, Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton. The gift came from an admiring Scottish couple, now residing in Southport.

Accompanying the gift was a letter from the sender, T. S. Paterson, who served as a Captain with a Scottish regiment, closely associated with the Canadian Corps in the First Great War.

"Because of this and also of our common Scottish origin, I am sending you a little gift which I hope you will accept with the compliments of my wife and myself," he wrote.

"My wife has a hobby—handweaving clan tartan scarves—and she thought you would like one of your own. She knew of course you couldn't wear such a scarf with your uniform, so carried out another, using the same pattern or 'sett' as Highland people call it, in a shade of fawn and khaki. The tartan one might come in useful when you return to Canada and in happier circumstances can manage to get in a game of golf.

"In conclusion, allow me to wish you and your splendid troops all the best of luck and a happy return to the homeland."

The General sent a personal letter of appreciation to the former captain and his wife.

Workman Fractures Both Heel Bones

CAMPBELLFORD, April 3 (ENS) —While working at Lock 14 on the Trent Canal four miles north of here Tuesday afternoon, William McQuaigge, 40, of Trent River, slipped from a scaffold a distance of 10 feet. He landed on his feet, breaking both heel bones. After being rushed to Belleville Hospital where the bones were set and X-rays taken, he was brought back to the Campbellford Hospital, where he is resting with both feet in casts. His condition is regarded as favorable. Mr. McQuaigge was working with about 20 others who are employed in refacing the canal lock.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 3 — (CP). — Improvement in crop conditions over the Spring wheat areas forced liquidation on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today but strength in United States wheat and securities supplied speculative buying to balance the market.

Closing quotations were ⅛ higher to unchanged, with May at 88⅞, July 90⅛, and October 91⅝ cents.

Welcome moisture from snow in Western Canada and the Northern United States, which followed a Winter of little precipitation, boosted the prospects of a good yield.

Traders offered liberal quantities of wheat futures and the market price declined nearly a cent at the low points. A late rise at Chicago, started by strength in security exchanges rallied trade in the Winnipeg pit and prices climbed back to the previous day's levels in the final hour. Chicago was quoted ½ cent up before the close.

Yesterday's Quotations.

Tornado Rips Fishing Village Asunder

Nothing much is left of these houses at Pierre Park, Louisiana, after the fishing village of 600 located in the thickly populated Bayou section about 65 miles from New Orleans, was ripped asunder by a tornado which left a death toll estimated at between 25 and 60. Rescue crews and medical assistance were rushed to the stricken community.

PARADISE IS HERE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.
BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.
TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.
BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.
YESTERDAY: Romany begins to learn about radio, with the help of Bax, at one of the important advertising agencies.

CHAPTER FIVE

"YOU CERTAINLY invited the town to this audition," Bob Lane said when he saw the mob that swarmed into the studio at two o'clock.

"Only six to a part," Delacarte shrugged. "Let 'em work. It won't hurt 'em!"

Romany and Baxter listened quietly from their corner. Lane had the faintest touch of irritation in his voice when he replied:

"Maybe some of them have passed up other chances to come up here this afternoon. When we're only going to use eight characters—"

"Forget it!" The director picked up a script. "I always like to make 'em think I've got a hard time makin' up my mind. But I can tell you right now who's going to get the parts."

"And who, may I ask?" Lane's jaw was a trifle set. It was damnable, being in charge of radio for Byrd-Cromwell, to have things so completely taken out of his hands.

"Myra Noyes for the femme lead, Bill Bartner for the lawyer hero."

"You could find two people just as good who aren't so busy."

"Hell!" Delacarte exploded. I don't have to make out their income tax. I take the ones you don't have to work with. Amateurs are a waste of time."

Romany felt a little sinking sensation, and a very definite dislike for the swarthy director. She hoped all directors didn't feel the same way. Lane, she decided, was rather nice. And she wondered why he didn't speak up and put the sarcastic Delacarte in his proper place. Bax nudged her sighing, and she knew he was deeply worried.

Just then Brent Nelson opened the door. Romany was pleasantly surprised when he walked over to her corner, smiling.

"Hello, Indiana! Nice to see you sitting in."

"Thanks to Baxter Tree." She gave the announcer her nicest smile. "Have you met."

They hadn't; and when they had been introduced and had shaken hands, Nelson informed Baxter:

"I've been fortunate enough to get your announcing spot. Now we'll hope the show sells right away. Nice break for both of us."

"There's many a slip," sighed Bax, "between the cutting and the cake."

"Maybe," Brent grinned. "Green Eyes here will bring us luck."

"Quiet!" yelled Delacarte, looking over at the trio, much annoyed. "What is this? If you're goin' to stay in here, you'll have to keep your mouths shut."

Brent Nelson had nothing to fear from the strutting director. He grinned indifferently:

"You'd better lay off the bottle and go on a diet of that breakfast food you've been dishing out to the kids, Delacarte. You sound as though you might have a touch of indigestion."

Delacarte's face grew red, but he did not answer. Lane could have patted Nelson on the back. Instead, he motioned to Baxter to come and take the seat beside him.

That gave Brent the chance to invite Romany to have dinner with him. She hesitated a second, remembering her promise to dine with Bax. But she decided Brent could do so much for her it was foolishness to turn him down. Surely Bax would understand how necessary it was to take advantage of every opportunity that presented itself.

Bax seemed merely stunned as he listened to the selecting of the cast and heard the way his show had been butchered. There were whole pages he scarcely recognized.

Five of radio's leading women had read the part of Sylvia, the heroine of "Paradise Is Here," when Myra Noyes sauntered in.

"You try it, Myra," Delacarte said to her, opening a switch from the control room.

The other girls looked at each other knowingly, fully aware that it was all out and dried. So, Romany thought to herself, that is the great fifty-thousand-a-year Myra Noyes.

She was a small blonde, thin faced, with scarlet lips and heavily blue shadowed eyes, matching the sky blue of her stunning childish gown. It was close fitting, revealing the traditionally thin fashionable figure. Romany decided she was entirely too heavily made up; theatrical. But, with it all, striking.

Myra had read but a few lines in her dramatic school voice when Delacarte called enthusiastically:

"That does it! Thanks, Myra. All you other girls may run along now. Better luck next time."

There was a slight stir of unrest in the studio as the crowd of hangers-on began to feel certain they were just wasting their breath. It was more or less a closed corporation they surmised, knowing Delacarte. They were all surprised to find it wasn't a child show, since the call had been from him.

Romany watched silently, and was unaware of the comedy and drama of the situation because it

BABY'S CONSTIPATION SERIOUS IF NEGLECTED

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven, can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children — safe and effective for the tiniest infant. I give them up to 10 years of age. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and other minor ailments of babyhood.

Quick and sure in their action. Easy to take. Harmless, and safe. Do not contain opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package contains analyst's certificate. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied.

19,188 Votes Cast Last Week In Peterborough West Five Years Ago Total Was 18,943

A comparison of the complete results of the elections in West Peterborough last Tuesday which returned Gordon K. Fraser with a majority of 179 over R. M. Glover, and the corresponding results in 1935 when Senator Duffus was elected with a plurality of 1,685 in a field of four candidates, affords some rather interesting facts from which those who are inclined to retrospect may draw their own conclusions.

It will be recalled that five years ago Senator Duffus was the Liberal candidate, J. F. Strickland, K.C., the Conservative, Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Reconstructionist, and Dr. Lorne Cotton Thomas, C.C.F.

The total vote at that time was Duffus 8,027, Strickland 6,342, Ackerman 3,071, Thomas 1,503— total 18,943.

And the total vote here last week was: Fraser 9,683, Glover 9,505 — total, 19,188.

Although weather conditions were favorable for polling in 1935, as contrasted with the blocked country roads in all directions a week ago on Tuesday, the recent total was 245 more than five years ago.

The combined Strickland-Ackerman vote, naturally Conservative, was 9,413, as compared with the 9,683 for Mr. Fraser, a difference of 270 in favor of Mr. Fraser.

On the other hand Mr. Glover's total was 9,505 against the 8,027 for Senator Duffus suggesting a gain for Mr. Glover of 1,478. However, Dr. Thomas received 1,503 votes which presumably were cast by independents. No one can surmise how the Thomas votes may have been distributed last week, but, granting that, the Thomas-Duffus total was 9,530 as compared with Mr. Glover's 9,505.

The City Vote.

The total vote in the city last week, 12,719, as compared with 12,179 five years ago, showed an increase of 540.

With 6,439 in the city, Mr. Fraser polled 87 more votes than Mr. Strickland and Colonel Ackerman combined; and this year he was 189 up on Mr. Glover.

On the other hand Glover with 6,280 was only 72 less than the Strickland-Ackerman total of 6,352 in the city. He had also 1,400 more votes than Duffus, and 453 more than the Duffus-Thomas total.

The rural vote in seven snowbanked townships this year was 976 fewer than in 1935. Otonabee was 309 down, Ennismore 120, Smith 104, Douro 177, South Monaghan 105, Galway-Cavendish 66, and Harvey 95.

Both Lakefield and North Monaghan with its large suburban population, were grouped in the city's category of an increased poll over that of 1935. North Monaghan excess was 97 per cent. and Lakefield 5, the two combined being 102, which with the city's 540 was a total of 642.

Probably that increase of 642 might be contrasted with the rural decline of 976. At any rate, while the ultimate difference in the complete totals for the two elections was 245 more last week, the increase in the city, North Monaghan and Lakefield, predominantly urban and snowplowed, amounted to 334 less than the shrinkage in the rural vote of the seven townships that were grouped together above.

It might be safe to assume that if the ordinary facilities of travel had obtained in the townships there might have been a proportionately larger rural vote than in 1935. This idea is based on the fact that the urban centres sent more people to their polls.

The complete information obtained by the Examiner from Vincent Eastwood giving the details of the vote by municipal divisions last week is presented herewith, and for comparison purposes the totals in the 1935 election are republished.

IF NOSE "FILLS UP" AT NIGHT

Here's One Successful Way To Get Welcome Relief

IF YOUR NOSE gives you a lot of trouble at night—fills up, makes breathing difficult, spoils sleep—just put a few drops of Va-tro-nol up each nostril.

RESULTS ARE SO surprisingly good because Va-tro-nol is expressly designed to relieve distress in the nose and upper throat, where transient congestion hinders free breathing. Enjoy the comfort Vicks Va-tro-nol brings... tonight!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Goodbye to laxatives that gripe— I've switched to Feen-a-mint, says Mike!

You'll agree that a really satisfactory laxative is one that combines gentle action with effective results. Add temptingly delicious flavour and you've a perfect description of Feen-a-mint—the grand-tasting mint-flavoured chewing gum laxative that has become the favourite of millions. Rid yourself of that dull, headachy feeling caused by constipation. Each candy coated Feen-a-mint tablet contains the same exact dosage. Get a package at your nearby drug counter. 7-39

Would United States Do It?

Frederick T. Birchall, Ottawa correspondent for the New York Times, looks ahead to the day when the peace-loving nations of the world will be so drawn together that "three gangsters skilled in mob psychology would no longer dare to start war."

Mr. Birchall was speaking in Toronto, and there are few men with equal background when it comes to the interpretation of world events. For some time F. T. Birchall was managing editor of the New York Times, but he never dropped his British citizenship. He has more recently been chief of the European staff.

His own view of the future is "A joint declaration from England, the Empire, the United States and France that if any nation resorted to arms this alliance for peace would be drawn in would be enough to ensure world peace."

We are inclined to believe that, and yet belief itself is coupled with the conviction that if such a plan would work in the future it would also have worked in the past. That is, if the nations indicated by Mr. Birchall had unitedly informed Hitler some months ago that an aggressive act on his part would bring them all into active opposition, then there would have been no war.

But United States said nothing. Officially we are certain it disapproved of what was taking place, but it gave that disapproval no active support. And today after seven months of war during which Poland has been dismembered and Finland has been carved there is no indication that United States would do anything different were those memorable seven months to be lived again.

One feature is kept always to the front in American politics of today, and that is the nation must keep out of the war. James H. R. Cromwell, U.S. Minister to Canada, made an address in which he stressed the positive need of the Allies winning the war, and he was at once rapped over the knuckles by Washington. In addition the great majority of the country's representatives gathered together in that city were busy indeed writing letters and making statements to newspapers that they entirely disapproved of their minister in Canada having anything to say about the war. Keeping out of the war has become a fetish with them.

Bearing that in mind, and also having in view the suggestion of Mr. Birchall that the peace-loving nations of the world could by a united declaration force peace to prevail instead of war—is there anything substantial which would indicate that United States would ever become a partner in such joint declaration?

The trend of history since the days of the previous war does not cause hope to ride high. United States had much to do with framing the League of Nations; it had almost a monopoly of the negotiations which brought Czechoslovakia into existence, as most of the plans for the birth of that little nation were made in United States. It is applying a blunt phrase, but a truthful one, to say that United States walked out on the League of Nations, and when Czechoslovakia's fate was in the balance such sentiment in United States as became openly expressed was turned to saying that Britain and France should hasten to the rescue of the distressed people.

So that is how matters have stood so far. Admittedly we like the suggestion of Mr. Birchall. Carried into effect we believe it would do all he anticipates. It seems to be the logical way to enforce peace, and enforcing peace is the one and only way in which the world will ever have it. Admittedly United States would be a large and determining factor in any such movement. It is a nation of wealth and tremendous energy and resources, but it does appear that our neighbor to the South is becoming more firmly wedded to its policy of isolationism. Its desire is to rid itself of foreign entanglements; to live in the world but to play no dominant part in the framing of world policies where it would have to unreservedly have to commit itself to stand side by side with the free, peace-loving nations so that "gangsters skilled in mob psychology" would know definitely that they could not engage in war without the certainty of defeat.

Wrong All Through

It has been necessary to move quickly to keep up with the changing mood of our municipal authorities in the placing of their public liability insurance for the year. In the first place the Legal Committee recommended the acceptance of a tender which had been altered after having been submitted, although equal opportunity to make alterations had not been accorded others who tendered.

Then when the City Council dealt with the matter there was a tender accepted which had not previously been before the committee. And it was accepted because it was lower than the others. The whole business has been so irregular that the wonder is the City Council would have anything to do with it.

Asking for tenders is something which is done in good faith. The people who submit tenders for insurance or anything else know their business and they go carefully over the situation. They do not set their own rates, but must abide by figures approved by the Underwriters' Association.

The recognized and accepted standard of good business is that the tenders shall all be opened at the same time, and all things being equal the lowest tender is accepted. If the business is not conducted that way then there is no good reason for asking for tenders. If the rules of good practice are shoved to one side then it will soon be known there is no use submitting a tender because it is likely to be subjected to shuffling and revision afterward.

In this case the successful tender was submitted after the figures quoted had already become public property by being printed in the press. All that would have been necessary would be to come under that figure. Asking for tenders is a sound way of doing business; it is the custom of all of our governing bodies and of contractors. But if the system is going to keep its worth then it has to operate according to business ethics and plain out-in-the-open dealing. This was not done by the City Council nor yet by the Legal Committee, and that is why we find it difficult to understand why a body of reasonable men who are well acquainted with the proper way of conducting business would go ahead and follow such a course.

Seat Again Vacant

Rev. W. G. Brown, former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was twice elected to the Canadian Parliament, but died with no opportunity of becoming a participant in its deliberations.

Mr. Brown contested Saskatoon City in a by-election and ran as a United Reform candidate. He was elected and went to Ottawa where he was a member for that one memorable day, January 25, and in the one lone copy of Hansard which records the crowded events of that day and of that session it is stated that Walter George Brown was introduced by Miss Agnes M. Macphail and Mr. Joseph Needham.

When the general election was held on March 26 Mr. Brown was again a candidate, but too tired to enter the campaign, and it was a token of the manner of his place in the West that he was elected while remaining in Ottawa to regain his strength.

His ambition to be of service to his fellow countrymen through parliamentary activity was never realized. In fact it appears as though it were a door toward which he could press on but through which he was not going to be permitted to pass.

The Soldier Vote

Prior to the counting of the soldier vote in the Federal election and the inclusion of that vote along with that of the civilian population there were several ridings where the vote looked close enough to be changed. But after the counting was done it was found that not in any one riding had the soldier vote been sufficient one way or the other to affect the previously announced outcome.

Hon. Dr. Manion's party secured 28,382 votes, or 50 per cent. of the total, while Liberal candidates polled 23,372, or 41 per cent., while C.C.F. candidates secured most of what remained. In all there was a possible vote of 90,000, so it must be that many stationed in their home districts voted as civilians.

It is not difficult to see the reason for having had the election at such an early date. The soldiers overseas were still in England where it was possible for them to register their votes with the least possible confusion. It would have been more difficult to secure this vote after our troops had started their movement toward France or any other battle front. Troops in training across Canada were also able to vote with little difficulty. The election is over, the Government has been determined by the Canadian people, and it has all been accomplished before any major offensive has been commenced on the European battle line.

Just Plain Ugly Fact

"Murder Incorporated" is an ugly name, and yet that is what they are investigating in New York, and the name indicates exactly the nature of the business. Murder.

Actually it is nothing new, and possibly a good many readers of newspapers will be inclined to say "Just another of those newspaper stories."

But the newspapers are not making this story. It is before the grand jury and behind it there is a determined gentleman named O'Dwyer whose brother was a victim of the system.

People may have imagined they were reading fiction when it was disclosed that by the payment of a certain fee it was possible to have any individual killed. The men who did the actual killing were not highly paid either, but those who regulated the business and hired the killers made money.

New York has officially known of the thing for a long time, but it has remained for one man with nerve and intestinal stamina to come out in the open and fight the murder ring and the gangsters.

Reports indicate he is going at it like open warfare. The result is he has driven whole strings of the lesser men from cover and in fear of the electric chair they have commenced to "talk." That means they have "squealed" and are now in danger themselves. The drive against "Murder, Inc.," is not merely a bit of sensational writing in the newspapers. It is the recital of plain and ugly fact; the running down of a plan by which any named man could be murdered on the payment of the fee according to schedule.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In one home in Hastings water entered the cellar of a home and put out the cellar fire and that would be one time when there would be nothing much which could be done about it.

A sporting club in Washington served a dinner of roast mountain lion, and it was agreed it tasted something like rabbit. So perhaps the mountain lion is really not as ferocious as generally regarded.

Russia is reported building a military wall in the portion of the country where her new boundary fronts on German territory. Of course that may mean nothing at all, or it may suggest that Russia does not trust Germany.

A woman of 87 appeared in court in Toronto and the charge was being drunk. It was a first offence, and the court considered that as she had been so many years getting there the matter could rest for a while.

Ontario Chamber of Agriculture wants Agnes Macphail to have a seat in the Senate. The only drawback is that when a seat does open in that Chamber there are too many looking around to see if they fit into it.

Pleasant to notice that Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore has been named President of the Ontario Chamber of Agriculture. A good farmer, a former Warden of the County—out of such material are good presidents made.

GROWTH

(By A.R.K.)

¶ There's bulbs down cellar on a shelf, I mind I put them there myself, and that took place last year; I never bothered much with them, or went to see them now and then, not once did I go near.

¶ I thought about them yesterday, first time since I put them away, and they were safe and sound; I figured now that pretty soon, with sun that puts on heat at noon, I'd put them in the ground.

¶ I took some time to look about, and noticed they'd begun to sprout, and getting set to grow; they must have started weeks before, each day kept doing a little more, outside was deep with snow.

¶ I wondered when I saw the thing, how bulbs would know 'twas close to Spring; it's rather dark down there; the spot where I put them to park, was hid from light and rather dark and it was likewise bare.

¶ No calendar hangs up down there, to help them keep the days all square, to count the winter through; and in the cellar there's no clock, of hours and minutes to keep stock, and tell them what to do.

¶ And yet those bulbs stored down below, were getting set so they could grow, they seemed to know the time; I can't explain it if I try, I know they're regulated by—a wiser Hand than mine.

Goering Hoped To Fight Russia; May Yet Do So

From "Time" Magazine

To the German people Hermann Goering is the embodiment of the satiation of all their own more normal appetites. They love sport. Goering is Reich's Master of the Hunt, lives in the middle of a 100,000-acre game preserve, imports falcons from Ireland to pursue that medieval sport. He plays tennis in the garden behind his palace in Berlin, wearing a hairnet to keep his long reddish hair from falling away from the balding area. He skis in a fur cap, rides in all kinds of costume. He has himself photographed at all his sports except swimming. Because of his sensitiveness, other guests were excluded from a Baltic beach where Hermann and his wife went bathing. But he displays no such squeamishness in regard to his guests' sensitivities. All of them are expected to frolic with his lion cub, Caesar.

Goering is a national decoration. His gaudy uniforms and many medals are a national—and international—joke. He lives in piratical splendor. He took his second wife, Emmy Sonnemann, out of the Prussian State Theatre, bedecked her in flowing garments to accentuate her full-blown beauty and roped her in the biggest pearls a Greek merchant could colect for him. Goering lives far beyond his salary. Nobody in Germany cares where he gets the money.

To the beer-loving Germans, Hermann is a delight. Besides putting away quantities of champagne, burgundy, hock, whiskey, brandy and assorted liqueurs, he quaffs beer by the quart out of huge stone mugs. He will paw near by females with hearty indiscrimination when carrying a load of Pilsner.

The German people love to eat heartily. Since they cannot in wartime eat heartily, Hermann does it for them, consuming cream puffs by the dozen, wolfing huge helpings of everything, dirtying his sleeves and vest in the process. He plays Falstaff both because it is good politics and because he likes the role. "Look at me!" he roars, slapping his enormous stomach. "I have lost pounds in the service of the country. Why do you complain at cutting down your meals a little?" It makes no difference to "unser Herman" or his people that the 40 pounds he lost last year (270 to 230) were for vanity, not country.

Goering's gargantuan lust for living may be glandular, or it may simply be overcompensation for years of privation, despair and wrath. Certain it is that much of his ruthlessness was acquired during World War I and while he was an obscure revolutionary, hating the "Jewish republic". More than Hitler or Goebbels or the late Ernst Rohm, who were abnormal anyway, Goering is a product of Germany's generation of defeat, of which Erich Maria Remarque has written....

Since his Storm Troops cleaned up all opposition to the Nazis and consolidated their power in 1933, Goering has renounced the habits of the street fighter for those of politician, administrator and statesman. He is the only one of Hitler's early supporters who has grown in ability as well as power. Although he holds no diplomatic position, he has been close to Hitler in matter of foreign policy, and Ribbentrop's current influence may not last beyond Germany's need of Russia to fight England.

Goering expects to fight the Russians some day. Before war began, his idea of what Germany's foreign policy should be was straightforward: Germany should rule Europe and let Britannia rule the waves.

A Bit of Nonsense

Consolation

A friend met a cheerful Irishman who had plainly suffered hard knocks.

"Well, Pat, how are you getting on now?" he inquired.

"Oh, Oi'm still hard up, but Oi've a fine job in Honolulu, and fare paid. Oi sail tomorrow."

"Sure, man, you'll never be able to work there. The temperature is a hundred in the shade."

Pat had cheerfully endured too much to be discouraged.

"Well," he replied, hopefully, "Oi'll not be workin' in th' shade all th' toime."

Kept Busy

Recalling scenes in the last war, one veteran said: "I was lucky. I went through it all without a scratch."

"You were lucky, pal," said another. "In the trenches where I was we did nothing else."

Used to Keep Spruced Up

The salesman stopped at the house and asked the lady if he could interest her husband in an electric razor.

"He might be interested in your rayor," she remarked, "for he shaves once only once a year."

"Shaves once a year!" echoed the salesman, "I never heard of anything like it."

The lady nodded. "He used to shave twice a year," she drawled. "But that was when we had lady lodgers."

Tale From Finland

The Finns had taken three Russian prisoners.

"Are you going to shoot me?" asked the first.

Told "No", he pointed to the second captive: "Are you going to shoot him?"

Again the answer was "No". "And him?"—jerking a thumb at No. 3. Same reply.

"Then can we shoot him?" demanded the first two in chorus. "You see, he's a communist."

RECOGNIZED

"Crikey, Corp., it's Marie from the estaminet!"

—Humorist.

• Fathers, Sons, In Parliament

The election returns reveal the pleasant fact that we seem to be developing in Canada the tradition of families in politics. Thus Mr. Ernest Lapointe's son has been returned for Lotbiniere and will sit in the House with his father. From Saint John comes D. King Hazen, a son of the late Sir Douglas Hazen, sometime Minister of Naval Affairs under Sir Robert Borden, and later Chief Justice of New Brunswick. From the same province come sons of the late Henry Emmerson (once a stalwart behind Laurier) and of Mr. Peter Veniot, who was once Postmaster General under Mr. King. From Ontario there will be C. W. Gibson, son of a former Lieutenant Governor.

It was said of the great Joseph Chamberlain that the only time he showed deep emotion at Westminster was when his son, Austen Chamberlain, made his maiden speech. "Joe" Chamberlain was then the bitter foe of Gladstone over Home Rule, but when the "G.O.M.", with characteristic chivalry, rose and paid moving tribute to the younger Chamberlain's speech, the implacable "Joe" all but broke down.

Mr. Lapointe will taste that same pleasure now, and no father will not understand it, nor fail to share it with him, in imagination at least. All will hope too, that the son will follow in the footsteps of his father, one who, whatever the spirit of combat may do to him in the passions of an election, has been a brilliant light in our parliamentary life.

For Canada, finally, the tradition of families in politics is one we should try to nurture. We need trained men in our public life; need more respect for the authority of government and the majesty of Parliament—more pride in the glory of our democratic institutions.—Ottawa Journal.

• Italy In No Shape For War

Hitler wanted something when he hurried to the Brenner to meet Mussolini: this much we know. Exactly what he wanted, or what response he received, we do not yet know. The only visible response so far has been a dense smoke-screen of rumors, warnings and outright threats of a familiar kind from Berlin. Italy, we read, will stand by with her strong right arm to hold off the Allies, while Germany gobbles Rumania by "peaceful" persuasion; Italy will join the Berlin-Moscow partnership; Italy is ready to incur Vatican displeasure while she sidles up to Russia. Everything, it seems, says New York Times, is the subject of noisy discussion—except the essentials of Italy's position.

These essentials have not changed, as latest reports from Rome make clear. In the Balkans Italy's greatest interest now, as before, is the maintenance of the status quo, the avoidance of war throughout the Balkan Peninsula. Any German attempt to swallow Rumania, even without armed invasion, would run counter to Italy's strategic and economic interests; for it would immensely heighten the risk of war on the Danube and would lessen Italian influence in one of the few regions of Europe where it still counts for something. Moreover, Italy would not find it as easy to turn an ideological somersault as Germany did in making peace with Moscow.

Above all, Italy is in no condition today to wage war for anything. Her finances are shaky, her strategic position is vulnerable in the extreme. It is true that the Italian fleet and the army in Libya could make infinite trouble for the Allies in the Mediterranean, and would add to the potential dangers of any Allied adventure in the Near East.

But it is also true that the Italian coasts remain dangerously exposed to the British and French navies, and that the North Italian plain could provide the Allied armies with the battleground which they cannot find along the Rhine. Mussolini knows these things better than some of his voluble Axis friends in Berlin.

RIBBENTROP IN OTTAWA

(Life)

Sirs: In Life, March 11, in the article about Ribbentrop, some of the facts are not correct. It says: "When news of the assassination at Sarajevo reached Ribbentrop, he was working with a railway gang laying track in the Province of Manitoba, etc." Now, as many people in Ottawa know, Ribbentrop was in the wine business in Ottawa all the Spring and Summer of 1914 until war was declared. His nickname was "Ribben" and he was quite a beau. He belonged to the "Rideau Lawn Tennis Club". In the guest book for 1914, Ribbentrop's signature is down twice as introducing guests to the club. Once he signed for five people for tea.

Just as war was declared he walked home with a tennis partner, who lived directly opposite to us. He told her as we were at war he was leaving for Germany at once. We told her she should have phoned to the police and he would have been interned. That night about midnight he phoned to say goodby to other Ottawa friends of his.

FORCED LANDING

"Graduation day" for pilot officer C. R. Knowles, of Oshawa, will probably never be forgotten. Last Thursday morning because of engine trouble he was forced to make a landing on Cook's Bay, Lake Simcoe. That afternoon he received his "wings." He deserves congratulations on two scores, that he was not injured in the forced landing and for being well up in the list of those who merited promotion in the R.C.A.F.—Oshawa Times.

TACT WITH CLEMATIS

(London Listener)

Question: Which is the correct way to pronounce clematis: should the accent be on the "clem" or on the "a"?—(B. K., Dorking).

Reply: My dictionary puts it on the "clem", but it is all a question of tact. If your rich aunt pronounces it like tomato, don't argue, do likewise.

U. S. AIRPLANE SALES

We are first and foremost, making ourselves strong in the air by accepting Allied war orders to build up and carry forward our warplane industry.

That we are also tipping the scales in favor of the Allies in Europe's war race for air supremacy is incidental, but gratifying to the great majority of us.—Minneapolis Star-Journal.

HE WON TWICE

As FOR Mr. Hepburn—nobody but he could have won so many seats for the Liberal party in Ontario. He has now the distinction of having twice swept Ontario for the Liberals by leading them and once by leading the fight against them. His own political future must be a matter of grave disquiet to all of his numerous friends and admirers; but he has remarkable recuperative powers.—Toronto Saturday Night.

NO UTOPIA THERE

A NEW factory at Tbilisi, Russia, is to produce 1,450,000 bottles of champagne this year. By 1942 the output will be up to 4,000,000 bottles.

As there are 170,000,000 people in Russia, the plant must do much better than this, else the proletariat will have to continue on vodka. But then, only in a Utopia would all the people have champagne, and Russia is no Utopia.—Windsor Star.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And he cometh to Bethsaida; and they bring a blind man unto him, and besought him to touch him. And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town; and when he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw ought. And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking. After that he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up: and he was restored, and saw every man clearly. — Mark viii, 14-19, 21-26.

TWO EGGS IN ONE DAY

MAINE FARMERS never daily with the truth, so there is no reason to doubt the authenticity of the feat described in a note to the State Department of Agriculture which should clear forever any doubts as to a hen's ability to lay two eggs in a day. The note reads: "The Rhode Island hen, 6-4, owned by Herbert L. Bisbee and son of West Sumner, laid two eggs on March 3, 1934. They were perfect in shape and shell formation, but quite decidedly undersized."—Boston Globe.

Scouters' Club Social

Attention, all Officers. — The Scouters' Club invites all commissioners, association executive, troop committeemen, cub, scout and rover leaders, all rover scouts and their ladies to a social evening, to be held in the Paragon Hall on Thursday, April 18, at 8 p.m.

At Hamilton Conference

Commissioner J. T. Hornsby and Mrs. Hornsby, Akelas Mrs. Langhorne and Pete Dominik left Friday morning to attend the scouter's conference. Akela F. Pammett and his assistant Coones went by train Friday night. Assistant Commissioner E. J. Wolfe and Scouter Stan Leggett left by car Saturday morning.

At St. John's

Cubs.—In the absence of Akela, who with Kim was attending the provincial conference in Hamilton, Baloo, Rann and Bagheera took charge in the jungle.

Various instruction periods were carried out, with Hoppy Relay and Streets and Alleys enjoyed.

The Scouts.—A.S.M. K. Brown led in P.T. exercises followed by first aid and tenderfoot instruction given under Ken Marshall and Bert Groombridge. Don Metheral instructed in a new game.

Note of Thanks.—The cubs and scouts of St. John's wish to thank their many friends for their splendid support in the paper collection on Saturday.

The Crew.—Tom Littlefair gave a descriptive talk on the airplane, starting from the first flight up to the present day.

Old Scouts' Club.—The St. John's Old Scouts' club will meet at the home of Scouter Gordon on Thursday.

St. Luke's Cubs

Once more the cubs are making a new start, and we would like to congratulate Akela A. W. Butcher and Baloo G. W. King, fathers of two of the cubs, for accepting this responsibility and wish them Good Hunting.

The attendance has been gratifying; three new chums have been accepted in George Gough, Wayne Ferguson and Bert Proud, while Allen Northcott has returned to carry on. The services of Akela Frank Pammett and his assistant Max Sargent of St. John's also Scout Gerald McIlvena of St. Luke's troop are fully appreciated.

Visitors at the last meeting were A.D.C. L. Grant and Skipper Groombridge, and the 24th of May Jamboree was discussed.

All Saints' Cubs

Five visitors joined at the council rock on Friday, one of which is instructing the boys in first aid work.

During the evening Hugh Dibbin was invested as a tenderpad.

The visitors were Akela Butcher and Baloo King of St. Luke's. Scouter Watkins and A.S.M. Siddall of Murray Street and Mr. A. Hope of the local association.

Down at St. James'

The Pack.—An interesting meeting was held during which Ross Cutmore received his first star, also Marvin Boyte was presented his seconds' stripes.

Rev. F. W. Craik paid the pack a visit and spoke a few words of encouragement.

Mr. Kay, the local bird ornithologist, gave a talk to the pack on Bird Life and asked one question, presenting Rodney Kerr a book on birds for answering correctly.

Akela Pete Dominik and Baloo Miss M. McCarthy of Sacred Heart also Mr. Allen were visitors to the pack.

The Troop.—Scouter Stan Leggett was assisted by Alex Thorne and Bill Lawson. The latter instructing in first aid and scout laws. Fred Lawson passed his first class signalling.

Horse and Rider was the game of the evening.

St. Andrew's Cubs

Skipper Hicks had complete charge of the evening, for it was his last time in the cub pack, as on Saturday he left with his parents to take up residence in Hamilton, where we hope he will soon get attached to a new pack. Cub Hicks has been with the pack one year, and a very pleasant one it has been for all those who have made his acquaintance.

During the evening Bruce Braund, Dough Crawford, Ralph Florence and Don McDonald passed their message carrying tests.

Murray Street Cubs

On Thursday the pack bade adieu to one of their chums, Warren Eastwood and presented him with a wolf cub ring as a token of good hunting and also to his father, Mr. Eastwood, as a mark of appreciation for his co-operation and support, the pack presented Mr. Eastwood with the Scout Thanks badge.

Cub Don Grant won the Eat a Cracker and Whistle contest, which was among the games played.

The Jungle Dance of Bagherra was taught.

The White Wolves won the six competition for March, with a lead of 40 points over the Red Wolves.

Tickets for the forthcoming cub concert were distributed among the boys.

Warren Eastwood led in the closing Grand Howl.

The Scouts. — Three new names were added to the world brotherhood of scouts, when Joe Johnson, Bob Frise and John McNaught were invested as tenderfoot scouts on Friday day evening. Joe and Bob are in the Buffalo patrol, while John was made second of the Beavers.

A.D.C. L. A. Grant visited the troop and three boys went to the Collegiate to act as ushers. Roy Sutcliffe is second for the Raven patrol.

Paper Collection. — The Murray Street scouts are holding a paper collection and would ask any friends who have papers to phone 6879 and arrangements will be made to collect the papers.

All Saints.

Don't forget All Saints' paper collection; the phone is 6161, and your support appreciated.

Policy, Organization and Rules.—Anyone desiring to purchase a copy of the P.O.R. please get in touch with Skipper Groombridge 3067; there are seven copies available.

KITCHENER WRITER HINTS DISSENSION IN RANKS OF GREENSHIRTS

Advises Shakeup In Series With The Petes

The question arises: "Did Peterborough Petes beat Greenshirts or did the locals beat themselves Monday night?" It's always hard to get to the bottom of these things because nobody wants to talk, but our information is that there is quite considerable dissension within the Greenshirts ranks and we're told that even before the game certain players had made up their minds "not to play, if So-and-So' doesn't" and to be equally as determined not to play "if another So-and-So' did."

Manager Walter Molson today denied any knowledge of a dressing-room chewing match. He said nothing took place while he was in the room, but promised to take the matter up with the players to find out if there is anything in the report. Manager Carl Rooke of the auditorium also denies having heard anything about dissension within the club.

Our information, as pointed out in a foregoing paragraph, came through the grapevine route, and therefore cannot be regarded as definitely authoritative. However, that performance Greenshirts put on certainly adds credence to the report that all is not as well as it might be. 'Shirts, who can beat, and have beaten Peterborough, would have had a tough time taking the number of a bunch of city-leaguers Monday night.

A Bad Game?

Possibly it was a case of the boys getting a bad game out of their collective systems. Let's hope so, anyway. If, on the other hand, there's something to this idea of the Greenshirt house being divided against itself, now's the time for a showdown, while there's still a chance left to win an Ontario title. The prize at stake is worth too much to let petty bickering interfere with it. Their performance notwithstanding, we're still of the opinion that Walter Molson's boys can win that O.H.A. title if they get out here and really try.

A shake-up may be necessary and If it is, let's have it by all means. This club wouldn't be the first—nor will it be the last club—to undergo an overhauling when things aren't going right. As a matter of fact that's what generally happens when a club starts coming apart at the seams. It's too late in the race to think of scuttling the ship, when with possibly a few minor repairs it could be made seaworthy enough to sail into port with colors flying.

It has always been the policy of this department not to knock players or clubs, having in mind that amateurs in any line of sport are getting precious little returns for the time and effort they put into their play—if they are lucky enough to get anything at all in these days of poor crowds and prohibitive expenses for equipment and travelling. But at the same time it must be considered that the fans are paying the freight and have a right to expect a run for their money. We honestly do not believe they got it Monday. If the team had an off night, O.K. They all have 'em sometime or other. But if it's a case of certain members of the team folding up because things aren't going just the way they think they should, then it's time for a showdown.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Some 14 years ago now—though it was in March, not April—the Petes ankled into O.H.A. senior finals and won out in London. A great team of puckists, which had the hockey following of this city as heated up as a cafe chef during Old Home Week. But that club didn't continue as late in the season as the 1940 brand of Petes' puckists. No other local hockey squad ever continued its campaign into April—probably the middle of April. The 1926 gang also had to take a lot of its tilts out of town, but the present pack are taking just one home fray away—going down to Oshawa this Friday for the third game of their three-in-five O.H.A. intermediate "A" finals.

* * * * * *

And we're as sure as the arrival of the next light and gas bill that the Buckaroos will take a huge crowd of Peterborough fandom with 'em to the Motor City this Friday. Both by train and by motor, folks from here and hereabouts will swarm down to view what may be the final of the O.H.A. finals for this semester. Who can forget that last uproarious outing to Oshawa from here—wasn't it three years ago?—when the local Colts and Barrie clashed in junior semi-finals and folks from here (and the local excursion drew them from Lindsay and all along the line, too) nearly filled the big Oshawa arena? What a time that was, even when we lost. You can imagine how the gals and guys will yodel when, and if, our gang wins!

* * * * * *

The Petes Say Yes

Chances of a local victory are excellent. The Petes believe they can knock off the Kitchener Greenshirts in three straight. They copped the first two handily and showed a definite edge in nifty scraps, and the boys certainly do not want another trip back to Kitchener. They'll be playing for keeps Friday in the Motor City, and we rather expect a Petes' win for the O.H.A. championship for 1940. After that, the crew would trek next week to Ottawa for the Eastern Canada final. What, no challenge from the States for the North American title, huh?

* * * * * *

A chap said to us yesterday: "Golly, but it's hard to imagine a Peterborough team not only playng hockey this late, and not only in the Ontario finals, but actually winning the final series!" And a girl in our office said she was so jittery over the chance—somewhat historical here, 'twould seem—that she could hardly wait till Friday to see the Petes maybe ending the serial as champs. Folks in this borough for some years have been used to seeing lots of swell squads and keen competitons, with local clubs frequently getting as far as the finals, but we'll be burned at the stake and served up for buttered toast if the Petes (in most lines of sport) didn't always then flop at payoff time like a tired circus elephant. But not this year. The Petes now are hotter than a July afternoon in Arizona and two up in the O.H.A. finals. Golly!

* * * * * *

A Hot Time Ahead

Details of the special train Friday are in an ad elsewhere tonight. Ducats may be obtained at C.N.R. uptown office, freight shed, Raine's or Jay's stores. And the game tickets—1,000 of the best—are being sold at Raine's, Jay's and Ed Riley's. On sale today. Sounds like a swelegant outing on pay night for the many puck followers of this centre. Meantime, the Petes will practice on the big Motor City surface tomorrow after supper and should be ship-shape for the big tilt the next night. Dunno yet for sure whether Jack Gardner's sore elbow will keep him out or how Don Crowe's tonsilitis is, but at least one of these defencemen is expected to be ready Friday.

* * * * * *

Kitchener scribe writes: "Peterborough were cocks of the walk Tuesday with two straight decisions over Greenshirts in the best-of-five finals. The question that arises is: Did Petes beat Greenshirts or did the locals beat themselves Monday? It's always hard to get to the bottom of these things because nobody wants to talk, but our information is that there is quite considerable dissension within the 'Shirt ranks and we're told that even before Monday's game certain players had made up their minds not to play if so-and-so didn't, and to be equally determined not to play if another so-and-so did." He goes on to give the Petes full credit for playing grand hockey and earning the win, but adds that the 'Shirts aren't out of it yet—and may even win the next three in a row.

* * * * * *

The Newspapers Say

Various papers are saying nice things about the local squad on an excellent playoff showing. Toronto sheets have made mention, the various intermediate round-robin centres' gazettes, lakeshore towns, Kingston and so on. Lindsay scrivener says the Petes proved their win on slushy ice here last Friday wasn't a fluke when they smothered Kitchener on a firm artificial cushion. Quinte columnist chips in: "Peterborough fans can dust off the loud cymbals because nothing short of a miracle will keep the intermediate 'A' title out of the Liftlock City this year. Belleville fans are the first to congratulate Frank Buckland and his smart team, and we hope this previous announcement in no way places a jinx in front of the Petes." We'll echo that hope.

* * * * * *

Pete McArthur's buzzing Bees and Gord McIntyre's speedy Zephyrs open the senior men's City Cage League two-in-three final series at eight tonight in the Y.M.C.A. Zephyrs led the parade all season but the Bees, after a shaky start, swarmed through to win their last seven in a row and they're now clicking like a tap-dancer's heels. It'll be a torrid tilt tonight. St. Paul's have a return church playoff here Sat'day, but when do the local lasses, Orfuns, play in St. Kitts? Girls' hoop loop has its annual banquet in the Y.W. tonight.

Sprague Is Shifted To Montreal Post

MONTREAL, April 3.— (CP)— George Sprague, member of last season's Roughriders, Ottawa's entry in the Big Four, has been transferred here by his firm and probably will play with a Montreal senior club next fall, it was announced last night.

Sprague is a former Queen's University star and a brother of Dave Sprague, middle-wing on Hamilton and Ottawa teams during the last few years.

Egypt is increasing taxes on food.

Remember When—

Chicago Black Hawks won the Stanley Cup seven years ago tonight, defeating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 at Chicago. It was the first world hockey title Chicago ever won. The next year, Tommy Gorman, the Hawks' manager in their championship season, led Montreal Maroons to the title.

Kirkland Lake Held To Draw By Millionaires

(By The Canadian Press).

Sydney Millionaires, as prospective opponents for Montreal Royals in the Eastern Canada senior hockey final, probably wouldn't intentionally do the Royals a favor, but they did just that last night by holding Kirkland Lake Blue Devils to a 3-3 draw and forcing at least another game in their best-of-three semi-final.

While the Maritime champions were playing a deadlock with the Northern Ontario squad, Royals entered the last round of Eastern play for the Allan Cup by beating Joliette Cyclones 10-3 and sweeping the best-of-three series for the Quebec title in straight games.

The extra game or two games that the Millionaires and Devils will have to play gave Royals at least until the week-end to rest up for the series with the winner. And Royals, although not injury ridden as they were a year ago, can use the rest.

Goalie Is Injured.

Goalie Andy Goldie is the only Royal on the injured list at present, although a number of players are just recovering from ailments. Lloyd Daniels, sub netman, replaced Goldie last night but the regular goal-tender likely will be ready to play again by the week-end, the earliest he will have to go into action.

Daniels had an easy time of it as his mates gave him a comfortable lead early in the game and kept adding to it each period. The game was enlivened by frequent fist fights, one which brought a match misconduct penalty to Kenny Murray of the Royals.

Blue Devils Take Early Lead.

At Ottawa, Kirkland Lake took a two-goal lead in the first period and appeared headed for their second straight victory. Millionaires, however, with Tony Graboski leading the way, tied the score in the second frame.

The Maritimers took a brief lead in the third period but Devils tied the score five minutes from the end and the teams played through a scoreless overtime. They will meet again at Ottawa tomorrow.

Senior teams get a holiday tonight but at Toronto South Porcupine and Oshawa Generals will clash in the second game of a best-of-three series for the Ontario junior crown. Generals won the first game 10-1 and are not expected to have much trouble tonight.

The winner will play Verdun Maple Leafs in the eastern final of the Memorial Cup playdowns.

It's All In How You Say The Word

OSHAWA, April 3.—There were no individuals at Saturday night's thrilling hockey game in the Oshawa arena when the Oshawa Generals fought and won the O.H.A. Junior A championship for the third consecutive time. No, no individuals. Lots of people, lots of noise, lots of emotions but they were all blended into one great whole.

No doubt they all had the queer feeling in the pit of their stomachs that one fan mentioned during the first five mad minutes. The hockey audience's usual extensive vocabulary was reduced to one word—Oh! It was like Chinese. Not what they said but how they said it. Sometimes it was a sudden, staccato "Oh" that popped out of thousands of mouths unexpectedly. That was when Oshawa lost the puck or when Marlboros looked dangerous for a minute—as if they might score a goal, you know.

Then again it would be a flat-tire kind of "Oh," with a resigned sign tacked on. You know how it is when your team nearly scores but doesn't. There's the condemning "Oh" of the shame-on-you quality that drags on and on, rising in pitch when the nasty, horrid referee doesn't penalize the other side when he should.

But the really heart-warming kind of "Oh" is the post-score "Oh" that gathers momentum as it extricates itself from the lumps in people's throat and its twin brother, the victory "Oh" that shatters the damp air at the end of a rip-snorter championship game.

Hoppe Clinches 3-Cushion Cup

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, the "boy wonder" of billiards 34 years ago is no longer a boy but he's still a wonder.

Hoppe, now 52 years old, clinched the world's three cushion title last night, defeating defending champion Welker Cochran, 50 to 43 in 46 innings, for his 16th consecutive victory in the current tournament without a defeat.

The tournament has four more days to run and Hoppe has four more games to play but none of the other 10 players in the field—including five former title holders—has a chance to catch him.

"I'm playing the best game of my life," Hoppe said after winning the title. "I never before hit the shots as well or was as confident of attempting difficult shots as I am at present."

Reds Edge Out 4-3 Win Over Hornets

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 3 — (AP). — Exerting their superiority over Pittsburg Hornets in playoff hockey just as they did through the International-American League season, Providence Reds last night scored a 4-3 victory in the first game of the Calder Cup series for the circuit's championship.

The Hornets came closer to defeating the Reds than they had all season, however. It was not until young Eddie Ambois deflected a shot by Johnny Chad with less than three minutes to go that Providence gained the victory. From Ambois' stick the puck bounced over Goalie Harvey Teno's shoulder into the Pittsburg cage.

The Reds scored two goals in the first six minutes of play, both by Normie Mann. Providence maintained its two-goal margin until Oscar Aubuchon took a pass from Billy Taylor and beat Karakas, Providence goalie. Taylor tied the score in the fifth minute of the second period while Mann was in the penalty box.

Early in the third period Red Doran tied the score and as the fans were settling down for an overtime session, Eddie Ambois saved the day with his goal late in the period.

The two teams meet again on Thursday night and then return to Pittsburg to play there on Saturday and, if necessary, next Tuesday.

BIG! IN FRONT.. INSIDE AND OVER ALL!

Outside, inside, anyway you check upon it—you're impressed by Oldsmobile's unusual size. Big is the word for Olds, whether you're looking at the low-priced Sixty... the popular-priced Seventy... or the most glamorous car of the year, the Olds Custom 8 Cruiser! From massive, handsome, chrome-trimmed front end to built-in, streamlined trunk, Oldsmobile is Canada's Biggest Money's Worth.

Spacious is the word for Oldsmobile's wide, roomy Bodies by Fisher—luxurious is the word for their finer fittings and upholstery. The wider front seat, simplified controls and unobstructed floors permit the driver and two passengers to ride "up front" in uncramped ease. And the rear compartment is a revelation of roominess—head room, shoulder room and leg room aplenty, together with new comfort of cushioning.

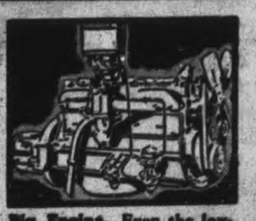
BIG WHEREVER

BIGNESS means it's BETTER

Big Tires. Oldsmobile's low-pressure tires are extra large to provide smoother riding, better traction and longer wear.

Husky Coil Springs. Modern coil springs all around contribute to Oldsmobile's restful Rhythmic Ride—need no lubrication.

Big, Sturdy Frame. Rigid X-member design. Box section construction and diagonal corner braces increase frame strength.



Big Engine. Even the low-priced Oldsmobile Sixty has a big, 95 h.p. engine that delivers super-performance, yet saves on gas.

TORONTO LEAFS DROP FIRST GAME TO RANGERS IN OVERTIME

Rookie Alf Pike Beats Leafs In 2-1 Overtime

NEW YORK, April 3.—(CP)—Having taken the one they wanted most, New York Rangers go after Toronto Maple Leafs in the second game of the Stanley Cup final tonight assured of at least an even break before the best-of-seven series moves into hostile territory.

The Rangers, believing a first-game victory put the pressure squarely on the other fellow, squeezed through by 2-1 last night on an overtime goal by Alf Pike, a young man who has spent most of the season as an alternate right wing on the Rangers' third line.

Pike broke up the game at 15:30 of the overtime period and that just about represented the difference between the clubs. They played cautious, hard-bumping hockey from the start and they were still going at it that way when Pike took Lyn Patrick's pass 15 feet out and beat Turk Broda with a blistering elbow-high shot.

Alf Pike

There was one brief outburst in the first period, when both teams scored within two minutes of each other. Art Coulter converted a pass-out from Neil Colville after nine minutes' play, then Pike, who would have been the "goat" had Rangers lost, tied the game by knocking the puck in his own net.

Red Heron had burst through the Ranger defence for Sweeney Schriner's long forward pass only to find Goalie Dave Kerr on the puck ahead of him. Heron failed to jab it away from the goalie but Pike, coming from behind fast, smacked into Kerr's legs and knocked the loose puck over the line. They credited the goal to Heron and gave Schriner an assist.

The 12,437 fans were ready for a long spell of overtime as the teams went on and on without a score. The Leafs kept hitting the Rangers hard, apparently trying to wear off some of their speed, and the Rangers kept hitting back, with the result that most of the hockey was ragged and the offensive work well below that of the defences.

The Leaf bumping was beginning to show effect when Pike stepped in to beat Broda. The Leafs had carried most of the play late in the overtime, and the winning goal came after Gus Marker, Schriner and Pete Langelle had all but broken Kerr's defences with a wicked assault.

Berger Defeats Rohrig In 8 Rounds

NEW YORK, April 3 — (AP). — A busy schedule that promised sizeable monetary rewards lay to-day before two of Canada's topnotch boxers who have been overcoming strong opposition in recent fights in the United States.

Welterweight Maxie Berger, whose left uppercut has been a potent factor in a successful Manhattan campaign during the winter, and little Davie Castilloux, Canada's feather and light weight champion, lined up a "future book" that will keep them busy for weeks as a result of decisive victories they scored last night. Both are Montrealers.

Berger fought one of his best fights of his career in outsmarting the New Jersey mauler, Johnny Rohrig, to gain a decision in the eight-round main bout at the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn. At the same time Castilloux equalled Berger's performance by defeating tough Quentin (Baby) Breese of Manhattan, Kans., in the final go, another eight-rounder, at the Country Centre in White Plains, N.Y.

Holder of the world's junior welterweight championship, a title no longer recognized in the United States, Berger meets Henry Armstrong's undefeated negro protege, Bernie Miller, at the opening of a new $1,000,000 Golden Gate boxing arena in Harlem next week. Maxie has been guaranteed $2,000 to meet Miller who has piled up an imposing string of knock-outs in California.

Some Big Ones Coming.

The fight will be the first of a number of important bouts lined up for the Montreal welter who defeated Johnny Rinaldi and Tony Ferrara last month and previously had scored victories over such strong opponents as Wesley Ramey of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Norment Quarles of Hendersonville, N.C.

Castilloux' immediate problem is to get past the National Boxing Association's No. 2 challenger for the lightweight title which the N.B.A. has declared vacant. He is Sammy Angott of Chicago and Castilloux meets him in Detroit on April 18. A week later he takes on another hard-hitting lightweight, Paul DeBello of New York's East Side at the Bronx Coliseum here.

But the most important bout at present in sight for the aggressive Montrealer—a fight that has been "on the fire" for weeks and was not the result of his showing last night—will be in Toronto on April 29 when he defends his Canadian lightweight title against Billy Marquart, Winnipeg slugger. Conclusion of negotiations for the fight were announced here yesterday.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

By The Associated Press

EL PASO, Tex., April 3 (AP)—That long awaited event, the season's first test of Dizzy Dean's pitching arm, is slated for next Monday at Fort Smith, Ark. Manager Gabby Hartnett of Chicago Cubs has decided.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Rookie Herman Schulte, who came to the Phillies from Newark, rapidly is putting a padlock on second base. He made a homer and two other hits yesterday and fielded 11 chances perfectly. The club sold J. Bolling outright to Columbus, O. and returned pitcher Tom Pullio to Texarkana.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Detroit Tigers, who break camp today and head for Gadsden, Ala. to take on Brooklyn Dodgers, may not be a better team this season but they'll be a noisier one. With Birdie Tebbetts behind the plate every day and Dick Bartell holding forth at shortstop they're apout as rowdy a crew as the staid American league has to show.

BISBEE, Ariz.—That age-old debate about whether Ty Cobb or Hans Wagner was the greater baseball player came to life again at a luncheon here. Connie Mack of Philadelphia A's told the gathering that of all the players he has seen none equaled the "Georgia Peach."

President Bill Benswanger, Pittsburg Pirates, challenged him with the statement that maybe the American league thought so, but to him Wagner was the peer of them all.

WAYCROSS, Ga. — Oscar Vitt of Cleveland Indians boasts that his team will start one of the youngest infields in the majors this year. Shortstop Lou Boudreau is 22, second baseman Ray Mack and third sacker Ken Keltner are both 23 while Hal Trosky at first is all of 27.

Petes' Puckists Thank The Fans

Sports Editor, The Examiner.
Dear Sir:

The Peterborough Hockey Club players and officers wish to take this opportunity to thank the fans of the city and district for the very fine support they have given all season and to express regret that it will not be possible to play the third game of the series here, owing to the lack of ice. The team hopes to clean up the finals in three games and everybody connected with the club would have been delighted to win the championship in front of the home fans who have been behind them so splendidly all season.

With the support that has been so generously accorded and the assistance that has been given the club by manufacturers and other citizens, it would have been impossible for the Petes to have gone so far along the championship trail. The backing has been uniformly good and the players and officers especially appreciate the attendance at last Friday night's game in spite of the fact that the mild weather and the rain in the afternoon were anything but favorable to a good exhibition of hockey.

The Petes will try to show their gratitude for the fans support by bringing Peterborough its first hockey championship since the senior club defeated London fourteen years ago.

Yours sincerely,
CLIFF CADD,
Secretary Hockey Club.

Sydney Battles Blue Devils To 3-All Tie

OTTAWA, April 3 — (CP). — Kirkland Lake Blue Devils, fighting hard to give Northern Ontario its third Allan Cup win, still were one victory removed from the Eastern Canada senior hockey final today after two contests with Sydney Millionaires.

Before 8,200 fans the Maritime provincial champions forestalled elimination last night by battling the Ontario titleholders to a 3-3 overtime tie, forcing a third match here on Thursday. Winners 6-3 in Toronto on Saturday, Blue Devils need but one victory to gain a berth with Montreal Royals in the final.

Millionaires appeared slow in the first period when Kirkland Lake took a 2-0 lead on goals by Dick Kowcinak and Hal Cooper, but it was a different story in the second when they tied up the game with a pair of counters by Jack Fritz and Tony Graboski.

Sydney outplayed the speedy Northerners in the third frame, but the lead gained on Doug Fritz' goal was short-lived as Johnny McCreedy tied it up to send the game into a scoreless and ragged 10-minutes' overtime.

Unable to match the Blue Devils in speed and passing accuracy in the opening frame, the Maritimers slowed them down to their own gait with stiff body-checking and then proceeded to tie up the game in the second.

With Graboski the spearhead of most of their rushes, the Millionaires kept pounding the robust Kirkland Lake defence in the third period and succeeded in gaining a lead they held less than five minutes.

ter a German bombing sortie against the British naval anchorage at Scapa Flow, in the Orkney Islands.

The crews of a flight of Heinkels which raided Scapa Flow in yesterday's dusk, claimed their bombs hit a number of warships lying there. They said that bombs of "the largest calibre" struck some of the warcraft and that bombs which exploded upon hitting the water damaged others. They also claimed one warship listed heavily and clouds of smoke rose from another. This was a German news agency version of the fliers' reports.

(The British air minstry said no warships were damaged and added that one of the 20 raiding planes was believed to have been struck down in the aerial combat touched off by the attack.)

One Plane Down

The regular communique of the German high command acknowledged that one reconnaissance plane engaged by three British pursuit planes, was forced to alight on the sea but claimed its crew was rescued by another German scouting craft.

"It was possible to damage several ships by square hits or close explosions," the communique said. It added air fighting on the western front resulted in the shooting down of three "enemy" planes while two German planes were said to be missing.

"Germany will strike a deadly blow when Hitler is determined to end the war," Goering told an audience of Hitler youth assembled in the air ministry's festival hall. The speech was broadcast.

The war was "forced upon Germany," he asserted, "but we smashed the Polish army in 18 days. We struck a blow which our enemy will hardly forget.

"When the time comes we shall strike a blow at the western powers with the same strength."

"Having their rear and flanks secure, the German armed forces in one firm bloc are facing Britain and France in the west," he said.

"It is here that the decisive blow must be struck and for this decisive blow the Fuhrer has mobilized all resources."

different directions for a "hit-skip" attack.

In the last previous raid, March 16, German bombs damaged one warship, killed seven navy men and one civilian, and injured seven civilians. The civilian casualties were described as the war's first due to air raids.

(Germany contended that three battleships and one cruiser were damaged severely and two others probably damaged in that raid).

The attack on the convoy failed likewise and the attackers were chased away by anti-aircraft fire from escorting warships, after dropping 10 bombs harmlessly in the sea.

British planes took the attack to German soil Monday with an attack on patrol boats west of Sylt. They shot down one Junkers plane but authorities reported one British plane missing.

Three Hurricane pilots, fighting their first battle, drove away two Heinkels they encountered while patrolling the North Sea.

Feeling The Pinch.

Renewed German aerial activity led to the impression the enemy was feeling the pinch of Allied economic blows like the blockade and the series of trade agreements announced yesterday by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

In London the press endorsed the Prime Minister's warning that Britain and France were ready to cut down on neutrals' vital imports of supplies from Empire sources, unless their sales to Germany were limited.

New trade pacts stipulating such limitation already have been signed with Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium and the Netherlands, Mr. Chamberlain disclosed, and discussions are under way with Switzerland. Trade negotiations also are known to be in progress with Turkey, Greece and Spain. Rumania and Yugoslavia are to begin talks in London soon.

The newspapers also emphasized the Prime Minister's statement that the British navy has taken "certain practical steps" to reduce the flow of Scandinavian iron ore to Germany.

Mr. Chamberlain mentioned the fighting forces only indirectly, however, concentrating on the economic warfare that has been the Allies' chief weapon against Germany.

"trail's end."

From the scrawled entries police assumed Coombs had ended his life with a rifle bullet soon after his partner died.

Their food ran out and for weeks they lived on fish they caught in the lake, on small birds, squirrels and roots. Rain-swollen torrents barred any attempt to trek the 40 mountainous miles to Zeballos.

Last entry in the diary written by Coombs, was dated March 17. It said:

"Dear Mother—Jim died today at 2 p.m.

"This might be the last time I'll have strength to write.

"If I do anything wrong—please forgive me—I can't stick it any longer.

"The Bible is right in the bottom of my pack.

One Last Prayer.

"I haven't the strength to get it out, so I can't even say a decent prayer for Jim."

The day before, Coombs had pencilled:

"Jim is getting worse. Myself, I'm getting so I can hardly move.

"May the Lord have mercy on our souls.

"No one else is to blame but us, Mother."

Ryckman an experienced prospector and trapper, was familiar with the district where he had prospected for years, each year taking in a young man for experience in prospecting and forestry work.

But apparently heavy rains and melting snows from the coastal mountains kept them virtual prisoners after their food supply ran out. Even without that barrier it would have taxed strong men to cover the rocky terrain to safety.

Pilot Hames had made previous attempt to land at the lake after the two prospectors were reported overdue on their scheduled return to civilization last month.

On one of those flight he passed over the lake two days before the last entry was made in the diary He was unable to land because of heavy fog.

Most of the diary was written by Coombs, but Ryckman kept up the entries when the younger man fell ill on February 27 until March 9. Coombs took up again from there, jotting down notes with ebbing strength. Ryckman's legs gave out and he was too weak to walk. Then both became too weak even to crawl. "March 17—" There the record stops.

This riding is one of the most extensive and widely scattered in the province, being 110 miles long with a total vote of approximately 17,000. As there is no daily newspaper in the riding the Examiner was responsible to Canadian Press for the gathering of the returns.

The totals for each candidate are as follows: Ferguson, 5,207, and White, 5,471, a total vote of 10,681. In the election of 1935 when the riding went Liberal in a three-cornered fight there were 12,300 votes cast.

Neutrals

lieve," the newspaper said, "that the western powers in the future will respect our neutrality no matter what steps are taken against Germany."

Some quarters believed that the intensified Allied blockade would centre in the North Sea and the Skagerrak, with a possible effort by the British navy and air force to block the Kiel canal.

Kiel a Danger Spot

In this connection the Oslo newspaper Aftenposten pointed out that Germany's Baltic ports were heavily crowded with shipping and that further ore cargoes from Sweden probably would be taken through the Kiel Canal to Hamburg.

"It is more than likely that British submarines as well as the air force now are closely watching the Elbe River," the Aftenposten said.

The opposite view of the probable significance of the sharpened Allied blockade was taken by the authoritative Copenhagen newspaper Politiken, which commented on Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech:

"It is through the increase of pressure on neutral states that London will try to strengthen the blockade of Germany. It is a new war of nerves which is being started."

Scandinavian circles noted that the hint of the Allies' plans came as the Danish government announced that its minister in London had been instructed to make representations concerning the sinking of the German steamship Edmund Hugo Stinnes, by a British submarine off the coast of Denmark, March 24.

Growing anxiety in Sweden was reflected in a speech which Defence Minister Per Edvin Skold made last night at Upsala.

"As long as the big powers are involved in a war of life and death our fate will be uncertain," Skold declared. "There may suddenly appear a new danger and we must be prepared."

Skold pointed out, however, that even if the northern countres united in a defensive alliance, their joint forces would not be strong enough to "put through our will with force."

Safety In Impartiality

Lacking the necessary strength, he said, Sweden must seek safety in a strong neutrality policy" which treats belligerent powers in an impartial way."

Norwegian fears of the outbreak of naval hostilities within its territorial waters were heightened when a Norwegian ship arrived in Bergen and reported witnessing an engagement between two cruisers in the North Sea Monday.

The captain, whose name was withheld, said that at least 12 shots were exchanged and that shells were seen to fall near one of the cruisers.

The Norwegians, eager to get their ship out of the danger zone, did not see the end of the battle and were unable to identify the cruisers.

Shipping circles in Bergen suggested that a German cruiser might have ventured into the North Sea to engage a blockading British warship. They also speculated that the British raider might have surprised a German raider attempting to reach home through the blockade.

Permission Granted For Religious Instruction In Schools

Board Considers Vacant Rooms In Old School

"I don't think we should touch it at all; we are going outside the spirit of the Act," warned T. J. Carley, K.C. when a proposal to convert part of the upstair portion of the South Central School into an apartment for a board employee was being discussed at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education. A letter had been read from J. P. Strickland, K.C., solicitor for the Board in which the opinion was expressed that the suggested work might come under the head of school maintenance and it was then that Mr. Carley raised his objection.

"We have six large rooms upstairs that are not being used," pointed out H. G. Walker. "We should be able to get some revenue out of them."

"This building is a left over; it was paid for long ago," said Mrs. Morris.

For Municipal Purposes

Chairman D. G. H. Melton remarked that the suggestion had been made that some of the space available might eventually be utilized for municipal offices.

"I can't see that this building has been dedicated for all time for school purposes," remarked Dr. Moir.

"If we have no longer any use for it for school purposes we should sell it," returned Mr. Carley.

"I think it good business to make it profitable" continued Dr. Moir and Alex Sollitt expressed his approval of that view. Mr. Carley replied that the Board was limited by the Act.

Mrs. Morris suggested that if the present board room were turned over to the officials housed in the building it would give them additional accomodation that they required and it would be feasibly to construct a new board room upstairs. A motion to the effect that the property committee be instructed to investigate and report upon that plan was carried.

Pointing out that it would be impossible to do anything this year because the money had not been provided H. G. Walker, chairman of the property committee said that a splendid board room could be provided upstairs and the cost would not be great. Present at the meeting were D. G. H. Melton, chairman, Mrs. W. R. Morris, D. T. Diplock, G. W. Craw, H. G. Walker, Dr. A. Moir, Mark Burnham, T. J. Carley, K.C. and Alex Sollitt.

Among the communications was a request from the Urban School Trustees' Association for a large attendance at the convention in Toronto on May 27, 28 and 29, and others from Robert Renwick, Keene and Arthur Collinson applying for the position of piano tuner of the school pianos, from Jean Morrison, Guelph, asking for a clerical job, and from High School Inspector S. D. Rendle expressing a desire to meet the Board when he inspects the Collegiate Institute here. In regard to the latter communication, the members will, at the suggestion of Mrs. Morris, be notified of the arrival of the inspector.

Many Need Attention

Reports were read from Dr. R. F. Nott, school medical officer of health reporting 139 children examined during the month and from Dr. J. C. Green, the school dentist, giving details of dental inspection of the children of Queen Mary and Prince of Wales School. Dr. Green said that 69 per cent of the Queen Mary children and 75.9 per cent of the pupils of the Prince of Wales school needed dental attention.

Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School gave the following attendance figures for March.

	On roll	Avg.	Pct.
Academic	614	596	97.07
Vocational	456	444	97.37
Total	1070	1040	97.2

Inspector Wightman's report of the Public School attendance was as follows:

	On roll	Avg.	Pct.
Central	422	386	90.1
King Edward ..	396	369	93.4
King George ..	407	373	91.9
Prince of Wales	578	510	92
Queen Alex. ...	385	351	91.4
Queen Mary	442	388	88.7
Total	2637	2376	91.09

Reports Presented

G. W. Craw in presenting the report of the finance committee, moved, seconded by Dr. Moir that a statement of claim be sent to the Peterborough County Council for $16,288.05 owed the Board of Education as of December 31, 1939, and that a similar statement be sent to other county schools.

The motion was carried.

For the property committee chairman H. G. Walker presented a report of repairs to the city schools. Among other things he mentioned that the contract for decorating the shower bath room of the Collegiate Institute had been let to Stewart Finnie and for installing two new showers to W. R. Turner. Other improvements outlined were the painting of the exterior of the Prince of Wales school, new plumbing and decorating at the Central School for which the services of W. L. R. Blackwell as architect has been secured, the securing of two dozen chairs for the Queen Mary School, the installation of a tubular return heating system in the King George school and the placing of two new wash basins in the Queen Alexandra School. The report, seconded by D. T. Diplock was carried.

Dr. A. Moir, for the supervision committee reported that it was deemed advisable for the present not to take on public liability insurance but to have the janitors and men employed for temporary work protected under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The committee also recommended the purchase of 75 steel lockers for the Collegiate Institute from the Office Specialty Company at $6.30 each which was 30 cents cheaper per locker than the price last fall.

Early Purchases

Another recommendation was that school book supplies should be purchased as soon as possible to head off a possible increase in prices.

In the discussion that followed T. J. Carley asked if any investigation had been made into the cost of protecting the janitors and temporary workers under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The answer was in the negative and Dr. Moir said that there would be an inquiry before any action was taken.

In regard to the school lockers, Dr. Moir said that the steel ones were cheaper than wooden lockers.

D. T. Diplock spoke of large steel lockers that had been installed in the club house of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club and said that he understood that they had been secured for $4 each.

It was decided to inquire into that feature before any definite action followed.

The contract for supplying blank books was awarded to Soden's Book Store and for the supply of art paper, etc., to Deyell's Book Store.

On motion of Mrs. Morris, seconded by H. G. Walker the secretary was instructed to advertise for a piano tuner to take care of the pianos in the public schools and Collegiate Institute.

F. E. Johnston, head of the Vocational Department, told the Board that difficulties were experienced with some of the people who rented the auditorium and who seemed to think that they were entitled to use the school scenery and equipment generally. He suggested that a set of rules should be drawn up for the use of the auditorium and the Board decided to have the property committee and supervision committee confer with Mr. Johnston in regard to the proposed rules.

Men On Leave Visiting Y.M.C.A.

The large number of men in uniform noticable on Peterborough's streets during the last few days indicate a period of "on leave" for some of the men. The "Y" is a popular spot for a swim and shower and the battle dress is the badge of membership. On Sunday evening one young man in uniform came in just before the Friendly Hour Service began and said "Boy I'm glad you are open as I faced the prospect of walking the streets till the 1.50 train leaves for Ottawa." He was invited to the song service and afterwards spent the time till his train left in the comfort of the "Y" Lobby. The same night a young soldier on leave from Lindsay taking a room in the "Y" dormitory spoke of the interest taken by the men of the 45th Battery in the sports programs arranged by the local association. He spoke in high terms of his Commanding Officer Lt.-Col. H. H. Brown and his men. The meals served to the men were of excellent quality and variety.

The "Y" is assisting with a sports program for the 45th Battery men on Friday, April 12th, and a song service on Sunday evening, April 21st at 8.30.

Veneer Company To Establish Plant In Lindsay

LINDSAY, April 3.—(ENS)—Industrial Commissioner B. L. McLean informed council last night that he had been successful in inducing the Kennedy Veneer Company to establish a factory in Lindsay in the building on Wellington street, known as the Castle building. This site, empty for some months, was recently occupied by the Kawartha Boat Works.

"It is a small industry but I think it is a good one," Mr. McLean told council. "They didn't ask any favors and none were offered. I think it will develop into a real asset for the town."

Mr. McLean said that, in addition to the benefit to the town from the industry, much of their raw material could be obtained right in the district and this would benefit the surrounding country.

George Hodgson of Lindsay can qualify as the lucky young man of the day. He was watching a sparrow building a nest Tuesday near a local service station when he noticed a piece of paper drop from the birds mouth as it tried to drop the paper into its nest. He picked up the paper and found it to be a Canadian dollar bill. He is wondering where in the world a sparrow could pick up the dollar bill but says it will help buy his new Spring hat.

Alderman Earl Vanstone broke the no-smoking rule of Lindsay council meeting Monday night but was promptly checked up by Ald. Harry Daniels. The former was deeply engrossed in a discussion when he absent-mindedly lighted a cigaret. "Ald. Manstone, do you realize you are smoking?" Ald Daniels asked severely. "Sorry," was the reply as the culprit sheepisly butted the fag. Several months ago the council passed a no-smoking rule in deference to an ailment suffered by Ald. Daniels which forbids him remaining in a room where people are smoking.

It was announced at the council meeting Monday night by Finance Chairman Ald. W. L. Jordan that the town had spent between $1,000 and $1,100 keeping the roads and streets of the town clear of snow. "Money well spent," was the comment of the council.

Mrs. A. P. Devlin, whose death occurred in Toronto, was the widow of Alexander P. Devlin, former County Crown Attorney here. She was buried in St. Mary's Cemetery here Wednesday after requiem high mass in St. Helen's Church, Toronto.

Aside Is Explained By Board Member

"I have something I want to say in regard to an aside I made at the last meeting," G. W. Craw said at the opening of the regular meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night. "I used the expression 'Another Hitler'," he continued "and I want to make it clear now that in those words I was not referring to any member of this board. The reference was to the suggested censorship of press reports and I merely meant that if that idea were adopted it would mean setting up another Hitler in our chairman. I am sorry if any other implication was taken from my remarks."

With a word of satisfaction from Chairman D. G. Melton at this explanation the incident ended.

OBITUARY

MRS MARIA ELSON.

The death of Mrs. Maria Elson, life-long resident of this district, occurred on Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas W. Downer, on the 11th Concession of Smith Township.

Mrs. Elson was 88 years and 11 months old and had been ill only since last Friday, although she had been in failing health for some time previous.

She was born in Hope Township and spent the early part of her life there, moving to the vicinity of Mount Pleasant, in Cavan Township, more than 40 years ago, and living there until a short time ago. Last summer she moved to Smith Township to make her home with her daughter. She was a member of the United Church at Mount Pleasant and had a large number of friends in that vicinity.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Harry Bland of Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. Thomas W. Downer of Smith, and one sister, Mrs. Helen Salter of Michigan.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth United Church officiating. Interment will be at Welcome Cemetery.

Chemicals Start Fire

GENOA, Italy, April 3—(AP). — Port authorities attribute to a broken box of chemicals a fire which broke out yesterday in the No. 1 hold of the United States liner Manhattan and did minor damage before it was extinguished. The 24,289-ton liner had sailed from New York March 23 for Naples and Genoa.

For the first time in more than a month, the price of hogs changed this morning when Canada Packers quoted $11.25 a hundred, dressed weight. The price was $11.50 all through March.

NO FLOOD DANGER.

Jackson Park creek was running swiftly today but there appeared to be little danger of a flood such as is experienced some years in the spring. This was due largely to the foresight of the Board of Works who had cleared a channel through the ice before the break-up came.

CLEAN SIDEWALKS.

The suggestion is made that householders should get out with their brooms and sweep the sidewalks clear of the accumulation of sand left over from the winter's operations of the Board of Works. In some sections inches of sand still remain on the sidewalks.

GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

The request of Arnold J. Noftall and J. J. D. Londerville, two members of the local public school teaching staff, for a year's leave of absence to permit them to complete their University training was granted at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Education. The request was approved by Inspector K. S. Wightman.

DIRECTORS' MEETING

Directors of the Chamber of Agriculture are holding a meeting Saturday afternoon April 13 for the election of officers. All present and past directors are being invited to attend. With the appointment of J. A. Gifford to the head of the Ontario Chamber it may be decided to name some one else as local president in his place. At any rate it is hoped that there will be a large attendance for this meeting.

PARK ALL NIGHT.

The police department issues a warning to motorists who leave their cars parked all night on downtown streets. Police point out that this practice is contrary to the city's traffic bylaw and in addition prevents the proper cleaning of the streets. Henceforth cars left on the streets will be towed away at the expense of the owner and the latter will, in addition, face a traffic bylaw charge. The market is available for parking, it is pointed out.

SEEKS INFORMATION.

Provincial Constable John A. Rogers at Havelock has been requested by relatives of Mrs. Jennie Grue O'Neill to try to get some information regarding her whereabouts. It is not known whether she is dead or alive. Constable Rogers was told that her name was Jennie Grue prior to her marriage, that as a girl she had worked near Ogdensburg in New York State, and that she once orked for James McPaul of Brassie Corners. It was also stated that she was an active worker in the old Methodist Church. Constable Rogers will appreciate any information relating to Mrs. O'Neill.

HOUSES SCARCE.

Real estate men report that there is a scarcity of working men's houses renting at $20 a month. Many believed that with the great amount of building in the city last year there would be many houses vacant, but the condition does not exist at all.

GETS TWO MONTHS.

Pleading guilty to illegally keeping liquor for sale, Jack Richardson, Reid Street, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to two months' imprisonment in the county jail. A charge against his wife of illegal sale of liquor was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

PACKERS' MARGIN $2.95

W. Bert Knowles in the Family Herald and Weekly Star this week gives the information from the Bacon Board that packers have a margin of $2.95 on a grade A select hog. Out of this he has to pay for processing, storing and all the other costs of delivery to the seaboard, such as refrigeration, heating, baling, rejects and so on.

CHEESE IMPORTS LIMITED

Cheese imports into Great Britain are being limited to cheese which sells at not more than 80 shillings a hundredweight, equivalent to 14 or 15 cents f.o.b. Montreal. Recent attempts were made in the Old Country to keep the price down to 78 on Canadian and 75 shillings on Australian and New Zealand cheese but nothing came of that effort.

NAME OMITTED.

The omission of a line from the copy in the report of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Ski Club in Tuesday's Examiner resulted in the name of Miss Isabelle Reid being missed from the list of club directors elected at the meeting. Miss Reid, the only woman member of the directorate, has been the busy secretary of the club.

SOUNDS LIKE SARCASM

A Peterborough man who has been wintering in the palmy, balmy belt of the deep south and keeping in touch with the city through the columns of the Examiner sends a clipping from the post-election issue about the "Cheers for Manion" interruption of T. J. Carley with the comment: "Wan't that extremely clever, and original; and you didn't even give him a whole "stick" on it, just six or seven lines."

PLAY SAFE.

Four small boys were observed playing near Jackson Park Creek between Hunter and Brock Streets on Tuesday afternoon. At this point the creek is about four feet deep and is flowing swiftly. A child falling into the ice cold water would have little chance of getting out. During the past few years at least two children have met death in this treacherous creek during the spring floods and parents may be well advised to guard against a repetiton of tragedy.

AWAITING WOLF HUNT.

Hunters at Buckhorn are still waiting for favorable weather to stage their wolf hunt. Postponed twice, the hunt will open with the first sign of cold weather or a light snow. More than a dozen men have their hunting clothes out and their guns ready at an instant's call. Master of the Wolf Hunt Harry Shearer will give only a few hours' notice before the hunt begins should a cold snap come. The warmth of the past few days has made snowshoeing impossible at present.

Hastings-Peterborough Member Follows In Steps Of Grandfather

George S. White, Madoc lawyer, and member-elect in the recent election under the banner of the National Government in making his debut in the House of Commons is more or less carrying on a family tradition of service in the realm of politics. His uncle, the late John White was member of parliament in the old riding of East Hastings for over 20 years, back beyond the turn of the century. Mr. White's victory returns the riding to the Conservative fold from whence it had been weaned in 1935 by Rork Ferguson, White's opponent in the election just finished.

Mr. White is a native son of Madoc village. He was born there 42 years ago, son of the late James and Emma White. He obtained his primary education in Madoc public school and graduated from the High School in the same village.

He enlisted and served in France with the 44th Battalion from Winnipeg, in the World War, was wounded three times and sent home medically unfit. He received the Military Medal at Vimy Ridge. He has taken an active part in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment for the past twelve years and holds the rank of Captain.

He graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1920 and entered the law firm of Mowat, Maclennon, Hunter and Co. of Toronto. He returned to Madoc in 1923 and has practiced law there ever since.

In 1922 he married Margaret Irene McBride of Belleville and has four children, Margaret Jean, Donald Graham, Bruce Murray, and Hazel Lois.

GEORGE S. WHITE

In religion he is a member of the Madoc United Church. He is a past master of Madoc A.F. and A.M. No. 48, a member of Madoc Loyal Orange Lodge and a member of Madoc branch of the Oddfellows.

His venture nto the political field began with his nomination in this election and he has been successful.

Dr. Craig Regrets Omission Of National Anthem

The Examiner has received the following letter from Dr. J. J. Craig, president of the Peterborough Concert Association, explaining the inadvertent omission of the National Anthem at the concert Monday night in the Collegiate Institute by Madam Garbousova, 'cellist, who came from the United States for this engagement, the last of the Association's series this season:—

April 3, 1940.

The Editor,
Peterborough Examiner Ltd.,
Peterborough.

Dear Mr. Editor—I wish to assume all responsibility for the omission of the National Anthem at the Raya Garbousova Concert in the Collegiate Auditorium, Monday evening, April 1.

It is customary, at all the Canadian Concert Association concerts, for the pianist to play the National Anthem at the opening of the program.

Naturally I was taking too much for granted and said nothing to the artists in regard to the usual procedure. When I noticed the omission, I tried to correct it by catching the artists as they came off the stage after their last encore, but when they returned to the stage the curtain had fallen and the audience was dispersing. Both Madam Garbousova and Mr. Coffey were very much upset over the omission.

Mr. Coffey, who is a member of the Detroit Symphony and the Ford Symphony, explained in United States it is customary for orchestras to open or close a concert with the National Anthem, but it is not the general procedure where the concert is given by an individual artist.

It is just one of those cases where the local management assumed that the artists were familiar with the procedure here and did not take the matter up with them. Trusting this explanation will set at rest those who feel there was anything intentional on the part of the artists.

I remain,
Yours very sincerely,
J. J. CRAIG,
President, Concert Association.

Two Drivers Face Court Charges

Harold Donaldson, 21-year-old resident of Otonabee faced a charge of careless driving in police court this morning, following an accident on Highway 7, two miles east of Peterborough on March 19.

The charge was laid by Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon E. Broughton who prosecuted the case while Donaldson was defended by W. B. Gordon.

Frank Hotts, Washago garage owner and Officer Broughton were the crown witnesses.

The former swore that he was driving east on Highway 7, 100 feet behind another car and travelling at 30 miles an hour when the machine in front suddenly stopped with no warning given and with the wheels straddling the centre line in the road. The road surface was icy, he said, and he was unable to avoid hitting the other car. The witness testified that his car had struck at the right rear of the other machine.

Officer Broughton testified to measurements he had made at the scene of the accident and stated that Donaldson had admitted that he was driving the car in front of Hotts' machine.

Donaldson and two other defence witnesses testified that when Donaldson stopped his machine to pick up a man who wanted a ride, it was well over on the right hand side of the road, close to the shoulder.

When the court adjourned for luncheon all the evidence was in and argument was deferred until this afternoon.

Herbert Earnshaw, 38-year-old Apsley farmer, pleaded guilty to having driven carelessly on March 30 and was fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

Traffic Officer Lloyd A. McClure said that the accused had been drinking before becoming involved in an accident but that he was not enough under the influence to be charged with drunk driving.

"It was a tire that exploded that sent me into the ditch," Earnshaw told the court.

Officer McClure said that Earnshaw had had bad luck and last fall had his barn burned.

Farmer Is Found In Pool Of Blood

LINDSAY, Ont., April 3—(CP).—Wesley Aldred, 35, a farmer residing 10 miles southwest of Lindsay, died in Ross Memorial Hospital shortly after noon today of a gunshot wound in the head.

He was found lying in a pool of blood in a manger on his farm and died a few minutes after admittance to the hospital. A .22-calibre rifle was beside him.

According to police, Aldred, a single man, put the barrel of the rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The bullet lodged in the top of his head.

Quartier-Maitre Wins Handicap

LINCOLN, England, April 3 — (CP Cable).—The new flat-racing season got under way today when Mrs. A. Bendire's French-bred Quartier-Maitre, 7 to 2 favorite, won the Lincolnshire Handicap to give Gordon Richards, England's champion jockey 13 season, his first success at Lincoln.

Quartier-Maitre, a five-year-old gelding by Monarch, from Quatre Saisons, won easily, covering the mile course in one minute, 47 1-5 seconds to finish two lengths ahead of A. C. Marshall's Uncle Archie, 100 to 7, with the Duchess of Norfolk's Ticca Gari, 100 to 8, third in the field of 21, half a length farther back.

The winner, though badly drawn, held his position at the head of the betting. It was his first win on the flat in England.

The grey Uncle Archie set the field a good gallop, with Fioretti, Titan, Time Step and Boomps-a-Daisy prominent in the running. At about half-way Uncle Archie had established a clear lead from Time Step, Wonersh, Ticca Gari and Quartier-Maitre, and he seemed to be in little danger.

Then Richards switched his mount between the leader and Time Step about 1½ furlongs from home. In flashing style the jockey wore down Uncle Archie and Ticca Gari. Time Step was fourth, it being virtually a four-horse race after six furlongs.

Trainer Ivor Anthony commented after the race that "once Gordon secured a good position, I had no doubt about the result."

William H. Sweet Dies After Bad Fall

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., April 2—(CP).—Word was received here today of the death of William H. Sweet, 78, at Belleville Hospital last night. Death came as a result of a fall on the ice about three weeks ago. Mr. Sweet was a native of Warkworth, and had about 50 years police service to his credit, having been chief of police at Smith's Falls, Oakville, Trenton and Warkworth. He had lived retired in Campbellford for five years.

Plan Presented By Ministers Wins Approval

A request from the Peterborough Ministerial Association that it should be allowed an opportunity to furnish religious instruction in Peterborough's Public Schools met with a favorable reception from the members of the Board of Education at Tuesday night's regular monthly meeting after a ministerial deputation had explained to the Board what was desired.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's United Church was the spokesman for the deputation and the other members were Rev. R. T. F. Brain of St. John's and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Rev. Dr. Young explained that the proposal had the unanimous backing of the Ministerial Association. It was hoped that a special period would be set aside each week for religious teaching by local ministers in the Public Schools, preferably the first half-hour on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings.

"We feel that we have a contribution to make to the formation of character among school pupils," said Rev. Dr. Young.

"We are not unmindful of the splendid work that has been done by the teachers in the devotional exercises now carried on, but we feel that something more is necessary and that that something can be provided by the ministers of the city."

For Older Pupils.

Rev. Dr. Young added that what was that the largest room in each school should be made available so that the pupils of the higher grades could be assembled. He pointed out that the Ministerial Association was opposed to having a period selected at a time that might serve to prejudice the children against religious training. The instruction would be entirely undenominational.

"What does the Act say?" asked T. J. Carley, K.C.

School Inspector K. S. Wightman explained that it was provided that a request for an opportunity to provide religious instruction just before or just after the regular school hours had to be granted. In this case the Ministerial Association wanted to go a little further and provide that instruction within the regular school hours and it was within the jurisdiction of the Board to grant the request.

"We understand that in over 200 places in Ontario there is religious training in the schools," remarked Rev. Dr. Young.

Request Granted.

Members of the Board were unanimously in favor of the proposal, and a motion by Mrs. W. R. Morris, seconded by Alex. Sollitt that the request should be granted, and that the chairman of the Supervision Committee and the Inspector of Schools should co-operate with the committee from the Ministerial Association in arranging the details was carried without any opposition.

A tribute to the work that is being done by the school teachers in the devotional exercise period now provided was voiced by G. W. Craw who expressed the opinion that the work of the Public School staff was superior to much of the instruction given in Sunday Schools.

"We should be grateful to the Ministerial Association for realizing that they have a duty to cooperate in this matter and for bringing forward a practical plan," said Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Clare Price Again Heads W.I. At Havelock

HAVELOCK, April 3—(ENS). — Reviewing their numerous activities of the past year, so successfully concluded, the Havelock Branch Women's Institute held their annual meeting and election of officers on Monday afternoon in the local council chamber. By acclamation, Mrs. Clare Price was given a second term of office as president.

With Miss E. Wright presiding, the rest of the executive was elected as follows: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Charles Taylor; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Robert Jones; Secretary, Mrs. William Woodbeck; Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Little; District Director, Mrs. C. Price; Directors: Mrs. William Rice, Mrs. H. Pollock, and Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke; Pianist, Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon; Press Secretary, Mrs. R. F. Covert.

A brief summary of the year's work was presented in the report by Secretary Mrs. W. Woodbeck. During the year there were twelve regular meetings, three special and two executive meetings, and the total membership was fifty with the average attendance half that. All meetings she described as instructive and interesting, with an enjoyable social half-hour at the conclusion of each. Printed programs were distributed to each member, and those arranging these endeavored to have each member take some active part.

In May the Institute motored to Peterborough where they made a tour of that city's industrial plants, a most educational event. In August the Havelock W.I. were the guests of the Belmont branch at an interesting meeting.

The short course on "planning and preparation of meals" was successfully held here from November 16 to 20, with Miss V. Bambridge in charge. Twenty members participated in the classes which were held twice daily.

At a special meeting on October 14 the members assembled for the purpose of presenting a life membership to Mrs. J. Armstrong, a valued member and past president of the organization.

Two special meetings were held in November when demonstrations on meat cookery were given by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Weese, asssited by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Rice.

At Christmas time, twelve baskets of cheer were distributed to the elderly and shut-ins, in addition to boxes sent to many needy children.

Papers on a variety of subjects were given during the year by Mrs. C. Price, Miss M. Seeney, Mrs. C. Smythe, Mrs. A. S. Thompson, Mrs. W. A. McFarlane, Rev. A. McLauchlin, and Miss I. Morrison. Demonstrations were given by Mrs. W. Smith, Miss I. Morrison and Mrs. Weese.

Representatives from the Institute received an invitation to attend a meeting of the Children's Shelter committee, which will be held in Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, on April 23. No action was taken in regard to a communication announcing a girls' conference at Guelph on May 9 to 10 inclusive.

At the conclusion of the report from the cemetery committee, it was decided that the Institute would continue to carry on this work. Following their usual procedure, notices will be sent out to each plot-owner advising that the yearly fee of $1 is now due. Canvassers for the cemetery fund were appointed as follows: Miss E. Wright, Mrs. W. Woodbeck, Mrs. W. Johnston, Mrs. H. Pollock and Mrs. H. Davies.

Receipts from the cafeteria lunch which the Institute catered at the recent Albion Club dance amounted to $7.10.

After the election of officers which took place at this point, Mrs. Price resumed the chair. It was unanimously decided that Mrs. J. Armstrong be appointed honorary president, in recognition of her past services.

The executive announced that the annual district convention usually held during the latter part of May, would assemble in Havelock this year. In order to select impartially which church would be given the opportunity of catering a dinner on this occasion, the three names were placed in a hat, and the United Church proved to be the one first drawn.

A short memorial service in honor of the late Mrs. George Iles, who served as secretary of the Havelock W.I. last year until her untimely death, was conducted under the direction of Mrs. A. Anderson. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of their departed member, followed by prayer.

At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch was served by Convener Mrs. R. Scott, assisted by Mrs. H. Hoard, Mrs. H. Gordon and Mrs. T. Easterbrook.

Gustaf Refused

STOCKHOLM, April 3—(AP). — Foreign Minister Christian Gunther today told the Riksdag (parliament) that early in March Premier Daladier of France sent a personal message to King Gustaf asking permission to transport Allied troops through Sweden to help Finland.

The King's reply was that Sweden's neutrality made such permission impossible, Gunther declared in a long review of Sweden's course during the Finnish-Russian war.

Tradition First

LOS ANGELES, April 3 — (AP). —Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt offers for what it is worth her answer to the question—Will President Roosevelt be a third term Presidential candidate?

"My own personal opinion—and not as the wife of a President—is that except in extraordinary circumstances, we should stick to our tradition. Only when people believe that conditions are extraordinary should be depart from our tradition," she said last night.

Price On Their Heads Otto, Brother Motor 15,000 Miles Over America

TORONTO, April 3 — There's a price on both their heads that a good Nazi anywhere in the world could collect from the German Government by the simple process of assassination, and the curse of the Habsburgs lurks menacingly all through their family history, with its ominous portent of violent death. But such trifles have not prevented two young Austrian princes from motoring 15,000 miles through the United States and Canada virtually unescorted— and enjoying themselves.

Archduke Otto von Habsburg, pretender to the throne of Austria, and his younger brother, Archduke Felix, two of the bluest-blooded scions in the world, arrived in Toronto last night and chuckled at the very thought that they should be accompanied by an armed guard. Such a thing had never occurred to them, they said.

Only the presenec of an aide-de-camp, Count Trauttmandsdorff, in their light sedan distinguished the royal travellers from any couple of young men one might meet on the highway every day of the week.

The German Government had sworn out six warrants since the Anschluss with Austria he explained, charging himself and other members of the family with crimes ranging from theft of silver spoons to "high treason." But at that, he felt that Germany's attitude toward the Habsburgs was little more severe than toward all Austrians.

He endorsed his brother's prediction, made in Toronto last fall, that revolution would break out in Austria unless Germany were defeated by the Allies before revolt was necessary. And he added that he was "certain" Britain and France would win the war.

Austrians Oppose Nazis

"Ninety-five per cent of the Austrian people are opposed to the Nazi regime," he said. "Even the National Socialists don't believe in being submissive to Germany. Their idea was to set up a completely independent National Socialist regime in Austria, friendly to Germany, but not dominated by Hitler as it is to-day.

Otto showed keen interest in a statement made by the Czecho-Slovak National Council of America, which said, in effect, that the Czecho-Slovaks wanted no part of the Habsburgs. But he reserved comment because, he said, he did not know the status of the council on whose views it represented.

A Danubian Federation, such as he and his brother have frequently proposed, he said, would not mean extension of the Habsburg or any other influence over other Danubian States. He envisaged a federation with " a common economy, achieved by eliminating customs barriers, a common currency and mutual guarantees of each others' borders, with common armaments, but not a common army."

Since March 4 the three young Austrians have motored through New York, Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and now Ontario in the same casual way that brought there here from Detroit yesterday afternoon. They admit they have been lucky and have had no tire or motor trouble, but maintain that if they should they would be able to cope with it.

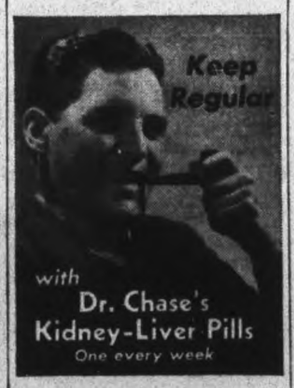
"We have had only one flat tire," said Archduke Felix, who visited Toronto last November before his older brother had arrived on this continent, "and that, luckily, came just as we stopped at a hotel in Indiana. The temperature was 15 degrees, so we were glad we didn't have to change that one. But we could if we ever had to."

Give Demonstration.

To prove their point, the grandchildren of Emperor Franz Josef gave a demonstration on a reporter's car. Archduke Felix deftly snapped the hub cap off a rear wheel, while the young Pretender whisked the spare tire out of its compartment. When the younger brother started to work with a tire wrench, skeptical reporters were convinced.

Before a crackling fire in Hart House, the young princes sat and discussed their visit. They were in the United States only for the purpose of informing themselves regarding the country, they said, and they had come to Toronto because they had been invited to visit the University of Toronto and did not want to forego the privilege. But they admitted that their principal concern of the moment was to prepare the way for a Federation of Danubian States after the war, coupled with the hope that the monarchy would be restored in Austria.

If that should happen, the House of Habsburg (you spell it with a "b" but pronounce it "Hapsburg" would return to the place it occupied in European history until the Great War, and Archduke Otto would become Emperor. But both insisted that the vision was still much too remote to bear discussion.



Omemee

Members of the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church, Omemee, and their friends motored to Peterborough on Friday evening to attend the Peterborough district "at home" in the Legion Hall. Those present from Omemee included Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pitts, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Chester and Mr. and Mrs. A. Williamson and the Misses Gwen Fee, Betty Deyell, Patricia Hunt, Edith Reeds, Francis Fee, Jane Magee, Gladys McNevin, May Magee, Ethel Stephenson and Edna Newells. Messrs. Arthur Jamieson George Stephenson, Charlie Stephenson, Bill Stephenson, Cecil Reeds, Arnold McQuade, Clem Reeds, Truman Field, Edward Lowes, and Elmer.

Misses Evelyn Bigelow of Omemee, Winnifred Sabine and Edith Sabine of Marmora motored to Toronto on Friday.

Mrs. C. L. Morcombe was a visitor to Peterborough this week.

Miss Doreen Morcombe spent the week-end with Miss Mertina McConnell, Bethel.

Messrs. Clem Reeds, Truman Behan and Bus Stiles spent the week-end at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reeds.

Mrs. W. B. Everson spent the week-end visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. C. H. Shaw, Omemee, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Shaw of Montreal left Sunday to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. White at Delray Beach, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford and son and daughter were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ford, Omemee.

Mrs. Howden of Peterborough was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamb on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ford of Millbrook were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Deyell.

Miss Agatha Ireland was a week-end visitor to Omemee.

Miss Gladys Laidley spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Laidley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clemett, Lindsay, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Clemett.

Mrs. Carpenter of Sutton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. Crowder, Omemee.

Miss Phyllis Bigelow, Peterborough was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Richard Howden.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Bigelow, Bethany, were visitors to Omemee on Sunday.

Members of the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church motored to Lindsay on Monday evening, April 1, for a theatre party.

Blame His Heart

HOLLYWOOD, April 3—(AP). — An autopsy surgeon decided today that Walter Miller, veteran motion picture player, succumbed to heart trouble but an inquiry into "eastern hoodlums" trying to "muscle in" on movie extras was in progress.

Miller, 47, one-time leading man for Mary Pickford in flicker days but in recent years a bit player and "heavy" died Saturday following a camera fight scene. Studio officials said he was performing in closeups after battle Thursday in which neither he or his opponent "pulled their punches."

TAMBLYN

Appoints All Canadian Board

Once again the Shareholders of the Tamblyn Drug Stores have elected an all Canadian Board of Directors and while that is not at all unusual, it is nevertheless very appropriate—The Tamblyn Stores were founded in 1904 A.D. by Gordon Tamblyn (now deceased) who was a staunch Canadian and born of Canadian parents in the community of Bellwoods, Ontario. He, as a Canadian, directed the progress of the stores during his lifetime and it speaks for itself and is most gratifying to know that the stores both under his leadership and since, have continually been under the administration and control of Canadians. Our entire staff, of course, is British and we naturally enjoy a feeling of pride that we as a truly Canadian enterprise can contribute to the welfare of Canada and the Empire—Our fight for quality-fresh merchandise at the lowest price possible is a matter of record and we can only tell you that your patronage is the very lifeblood of our continual endeavor for the Greatest Possible Value to the consumer—We thank you indeed, for the wonderful support you have accorded us and we do hope to merit a continuance of your patronage not only through the service we can render, but also through Quality and Price recommendations such as those appearing in this list of

Mrs. Ian McRae Is Auxiliary Hostess

The home of Mrs. Ian McRae, Douro street, was the setting for the Easter thank-offering meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox Church.

During the business discussion attention was drawn to members that articles for the Presbyterial bale will be received at the June meeting. Mrs. Dawson Gourley conducted the worship service and study period, the theme of both being "The Living Christ in the Living Church." Opening with an Easter hymn, the Te Deum was read responsively, and Mrs. C. J. Weldon rendered an appropriate solo, "Alone."

The study program presented the "Message of the Madras Conference", where 470 Christian men and women from 70 countries realized in their own experience that the church of Jesus Christ is today a living organism, and that it is more truly a universal church than ever before in history. The leader was assisted by Mrs. Albert Hutchinson as "the messenger from Madras", and five delegates impersonated by Miss Ruth Waldie, Miss Inez Barrar, Mrs. J. F. Reed, Mrs. J. Donaldson and Mrs. T. Taylor. In concluding the study, John R. Mott was quoted as saying: "I cannot but believe that those of us who have gathered here around the central figure of the ages and of the eternities, our Lord Jesus Christ, are on the threshold of something which will far transcend all that lies behind us.

A hymn and the benediction closed the service, which was followed by a social half hour.

"Bible Baseball" Is Played At Y.P.U. Meet

"Bible Baseball" was played Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of St. Andrew's Church Y.P.U., with teams under the leadership of Miss Jean Stewart and Mr. Jim Harris, the latter side being victors.

Miss Frances Clarke, convener of Christian Fellowship, was in charge of the program. Miss Stewart gave the Bible reading, and prose selections were read by Miss Clarke. Miss Dorothy Ridyard conducted an interesting quiz contest.

During the business period it was decided to sponsor a play to be presented by St. John's Church on the 19th of April.

Broadworth—Bateman

BONARLAW, April 3. — A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, March 27, at the United Church parsonage, Springbrook, when Rev. Mr. Harding united in marriage Edna, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bateman, of Bonarlaw, and Gerald Broadworth, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Broadworth, Stirling. The bride was beautiful in a gown of heaven blue sheer over taffeta, with picture hat and matching accessories. The attendants were Miss Ruth Bateman, sister of the bride, and Mr. Donald Broadworth, brother of the groom. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold bracelet and to the groomsman a cigarette lighter. After the ceremony the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a brief honeymoon at Oshawa, and upon their return they will reside on the 13th Concession.

George Street Y.P.U. Hears Inspirational Message

An inspiration message under the title of "What Is Your Occupation?" was given by Mr. J. Newble Tuesday evening at a meeting of the George Street Y.P.U. A number of vocal numbers were also contributed by Mr. Newble, who was his own accompanist on an English concertina.

Miss Loretto McDougall led the "sing-song" held prior to the opening of the meeting, which was in charge of the Christian Fellowship group with Mr. Phil Ristow as convener.

Miss Marjorie Frankish opened the devotional period with prayer; the scripture lesson was read by Miss Eleanor Delahaye, and a vocal duet was well rendered by Miss Gladys Mills and Miss Marion Biggs.

The president, Mrs. L. Ash, announced that next week's meeting would be in charge of the Christian Mission group, with Rev. E. W. Rowland of Mark Street Church as guest speaker, and also the comedy-drama, "April's Fool" which is to be presented Friday evening, April 5.

Recreation was enjoyed afterwards by the seventy young people present, under the capable direction of Miss McDougall.

Mrs. Mary McLean Is Honored

Twenty-six members of the Co-Workers' Bible Class of George Street Sunday School met at the home of Mrs. E. Dormer, London Street, for a short business meeting Tuesday evening.

The highlight of the evening was the gift of a hymn book and a script containing the names of class members, presented by Mrs. A. E. Brown and Mrs. J. W. Hales to Mrs. Mary McLean, president of the class, who is leaving the city shortly. Mrs. McLean responded in her usual gracious manner.

After contests had been played, refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Reynolds and members of her committee. The thanks of the class was extended to the hostess by Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. Scott Wildman.

Trinity Group Entertains For St. James Y.P.U.

Members of Trinity Young People's Club were hosts to abouty fifty members of St. James' Y.P.U. Tuesday evening, with Miss Helen Hetherington's group in charge of program arrangements. Mr. Richard Clayton gave a bible reading, and prayer was led by Miss Dorothy Battle.

Delightful musical numbers included two vocal solos by Mrs. O. E. Cameron and two piano duets by Miss Mary McKerchar and Miss Mildred Hubble. An inspiring talk on "Umbrellas for a Rainy Day" was given by Miss Myrtle Sargent.

A lively recreation period of games under the direction of Miss Gladys Langton of the St. James' group, was followed by refreshments served by the social committee, of which Miss Ruth Fisher is convener. Miss Mary McKerchar was at the piano.

BLOUSES IN THE OPEN!

By ALICE ALDEN

THE BLOUSE has come into its own and, it might be added, into the open. We wear it with separate skirts as well as under our suit coats, and in the evening as well as daytime. No wonder then that styles are legion both in feminine and tailored types, the latter also completing slacks and shorts for sportswear. Today's white silk chiffon blouse is the kind we dream about, trimmed with rows of Valenciennes lace and fine tucking. The silk shirt is washable, and is wearable for several years if given kind care. It looks chic with an imposing jeweled clip at the collar, either open or closed. If you're your own laundress, remember to iron your silk blouses as well as undies on the wrong side; this is particularly important if the blouse is black.

ACCENT ON FEMININITY

By ALICE ALDEN

THE ACCENT'S on femininity in today's picture. You'll see the drawstrings used cleverly this spring and, even more frequently, we predict, this summer. It may gather the folds of a frock into place in back, or, as in the wool jersey coat shown, hold the fulness in front. Something else tricky is the new drawstring trousers, the strings tied at the ankles or below the knee, for sailing and bicycling. The coat shown matches the silk jersey frock, and do notice the flowers, fresh orchids and magnolia leaves. So often a corsage does more for a costume than jewelry, so here's hoping they'll be wired often with love.

Do You Know?

The smell and taste of cod liver oil is said to vanish rapidly if the spoon is dipped in milk before it is filled with oil.

A clouded appearance which often develops on high-glossed woods, particularly in damp weather, can be removed by wiping with a soft cloth moistened with clear water and vinegar—proportion one tablespoon vinegar to one quart water.

Bacon that is properly cured should have a slight tinge of pink in the fat. This is caused by the action of the salt, and if the fat is colorless the bacon is apt to be insipid. Bacon with yellow streaks in the fat should be avoided.

"Y" Auxiliary Has Spring Tea

The lobby of the Y.M.C.A. was banked with ferns and handsome potted plants Tuesday afternoon for the spring tea of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., at which the president, Mrs. P. L. Robinson, and the first vice-president, Mrs. G. A. Borland, welcomed the guests.

Clustered about exquisite china figures in the centre of the table, which was laid with a cloth of Italian lace, were potted daffodils, double tulips and fragrant hyacinths. Table appointments were carried out in silver, with ivory tapers glowing in silver candelabra. Pouring tea were Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle, Mrs. Thos. Barrie, Mrs. S. D. Carver and Mrs. R. E. Cutting.

Mrs. G. H. Roper was social convener, assisted by Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. W. Burrell, Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. H. Stenson, Mrs. J. A. Wolstenholm, Mrs. A. Clarke and Mrs. A. E. Edmonds.

DOROTHY DIX

Old Men Who Trade Wives For Younger Ones Are Fools. Invariably, Under Such Conditions Second Marriage Is Never Happy For Either.

When an elderly man swaps an old wife for a new one, public sympathy goes to the abandoned women who has born her husband children and toiled and scrimped to help him make his fortune and who is ruthlessly cast aside for a fresher and fairer face.

But, in reality, your pity should go to the man who makes so sorry a bargain. For of all the unhappy people in the world none are so hopelessly miserable as the old husbands of young wives with whom they have not a single thought or idea in common and who, they know only too well, married them solely for their money.

Worse still, the old husband is filled with self-contempt for having been so easily gypped by a mere girl. He who has held his own with the shrewdest traders in the business world; he whose eyes have seen through the cleverest schemes of those who sought to exploit him, has been befooled by a little gold-digger who has sold him the idea that he is still a mere boy, far too young for his wife, and that if only he was married to her they would be two merry, carefree children playing together.

How he ever could have fallen for this pipe dream, how he ever could have deceived himself into believing that a young girl would prefer a man old enough to be her father to one of her own age, he cannot imagine. He only knows he believed it because he wanted to believe it. And he curses himself for his folly and his blindness.

For the awakening comes soon. The little flare-up of youth that made the man an easy victim for any predatory good-looker is a false fire that soon burns out, and the man wants to go back to domesticity and be his age. He wants his own fireside, the quiet and comforts of a home and somebody to bear him company. But this is not what the young wife married him for. She wants her fling. She wants night clubs and parties and rushing about from one place of amusement to another, and the old husband soon finds himself worn to a frazzle, and that his only part in the scheme of things is to sit on the sidelines and pay the bills while his wife plays about with boys.

When they try to talk they bore each other to tears; for hey have no common memories, no experiences that they have shared together, no mutual friends, no similar points of view, none of the ties that bind. Then the old man thinks with passionate regret of the wife whose love for him had never faltered through all the years. Who had struggled and fought shoulder to shoulder with him. Who had no thought nor interest except in him, and of the children whom he has alienated from him by his treatment of their mother. Of the old friends who treat him with scarcely veiled scorn. And he knows that he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, and it is bitter in his mouth.

A man who has made this terrible mistake of trading off an old wife for a new one writes me:

"Whenever I see a middle-aged or elderly husband and wife going out somewhere together, or sitting quietly talking, or silent in a companionship that does not even need speech because they are so close together they know what each other is thinking, I have to turn my head aside to hide my tears. For I might have been enjoying that happy fate instead of being a lonely and remorseful old man.

"For I had one of the best wives with whom any man was ever blessed, a wife who adored me, who was true as steel and we were growing old happily together when a pretty young adventuress in my office began flattering and cajoling me and telling me how handsome and young I was and that she was in love with me. Almost before I knew it she had forced me into making my wife give me a divorce so she could marry me.

"We hadn't been married a month before I realized that I had wrecked not only my former wife's life but also mine more completely than hers. For she had the children and the respect of the community, while I had nothing but a never-ending longing to be back with her again, for I knew that she was the only woman whom I could ever love.

"Believe me, no men are such fools as those who trade off old wives for new."

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man of 20. I have been working for the same employer for the last two and a half years and have given good service, but my salary is so small that I am unable to live on it. My boss' business is good, so he could afford to pay me what I earn. What shall I do?

Woman Upset Political Machine In Canada's Largest Riding Defeating Veteran Liberal Member

SASKATOON, April 3 (Special).—The story of how Mrs. Dorise Neilsen wrecked a streamlined party machine to become Canada's only woman member-elect of the House of Commons is a fiction-like tale that probably has no parallel in the annals of Canadian political history.

A bush-country wife and mother, who lives in a two-room log cabin with her husband three children, is the new member-elect for the riding of North Battleford, a constituency larger than any other in the Dominion. It sprawls over seven degrees of latitude, clear to the Northwest Territories.

In this vast bushland, Mrs. Neilsen waged a campaign that cut through party lines and brought her victory as a standard-bearer of the Unity party. To her flocked bush-country pioneers, settlers, miners and prospectors. To reach the ears of the electors she had to travel by day and night, stopping at lonely cabins, often sleeping on the floor clad in sheepskin comforters to ward off the cold.

So remote is the Neilsen cabin that Mrs. Neilsen was unaware of her victory until hours after it had been conceded. Her mother in England heard of her daughter's election before she did. A reporter was unable to get in touch with Mrs. Neilsen at the Village of Spiritwood the day after the election.

"She may be in tomorrow or the next day and we'll tell her you called," the long-suffering telephone operator advised. It is to Spiritwood that the Neilsens go once a week for shopping.

Mrs. Neilsen learned of her election last Thursday night from a neighbor who called at the home in the northern woods after a trip to Mildred, a village ten miles to the south. On Saturday the victor left her home at Norbury for the first time since the last day of campaigning, journeying to Mildred, where scores of settlers and telegrams awaited her. Over the lone telephone in this tiny hamlet she made her first contact with the outside world and learned for the first time the extent of her majority over C. R. McIntosh, her Liberal opponent. It was already in excess of 2,000 votes, with indications of reaching the 3,000 mark when the remainder of the returns from 25 polls come in.

"The people seem to be delighted with what they have done," was all that this amazing woman would say. A newcomer to politics, she declined to say what she hoped to accomplish in Parliament. She said she had no immediate plans for the future and intended to wait in her home for the first call ever extended from Ottawa to a woman member of Parliament from a Saskatchewan constituency.

The story of her campaign is the story of one woman's determination to do something for her fellow-settlers of the North who daily face privations and dangers in their efforts to wrest a living from the country. She had no political machine, no campaign funds, no particular gifts or oratory. But she had a sincerity of purpose, a flaming desire to crusade for what she believes in right. Mrs. Neilsen is no wide-eyed reformer of the blue-stocking type. She is an attractive, cultured college graduate from London, England, who gave up the ease and comfort of urban life for the bitter realities of a log cabin in a remote bushland where modern-day aids to living are things one often reads about but rarely enjoys.

The Liberal machine in North Battleford had money, a large group of able speakers and a candidate who had sat in the House of Commons for 15 years as North Battleford's representative.

But Mrs. Neilsen had a community of interest with the scattered inhabitant of this vast riding. She knew their problems, their hardships and their daily troubles. For twelve years she had lived among them, not as a stranger, but as one of them, facing the same difficulties, the same stern necessity of fighting and struggling to provide food and clothing.

And so the fight for election to Parliament was not the one-sided affair it appeared to be when Mrs. Neilsen became a Unity Candidate. Here was a woman who was a settler, the wife of a veteran of the last war, the mother of three children, starting out to give battle to a political machine that had not tasted defeat for fifteen years.

Night and day Mrs. Neilsen campaigned. With the bush held firmly in the grip of winter, she rode and walked along twisting trails to reach the families in their cabins. She talked crop failures and low prices; discussed sickness in a wilderness far from medical aid, and told her listeners what she felt should be done.

Campaign coffers were bare when this former school teacher embarked on the strangest political campaign any Canadian riding has known. But soon nickels and dimes started to trickle in. Country merchants co-operated by loading up on butter. It meant selling more eggs in an already glutted market at fire-sale prices. Stalwarts cut wood from the bush, hauling it twenty-five miles and more for $2 a load, all to assist their candidate. The cry of "woman's place is in the home," fell on deaf ears in North Battleford.

Then came the incident which, as much as any other factor, clinched the election for Mrs. Neilsen. She and her husband became victors over creditor-pressure that could, with equal letter-of-the-law justice, have been applied to hundreds of other settlers at the time. Last January the Neilsens faced eviction proceedings. Overnight the idea spread that the Neilsens had been singled out because of their political activity. Brief reference was made to the incident in the Saskatchewan Legislature.

Served Notice at Night

To serve the eviction notice a mortgage company agent descended at night on the two-room cabin that ex-Soldier Peter Neilsen had made with his own hands. He was away trapping at the time. Three little children were asleep, unaware of the drama being enacted in the lamp-lit kitchen, where their mother faced the agent. The story spread far and wide. Settlers huddled around store stoves heard it; it was told in groups at church services; it streaked along sleigh trails and it was front-page news in the campaign literature issued on behalf of the woman candidate.

The trend toward Mrs. Neilsen became more pronounced. The opposing camp tried everything in their repertoire, but there was no stopping the swing toward the woman candidate. Election day found Mrs. Neilsen at home with her husband and family. They voted and returned home. It was not until forty-eight hours after the election that she knew the details of her victory. The three children, Christine, 11; Thelma, 8, and John, 5 knew that something had happened when neighbors came to the little dwelling to congratulate their mother.

Mrs. Neilsen was born in London, England, in 1902. She was a high school student in Bruges, Belgium, at the outbreak of war in 1914. She returned to England and entered Hockerill College.

In 1926 she came to Canada and the following year taught her first Canadian school at Norbury. It was her first glimpse of settlement life, and entailed a journey of fifty-three miles by sleigh from the end of steel.

"I was a seedling that did not transplant too easily," she admits of those first days. Her "rough little hooligan pupils" taught her more than she was able to teach them. That summer she married Peter Neilsen and went to live in a log cabin in a setlement forty-five miles from the nearest town, Medstead. The settlement has a postoffice, but no store or elevators.

The call to Ottawa will finds Mrs. Neilsen ready. And all North Battleford is eagerly awaiting her maiden speech in Parliament. They are convinced it will be well worth listening to.

Coast Guards Rescue Flood Victims

Grave fears are felt that a repetition of the disastrous floods of 1936 may result in Pennsylvania as rain and melting snow sent rivers raging over their banks. ABOVE is a scene on Market Street in Wilkes Barre as coast guards brought marooned families to the safety of higher ground when the Susquehanna River inundated a large portion of the city. This picture was transmitted by phonephoto from Wilkes Barre.

was all so new to her. But once when Baxter turned and looked at her, she could see that he was very much upset.

Three actors had read the lead part of the young lawyer when Bill Bartner, small and red headed, took the microphone. After a few sentences Delacarte gave him the okay. Even he was getting weary of the farce of casting, and decided to move things along.

In a little more than an hour the cast was selected and the actual rehearsals began. Lane and Baxter might as well have been sticks of wood, for all the attention Delacarte paid to them. And they, wisely left him strictly alone.

Lane was fully aware that he had, with cunning, selected a fool-proof cast that would interpret the characters according to Hoyle and save him the trouble of direction. It was a smart move, since he knew absolutely nothing about directing a dramatic show, nor did he have any conception as to what "Paradise" was all about.

After running through the show two times, Delacarte decided it was ready to out.

"Now," he yelled, "watch your step. We're ready to go to town."

Romany was excited as an engineer got up and went to a table on which rested the equipment needed to record a show. She saw him take a large record and place it on a machine like a phonograph, while another man sat down and operated buttons and switches on a board in front of the director.

Delacarte, with a stop watch in his hand, snapped his fingers, and the voice of Brent Nelson in the opening announcement came into the control room from the studio mike. Bax sat with his head bent over, his hand over his eyes, listening to the vaguely similar dialogue as it was interpreted by the familiar voice of Myra, radio's darling.

To Romany it was marvellous, and she was like a child at a party. She felt, too, that she was learning much that would help her later. She was watching how closely the players stood to the microphone, how they held their scripts and followed the director and his signals.

Baxter was living through the nightmare somehow, but he knew he would remember that day as long as he lived. The thought of being able to talk it all over with Romany at dinner was the one bright spot in an otherwise bleak world.

Two scripts were finally recorded. It was seven o'clock before they were finished. Lane had left at five-thirty. At the end Delacarte turned to an engineer:

"How about playin' 'em back so I can hear how they sound?"

"You'll have to wait till we take 'Uncle Tom's Children' off the air." The older engineer looked very tired.

By sitting and watching, Romany learned that they were picking a show up from a network and making it into a record. It was to be rebroadcast later in the evening. She was more certain than ever that radio was the only thing in the world she would ever want to do.

Baxter hid his disappointment admirably when, weary and discouraged, he suggested they would soon be ready to go to dinner. Romany had a twinge of conscience when she told him she had promised Brent Nelson she'd dine with him. But she explained to Bax exactly how she felt about it and told him it was an important contact she felt she just couldn't miss. She suggested they dine together the next evening and he, good naturedly, agreed it was a date.

Outside, Baxter decided he had much too great a headache to bother with food. So he took a long walk, the play-back of his slaughtered dramatic show running in his ears. Finally he sat down beside the lake and the music of the water soothed his jangled nerves.

After a while he had sufficiently rested to analyze Bob Lane's advice and decided if he intended making radio drama his life's work he would have to laugh things off. After all, radio was such a new art, no one knew much about it. It had become such an important factor in American life, that it was better to be a very little spoke in the radio wheel than nothing at all, he told himself.

While Baxter ate a hamburger in lonely solitude at a one-arm lunch, Romany and Nelson were dining and dancing at a fashionable lake-side night spot.

Bale Contains Wardrobe For 2 Indian Girls

The display of a bale containing two complete outfits for two Indian girls at White Fish Lake School was an interesting feature of a spring tea held by St. John's Church Afternoon Branch of the W.A. Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, president, received the guests.

Daffodils in silver vases were a gay touch of color on individual tea tables, and the centre table, at which tea was poured by Mrs. W. P. Robertson, Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke, was attractive with a silver basket of spring flowers. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Mrs. E. Nicholls, Mrs. B. Wardle, Mrs. L. Crocker, Mrs. H. Gamble, Mrs. H. Lemmings.

Mrs. D. B. Falkner and Miss L. Bacon were in charge of a home cooking table. Treasurer was Mrs. R. Cooper.

Much credit for the success of the excellent bale on display yesterday is due to the fine work of the Dorcas convener, Mrs. G. Groombridge, who does all the cutting and supervising of sewing on the Tuesday of each week that members meet to work. The bale includes two dresses for each girl for summer and winter, winter coats, winter and summer underwear, aprons, mitts, stockings, towels, tooth brushes, combs, Christmas gifts, quilts, boots, hats and wool blankets, the latter being sent direct from Toronto, but paid for by the local W.A. branch, branch.

Getting Experience

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, April 3 —(AP). — Don Carpenter, new Mayor of Liscomb, near here, is a bachelor. To gain experience in weddings he has offered to marry the first three couples who come to him free of charge, and the Chamber of Commerce is backing him up by offering to buy the licences. There is one string attached. The offer is open only to "Leap Year couples." The bride must do the proposing and admit that she did it.

If Bills Overwhelm You Time to Go on a Budget

Make Your Dollars Stretch

Snowed under by bills! That's what happens when you try to manage without a budget.

For the beauty of a budget is that it keeps your everyday expenses under control. And it shows you how to stretch your income for the things you want.

Try keeping a record of expenditures for one month—then compare your figures with an ideal budget plan. What do you find?

Perhaps with a monthly income of $125 you've spent as much as $20 for Household Operating. No wonder your bills are behind!

Your budget plan advises about 12 per cent. of your income, or $15, for Household Operating. If you are careful not to waste light and gas, if you buy household supplies at sales, you can save $5 a month (or $60 a year!) to add to Clothes, Entertaining.

Other items, such as Food and Car, you adjust the same way. And, by planning ahead, you easily take care of large occasional expenses like taxes, insurance.

Gain a new sense of security, added enjoyment of life, by going on a budget. Our 32-page booklet tells how to divide your income according to your needs and desires. Gives pointers on buying, saving, home-owning. Has ruled pages for a year's accounts.

Result of close Relationship between The Dominion Bank and one of its Customers

SOME two or three years ago the General Manager of a Company asked us to advise him in regard to the operation of his Company. On investigation by our Industrial Department, the Company was found to be insolvent and losing money. The investigation further showed that costs could be reduced and savings could be effected. Certain lines of product were eliminated that heretofore had been sold at a loss. New lines were added, adding further profit. New markets were created. Improvement was made in the personnel. Owing to the changed condition, the Bank could safely finance the expanding operations.

RESULTS: Today the Company is making steady progress. It is showing substantial operating profits after depreciation. It is in an excellent financial condition and has given employment to some hundreds of people. The shareholder, the Bank and the public have also benefitted.

Co-operation usually results in mutual benefit.

● "SPEAKING as a druggist, I can say that advertising in the local daily newspaper is a 'Full-strength stimulant' for business, for which there is no substitute. I have found that it acts directly and quickly, and produces the most satisfactory results.

In the operation of this drug store, one of the Jury & Lovell organizations throughout Ontario, we use advertising in the local daily newspaper EVERY PUBLICATION DAY of the year. We have checked our advertising effort and returns many times, and we know that the newspaper gives us the best results for the money invested.

In this regard, there is no difference between local and national advertising. Both are selling to the same buyers in this community. It is easily understood, therefore, why products supported by national advertising in the local newspaper sell best in our store"!

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 4.

A fairly lively day is indicated by the lunar transits. It may be a day in which matters may run in routine grooves, with trivialities and petty oppositions upsetting the equanimity or straining the happy course of events. These may be perplexing and promote the danger of a small loss, financially or in the matter of prestige or standing.

Those whose birthday it is may have a rather routine sort of year with little transpiring out of customary grooves. While there may be trifling irritations, conflict or petty loss, financially or in friendship or social standing, it is not a time of portentous events.

A child born on this day may have a rather easy-going nature with not too exciting ambitions, and should have a fairly uneventful career.

ANSWER:

Ask for a raise in salary. If your employer refuses to give it, look out for a better job, but don't throw up your present one until you see something better ahead. When you have a job it is easier to get another one than it is if you are out of work.

And don't forget this: When a boy goes to work he is green and inefficient and has to be trained to do whatever work he undertakes so if you will charge up the business education that you are receiving you will find that you are not so ill paid after all. The reason you will be able to get a better job will be because you have had experience in your present job.

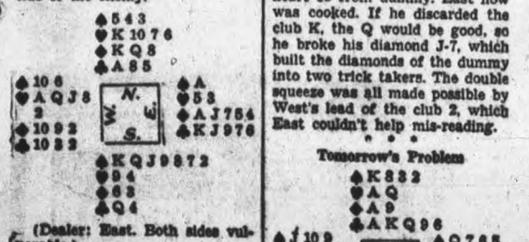
FOOLING YOUR MATE

LEADING a small card, which will look to your partner like a fourth-best when it is not, is likely to fool him completely regarding the existing situation and cause him to make some play which will hand the contract to the declarer on a silver platter. Of course, it may fool the declarer, too. But that is not so important, for he knows what are all the cards that are out against him, and has doubt only as to their location. Your partner, however, doesn't know for sure whether some particular missing card is held by his own side or the enemy.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North

3 ♣	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♠

West led the diamond 10 to the K and A. The heart 5 was returned to the A, then West led the club 2, North coming in with the A. A spade was led to East's A, and South expected him now to take the high club, but he didn't. Having read the deuce lead as a fourth-best, East had South now figured as blank in the suit. So he returned the heart 3.

Then the declarer, the famous Captain Alfred M. Gruenther, now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, went to work. The noted Vanderbilt Cup tournament director overtook West's heart J with the K, and then ran his remaining six spades, discarding carefully. As the last was played he also had the diamond 6 and club Q in his own hand, the heart 10 and diamond Q-8 in the dummy. West couldn't afford to throw his heart J and make dummy's 10 good, so tossed a diamond from the 9-2, whereupon the captain discarded the heart 10 from dummy. East now was cooked. If he discarded the club K, the Q would be good, so he broke his diamond J-7, which built the diamonds of the dummy into two trick takers. The double squeeze was all made possible by West's lead of the club 2, which East couldn't help mis-reading.

What is the most profitable contract that can be made on this deal by North and South, with good players against good players?

Euchre Party Held At Young's Point

YOUNG'S POINT, April 3—(ENS) — The ladies of St. Aidan's Church entertained in their Parish Hall with an Easter party of progressive euchre and dance on Thursday evening. Eleven tables of cards were played. The prizes went to the following: Ladies' first, Mrs. P. Stenner; gentlemen's first, Leonard Wilson; ladies' travelling prize, Mrs Hollend, Lakefield; gentlemen's travelling prize, Sam Trude, Lakefield; lone hands, Mrs. E. C. Moore.

Cards were played until 11.30 when refreshments weer served by the committee in charge, Mrs. Aaron McNaughton, Mrs. Rex Wilson, Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald. After lunch, Rex Wilson and his orchestra favored the gathering with excellent music for dancing. Miss Isabelle Bolton of Burleigh won the birthday dance. A very happy evening closwith the singing of "God Save the King."

Personals.

Among those who attended the card party and dance on Thursday evening from Lakefield were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Trude, Mr. and Mrs Clifford Hurl, Miss Grace Watson, and Mrs. Hollend.

Mrs. William Bland and Miss Elsie Chatten, both of Toronto, are the guests of Rev. E. C. and Mrs. Moore at the rectory.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young, Jr., of Windsor, spent the Easter holidays with the former's mother, Mrs Edward Young.

Mrs. A. Langlois of La Salle spent the Easter holiday with her mother, Mrs. E. Young.

Miss June Wilson of Selwyn was the guest of her cousin, Miss Faye Darling, during the Easter holiday.

Mrs. Max Kidd, who has been visiting relatives in Peterborough, returned to Young's Point on Sunday.

Two very pleasant afternoons were spent during the past week quilting at the home of Mrs. Percy Stenner, under the auspices of St. Aidan's Woman's Auxiliary. Three quilts were completed, and there are still more to quilt.

Danes Jail Nazi Fliers, Berlin Says 40,000 Tons Ships Hit In Raid

OSLO, April 4 (AP)—Likelihood that a naval and air engagement occurred in the North Sea late Wednesday afternoon was reported today by various observation points on the Norwegian coast.

Violent gunfire was heard in the Bergen area, and some observers said they sighted a large number of ships and airplanes on the horizon.

A German plane which landed at Stavanger yesterday was believed to have been damaged in an air battle. The crew burned the plane before being interned.

2 Bombers Down

COPENHAGEN, April 4 (AP) — Two German bombing planes made forced landings yesterday in Denmark and Norway. Their crews were interned.

The Norwegian general staff reported that a German Junkers bomber approached Norway at 5:30 p.m. (11:30 a.m. EST) and asked Norwegian patrolling planes for permisson to land because of motor trouble.

The German plane was directed to the port of Stavanger where it landed. There the Nazi crew fired the craft before a military patrol arrested and interned them.

Brig.-Gen. V. W. Odlum Will Take Canadians Overseas

OTTAWA, April 4 (CP)—Brigadier General V. W. Odlum has been selected to command the second Canadian division of the Canadian Active Service Force, Defence Minister Rogers announced today.

"In making this selection the government of Canada has been influenced by General Odlum's long and distinguished career and his devotion to the service of his country, both in the field and as a citizen of Canada," Mr. Rogers statement said.

General Odlum, born in 1880, started his military career at the age of 17 as a private in the 22nd Oxford Rifles at Woodstock, Ont.

After joining the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment in 1899, he went to South Africa where he participated in operations in the Orange Free States, including operations at Paarderberg, actions at Poplar Grove, Driefontein, Houtnek and Zand River.

For his services, he was awarded the Queen's South African Medal with three clasps.

On his return to Canada, he followed courses at Victoria Colege and the University of Toronto, specializing in political economy. He returned later to South Africa as a lieutenant in the 3rd Canadian Mounted Rifles.

In 48th Highlanders

On his return to Canada, he was appointed provisional 2nd Lieut. in the 48th Highlanders of the Canadian Militia in Toronto. In 1903 he was transferred with the same rank to the 6th regiment (Duke of Connaught Own Rifles) in Vancouver. Later he became a lieutenant in the 102nd Regiment at Nelson, B.C. In 1910 upon the formation of the 100th Winnipeg Grenadiers, he was promoted Captain April 1, 1910.

In August, 1913, he rejoined the Militia. He was appointed a captain in the 11th Regiment (Irish Fusiliers of Canada) in Vancouver. He was promoted Major in this unit in 1914. At the outbreak of the first great war, he was appointed Major in the 7th Battalion, C.E.F., and saw active service in France.

He became lieutenant-colonel and officer commanding this unit in April, 1915. In 1916, he was promoted brigadier general and appointed to command the 17th Cana-

Mr. Hill, on an inspection trip to the farm ten days ago, found thirteen dead. Three died later, despite veterinary care. In addition, Mr. Hill found on the farm, abandoned by both the farmer and his hired man, a number of cows and pigs in a hungry but not dangerous condition.

Flier's Wife Attacked Tossed From Car; 2nd Prayed For Life

TORONTO, April 4 (CP)—Three young men were taken into custody and held for questioning today, a few hours after the 26-year-old wife of an Ottawa member of the Royal Canadian Air Force told police she had been kidnapped, criminally assaulted and robbed by three men.

At the same time, it was announced that police were investigating the story of another woman that she was kidnapped by two men who attempted to attack her. She fought them off, she said, and was thrown from an automobile.

The wife of the Air Force member was examined by physicians and ordered to hospital for treatment. Police termed the case "one of the most horrible in the city's history."

Dynamic British Naval Chief To Push War As Head Of All Fighting Services

10 Times As Confident Of Victory Now Says British Premier

LONDON, April 4 — (CP). — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declared to-day he was 10 times as confident of victory now as he was when the war began because Adolf Hitler "missed the bus" by failing to use the arms superiority German had at the start.

The Prime Minister addressed his Conservative Party Council proudly a day after shaking up his Government to knit it into a tighter organization and to put chief responsibility for war strategy on the shoulders of Winston Churchill, energetic First Lord of the Admiralty.

Britain still is building up her strength, Mr. Chamberlain declared, while Germany is close to the limits of her strength.

He hinted at impending new measures to make the Allies' blockade of Germany escape-proof.

"You can take it from me," he said, "that one by one leaks and loopholes are being stopped and that as the war goes on that strangling effect will more and more drain the lifeblood out of our enemy."

On the other hand, the Prime Minister declared, there is no shortage of food in Britain.

"If sometime later on we want to save shipping space for war materials or if we want to restrict demands upon our foreign exchange we may have to do without some things that we have been used to, but we can stand a lot of curtailement yet without feeling any the worse for it," he said.

Limit to Consideration.

He said consideration for neutrals had hampered the Allies' blockade, but warned that "it cannot be expected that we should allow Germany indefinitely to profit by our scrupulousness and to draw aid and comfort from neutrals who are not free agents and who know in their hearts, whatever they may say, that our victory spells freedom for them, whereas our defeat would doom them to slavery."

The recent British-French declaration of a closer alliance gave the "best assurance" that "we shall not be cheated out of the fruits of victory and that the essential elements of European security will be available to us when the war is over," he told the Council.

"When we embarked upon this

Gangster Story Run As Serial

MONTREAL, April 4 — (CP). — There is one Montreal newspaper publisher who has no worries of circulation or finance.

He is 10-year-old Bliss Cartmel, publisher of the Silver Moon, which is turned out every Saturday. It sells for a cent a copy.

Publisher Cartmel's hired help, 10-year-olds like himself, are two reporters and an editor, who consider themselves well paid—at 5 cents a week. Bliss, after all expenses and overhead, clears 50 cents weekly.

The newspaper, typed by the boys on foolscap paper, carried the following editorial note under the masthead:

"The small newspaper with a Big appeal, published by Bliss Cartmel, aged 10 years, pupil of Roslyn School, who asks your kind indulgence for any errors or mistakes. The newspaper that is read and eagerly looked for by many boys, girls, parents and grown-ups. Thank you."

Advertisers, of whom there are four, are warned: "The publisher reserves the right to reject any advertising copy. All advertisements must be received two days prior to publication date."

A note said: "Save your old books and magazines and books for our soldiers, sailors and airmen."

And here is part of a serial story which is holding the interest of Silver Moon readers:

Chamberlain Reduces Cabinet To Eight, Makes Several Shifts

LONDON, April 4—(CP).—Hard-hitting Winston Churchill climbed into the driver's seat of the British war machine today with a big share of the job of forcing the pace to win.

A new shake-up in Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's wartime cabinet put the duties of chief war strategist on the shoulders of the First Lord of the Admiralty.

Press reaction to the new cabinet setup ranged from the Daily Herald's brickbat, "futile," to the Times' more subtle comment that it "is not calculated, and perhaps was not intended, to arouse any great enthusiasm."

For the most part the new cast is the same as the old, only in different roles, and in several cases the changes were mere swaps. One cartoonist pictured it as a game of musical chairs, with Chamberlain playing the tune.

The only new blood in the ministerial family is in the Food Ministry where Lord Woolton, an industrialist experienced in government trade and supply operations, succeeded W. S. Morrison.

Primarily, Mr. Chamberlain achieved three reforms in the cabinet:—

1. Endowing Mr. Churchill with almost unchallenged mastery over the fighting services as head of the armed services committee;
2. Putting Sir John Simon and

Sen. Nye Brands Conant Call As Propaganda

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP).—Senator Gerald Nye, North Dakota Republican, characterized as "concentrated propaganda" to-day an appeal by Attorney General Gordon Conant of Ontario to his countrymen to bring the United States into the war on the Allies' side.

"I am awfully sorry," he added, "that Canadians would urge any step that would take the United States into a cause they themselves are somewhat dubious about.

"It is all very well to talk about democracy, liberty and freedom, but before the United States falls for that kind of talk again, it is going to have to see the cards on the table and have those terms defined.

"There isn't a single challenge in the issues involved in the European war that would merit a step by the United States that would mean the sacrifice of a single American life. This is in keeping with the concentrated propaganda that is going to be directed at the United States from now on."

Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, said he thought Attor-

Get U.S. Into War Canadians Urged By Conant

CANNINGTON, Ont., April 4—(CP). — Canadians were urged last night by Attorney-General Conant of Ontario to do all in their power to bring the United States into the war beside the Allies. Mr. Conant said he believed a pro-Ally declaration by the United States at this time might end the conflict.

Warning against complacency, he said it was by no means certain the spiritual and moral ascendancy of the Allies could make up for what they lacked in material preparation when the war started.

Instead, Canada's "supreme task" was to make every sacrifice "short of impairing its status as a sovereign nation," to bring the United States into the war on the side of the Allies.

Speaking before an audience of farmers and business men, he said that clear declaration of policy by the United States of its intention to enter the contest "would materially affect the whole situation, probably to the extent of bringing an end to hostilities."

Canadians should sacrifice self-interest, joining the United States, if need be, in building the St.

Rev. Dr. J. Mackay Passes In London

LONDON, Ont., April 4.—(CP)—Rev. Dr. James Mackay, minister of new St. James Presbyterian Church for almost 25 years and one of Canada's outstanding churchmen, died last night after a heart attack. He was 59 years old. Dr. Mackay held many offices in the Presbyterian Church in Canada and at the last General Assembly withdrew in favor of Rev. Dr. Stuart Parker for the moderatorship.

Dr. Mackay suffered from heart trouble for 10 years and two weeks ago he collapsed at his church.

In 1926 he was Moderator of the Synod of Hamilton and London, had served as Moderator of Middlesex Presbytery on several occasions, was a convener of the Board of Missions and a member of the Church Education Board.

He came to London in 1916 from Montreal. A native of Rosshire, Scotland, he was the eldest of 10 children and came to Canada as an immigrant.

He was born in Rosshire, Scotland, and went to Public School in Marybank, Scotland, and taught there as a pupil teacher. He was indentured to a stone-mason at 15 years of age and against his will continued at his trade.

He came to Canada in 1901. His first work here was as a mason in the construction of the bridge be-

Earl Of Athlone New Governor Arrives In June

OTTAWA, April 4 (CP) — The Earl of Athlone, soldier, diplomat and sportsman, will come to Canada early in June as the Dominion's 16th Governor-General since Confederation.

The new appointee succeeds Lord Tweedsmuir who died in office last February 11, and whose term would have expired normally this summer.

In announcing the appointment last night, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said it would be impossible for the Earl to reach Canada before June and that he would thus be unable to officiate at opening of the new parliament now expected to meet the second or third week in May.

Brother of the Queen Mother, the Earl of Athlone will be 66 next April 14. He is the former Prince Alexander of Tech. The Earldom was created in 1917.

The Earl served an extended term as Governor-General of South Africa from 1923 to 1921.

In 1901, as Prince Alexander of Teck, he made his only visit to Canada, accompanying the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York,

Roads Break Up As Rains Soak South Ontario

TORONTO, April 4—(CP).—Rain and mist settled over most of Ontario today, while river ice broke up slowly and country roads became mired down.

Heavy snow, borne in from the west, fell in the northern part of the province. Eight inches of snow had fallen since three o'clock yesterday afternoon at Sault Ste. Marie and even in the city there were traffic tie-ups. Country roads were blocked.

Snow melted in Southern Ontario beneath the onslaught of mild weather and rain.

Despite one of the heaviest March snowfalls in years, however, most rivers began to go out quietly. County engineers explained that considerable water had gone out beneath the ice before the break-ups, and sometimes-turbulent rivers like the Grand and the Thames were expected to do little serious flooding.

More trouble was expected from the roads. R. M. Smith, Provincial Deputy Minister of Highways, said his Department's entire system had taken "the worst winter beating in

Russia Demands Finns Leave Border Unarmed

STOCKHOLM, April 4 (CP-Havas)—The Soviet government is demanding that Finland leave its new frontier entirely unfortified and ungarrisoned, the Stockholm-Tidningen reported today from Moscow.

The Soviet demands on the Finnish delegation now in the Soviet capital—their presence there has gone unreported by the Soviet press, the Tidningen said—were summarized in the dispatch as follows:—

1. That Finland shall undertake to enter into no defensive Nordic alliance.
2. That it demilitarize its new frontier, removing all troops from the border zone by this summer.
3. That is refrain from building a new Mannerheim line.
4. That it engage at once in construction of a railway from Kandalaksha and Kemijaervi.
5. That all press attacks on the Soviet Union in Finland be made to cease.

New Fleet Raids Take Toll Of Nazi U-Boats

PARIS, April 4—(CP-Havas). — Intensification of German aerial scouting activity over the North Sea and the probable sinking of a number of German submarines by British warships in the past 48 hours were reported by French air and naval authorities today.

On land, the outstanding event was a counter-attack in the Nied sector by a French group on roving duty against German assault troops who had encircled a small French advance position.

Seven Germans were taken prisoner and the others fled precipitately, freeing the advance post. The German troops had surrounded the post after artillery preparation and were preparing for a final attack when they were surprised by the French detachment.

Air Ministry sources here said the Germans sent 20 flights over the North Sea towards the British coast yesterday, the largest number so far in any one day in this zone. London announced that two German planes, a Heinkel and Junker, were shot down. One British Spit-

Groom Canucks For Palace Guard

ALDERSHOT, April 4 — (CP Cable).—Hand-picked units of the Toronto Scottish and the Royal 22nd Regiments start a special course of grooming today to prepare them to mount guard at Buckingham Palace and St. James' Palace later in the month.

By command of His Majesty, each unit will provide the full guard over the royal residences for four days. The crack French-Canadians from Quebec mount guard April 17-20 and the Scots take over April 21-24.

Officers and men selected for the honor will receive special guard training for their palace duties until they move off to London. The course of grooming will be so spaced as not to interfere with their regular training.

Five officers have been named tentatively for the guard detail by the Royal 22nd and four by the Toronto Scottish. Those of the former unit are Captains J. Charlebois, C. Dellavanc, Lieutenants E. A. Dorion, J. Vallee and M. St. Pierre.

The Scots have selected Captain W. G. M. Robertson and Lieutenants M. R. Mediands, C. R. Fuller and D. M. Hertzberg.

About 50 other ranks will be detailed by each unit to provide the full King's guard.

JUDGES INCREASE COST.

Bit Of Enamel Starts Chain Of 6 Mishaps That Snuffed Lives Of 99 On Sub Thetis

LONDON, April 4.—(CP)—An official report today blamed the sinking of the submarine Thetis last June 1 in the Irish Sea off Liverpool with the loss of 99 lives on "many mischances which almost conspired to lose the Thetis in a sea of trouble."

The sinking of the Thetis was the second in a series of three disasters occurring in rapid succession to underseas craft of major naval powers, the United States submarine Squalus and the French Phoenix being the other victims.

Six facts in sequence "produced the full extent of the disaster," said the report of the official inquiry.

First, a bit of enamel blocked a testcock in the rear door of No. five torpedo tube;

Second, as a result a rear door opened while the bow cap was open to the sea which was "suicidal"; "the precise moment when the bow cap opened was the most critical and obscure point in the case";

Third, the crew of the Thetis failed to close the port watertight door in the bulkhead between the torpedo tube compartment and the torpedo stowage compartment.

Fourth, the crew was unable to expel water from two flooded compartment.

Fifth, rescuers failed to render "effective assistance" chiefly through "failure to locate her position during 16 hours from 3 p.m. June 1 to 7:50 a.m. June 2."

Sixth, those inside were unbale to escape by the Davis apparatus which saved only four of the 103 aboard.

Virtual Dictator Of Army, Navy, RAF Churchill Seen Next As Premier

LONDON, April 4 (CP)—All the armed might of Great Britain became Winston Churchill's to command today.

Riding the crest of that destiny which many predict will carry him to the position of prime minister, The plump, pugnacious foe of Germany finds himself virtual dictator of the army, navy and air force through the third British cabinet shuffle in seven months of war.

Last Sept. 3, just seven hours after war was declared, Prime Minister Chamberlain called Winston Churchill from his vocal but comparatively ineffectual place in the House of Commons to become First Lord of the Admiralty.

Now the new cabinet shakeup makes Mr. Churchill chairman of the armed services committee, and thus the boss of all war forces, in addition to his admiralty job.

At 65, Mr. Churchill still is "on the way up" some say, in a career that has been meteoric throughout, and brilliantly so in a short seven months.

Should the 71-year-old prime minister retire, Britons almost certainly would demand that he hand the keys of No. 10 Downing Street to Mr. Churchill, the popular personification of belligerent John Bull.

The shift in political fortunes has re-emphasized Mr. Churchill's tremendous hold on the confidence of most of his people.

Man The People Wanted

For months before the war began, the public had called for Mr. Chamberlain to bring back the man with the massive head, the flashing blue eyes and pugnacious features who had a reputation for daring and "getting places."

To them it was incomprehensible that Mr. Churchill, who in turn was head of the admiralty, munitions

Jap Navy Threatens To Take Action If U.K. Blockade Nabs Red Ships

TOKYO, April 4 (AP)—The Japanese Navy threatened today to "take action" if the British blockade is applied "illegally" to Soviet Russian shipping destined for Germany and indications were that any blockade action in Chosen Strait might be so considered.

The warning was conveyed in a statement by the admiralty spokesman.

Chosen Strait, southern gateway to the Sea of Japan and principal approach to Russia's far Eastern port of Vladivostok, separates Japan from the Asiatic mainland at the Korean Peninsula. It represents a break in the land continuity of the Japanese empire.

While the Sea of Japan is not Japanese territorial waters, the admiralty spokesman said that "it is a Japanese Lake in Japanese eyes.

"The British navy can take any action it pleases there, but the reaction in Japanese sentiment would be very strong."

Apparently Japanese objections would be less vehement against British action well removed from the shores of the 500-mile wide sea than against any action in 100-mile-wide neck of ocean linking the Seas of Japan and the East China Sea.

The spokesman, however, would not say what Japan would consider "illegal" or what "action" Japan would take but his declaration was generally interpreted to refer to any halting of Russian commerce through Chosen Strait.

He said that Japan objects to any extension of the European war to "waters near Japan" and that Japan finds cruising warships "near Japanese waters very unpleasant."

He disclosed that Japan had made several representations against roving warships to the British naval attache here.

Pitts, constable, $58.34; Grant Horticultural Society, $25.00; total, $287.58.

The Soldiers' Aid met in the Council Chamber on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock to pack the monthly bale. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. G. N. Earle. The secretary was authorized to write Red Cross headquarters in Toronto regarding buying more wool. It was decided to have the monthly tea in the Council Chamber and arrangements were made for the first tea on Wednesday, April 10. The following articles weer packed: 80 pairs of socks, 23 scarves, 6 sweaters, 16 pairs wristlets, 1 pair fingerless gloves, 5 balaclava caps, 1 suits pyjamas, 23 hospital shirts, 8 hot water bottle covers, 3 ice-cap bags.

At the close a letter was read from Toronto asking for more wristlets or hospital shirts at the time.

Overseas radio broadcasts are now sent from Britain in 15 languages.

ney General Conant was "just like any other fellow who is hard pressed in a fight—he's hollering for help and I don't blame him."

London Silent

LONDON, April 4.—(CP)—The speech of Gordon Conant, Attorney-General of Ontario, urging Canadians to do all in their power to get the United States into the war on the side of the Allies, elicited no official comment in London today.

A foreign office source said the speech was not an official declaration, but merely a statement by a minister of the Ontario Government.

King Saying Nothing

OTTAWA, April 4.—(CP)—No comment was forthcoming today from Prime Minister Mackenzie King on the address of Attorney-General Conant in Cannington, Ont., in which Mr. Conant urged Canadians to do all in their power to bring the United States into the war beside the Allies.

"There will be no comment from the Prime Minister," said a spokesman in Mr. King's office when asked regarding reaction to Mr. Conant's speech.

Plotters On Trial

NEW YORK, April 4 — (AP). — Seventeen men accused of plotting to overthrow the United States government, assassinate a dozen Congressmen and set up a Jew-baiting dictatorship go on trial in Brooklyn Federal court to-day on charges of seditious conspiracy.

They were described by J. Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation chief, at the time of their arrest here, Jan. 14 as being affiliated with a Christian Front organization.

of the women concerned. Names of the youths detained also were withheld and no charges had been laid against them at noon.

Dragged Into Car

The wife of the Air Force member said she was dragged into an automobile on Church street in downtown Toronto last night and driven to suburban York Township. She told police she was held captive two hours, criminally assaulted, and beaten. Two rings, including her wedding ring, and a wrist watch were taken from her, she said.

Later, she was thrown from the car on a township road and, her face bleeding from cuts, awakened the occupant of a nearby house who called police.

The second woman walked into the Dundas street police station at dawn and told police she had been introduced to two men last night by friends. The men took her to a Toronto house, then drove to an isolated suburban spot where they attempted to attack her, she said.

"I had to pray for my life," police quoted her as saying. "I had to get down on my knees and beg them not to kill me. They finally threw me out of the car into a ditch."

The second woman, about 35, is the mother of one son. Police refused to release more details but said that they did not believe the two cases were connected.

The second woman also gave police a license number which was found to have been issued in North Bay. Police are checking with North Bay authorities.

minister, war secretary and air minister in the 1914-18 conflict, should be on the sidelines.

With delight they heard that "Winston is back."

It is a quarter-century since he had signed the mobilization order for the fleet in 1914, but the enemy across the Channel was the same; Mr. Churchill himself was the same, older but with the same hot fire of personality.

Soon he was on the radio, telling the Germans who had called him Britain's chief "warmonger" that the British-French Allies were in the fight until Adolf Hitler "had had enough."

He told the Empire, "it was for Hitler to say when the war would begin, but it is not for him or his successor to say when it will end."

That was the sort of thing the people wanted to hear, and the sort of thing that Mr. Churchill could say well.

A bit stouter and more round-shouldered than the dashing young Churchill of 1914, he is one of two survivors of First Great War cabinets still in the Government. The other is Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who was attorney general in 1914 and home secretary in 1915-16.

Little Changed

Basically, Mr. Churchill has not changed much since, when he participated in the Boer War two-score years ago, was captured and escaped. The Boers posted the following notice for the fugitive:

"Englishman, 25 years old, about five feet, eight inches tall; of indifferent build, walks a little with a bend forward; pale appearance; red brownish hair; small mustache hardly perceptible; talks through his nose; cannot pronounce the letter 'S' properly; and does not know any Dutch."

The mustache has been the principal casualty of the subsequent years, years in which it has been said that Mr. Churchill has held more offices, served in more wars and practiced more arts than any other man in the Empire.

His first military service was in Cuba in 1895 as an attache with the Spanish forces. He has been in conflicts from India and Africa to the Western Front ever since.

He has pursued careers as journalist, author, historian, lecturer, traveller, adventurer, bricklayer and statesman as well. His historical writings, especially his accounts of the first Great War, are highly regarded.

He was Undersecretary for Colonies in 1906-08; president of the Board of Trade, 1908-10; Home Secretary, 1910-11; First Lord of the Admiralty, 1911-15; Minister of Munitions, 1917; Secretary for War and Air, 1918-21; Secretary for Colonies, 1921-22;; and Chancellor of the Exchequer, 1924-29.

Appointed in 1911 to rejuvenate Britain's sea power, he had developed a modern armada by 1914. People ashore criticized him for spending so much on the navy, but when the war came in 1914 these same critics thankfully found their navy a powerful factor.

They hope now that it will strangle Germany's economic life as successfully as it did then.

Churchill's next projects in the war fizzled, however. The Antwerp and Dardanelles schemes brought his downfall—the Germans took Antwerp and the British failed to force the Dardanelles.

Resigning Nov. 15, 1915, he went to France, where he served for six months as a lieutenant-colonel with the Royal Scots Fusiliers.

Danger Meant Little

A typical Churchill story of that period is this:—

A superior officer advised him to move from a heavily-shelled position to a safer dugout. Churchill protested that in another location he could not maintain proper contact with his men.

"I tell you, this is a very dangerous place," persisted his nettled superior.

"Yes, sir," replied Churchill, "but after all, this is a very dangerous war."

Now the oldest son of Lord Randolph Churchill and the former Jenny Jerome of New York finds himself in a top position in another "very dangerous war," enabling him still further to discomfit an early friend who once remarked:

"You have done surprisingly well, but you owe it all to the fact that you are Randy's son."

"Sir," he retorted then, "the time is coming when Lord Randolph will be remembered chiefly as the father of Winston Churchill."

war," he said, "I felt we could be bound to win it. After seven months of war, I feel 10 times as confident as I did at the beginning."

The Prime Minister said he believed that never before in all Great Britain's history had the nation been "so completely united upon the broad aims of our policy and upon our determination to carry on this fight until we have achieved our purpose."

He praised the decision of the political parties to lay aside party strife as far as possible 'in order to concentrate on winning the war."

"I do not claim that the government should be exempt from criticism," he declared, "but I do feel that as we are all agreed as to what we want out of this war, the government of the day is entitled to claim general support for its war policy."

Hitler Slips Up

The Prime Minister said Germany began preparing for war long before it started but that "one thing is certain—Hitler missed the bus!"

Hitler's failure to "take advantage of his initial superiority and to make an endeavor to overwhelm us and France before we had time to make good our deficiencies," he called a "very extraordinary thing."

"We must admit—I do admit—that we have not yet succeeded in bringing work and workers together as to make full use of our existing manpower," Mr. Chamberlain said.

"That means we have not reached our full strength. We are making great efforts to do so."

Of Germany's failure to strike hard at the beginning, Mr. Chamberlain declared it might have been "that Hitler thought that he might get away with what he had got without fighting for it or that, after all, preparations were not sufficiently complete."

The seven months of war, he said, have enabled the Allies to "make good and remove our weaknesses, to consolidate and tune up every arm, offensive and defensive, and so enormously add to our fighting strength that we can face the future with calm, whatever it brings."

Little To Fall Back On

He continued:

"I would be the last to underrate the enemy's strength or his determination to use that strength without scruple and without mercy if he thinks he can do so without geting his blows returned with interest.

"I say this, too—the very completeness of his preparations has left him little margin of strength to call upon."

The Prime Minister declared that Germany "has not any real friend in the world" and that leaks in Britain's blockade of Germany are being mended.

"Our victory," he declared, "spells freedom.

"I ask you to bear in mind that this is a war of will and the will to conquer. I put my faith in the courage and tenacity of our race, which has never failed."

Roads

a long time."

"The roads have taken a lot of abuse," Mr. Smith said. "Many of our older routes are going to need considerable repair.

"There are bad spots in all types of road. The worst thing about them is that they appear within a half-hour or so and driving is made dangerous as a result. It will be necessary for motorists to exercise a good deal of caution for a while."

Water Stalls Traffic.

Snow melted rapidly today along country roads. Where deep drifts had formed on highways in the Stratford-Goderich area, streams of water flowed along the road and stalled the motors of automobiles that tried to plough through. Farther north, in the Owen Sound area, snow still blocked many roads. Highway No. 24, from Shelburne to Collingwood, was closed to traffic and there was no indication when it would be opened. Rains which fell yesterday left back concessions in a "messy" condition, Highways Department officials in the area said.

Wellington County's northern section still was largely snowbound.

William A. Keith, county engineer, said he expected the condition would be cleared this week or early next week.

In Dufferin County lower temperatures froze water on the roads during the night and several automobiles were ditched.

The same conditions applied through most of Eastern Ontario. Main highways were passable, though water flowed across the roadway in some places in the Brockville district, while cars and trucks were unable to move over most unpaved roads.

In the Niagara district yesterday's rain was accompanied by the first thunder and lightning of the year. Farmers welcomed the downpour, while Lincoln County road authorities said it would help wash away vagrant drifts.

Beaver Creek, in Thorold South, failed to repeat an earlier rampage and no floods were expected in the district.

Ganaraska Quiet.

The Ganaraska River, which has caused thousands of dollars of flood damage in Port Hope in other years, gave no threat. Ice broke up north of Port Hope and was expected to rot there before downstream ice moved out.

The Grand, another frequent rebel, had risen only six inches at Galt and Caledonia. The ice held firm near Kitchener, while there were frequent open spots in the river at Brantford. The break-up, according to up-river authorities, might come within 48 hours.

No trouble was expected from the Thames at London, where mild weather prevailed. One of the thickest fogs residents of Windsor could remember cleared to-day and skies remained overcast. Motorists' vision was reduced to about two feet last night.

Moira Goes Out.

The ice of the Moira River moved down stream without any property damage and with the least amount of flooding seen in this district in years. Absence of heavy rains allowed the sun to honeycomb the ice so that when the movement started there was little backing up of the water. There is a considerable flow of ice moving north of the Canniston Dam, but it is expected there will be plenty of room for this flow when it comes.

A slight rain will have a beneficial effect in clearing up the roads and snow, while Langlois, county road superintendent, said to-day.

"The county roads in some sections are heaving badly due to the frost leaving the ground, but no such trouble is expected as in former years. It has been a perfect breakup in this district," he said.

The halting of the Japanese liner Asama Maru January 21, almost within sight of Yokohama, by a British cruiser which took off 21 German seamen en route home was protested by the Japanese as a national affront. Nine of the seamen were returned.

Turning to the impending United States manoeuvres in the Pacific, the admiralty spokesman said that Japanese "unrest" was caused by the fact that they are to be larger than ever before and nearer to the Far East.

No Illegal Action

LONDON, April 4 (CP)—A British spokesman said today that Japan in the course of normal diplomatic contacts, had "expressed the hope that Britain would avoid naval action near Japanese shores" but that Britain insisted on belligerent rights.

"We have no intention of committing illegal action, and it is our desire as far as possible to pay regard to Japanese susceptibilities, of which we are fully aware," the spokesman said.

"However, it is not possible for us to forego legal rights as a belligerent, and it should be understood that we intend to exercise these rights to the full whenever necessary."

FRESH YEAST to help digestion

VITAMINS for vitality

TOGETHER they can help give you a big boost

Are you like lots of people who feel "used up" at this time of year? Are you pulled down by little digestive upsets, too?

Then—try eating Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast. Scientists say it is the vitamins and the action of fresh yeast together that make it so helpful.

The fresh yeast stimulates slow digestion and speeds up the assimilation of food. Laboratory tests have shown this is an action of the yeast itself—entirely distinct from known vitamin action. The vitamins are needed to maintain steady nerves and keep up vitality. Only in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast can you get such an abundant supply of the 4 important vitamins, A, B_1, D and G, and all the vitamins of the amazing Vitamin B Complex.

Eat 2 cakes every day. See if you don't start to climb right out of that winter slump!

Sensible Way To Relieve

CONSTIPATION

Without Upsetting Whole Tract

Constipated? Then remember this. Body waste, when it jams-up, usually picks on the big bowel! So when you take calomel, salts or oils you're taking a roundabout way to relief—for all these start their action elsewhere. But when you take CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS you move that jammed-up waste in a hurry, for these tablets contain cascara—and therefore concentrate their action right in the big bowel where help is needed! Try them—they taste like fine milk chocolate. Each foil-wrapped tablet a dose—and you get 12 tablets for 25c. For free post-paid sample, write "Cascarets", Dept. C-12, Windsor, Ont. (Advt.)

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 4 — (CP). — The Winnipeg Wheat Market followed a late upturn at Chicago today and wheat futures prices closed ⅛ cent above yesterday's levels. May was quoted at 89¼, July 90½ and October 92.

Flax made new highs in the coarse grains pit and the May future was quoted at 223⅝ cents—the highest quote for flax since the 260-cent levels of 1930. Other grains were steady and unchanged in price.

Yesterday's Quotations.

10-Day Sentence

MILTON, Ont., April 4.—(CP). — A charge of assault with grievous bodily harm against Mrs. Alice Lipte of Toronto, was reduced by Magistrate W. P. Woodliffe yesterday to common assault, and a conviction carrying a 10-day jail sentence was registered against the woman. Mrs. Lipte was convisted of drunken driving and given an additional sentence of 14 days, while her license to drive was suspended for one year. A charge of robbing an aged farmer with violence, against her, was withdrawn.

Charges of robbery with violence, and assault, were withdrawn against Mrs. Jean Clarke of Toronto, at request of the Crown.

Nazi White Book Inquiry Fades

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP).—State Department approval for Ambassador William C Bullitt's immediate departure for France put the quietus to-day on a congressional move to question him about purported statements in the German white book.

As a result of State Secretary Cordell Hull's refusal to keep Bullitt here, few members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee believed any action would be taken on an investigation proposal of Senator Robert Reynolds (Dem.-North Carolina).

Besides having the ambassadors testify, Reynolds also wanted to have Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, summoned in hopes of learning the results of his recent fact-finding mission abroad for President Wilson. This, too, was considered unlikely.

Hull made clear that he saw no reason for Bullitt's delaying his return to Paris in order to appear before Congressional groups. The envoy planned to take a Clipper plane from New York to-day.

"Ambassador Bullitt," Hull wrote Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep.-New York), "has succintly and categorically denied any imputations relating to himself, as contained in that published (German) matter.

"The executive department of the government has accepted that denial without question. Furthermore, Ambassador Bullitt has been delayed by illness of his daughter in return to his post, where he is needed."

Communists In The Army

The analysis of the soldier vote shows that Communist candidates were not prevented from getting some of it. In Vancouver East McKean secured 26 votes; in Winnipeg North there were 7 voting for Morris. In Prince Albert, Sask., the riding which elected Prime Minister King, there were 3 votes for Campbell, the Communist. In East Hamilton the most publicized Communist in the Dominion, Tim Buck was in the running, but he secured only 7 soldier votes, and 702 for the total of his effort. And that was in a contest where in all 29,584 votes were polled. That in turn is a long way removed from the showing Tim Buck made a short time ago when he was regarded as a formidable enough contender for a place on the Board of Control in Toronto.

One might think it strange to find Communists in the Canadian army in war time, and some no doubt will advance the argument that they are in there to serve the purposes of their organization and create trouble. Our belief is it is better to have them in the army than running loose elsewhere. Communism cannot be regarded as a serious factor in this country judging by the number of votes polled for its candidates.

Dr. Manion secured the majority of the soldier votes in Fort William, and Mr. King did the same in his riding of Prince Albert. In St. James' riding of Montreal it was a case of to him that hath shall be given, and the Liberal Durocher received more soldier votes than three other candidates combined. On top of that he previously had a majority of some 25,000.

There was one Ontario riding, Huron, where Cardiff, the National Government candidate, had a lead of 31 in the civilian vote, and it was felt the soldier vote might be sufficient to turn that, but Cardiff increased his lead by 11 when the votes were added and now has a majority of 42.

Ontario soldiers voted about two to one for National Government candidates, and Quebec soldiers voted by about the same proportion for the Liberal Government. Alberta reflected the Social Credit leanings of the province, but the soldiers voting that way were not 25 per cent. of those who voted for the old parties.

Not Too Hopeful

Premier Hepburn announces a conference to see if there is any change for making use of the lignite coal found in Northern Ontario. Officials have been sent to Western Canada and the Western States to find what success there has been in using lignite for railway purposes. If there is a favorable report an attempt may be made to use it on the provincially-owned Temiskaming and Northern line.

There is little question about there being large lignite deposits in Northern Ontario but the trouble will be in making use of this kind of coal. Bituminous is the best steam coal. Lignite actually holds a station of rating in between peat and coal, and it is too volatile to be stored; if it is stored for any length of time its rating in heat units rapidly decreases.

Ontario is rich in minerals but it is almost poverty stricken in coal deposits of commercial value. Lignite as a rule is regarded as a last-resort coal.

Blame The Drivers

When an individual encounters an automobile smash and then takes the case to court it must be because he is convinced he was in the right and on that ground can recover damages. Possibly if there were no such expectation there would not be many cases taken to court.

There is something new entering courts, and within recent days there has been demonstration of how it works. The first case was at Goderich where a damage action was listed due to a crash at 7.15 in the morning of July 4. Plaintiff was asking for $1,200. The judge heard the evidence, found that visibility was excellent on that morning, and learned the road was sufficiently wide for cars to pass going in opposite directions. Both cars had been crowding the centre of the road.

The decision? Just this—$600 damages but on a 50-50 basis. And that means the plaintiff will have to contribute $300 of his own award.

The second case was heard at Sarnia, and seven people had been injured. In this case a magistrate heard evidence about two cars approaching an intersection and then piling into each other. Police evidence showed it was possible for both drivers to see all that was going on. The decision was that neither of the drivers had exercised proper care and both were guilty. So each driver paid a $5 fine and costs of $35.78.

So there was something in each of these cases which appears to be getting down to the actual trouble in these car smashes—the drivers themselves. It may sound well to talk of visibility, state of the roads, right-of-way and all such matters, but back of it all are the drivers of cars—their common sense, brains and consideration. If these are not all operating accidents are sure to come.

Need Uniformity

Ingersoll town council passed a by-law licensing pinball games. Tillsonburg council also passed a bylaw but it banned pinball games from the town. So for the moment it looks as though municipal councils could make their own laws. There appears to be no central or recognized standard by which they must pattern their devices.

If it is right and proper to license and run pinball games in Ingersoll, then it is right and proper to operate them in Tillsonburg. If the thing is wrong in Tillsonburg then it is equally wrong in Ingersoll.

What is needed is a plain-spoken word from the seat of central authority. Drivers of cars in Ingersoll have to follow the same rules as those in Tillsonburg; they all go along the right-hand side of the road. Pinball legislation should be the same.

The Parents Failed

The Ministerial Association asked for permission to give religious instruction to children in Peterborough public schools, and the request was granted. It will be undenominational, and there are several hundred places in the province where such instruction is now being given.

The plan ought to succeed and it will if those giving the instruction make it interesting enough for the young minds. Getting down to basic affairs such instruction ought to be given in the homes and by the parents, but it is stating nothing but a plain truth to claim that in very few homes has anything ever been done about it. That is why that great institution, the Sunday School, came into existence in the first place, and that is why there is the demand for religious instruction in our week-day schools now. The parents have not measured up to the opportunity and responsibility which was theirs.

As It Was On The Tenth

When it came time to tap trees on the Tenth Concession the hired man was chief of staff and chief of everything else. Grandfather was content to use the maple syrup and allow others to go through all the motions of making it. He took it on his oatmeal and he referred always to his oatmeal as "them," which was running true to form for a Scot. Milk was in a cup; there would be a spoon of porridge taken from the dish, then it would be dipped into the cup for the supply of milk.

The hired man was keen on the sugar bush but he did not have much new equipment. Large cans that held axle grease were saved and scoured and scalded and yearly the stock grew. There was a lean-to in the bush built mostly of branches and bark and it was a fair enough place to sit and watch the boiling down. Of course all laws of sanitation were fairly well observed but it is no use making secret of the fact that the kettle which boiled the sap was the same one which used to be set up in the barn yard for a supply of boiling water on the day when a pig was killed.

We read a few days ago a description of a modern sugar plant in Quebec province, telling how sap ran through a pipe line, and of the way in which evaporation is carried out. But it was all foreign as far as the Tenth was concerned. Now and then we'd use the stone boat and a couple of milk cans (which in May to October season went daily to the cheese factory) for gathering in the sap, but much of it was by going around with a couple of pails, and going on foot.

There was always a long green branch and a piece of fat pork tied by a string to the end, and now and then that had to be dipped into the boiling kettle. It sort of brought the scum to the top, or at least that was the claim. Since then we have often wondered why a man crawled under a car when it wouldn't go, or what he did when he got under, and there was always that same sort of feeling about dipping that bit of fat pork into the kettle.

Grandfather's complaint was that it wasn't much use boiling down a lot of syrup because there were too many friends and relatives from the village who always drove out in the spring to make a raid on the supply. And on that score his view was concurred in by the household generally.

The Tenth was a bad road when it broke up in Spring; the mud was good thick mud and it was also deep. The going was bad, but not bad enough to keep the folk in the village from taking a chance at getting through. We always knew what they were going to say when they came—and they always said it. They'd said the same thing before and they knew it off by heart. They were just wondering how we were getting along; they hadn't seen much of us for quite a spell and they started wondering if all was well or if there was sickness abounding. It seems their conscience got so active that they could not sit still at home, but grandfather always used to contend it was mighty strange that their spell of worrying about our health seized on them just about the time the boiling down was getting through.

After they'd settled down in the house for a while and gone through the preliminary bout they'd always swing the conversation around to the maple syrup; it never felt like Spring without a little in the house; it was something like a little black currant jelly in case of sickness; they couldn't depend on what they got in the store, and no place was there anything made like the stuff which came off Lot 4, Concession Ten. Then the folk would weaken and say something about seeing if there was any down cellar. After that there would be a trip out to their buggy in the lane and they'd lift the flap over the box in between the hind wheels and sure enough there would be a sealer in there. They were always surprised it was there, but they always found it.

Grandfather always used to say he never knew any other time of year we had so many friends and relatives in the village, and that was possibly why he never thused up any too much about boiling down in the Spring. And possibly on that point he was right enough.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One trouble in the present war seems to be finding the right place to hold it.

Perhaps the person who started the permanent wave did so after looking at one of those corrugated iron pipes.

Some people do not know what they want and are never satisfied until they get it.

Perhaps you never noticed it—but there are no proper names in the Bible beginning with the letter "W."

Baby in Timmins underwent a successful operation after swallowing a safety pin. Every one is happy now and we understand the safety pin is serving in its usual capacity.

Dominion cabinet was in session for four hours and at the conclusion no announcement was made regarding what was under discussion. That is what makes Ottawa the source of so much interesting news.

Residents of Sarnia who are fond of doing their shopping across the river in Port Huron, Mich., have found their Canadian money so heavily discounted that many of them are doing their spending at home. There are times when it takes a kick in the shins to cause people to see the light.

In a letter to the Examiner reference was made to Mr. Eastwood tendering for the public liability insurance of the city, and there was also reference to Mr. Eastwood's service with the City Trust. That needs explaining. Mr. V. Eastwood, chairman of the City Trust, had nothing whatever to do with tendering for city insurance. The tender was submitted by his son, V. M. Eastwood, and Mr. Eastwood, Sr., had no connection with his business.

NOISES AT NIGHT

(By A.R.K.)

¶ When I get off to bed at night, I always see that things are right, the catch is on the door; the fire is fixed, no fear of gas, eight solid hours of sleep I'll pass, a man don't need much more.

¶ It's nice to rest and contemplate, just edging on the sleepy state, it sort of rests the frame; it's dark outside and I can't see, and that's the way it ought to be, it eases off the strain.

¶ And when I'm starting in to nod, and sleepy ways begin to trod, have dropped my working poise; it's then I quickly raise my dome, and seem to feel so much alone, I think I hear a noise.

¶ And when I'm lying there at night, I know I fixed the door up tight, and locked the windows too; a robber would be foiled I know, he really couldn't make it go, no chance for breaking through.

¶ Should I get up and sneak down stairs, and pounce upon him unawares, perhaps such plan would fail; perhaps I'd better call a cop, and have him quickly on the spot, and lock the man in jail.

¶ And when I've got that figured through, and have decided what to do, and thus have solved my chore; I cock my head and poise my ear, and then it always strikes me queer—don't hear the noise no more.

Murder Was Part of Their Big Business

By Frank Adams in the New York Times

AN ALMOST incredible story of how a group of petty hoodlums terrorized large sections of Brooklyn and extended their racket activities far afield by the use of murder and threats of murder, is being pieced together by investigators under William O'Dwyer, District Attorney of Kings County. The story, as so far relayed to the public by the prosecutor's office, follows:

The so-called murder ring owes its origin to prohibition days, when rival gangs of East New York and Brownsville toughs found it easier to prey on bootleggers, either as hijackers or as guards, than to seek honest work. One gang was headed by Harry (Happy) Maione; the other was led by Abe Reles and Martin (Buggsy) Goldstein.

With the coming of repeal, the rival mobs had to look for other sources of revenue. Until then the two gangs had been enemies, with occasional beatings, stabbings and shootings to give life to their feuds, but as the pickings grew leaner they found it more profitable to combine.

SOON they developed new rackets, preying on loan sharks, on the operators of policy games, on owners of small stores who kept pinball or slot machines in their places of business. Gradually they extended their activities from the congested tenement districts of their own communities into Coney Island and then into other parts of Brooklyn.

They developed an interesting technique for supplying themselves with a never-failing supply of youthful slayers who could do the dirty, dangerous work of the ring then be put off with a mere pittance—often only $10 to $15 for a killing, and on one occasion, at least, a mere $1.

Through their connections with the loan sharks, the ring leaders made it easy for reckless youngsters to borrow heavily that they might impress their girls or gamble. Then when the young hoodlums were hopelessly in debt, they were furnished with guns and told to go out and commit hold-ups to pay off.

After the new recruits had staged a few stick-ups for petty profits, they were hopelessly in the clutches of the ring, which could always hold over them the threat of turning them into the police for long prison terms. They were used for such "rubbings-out" as the gang wanted staged; then, if they got to know too much or to show signs of weakening, they were wiped out by newer recruits at the bidding of the leaders.

The "combination", as it came to be known, achieved such a reputation for efficiency in the underworld that it was retained by such "big shots" as Charles (Lucky) Luciano and Louis (Lepke) Buchalter on a contract basis, and it reached a working agreement with the notorious Purple gang of Detroit, according to the present investigators. Its activities branched out of Brooklyn into the Bronx and into Sullivan County, and there is reason to believe that they extended to other places as well.

THE BREAK which gave Mr. O'Dwyer his first chance to smash the ring came through the fears of Anthony (the Duke) Maffetore, a youthful triggerman for the mob who was jointly indicted with Reles and Goldstein for a slaying. He became convinced that they planned to let him "take the rap" for the killing of which they were jointly accused, while they bribed their own way to freedom.

Persuaded that Mr. O'Dwyer could be trusted to play fair by the fact that when the prosecutor was a county judge in Brooklyn he had shown leniency to a brother of Maffetore, the young gunman not only told told what he knew but persuaded another member of the ring, Abraham (Pretty) Levene, to do likewise. This was not difficult, for Levene had become convinced that he was slated for death by the gang leaders as one who knew too much.

When the police brought in Reles, Goldstein, Harry (Pittsburg Phil) Strauss, Seymour Magoon and 10 or 12 lesser lights of the ring, they sneered at first, confident that no witnesses could be brought to testify against them. But when Reles learned of the extent of the information at Mr. O'Dwyer's command, he decided to try to save his own neck at the expense of his companions by telling all he knew.

PEOPLE STILL RULE

AGNES MACPHAIL, first woman selected o the Canadian Parliament, was among the defeated candidates in the election. When asked for comment afterwards, Miss Macphail replied with severe criticism of the government for having caused dissolution of the last parliament as it did. She said the government had chosen to ignore parliament as the choice of the people and that it was now supreme (instead of the people).

Miss Macphail's criticism may be correct as a matter of logic, for the government actually has been placed in a position of supremacy. It is in effect a dictator. But it differs from the other dictators of the world in that it will again in due time be subject to the will of the people. In the meantime, probably, the people want the government to govern. They want it to be boss of the job. It was put there for that purpose. Notwithstanding what Miss Macphail says it is still subject to public opinion. The people will again have the privilege of the ballot in accordance with the constitution. — Fort Arthur News-Chronicle.

• Two Unite For Peace and War

(Anne O'Hare McCormick in New York Times)

LONDON.—Here at last the shape and scope of this war become clear. Paris is the military headquarters, but London is the capital and nerve centre of the war in which guns, troops, navies and airfleets are but subsidiary arms. Behind London's trenches, its sandbag barricades, its labyrinthine entanglements of red-tape lies the directing brain of the economic struggle. Yesterday this struggle entered a new phase so universal in effect if carried to the limit that one's mixed impressions of Britain as a massive machine being geared for war is overshadowed by a sense that this week marks the decisive turning point of Allied policy. From now on economic warfare begins in earnest, and that means it will press harder month by month on every nation of the world. The solemn declaration of the Supreme War Council outlines the nearest approach to a permanent merger ever made by two great powers. While it was already understood that the French and British Governments would not make separate peace or even discuss separately with a third party the terms on which peace might be made putting this understanding in writing implies important concessions on both sides. Still larger concessions are forecast in the pledge that the two nations maintain "community action in all spheres" in the reconstruction of the international order.

This means Greater Britain definitely abandons the role of Europe's arbiter to throw her own weight as a continental power into the balance. "Today Britain finally bridged the Channel and joined the continent," says a French diplomat. Making herself one with France in peace as well as war she has underwritten French security for an indefinite period and this fact must have an important influence on the settlement for which the two governments bind themselves in advance to agree....

The cardinal point is that the Allies agreed this week to embark on total economic war, and in this case "total" means universal. Not all at once, but as rapidly as they can by pressure at every possible point, they mean to prove that the world is a unit and that war between opposing economic, political and moral systems cannot be localized.

Economic war on the scale now contemplated is as ruinous as military war, but the British are not counting the cost. Two things startle the observer in a first view of wartime Britain. The first is the complete recklessness with which a nation of shopkeepers is ready to impoverish itself to win this struggle. The other is that of the three belligerents, this calm and steady people is by far the most war-like in spirit. The Germans are driven to war, the French are bitterly resigned to it, but the British, once engaged, will halt at nothing to see the battle through.

• Countries Which Have No Friends

EVENTS of the past few days have shown that Germany and Russia are countries without friends. They are not even friends of each other. Stalin has not disguised the fact that he only has use for friends so long as they are useful to him. In other words his association with Hitler is only for what he can get out of it. Premier Molotoff stated plainly the other day, notes St. Thomas Times-Journal, that Russia had no intention of being dragged into the war, and as Germany is the only country that might seek to persuade Russia to come in, that was a notice served to Hitler, Von Ribbentrop and other Nazi leaders, that they can expect no military aid from the Soviet. Russia has had all the military venture she wants since the Finnish campaign showed up her weakness.

Remarkable to relate, Molotoff threw out an olive branch to Great Britain that Russia would like some kind of a trade pact with John Bull, but Russia is not likely to get a cordial response. British public opinion, and Government opinion, too, we believe, is against trading with Russia, which, so far and just as long as it suits her, will send war material and foodstuffs to Germany. The British attitude toward Russia is one of disgust and contempt. Russia does not want to join Germany's war, but it would not be surprising if she were forced into war on her own account. The Allies are not afraid of what she could do; it would be very little owing to geographical conditions. Every Russian port is vulnerable to blockade.

Russia is as friendless as Germany. Latest reports are quite definite that there will be no Berlin-Moscow-Rome axis. Italy wants to have nothing to do with the Soviet. Mussolini was never friendly to Russia; the royal house obviously could not be, and His Holiness the Pope has been most outspoken lately in his condemnation of the Nazis and Communists alike in Poland. It is now apparent that whatever else the Fuehrer went to the Brenner Pass to see the Duce about, one of the items on the agenda was to invite Mussolini to enter a tripartite axis. The invitation was not accepted.

Germany has made a clumsy attempt to embroil the United States into responsibility for stiffening Poland's back to resist the German demands last fall, thereby leading to the war. The instant repudiation came from authorities at Washington and the envoys mentioned will only intensify American hostility toward Germany, even among those who have been throwing bricks at the Allies and criticizing them from the sidlines. It will help break down whatever objection there is in Congress to selling the latest American planes to enable the Allies win the war.

With the Allies preparing for a concentrated diplomatic offensive in the Balkans, there is some hope that the timid neutrals in Scandinavia will be encouraged to adopt a stiffer attitude toward Germany. The Nazis have been winning the diplomatic battle on points so far, but signs are that they have shot everything they have and the swing of battle is veering around to the Allies.

PERILOUS POLICY

A CANADIAN editor (Vancouver News Herald) writes indignantly about the policy of a magazine with a large circulation on both sides of the border. In the United States, he claims, its policy is strongly anti-war and anti-British, while the edition that circulates in Canada is violently patriotic, urging citizens of the Dominion to give their all for the Empire. We can't blame him, as a genuinely patriotic Canadian for resenting this play for Canadian readers and dollars as hypocritical, insincere and essentially dishonest. We can assure him that, if his complaint is soundly based, he can let nature take its course.

The wielder of the printed word can be all things to all men for a brief moment, but he is always eventually caught. We should say that this magazine publisher has already been caught, even though his reversible editorial policy has been exposed in only one paper of small circulation. A people of the intelligence and rugged honesty that characterizes the Canadian won't stand trickery; we believe that they would prefer the American edition standing on its convictions to an adulterated product tailored to an American's conception of their war-time emotions. Their reaction to the latter may be explosive.—Editor and Publisher.

STEPS GOING DOWN

THOSE youths in Brooklyn's murder-for-hire industry, who killed on assignment for as little as a dollar a job, weren't "born killers." Neither were they all products of identifiably bad environment.

Some of them got into the business of incorporated murder as simply as this: They borrowed money from loan sharks, couldn't pay it back, and were coerced into paying their debts and "avoiding legal action" by doing petty misdeeds first; then being forced into more and more felonious acts by threats of exposure, and finally they were assigned to kill.

Monstrous? Surely, and it is easy to see what dupes they were. But it is also easy to read in their plight a lesson on the evolution of criminals from trivial beginnings.—Minneapolis Star-Journal.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And the Jews' passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting: and when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables; and said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house an house of merchandise.

HOW LUCKY

THE Whig-Standard does not condone a lawless attitude on the part of any group, be they civilians or soldiers, but we do say that it is impossible to gather together any large number of men without a few of them causing a disturbance. The inconveniences which we have been asked to bear so far are infinitesimal in comparison with the inconveniences which the soldiers will have to bear later and in comparison with those which civilians in Europe are bearing every day and considering themselves lucky.

We do not say that any group should be given special liberties but we do urge any Kingstonians, who may be tempted to criticize, to stop for a moment and consider just how lucky we are here in Kingston and in Canada. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4. — (ENS)—Town council renewed their fight to enact a bylaw that will compel local junk dealers and auto wreckers either to clean up their premises or get out of the business.

Councillor P. H. Macmillan declared the problem had been wrestled with for the past four years and that nothing had been done about it. He demanded that the existing bylaw should either be enforced or re-drafted for enforcement. He pointed out that although some effort had been made by the offenders to clean up their property adjoining the street last year they were now as bad as ever.

Mayor Long voiced the opinion that the bylaw previously passed was too broad and felt in order to be made effective some changes should be made in it. The clerk was instructed to read the existing bylaw which had specified that the licence set was applicable not only to junk dealers, and auto wreckers but also to anyone dealing in second hand goods which means that several members of the council would be affected it if were enforced. The mayor urged that it be referred back to the legal committee for the necessary changes. The matter was brought up when a councillor said he had received complaints from motorists on Rear street who had found the road partly blocked by wrecked cars.

"This matter has come up for four consecutive years, and we haven't done anything about it yet," declared Councillor Macmillan. "For goodness sake lets get away from this school-boy stuff and do something about it."

"I agree with you," asserted the mayor, "what we should do is send the bylaw back to the legal committee so it can be simplified in order that we can take action." Emphasizing that teeth should be put into the new bylaw the mayor announced that a special meeting would be called as soon as it was ready, and on motion of Councillors Locke and Macmillan it was referred back to the committee which was instructed to leave out the reference to second-hand dealers.

Tag Day For Blind

A request from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to hold a tag day here on September 14th was granted on motion of Deputy Reeve Calver and Councillor Maguire.

The clerk read a letter from the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association which made several recommendations as a result of their inspection here on January 23rd. Certain improvements to the pumping equipment and water mains were advocated. The installation of more hydrants as well as additional hose and chemical extinguishers was urged. According to the Underwriters the fire department should be manned by twenty men of which three, including the chief should be fully paid. On motion of Reeve Calver and Councillor Dorie the report was handed over to the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee who was instructed to bring in a report at the next meeting.

After prices for dust layer had been read by the clerk the chairman of the Road and Bridge committee recommended that no action be taken until ice and snow had been removed to disclose the exact condition of roads.

Replying to an enquiry from council Canada Packers advised that the building located on town property and used by a local drover had been only partly built by the company and completed by the drover, W. F. Scott. Councillor Locke expressed the opinion that if the building could not be used by all drovers it should be either removed from town property or torn down. He moved that a committee comprising chairmen of legal and property committees and town solicitor be formed to deal with the matter in an effort to get the cooperation of the drovers in effecting a settlement of the dispute which had arisen owing to the fact the building had been padlocked by one of the drovers. The committee has full power to act.

License Renewed

Gerald Hay addresesd the council requesting that his license to operate the dance hall be renewed and on motion of Reeve Calver and Councillor Locke the request was granted. It was decided to revise the bylaw dealing with licenses for public halls. Following the request of representatives from Christ Church who held that the license fee of $50 was considerably out of line in view of the small rental they charged, the matter was left with the chairman of the legal committee, A. E. Burgiss, who brought in his report recommending a fee of from $5 to $10 per year for both the parish hall and Masonic Temple. Though Deputy-reeve Harvey Donald felt that a reduction to $10 was adequate Councillor P. H. MacMillan who seconded Councillor Burgiss' motion that a $5 fee be made drew attention to the fact that the parish hall was provided free of charge to the Boy Scouts, an undenominational organization.

It was reported that the sewer on Rear street opposite the Trent Valley Creamery was clogged and Councillor Macmillan recommended that a man hole be placed in the road there to facilitate cleaning it out at regular intervals.

Tax Collector J. C. Birmingham told council the tax roll was ready to be returned claiming there was about $1,000 less in arrears than when the roll was returned in 1939.

When council was advised by Mr. J. P. Archer that premium on their public liability policy which expired April 4th would be increased by approximately $148 to $430.40 members pointed out that the rate had practically doubled in two years and refused to take any action before going into the matter further. Commenting on the advanced premium which the A. E. Wilson Company said was caused by increased number of claims Councillor Locke declared: "It looks to me as if we're just hiring this insurance company as our solicitor with the premium varying in direct proportion to the claims."

"Once the municipality gets ahead they stay there. I never saw a company catch up yet," said Mr. Baine, company representative. On motion of Councillor Macmillan the mayor appointed a committee investing in them power to act on the matter before April 4th.

Tourist Advertising

T. L. Ashton addressed council with regard to advertising in the Examiner's vacation edition. A motion was passed authorizing the purchase of a ful page in the edition providing the Utilities Commission would absorb half the cost.

The clerk was instructed to write a letter to the Department of Highways engineer at Port Hope requesting that a guard rail be installed along the south side of Hastings Road.

A ripple of laughter went through the gallery when it was revealed the council had been "stuck" for burying a dead calf. Reeve Calver read the accounts and when he came to the item of $2 for burying two cats and a calf. He asked if any of the members knew about it but none did. The assumption was made that a township resident had brought the animal in to ship and that it died on the way. The farmer apparently was disgusted and rather than take it home decided to let the town bury it.

Red Cross Meeting

Mrs. Steve Twigg, secertary of the local branch of the Red Cross Society urged members to remember there was still plenty of work to do in the rooms despite the nice wreather and spring house-cleaning. A considerable amount of work was done at their meeting this afternoon when it was announced the ten-cent teas would be called off until further notice. It was decided to take up a collection instead. A general meeting of workers is slated to be held in the library on Thursday evening.

Milan, Italy, will hold an international automobile exposition in the fall.

Dies Suddenly

Eldest of the famed Westmore brothers, Hollywood makeup artists, Montague "Monte" Westmore, 39, died suddenly of a heart attack which struck without warning in Hollywood hospital. He had entered the hospital for a tonsillectomy, and was believed to be making excellent progress when the attack occurred, which was attributed by doctors to overwork. He was still receiving plaudits for his work in "Gone With the Wind" for which he had full charge of make-up.

TRY THIS BAKED BEAN DISH —It's Different!

COMBINATION BAKED BEAN CASSEROLE
Arrange in alternate layers in casserole, having two layers of each, 1 medium (16 Fluid ozs. size) tin Heinz Oven-Baked Beans with pork and tomato sauce and 1 medium (17½ oz.) tin Heinz Oven-Baked Red Kidney Beans. Spread over each layer a small amount of Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Cut 3 large slices bacon in halves. Arrange over top. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 35 minutes. (Serves 6.)

EVERYONE agrees—Heinz Oven-Baked Beans taste just like the home-baked kind! That's because we bake beans your way—in hot, dry ovens, until every bean is mealy, munchy, digestible. We drench them in distinctive rich sauces to meet your preference. And bring them to you all ready to heat and serve. Four luscious kinds, each a thrifty answer to hearty bean feasts the whole family will enjoy!

Claims Cancer Increasing Across States

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP).—Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, declared today that Cancer is increasing in the United States.

"It is becoming more and more important as both a personal and a public health problem," Parran said in an interview at the start of "Cancer-Control Month" designated by President Roosevelt.

The increase is caused in large part, he explained, by the advancing average age of the population. Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the country, having taken more than 140,000 lives during the past year.

"Early diagnosis and treatment would have undoubtedly prevented the deaths of thousands of these people," Dr. Parran said.

Since 1937 the public health service, through the National Cancer Institute, has subsidized 19 individuals and institutions with research grants, has trained 36 specialists and diagnosis and treatment of Cancer, has helped finance research work of 24 scientists into the origin and spread of Cancer, and has distributed about $200,000 worth of Radium to hospitals for Cancer treatment without cost to the patients.

20 Specialists at Work

The service has built a special research laboratory at Suburban Bethesda, Md., where 20 Scientists are studying the disease and coordinating knowledge gleaned from other research centres.

"A great deal is known about Cancer but a great deal more remains to be learned in the comprehensive, coordinated research drive against it," Dr. Parran said. "We know, for instance, that certain coal tars and petroleum products will produce it, that heridity plays an important part, and that the sex hormones have some relationship to the causation of Cancer."

The most important thing to remember during National Cancer month, he added, is that Cancer can be cured if discovered early and treated properly with surgery, X-Rays or Radium.

Hardest Hit By Pennsylvania Floods

A closeup aerial shot of part of the residential section of Plymouth, showing the extent to which the flood has inundated this section. Plymouth is believed to be hardest hit by the flood that spread from the swollen Susquehanna River, boosted to flood stage by torrential rain and melting snows. Many families have been forced to flee to higher ground, with coast guard boats evacuating those in the danger zone. Nine persons have lost their lives in the floods.

Cavan W.I. Meets

CAVAN, April 3—(ENS). — Mrs. Oakley Carley on Thursday was hostess for the March meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute. The vice-president, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, was in the chair. The roll call answered by naming a country from which "we get our new Canadians."

Mesdames O. Carley, N. Braithwaite, M. Byers and K. Braithwaite were named as a nominating committee for the annual meeting and election of officers in April, which will be in charge of Mrs. J. H. Snider's group. The topic for the meeting was Canadianization.

Mrs. Melville Carr gave an interesting paper on the origin of the flag and Mrs. Carley on immigration laws. The serving of lunch and a short social time concdued a pleasant afternoon.

FDR And Dewey Easy Victors

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP).—President Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey emerged to-day as easy victors in Wisconsin's presidential primaries, but the complicated balloting system may cut into their slates of national convention delegates.

Followers of the two men also won the only contests for district delegates in New York.

Mr. Roosevelt, still silent on the third term issue, led Vice-President John Garner by nearly a 3-1 ratio in the Wisconsin preferential voting on the Democratic ticket.

On the Republican ballot, delegates-at-large pledged to District Attorney Dewey of New York ran about 2-1 ahead of the ticket supporting Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Wisconsin, which has 24 votes in each national convention, provided the first direct test of third-term sentiment at the polls. Although the President did not give or withhold his consent, two rival Roosevelt slates were entered.

Consequently, the vote for third-term delegates was split, raising the possibility that in final returns one or more Garner delegates might slip int othe elected group.

Yesterday's contests in New York applied only to a fraction of the big bloc of delegates. Garner forces made an unsuccessful challenge in four New York city districts, failing to Democratic organization candidates by ratios extending from 2 to 1 to 8 to 1.

Two Great Cows

OTTAWA, April 4—(CP).—The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association announced last night two more Canadian Ayrshire cows, South Craig Princess Royal, owned by I. D. Ramer of Richmond Hill, Ont., and Fairfield Grace, a 15-year-old member of the provincial school farm at La Gorgendiere, Que., have been added to the "hundred thousand pound milk production" or gold seal class. South Craig Princess Royal produced 100,507 pounds milk and 4,230 pounds butterfat in eight lactation periods while Fairfield Grace produced 106,233 pounds milk and 4,502 pounds butterfat in nine lactation periods.

Bridgenorth Group Ends Winter Games

BRIDGENORTH, April 4—(ENS)—A progressive crokinole party was held by the United church choir in the basement of the church on Wednesday evening. Nine tables were filled with players. Mr. Ralph Jopling proved to be the champion crokinole player for the season when he again carried off the prize for the gentlemen. Miss Betty Pettersone won the ladies' prize. Everyone enjoyed the lunch of fruit bread, tarts, and tea, provided by the ladies.

The road from Bridgenorth to Selwyn has now been opened up after last week's storm. The roads were so impassable that only 242 votes were cast out of a possible 377 at the polling booths here last Tuesday.

Miss Dorothy Matthews visited friends in the village on Saturday.

Miss Ina Robinson spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and especially for its Vitamin B1 (Thiamin) content and its economy!

Great British Food Authority PRAISES PORRIDGE

Broadcasting from the British Broadcasting Corporation on January 1st, 1940, this great food authority said:→

"There is a vitamin called B1 which is believed to be of special value in keeping the digestive tract and nervous system healthy. Some food products are advertised and sold at a high price because they are rich in B1."

"Well, there is more of this vitamin in oatmeal than in almost any other common food.

"Porridge and milk are better for you than bacon and eggs. They are far cheaper."

And Quaker Oats for years has said:

"Vitamin B1 (Thiamin) is absolutely essential to healthy life; without it you develop headaches, irritability, 'nerviness', lose weight and strength.

"Quaker Oats is a rich and economical source of Vitamin B1 (Thiamin)—vital to our existence.

"Quaker Oats contains vital health elements. It is doubly nourishing, for in addition to Vitamin B1 (Thiamin), it is also rich in muscle-building protein, with valuable phosphorus and iron!

"Quaker Oats is a delicious creamy breakfast food that everyone can buy. Costs less than ½ cent per serving."

Also you can be sure that Quaker is always fresh—and always clean. It does not stand about in bins or open sacks. It reaches you in hermetically sealed packages as fresh as it left the mill.

Presbytery Executive Will Visit Lakefield

Mrs. G. Lee, fellowship convenor of St. Andrew's church, Lakefield, presented an interesting paper on "Fellowship in the Society" at the regular meeting, Monday evening.

She told of the necessity of harmonious meetings if any society is to successful. Bill Clark read the scripture reading which was in keeping with the topic.

During the business period in which Mary Blewett presided, plans were made for the next meeting when the executive of the presbytery will be guests of the society.

The remainder of the evening was spent in contests, stunts and a treasure trail program, with Mrs. A. Boyce, Jean Clark and Phyllis Webdale in charge. The serving of apples and homemade candy brought the meeting to a close.

Before dispersing Rev. J. M. Young presented the Mizpah Benediction.

Warkworth Play Well Received

WARKWORTH, April 4 (ENS)—A three-act comedy play, "Mama's Baby Boy," was presented Friday night in the town hall under auspices of the Young People's Association of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

The large audience enjoyed one of the most delightful entertainments which had been given in some time.

Mrs. Carman Carlaw who directed the play was highly complimented on her success.

Although humor dominated the entire performance a well developed plot was expertly handled by a cast that included Doris Weatherson, Bill Johnson, Max Thain, June Killingbeck, Eva Wier, Sam Black, Myrtle Dudley, Lenore Isaac, Maisie Jenkinson, Bess Grant and Bob Carlaw.

Between acts Norma and Jessie Potter received much well deserved applause for their vocal duets also Sam Black for his vocal solos.

The pianists for the evening were Elaine Grant and Mrs. J. H. Black.

Rev. G. R. Duncan thanked all those who helped to make the evening's entertainment a success.

Following the program the cast were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oney Isaac and a beautiful tablecloth was presented to Mrs. Carmen Carlaw.

Obituary

WILLIAM THOMAS WHITFIELD.

The funeral of the late William Whitfield was held from the Comstock Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon. A large number of relatives, friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to one who had been loved and esteemed by them all.

William Whitfield was one of North Monaghan's best known citizens and he leaves behind him a large circle of friends. He will long be remembered for his uprightness of character, his desire to help all those in need and his ability to cope with any situation.

Born in North Monaghan eighty-two years ago, son of John and Isabel Whitfield, he came of fine pioneer stock. He spent his entire life on the farm which his father bought and cleared. It was this old homestead which was destroyed by fire just two weeks before Mr. Whitfield's passing.

He was a former member of the township council, as well as having held various other township positions, including assessor and tax collector.

He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters. In politics he was a Conservative and in religion was a member of Springville United Church, to which he gave his wholehearted support. For thirty years he was the missionary treasurer of the church.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Hortensa Thorndyke of Bethany and four children: Mrs. L. Renner of San Francisco, Robert of New Orleans, George and John of North Monaghan.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. F. Everson of Springville, assisted by Rev. A. H. MacConnachie of Peterborough.

The Order of Foresters was represented by Messrs. Matchett, Sargent, Adams and Hardwick.

The pallbearers were four elders of Springville Church: M. H. Johnston, Willis Tully, Sidney Connell, Sidney Fairbairn, and Harold Cathcart and George Patton.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Hastings

Mrs. J. E. Glover was in charge of the worship period of Trinity Young People's Society meeting, held on Monday evening, which included the singing of the hymn "My Jesus I Have Promised"; scripture reading by Miss Rhea Preston; a talk on the Easter scripture by Mrs. J. E. Glover, and prayer by Miss Helen Collins.

Misses Frances Hoard and Doreen Fleming, the Christian Fellowship conveners presented the following program: Reading by Mrs. Cecil Oliver entitled "Wednesdays"; solo by Miss Margaret Johnston of Havelock, "South of the Border"; monologue, "The Forgetter," by Miss Ruby Fleming; orchestra music by Messrs. L. Drope, W. W. Knight, C. Blackbourne, Earl Darling and Marvyn Preston. An April Fool contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fleming were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fox. Master Joey Fleming accompanied them home after spending his Easter holidays with his aunt and uncle.

Miss Jessie Lamb spent Easter with Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Newell of Fenelon Falls.

Misses Clarine and Margaret Scriver returned home after a ten-day visit with their mother in Kitchener.

Miss Margaret Johnston of Havelock is a guest of Misses Ruby and Doreen Fleming.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES CONCLUDES GIRLS' BASKETBALL SEASON

Victors Receive Trophies At Y.W. Banquet

The Ladies' Basketball League concluded another successful season last night with a banquet and presentation of prizes in the Recreation Room of the Y.W.C.A. An enthusiastic gathering of 75 people sat down to an enjoyable repast, followed by a sing-song, speeches and the presentations.

Mrs. H. R. Kenner welcomed the guests in a brief speech and Rev. R. T. F. Brain said grace. The ladies served up an excellent meal and the girls and men joined in a number of songs then, led by Joe Cooper with Irene Quinlan at the piano. Various sections of the long tables, laid out four-square and decorated in green and white, sang in turn and then the whole chorus swung in.

Howie Macdonald, league president and toastmaster, called for a toast to the King, later outlining the season's activities. He pointed out that the schedule, a triple one, started in November, "taking advantage of our fine new gym here," and was the longest season on record. Mr. Macdonald thanked his fellow officers and the various teams for their co-operation during the winter months. Dorothy Weese gave the toast to basketball, and it was responded to by Teresa Laws.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker of the evening was Stan Shields, former league president and former C.G.E. coach. Mr. Shields spoke in humorous vein at first and then dealt with basketball, touching on its value in several respects. "If we had the sociable contacts of this game in world affairs," he stated, "there would be a whole lot more harmony throughout the world between the nations." He stressed the value of co-ordination as being so marked in basketball and felt it was the best all-around sport of all for girls.

Miss C. Littlefield called up the girls of winning and runners-up teams for the presentation of trophies and pins, the presentations being done by Mrs. R. E. Cutting and Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner. The senior trophy went to Quaker Aces, with "Y" Gym being runners-up, and the junior cup was taken by St. John's with Westclox runners-up. The Orfuns are still engaged in L.O.B.A. playoffs.

Present Coaches

The different clubs then presented their coaches with tokens of esteem, the coaches being: W. Thirnbeck of Westclox, Z. Levine of Orfuns, K. Gillespie of Quaker Debs, H. Smith of "Y" Gym, H. Macdonald of Quaker Aces, and Bob Dyer of St. John's. Other presentations were made to the popular referee, Joe Cooper; the scretary, Sybil Ecobichon; the press; and to E. Neiman, collector at the league games.

Following singing of "O Canada," the place was cleared and many remained to dance, music being supplied by Irene Quinlan and Mickey Foster.

Among the guests present to help the members of the teams and officers conclude a successful season were: Rev. R. T. F. Brain, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gentles, Dr and Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, John Stewart, Jr., Mrs. F. D. Craig, Miss Alma Dobbin, Miss F. Brownscombe, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Levine, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Latimer, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooper, Mrs. G. Groombridge, E. Neiman, and others

Puckists Await Protest In Intermediate

(Ottawa Journal)

MIDDLETON, N.S., April 2. — (CP).—Protest of Summerside Crystals against their defeat by Glace Bay Xidos for the Maritime intermediate hockey championship is in the hands of the executive of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association and a decision is expected tomorrow night, President Hanson Dowell of the M.A.H.A., said here tonight.

Defeated 11-9 in the two-game, total-goal series played at Glace Bay, Summerside protested decisions by Referee-in-Chief John Morris in the second game, won 7-3 by Glace Bay.

Details have been sent to the 19 members of the association's executive and answers are expected tomorrow, the president said. He added that if the protest were upheld, the second game of the series would be replayed.

Play Maxville

Winners of the round will meet Maxville Millionaires, Ottawa and District intermediate champions. Survivors of this round will advance against the Ontario Hockey Association champions for the Eastern Canadian title.

President Dowell said that efforts are being made to establish, within the next two or three years, a Canadian intermediate championship. Western Canada already have championship playdowns and efforts to set up a similar round in Eastern Canada this season is a step toward the Dominion competition.

Millionaires Ready

Speaking to The Journal last night, Clark Hoople, coach of Maxville Millionaires, stated that the Ottawa and District intermediate champions are ready to leave for the Maritimes as soon as the protest between Glace Bay and Summerside has been settled. The Millionaires will hold daily workouts on their home ice until the day they leave. Every member of the squad is in fine shape.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Special train leaves here at 6.30 tomorrow e'en for Oshawa and it ought to see the biggest exodus of puck fans from this city in years. On account of folks are het up and want to see the Petes win the O.H.A. title over Kitchener Friday p.m. in the Motor City. The C.N.R. choo-choo arrives in Oshawa at eight bells (where busses are available from the staton to the arena) and leaves on the return trip at 11.30. Fare, according to the ads, is $1.35 round trip for adults and 75c for kids. Hockey tickets for the reserved seats are six bits—well, then, 75—and are on sale at Raine's, Jay's and Riley's. Rush seats sell at the Oshawa rink.

* * * * * * *

Gradually the hockey fans of the city have arrived at the conclusion that we have a real puck championship outfit this year here. No flukey bunch—as some intimated in some of the round-robin games—but a consistent winner on home ice and away againts the pick of intermediate "A" teams in the province. Or senior "B", if ya wish. And the club is a well-balanced, young, classy and fighting outfit. In the pink of condish and not going stale, though the lads started practicing on ice in November and are just now in April finishing up a hard season. With many a long trip behind 'em. Another thing, this is practically a home-brew squad, and even the 1926 senior champs here couldn't boast of that. Not with Bailey, McLeod, Bogardis and Cox.

* * * * * * *

Salt Of The Earth

Of the present pack of Petes, Harding, Ellis, Gardner, Burton, Kingdon, Heal, Starr and Coughlin are all Peterborough chaps. Jack Jopling, Frank Jopling and Joe Blewett are from the close-by district, within a radius of 10 miles—the Joplings of Bridgenorth and Blewett of Lakefield. That leaves Don Crowe of Toronto and Honey Tompkins of Deseronto, but both came here several years ago as juniors and have settled here definitely. No intentions of leaving. Heal played in the Omemee loop last year, Burton was in Lakefield, Ellis was down in Florida, Drake Jopling was up north, Blewett in Lakefield, and Jack Jopling at St. Mike's. They're altogether this year as a winning club.

* * * * * * *

It might be just as well for the puckists and local fans not to bank too much on the Petes copping the title in Oshawa tomorrow eve. We believe they will, but it's not a lead-pipe cinch by any means. The fast-stepping Greenshirts (angry enough now to do plenty of chopping and bumping) seem to think they can force at least a fourth fray and the speedy Buckaroos will have to be in top form Friday to win the duke in three straight. Their task will be about as soft as a banker's heart, but who thought the local lads would ride into Kitchener last Monday and cop a 5-2 smirk? It'll be a dandy duel before a roaring crowd of customers.

As Summer Draws On

Puck playoffs proceed apace as balmy weather hovers just around the corner. It sort of looks like the Leafs are gonna be falling in less than a week as Rangers cop the Stanley Cup. Oshawa Generals are into Eastern Canada junior "A" finals now 'gainst Verdun, while the Allan Cup semi-finals continue. Whitby is one up after the first of the two-in-three intermediate "B" finals with Seaforth, and the junior "B" round-robin draws nearer the finish. And, of course, the Petes can end their O.H.A. hunt tomorrow night in Oshawa with a win. All hockey will be over by the middle of the month—and high time, for the love o' Michael, too!

* * * * * * *

Elsewhere in tonight's sheet, appears a clipping from the Ottawa Journal concerning the proposed Eastern Canada intermediate "A" hockey playoffs. Seems they're still dallying down around the Maritimes over a protest—and said kick being over a referee's decision, of all things! Nova Scotia, being such a far-flung empire, the executive couldn't be called together, so reports were mailed to all members, and now the two clubs (Glace Bay Xidos and Summerside Crystals) are waiting word on the protest ruling. Meantime, Maxville Millionaires, Ottawa and District champs, are waiting for the semi-final series with the Maritimes, winner to then tackle the Petes, if we win O.H.A. honors. According to the clipping, the Ottawa outfit intends to travel to Nova Scotia. Hmm.

Santa Claus Affair

Not since Christmas have we seen so many gifts passed around as last night in the Y.W. Recreation Room. Occasion was the annual banquet to wind up the Ladies' Basketball League season. Some 75 lasses, ladies and gents sat down to the spread, listened to interesting speeches, went to town on "Home On The Range," "Irish Eyes" and several more lilting numbers, and then came the shower of presentations. Trophies went to the senior gals' champs, Quaker Aces, junior winners, St. John's, and the runners-up, "Y" Gym and Westclox. The Orfuns are now in the L.O.B.A. hunt, going to St. Kitts this Saturday with a 22-point lead. Stan Shields was guest speaker last night, and a prominent array of guests—as well as the girl players and officials—enjoyed the affair, ably handled by the loop prexy, Howie Macdonald.

Bees hummed in the first half last eve at the Y.M. and stored up sufficient points to coast home a 37-25 winner over Zephyrs in the first of the men's cage loop fnals. It's a three-game serial, next tilt being about next Tuesday or Wednesday. The Zephyrs—according to the ancent Greeks, Zephyrus was god of the winds—aren't gone with the wind yet, by any means. They had plenty of chance and held their own in the last half but, like a palsied private in the army, lacked accuracy in their shooting. Thorburn and McArthur topped the victors in sniping, while Stewart and Dougherty counted most tallies for the Zephyrs. A neat tilt.

Bees Win First Game Of The Finals In City Circuit

Cashing in much more effectively on their scoring opportunities, the Bees triumphed over Zephyrs 37 to 25 in the first game of the final two-out-of-three series for the City Basketball League championship in the Y.M.C.A. gym on Wednesday night. It was the eighth consecutive win for the Bees.

There never was much doubt of the result of Wednesday night's battle. The Bees flashed in front in the first few minutes and were never seriously challenged afterward, although the result would have been much closer if the Zephyrs' shooting had not been weak. They had possession of the ball a lot and had frequent opportunities but their marksmanship was away off color, both from the field and on their foul throw chances. Eighteen fouls were called against the winners, but the Zephs cashed in on only three, while the Bees converted five out of ten.

It was a lively game, with both teams moving at top speed from start to finish and the chief difference being the much more accurate shooting of the winners, with Thorburn and McArthur finding the mark. The green-shirted Zephs handled the ball smartly and never stopped trying and the result was a fast, hard-fought battle, well handled by the officials, Dr. Worton and "Curley" Krug.

Bees opened the scoring right after the start with Thorburn tossing in the first basket and in less than two minutes they were leading 5 to 0. All through the first half the winners set the pace and at the half were leading 21 to 9. It would have been a whole lot closer, however, if the losers had had any idea of where the basket was on their free throws. They muffed ten out of eleven chances in the first half.

Even in Second.

In the second session the teams split even in the matter of scoring, each registering sixteen points. The big lead the Bees carried over from the first half was never threatened as they tossed basket for basket with the losers throughout the stanza.

For the winners Jimmy Thorburn led the attack with seventeen points, tossing in eight field baskets and one foul thrown and Pete McArthur was a useful second with ten points. Rogow and Ascott did a nice job as guards and Eric Taylor also turned in a good game.

Joe Stewart was the leading Zephyr marksman, cashing in with eleven points, while Jack Dougherty contributed six to the total. The rest of the squad battled hard all the way and they had more of the actual play than the score indicates.

The line-ups:

Bees (37)—Centre, Craig; forwards, Thorburn 17, McArthur 10; guards, Ascott 2, Rogow 4; alternates, Taylor 4, Whaley.

Zephyrs (25) — Centre, Stewart 11; forwards, Dougherty 5, Dyer 2; guards, Sedgewick 4, West 2; alternate, Jeffries.

Referee—Dr. Worton. Umpire — C. M. Krug. Timer—B. Harle. Scorer—W. Ferguson.

Salaries of the Cyprus Government Railway totaled about $60,000 last year.

Cricket Notes

The annual spring meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock. Various matters of detail were left over at the fall meeting, so all members are urged to turn up with any suggestions for the coming season. One thing will have to be faced, and that is the fact that the price of equipment, already high, will be 10 to 20 per cent higher this season.

The Toronto Cricket Council has a special meeting on April 17 to complete details for the season.

As the two local clubs meet many of the Toronto League teams we give some details of the set-up.

The Council this year will consist of 22 teams divided into four divisions—The Continental Life with 6 teams; Toronto C.C.; Dentonia, Broadview; Yorkshire; C.N.R.A. and West Toronto. Godin section (6) with Kentish, Grace Church, Eglinton I, St. Edmund's, St. Clair, and Parkdale. Rawlinson section (6), with Consumers Gas, Scarboro, Riverdale St. Barnabas, Oshawa and West Indians. Eastmuir section (4) Dovercourt, St. Simon's, Eglington II and West Toronto II.

Old friends and opponents of both local clubs—St. Edmund's—will be strengthened by the return to the fold of Art Brown who for the last two seasons has been playing for Riverdale. This will be a severe blow to the latter club as he has practically "carried" them during the last two season. Ian Mackenzie has returned from the Old Country, and the return of these two players will greatly strengthen St. Edmund's. They have also in their team a former Peterborough player, Hedley Shaw; and Bert Adams will once more be secretary.

Ont. Golf Association Sets 1940 Dates

TORONTO, April 4.—Ontario's two major golf championships, the amateur and the open, will be played on courses fairly convenient to this city, the 36-hole test for the open being scheduled for the Erie Downs Golf and Country Club, Fort Erie, on Thursday and Friday, August 15 and 16, and the amateur at the Summit Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 21-22. These two selections, along with nine others, were made at a meeting of the directors of the Ontario Golf Association on Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting, which was one of the largest-attended in the history of the association, allotted the dates for all five Provincial championships, the spring and fall tournaments and for four invitation tournaments and the list of competitions will be increased when applications for invitation tournaments are received from clubs.

An invitation tourney was sanctioned for the Kawartha Club in Peterborough on August 3.

No Johnstowns In Fitz Hat For This Derby

NEW YORK, April 4 — (AP). — Taking it by and large, there apparently isn't another three-year-old Johnstown, Gallant Fox, or Omaha kicking around in the hay of sunny Jim Fitzsimmons' barns these spring mornings. But that's not saying Mr. Fitz won't be in there pitching with a chance to pull one out of the hat come Derby Day.

Sunny Jim has eight eligibles for the Kentucky Derby on May 4 — five belong to the Belair Stables, owned by William Woodward, and three to Wheatley Stables, owned by Mrs. H. C. Phipps. Not one of them is rated more than an outside chance to beat Bimelich or Andy K in the big race at Churchill Downs.

Yet, Mr. Fitz beams that big smile and maintains that he's not worrying.

"Four of the eight are coming along right nice," he said. "Of those we're thinking of for the Derby, only Merry Knight is still off for this period in his training."

Fenelon, the Sir Halahad III, colt, is the one that has been tabbed by "experts" as most likely to succeed. But his Belair stablemate, Dusky Fox, and a pair of Diavolo colts, Asp and Snow Ridge, from the Wheatley barn, also fit into Sunny Jim's plans. In addition, there is another Gallant Fox hopeful, Sun Fox, which is not eligible for the Derby, but might surprise in the Preakness a week later.

Nazis have queer logic. They demand "living room" because they are overcrowded — and put a price on bachelorhood so that there may be little Nazis to fill the spaces they demand! HEXTALL SCORES THREE GOALS TO GIVE RANGERS SECOND WIN

Ramping Hextall Paces 6-2 Win Over Leafs

NEW YORK, April 4.—(CP)—The "Hex" is on Toronto Maple Leafs, as if a New York Ranger hockey team without an "evil eye" wasn't enough to overcome in a Stanley Cup final series.

The "Hex," better known as Bryan Hextall, the National League's leading goalgetter during the regular season, hadn't scored a playoff goal until last night. Before the right-wing sharpshooter had finished his first sustained firing, he had unloaded both barrels for three goals and a 6-2 Ranger victory.

So the scene of the best-of-seven final shifts to Toronto with the Leafs in the unenviable position of having to win four of five games to take the cup. Just about everyone but the Leafs—and they weren't at all positive in their rebuttal—were convinced there isn't a club around that could take four in five from this streamlined Ranger outfit.

Bryan Hextall

They poured on speed, power and finesse in about equal quantities for their second straight victory—far different than the bare 2-1 overtime edge they gained in the series opener Tuesday night. They even spotted the Leafs two quick goals early in the game and wiped them out.

Horner Off For 3 Goals

The fact the Rangers scored three times while Reg Horner, the sorrel-topped Leaf defenceman, was serving penalties didn't take the slighest edge off the victory. The Rangers would have won anyway and the Leaf coach, Dick Irvin, admitted it after the game. Like men of destiny, the Rangers laid on pressure after Billy Taylor and Hank Goldup put the Leafs two up and, at the end, the pressure had left a riddled opposition for the Rangers to sift through.

Hextall pumped home his first goal late in the first period to cut the Leaf edge in half, then Babe Pratt tied the score early in the second period and Hextall put the Blueshirts in front while Horner served the second of three tripping penalties—all for spilling Hextall.

All the signs were available then, before the opening of the third-period debacle, that the Leafs were through — their offensive spent against flying forwards, a tight defence and the brilliant work of Dave Kerr in goal. But the Rangers still were coming fast and Hextall got his third in six minutes of the final period. While Horner watched from the penalty box again, Dutch Hiller and Lyn Patrick swept in the last goals within a minute of each other.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4—(AP)—Bob Feller against Carl Hubbell is to be presented here today as Cleveland Indians and New York Giants resume their battling. The Indians triumphed yesterday, but lost the services of Pitcher Willis Hudlin for a few days after a smash by Ben Chapman in batting practice struck him leg.

FORT WORTH, Tex.— Although Philadelphia Athletics have won only three out of 16 exhibition games against major league rivals, Connie Mack isn't discouraged. "I have had to do a lot of experimenting and no single lineup ever has been in action nine innings," he said. "But I am positive my team is better than last year."

TULSA, Okla.—New York Yankees appear to be in first rate shape as far as their pitching—or for that matter, all departments—are concerned.

Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez have looked good along with various rookies in early Spring campaigning. Monte Pearson came along yesterday and hurled five perfect innings of no-hit, no-run, no man to first baseball. And her hit a two-run homer, too.

ORLANDO, Fla. — It's an "iffy" proposition, but Washington Senators have figured how they'll finish in the first division of the American League. They count on Dutch Leonard to win 20 games, Ken Chase and Joe Krakauskas, ex-Hamiltonian, for 35 together, Joe Haynes for 15 and young Sid Hudson for 12. That's 82 victories and 81 was good enough to fourth last year. Four other hurlers ought to win one or two apiece.

Thistle, Edmonton Tangling Tonight

EDMONTON, April 4 — (CP). — Kenora Thistles and Edmonton Athletic Club open a best-of-five series for the Western junior hockey championship here to-night.

The second game of the round between the highly-favored Thistles, Manitoba champions, and the E. A. C.'s, Western titlists last year, will be played here on Saturday, with the remaining games in Winnipeg next week.

Against the bristling forward lines bruising defence and brilliant goalkeeping of Kenora, Edmonton has a team built around two players—Defenceman Ken (Beans) Reardon and Forward Elmer Kreller, the boy who "shadowed" Billy Taylor of Oshawa Generals in the Canadian final last year.

Oshawa Polishes Dome Off In 10-1 Match

TORONTO, April 4.—(CP)—The edge taken off their game in the series with South Porcupine, Oshawa Generals went out today to work up some polish for their meeting here Friday night against Verdun in the Eastern Canada junior hockey finals. The Quebec champions are bound to be tougher than the Porkies who took a 20-2 beating in goals in the two games that decided the all-Ontario titlist.

Last night Oshawa again won 10-1 to match the score in the first game against the Porkies. One of the goals was scored by Jud McAtee on a penalty shot. Jud McAtee got one other goal while Gar Peters and Orv Smith also scored twice. Norm McAtee, Roy Sawyer, George Ritchie, and Ron Wilson counted the other four.

Red Doran tallied for the Porkies when he broke through the Oshawa defence in the first period and pushed Goalie Dinny McManus and puck into the net.

Twenty-three penalties were handed out during the orgy of tripping, slashing and butt-ending. Oshawa drew 14, one a match penalty that went to Sawyer.

Unbeaten Bear Cats Meet Stampeders

SASKATOON, April 4—(CP). — Port Arthur Bear Cats carry an undefeated 1940 play-off record into the best-of-five Western Senior Hockey final with Calgary Stampeders opening here tonight. Second game will be played here Saturday with the third in Calgary Monday.

Bear Cats, with almost the same team that won the Allan Cup last Spring by beating Montreal Royals three games to one in the final, have won 10 games without a setback since they started the Thunder Bay League final with Geraldton Gold Miners on March 7.

The champions whipped Miners in three straight games, took Fort Frances Maple Leafs in two straight in the Thunder Bay District final, repeated against the Manitoba representatives, Winnipeg Rifles, and downed Moose Jaw Millers, Saskatchewan titleholders, in three straight games.

Montreal Chalmers Capture Cage Crown

MONTREAL, April 4 — (CP). — Carrying a 12-point deficit into the game, Montreal Chalmers United defeated Mormons 43-26 last night, to capture its second straight provincial senior church basketball crown. Chalmers dropped the first match 45-33 but took the total-point series 76-70.

The winners now enter the inter-provincial playoff, meeting Welland Maple Leaf Mission, Ontario titlists, here on April 12-13 in a two-game total-point series.

Diamond Meteors!

McGRAW ROSE TO BASEBALL TOP BY AGGRESSIVE PERSONALITY

By Central Press Canadian

Plain pugnacity helped John J. McGraw lift himself from obscurity to fame and riches in baseball.

The "Little Napoleon" of the diamond was one of the toughest, most aggressive, two-fisted little men in the history of the game. McGraw combined his personal velocity with a fine, schooled cunning to develop the baseball strategy that was his watchword.

McGraw was working his way through school near his little up-state New York home when baseball's scouts first found him. An agent from the Olean, Pa., club offered him $50 a month. He took it. Mac was switched off the mound to the infield—to his extreme vocal dissatisfaction.

Wanted To Pitch

McGraw was still demanding a post on the pitching slab when the Baltimore Orioles picked him up. Manager Edward Hanlon had a showdown with the angry McGraw. He plumped Mac down on the third sack and told him to stay there. Mac did stay there and he was one of the spark plugs which made the Orioles the fastest-stepping team in the country—from 1894 to '98.

'Mac,' 'Muggsy,' 'Little Napoleon'—they called him by all these names—came through in the pinches when the Orioles needed him. It was typical of McGraw, typical of baseball. McGraw had his eye on the heights, and nothing could swerve him from the career he had set his heart on while still an inexperienced boy.

McGraw became a superb batter. Experts say he was the hardest-hitting third sacker the game ever had. His base stealing amounted to grand larceny. In 1,080 games McGraw stole 447 bases. It was woe to any man who blocked a base path when little Mac hurled his 155 pounds and gleaming spikes at the bag.

Won Ten Pennants

McGraw was good and he knew it. With Napoleonic candor he demanded top salary from the St. Louis Nationals in 1900 and got it, $9,000 for one season.

McGraw's fame skyrocketed when he joined the New York Giants in 1902 as third baseman and manager. He two-fisted the club into second place in the 1903 race and won the pennant next year.

He won 10 penants, got the Giants into second place 10 times, four times in third and twice in fourth position. McGraw's tongue was tough as his fists and many an umpire burned under his lashing vocabulary.

But John McGraw's heart was soft as an over-ripe tomato. He helped many an old-timer through the pinches in life. When he died in 1934, the poor boy from the little up-state New York town left a large estate, a well-spent life and an army of friends.

9,000 Fans To See Sydney In Last Stand?

OTTAWA, April 4 (CP)—It's zero hour for Sydney Millionaires tonight when they meet Kirkland Lake Blue Devils for the third time in their Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-final series and probably a record crowd of more than 9,000 fans will take in the action.

Kirkland Lake, winners of the first game of the best-of-three series 6-3 in Toronto last Saturday, were slight favorites to oust the Maritime provincial titleholders and advance to the final against Montreal Royals.

The largest crowd of the season—8,238 paid admissions—watched the teams battle to a 3-3 tie in the second game here Tuesday and several hundred stood in line at wickets yesterday for hours before tickets went on sale for tonight's match.

Should Sydney win, the deciding game will be played in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The New York Post reports two big league clubs are willing to pay the Dodgers $75,000 for shortstop Pee Wee Reese. One of them is the Red Sox who last fall sold Reese to Brooklyn for $35,000...Bud Ward, the amateur golf champ, who is giving the U.S.G.A. headaches with his cross-country taxi jaunts and airplane flights, has been advised by Seattle papers to go home and do his frisking around the home base at Spokane...

Today's guest star:

James C. Doyle, Cleveland plain dealer: "Be not too critical of the efforts of Johnny Paycheck... Never should it be forgotten that he almost gave up his life for Finland."

Selected Shorts:

The $20,000 the Brooks paid for Charley Gilbert was split right down the middle by Charlie and papa Larry, who manages Nashville...

News: Chicago photographers caught Tony Galento drinking a glass of milk...Coast league umpires figure they got a break when the Oregon liquor control board fixed the sale of bottled beer in the Portland ball park...Lightweight Lew Jenkins reaches Broadway from Texas minus coat and hat...He was driving north with Jack Marshall, a heavyweight, and they lost each other in Washington...

Had Bad Stomach, Backache, Headaches; Praises Syntona

Suffered 10 Years. Says Syntona Brought Relief After Everything Else He Tried Had Failed. Wants Others To Know About This Safe, Simple Remedy. Felt Nervous, Rundown.

MR. JOE H. MORTIS

When the stomach is out of order and food fails to digest, when the back and joints ache and the kidneys do not function properly; when the bowels are constipated and you have headaches, dizzy spells, and nerves are on edge, take a treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound, and you, too, may find that your suffering can be ended without the aid of harsh drugs or depressors. Here, for example, is the splendid experience of Mr. Joe H. Mortis, 169 Wharncliffe Road North, London, as reported only a few days ago:

"Ten years ago I began having trouble with my stomach and it kept getting worse until even the lightest food caused great pains and distress. I would get bloated with gas and sour, burning liquids would rise right up into my throat. I often felt dizzy and nauseated. I had pains all through my back and my head ached so badly I would bury it in my pillows to try to stop the throbbing pains. I took electric treatments and I guess I took enough pills to start a store. I couldn't get enough sleep, so I became nervous and easily tired out.

"A few weeks ago, my wife suggested I try Syntona and I must say this medicine has done wonders for me. It fixed up my stomach so I can now eat regular meals without fear of all that gas, acidity, and heartburn. I don't have that dull ache in my back any more, and, for the first time in years, I am free of headaches and dizzy spells. I will surely know what to take if I get feeling like that again. I wouldn't be without Syntona in the house now."

If you live in Peterborough or vicinity, go to Elliott's Drug Store and find out for yourself all about this grand herbal medicine that is helping so many people. Remember the name "Syntona" and avoid disappointment.—(Advt.)

As Five Died In Flaming Wreckage Of Plane

Would-be rescuers are kept back by the intense heat as a private cabin plane burns fiercely after crashing near the Boeing airport at Seattle, Washington, killing a woman aviatrix and four children whom she had taken on a pleasure ride. The aviatrix was Cora Sterling, who was described as one of the most able fliers in the state. The child victims were Charlene, 5, and Janet, 8, daughters of Commissioner Jack Taylor, and his two nephews, James, 14, and Allen, 9. The plane crashed in a lumber yard near the airport.

tween Niagara and Goat Island. He gave up work to attend Niagara Falls Collegiate at the age of 21, and in 1903 completed his course and went to Presbyterian College, McGill University, taking the church literary course. In his first year he was awarded the general efficiency prize and that year started the mission at Longville. He continued his study at Knox College from which he graduated in 1908.

He was ordained to the Chippewa Presbyterian Church where he remained a year before being called to Calvin Church, Montreal.

In 1908 Dr. Mackay was married to Miss Jean Tulloch of St. David's, Ont., who survives with an adopted daughter, Mrs. (Lieut.) William Strow, of Niagara Falls.

MORE ABOUT—
Earl Of Athlone

who later became King George and Queen Mary.

The Prime Minister said his formal proposal to the King that the Earl of Athlone be appointed Governor-General was sent last Friday after the first cabinet council following the Dominion election.

But a tentative recommendation was made last year when King George and Queen Elizabeth toured the Dominion. Mr. King said he had several conversations with His Majesty on the successor to Lord Tweedsmuir, who had already indicated he would not remain after his five-year term ended.

Premier Satisfied.

As a result of these discussions, Mr. King said he was satisfied that the Earl of Athlone would be acceptable to His Majesty and to the Canadian people. When he sent the formal recommendation last Friday, the reply came next day that the Earl accepted and that His Majesty approved the appointment.

Normally a recommendation would have been sent to London immediately after the death of Lord Tweedsmuir last February 11, but Parliament had then been dissolved and a general election campaign was in progress.

The Prime Minister said he advised His Majesty that he did not think it would be wise to submit a recommendation until the result of the election was known.

The Prime Minister said the Earl of Athlone, in accepting the appointment, indicated the possibility he might not be able to remain for the full five-year term because of the uncertainties due to the war.

Had he fulfilled his appointment in 1914 he would have succeeded the Duke of Connaught, uncle of the late George V., and a much older man.

Served In Two Wars.

The Earl of Athlone served with the forces throughout the first Great War. That was the third conflict in which he had fought, for he saw service in Africa during the Matabele war of 1896 and won the Distinguished Service Order at the Relief of Mafeking in the South African War.

The Earl was born at Kensington Palace, the great red brick pile at the west end of the huge tract of land that forms Kensington and Hyde Parks. His father and mother, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, spen the early part of their married life there. That house also was the birthplace of Queen Victoria and Queen Mary.

Before 1917 the Earl was known as Prince Alexander of Teck, but title indicative of Germanic family origin disappeared in 1917 when George V. chose Windsor as the name of the royal family in place of Wetten. The Tecks took Cambridge as their family name.

Announcement Short.

The Buckingham Palace announcement was characteristically short. It merely said: "The King has been graciously pleased to approve the appointment of Major-General the Earl of Athlone, K.G., as Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada."

Monday the Earl and his wife, Princess Alice, daughter of the Duke of Albany, dined with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace and remained for the night.

The Vice-Regal couple have had busy lives. Besides his military career, the Earl has been Governor-General of South Africa for two terms, Governor of Windsor Castle and Chancellor of London University. Since 1936 he has been a personal aide-de-camp to the King.

Princess Alice has been commandant of the women's transport section of the First Aid Nursing Yeomanry. Recently she inspected ambulance units leaving for Finland, including six ambulance donated by the Canadian Red Cross.

The Earl and the Countess have one daughter, Lady May Cambridge, 34, wife of Major Henry Abel Smith, whom she married in 1931. He was then an aide-de-camp to her father in South Africa.

Last year the future occupants of Ottawa's Rideau Hall went to Teheran, Iran, to attend the wedding festivities of Iran's Crown Prince, who married a sister of King Faud of Egypt. In 1938 they visited Saudi-Arabia at the invitation of King Ibn Saud.

Chamberlain

Sir Kingsley Wood in almost the same category on the home fronts;

3. Cutting down the war cabinet from nine to eight ministers by cutting out the Ministry for Co-ordination of Defence.

Sir John In Hard Role.

The staggering task of presiding over the Cabinet's economic policy committee fell to silvery-haired Sir John, who as Chancellor of the Exchequer remains the chief of Great Britain's mighty offensive of pounds, shillings and pence.

Sir Kingsley, who left the Air Ministry to become Lord Privy Seal, was made head of the Home Policy committee, director of the vital domestic problems of war time, including food and agriculture.

In effect, these veterans—65-year-old Mr. Churchill, 67-year-old Sir John and 59-year-old Sir Kingsley—will be an inner war cabinet. It will be up to them and the 71-year-old Prime Minister.

The only brake on Mr. Churchill's authority will be the Prime Minister himself.

Since he stays as First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Churchill becomes not only the head of Britain's chief blockade agency but also her number one strategist.

The dissolution of the Ministry of Defence Co-ordination put him in virtually undisputed command of Britain's land, sea and air forces.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the new Air minster, War Secretary Oliver Stanley, their chiefs of staff and Mr. Churchill's own first Sea Lord, Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, are on his armed services committee.

Burgin Keeps His Post

Also reporting to him as a committe member will be the supply minister Leslie Burgin, who held his post despite newspaper criticism during the past six weeks.

Mr. Chamberlain, announcing the shakeup, said Mr. Churchill's new assignment would put him in position to "keep under constant review the main factors in the strategical situation and the progress of operations and to make recommendations to the war cabinet on the general conduc of he war."

The Times, however, remarked that the new cabinet assignments looked like an "elaborate game of puss-in-corner" and reiterated its plea for a more compact war cabinet of no more than half a dozen members.

The Herald said the nation demanded "a thorough spring cleaning of the cabinet" and Mr. Chamberlain answered" with a feeble flick of the duster."

"Once again, it said, "he borrows the technique of the mad hatter's tea party. Leading characters move solemnly from one chair to the next while the public, like Alice, looks on bewildered."

The demand for a "real war cabinet" will grow, commented the Daily Mail, "and it is bound to be granted if the war drags on. Victory will not come easily if it continues to be directed by a council of tired men."

More Changes

In the ministerial swaps, Sir Samuel Hoare exchange his job as Lord Privy Seal for Sir Kingsley Wood's as air secretary. Lord De La Warr, until now president of the board of education, changed places with Herwald Rambotham, formerly first commissioner of works.

On vacancy was filled, Robert S. Hudson moving up from secretary for overseas trade to take the place of Sir John Gilmour, minister of shipping, who died last Saturday.

Some commentators blamed a death of material and reluctance by the opposition to accept ministerial offices for the lack of a more extensive overhauling.

The Daily Express called the changes "all to the good" but said "there are not enough of them."

First news of the reorganization was made public by the German radio which broadcast it 45 minutes before the British release time. It had been issued in advance to newspapers and news agencies with the provision it be neither published nor broadcast until last midnight (6 p.m., EST).

(The Germans presumably obtained it in advance through news reports in some neutral country.)

Lawrence Waterway and giving them access to Alaska over Canadian soil. Nothing would be too much for Canada "to offer as a sacrifice on the altar of liberty and freedom."

Need U.S. As An Ally.

Britain and France needed the moral and particularly the material resources of Canada's neighboring republic. Every day the United States delayed would prolong the war and increase the effort and sacrifice that she "may yet be called upon to make to save herself from the fate that now threatens all democracies."

There could be no question as to the outcome if the United States declared war on Germany since in the last war her entry "undoubtedly turned the scales and resulted in victory."

In the event of United States' entry now Germany would see "the futility of her mad project. She would be unable to enlist....the forces of Italy, of Russia, of the Balkan States, or any of the other neutral states. I am confident that she would seek an early peace rather than risk the ultimate extermination that would be her fate. But time is an important factor."

British people had become so accustomed to depend upon the might of the British Navy and the valor and efficiency of British arms that they were inclined to be complacent and to regard as inevitable the defeat of Germany.

"When one examines the facts and figures, one cannot be too sure of that. In its fundamental aspects this war is a struggle between the democracies of the world and the dictatorships. While democracies will demonstrate more perseverance and wage war with more determination than autocracies modern means of waging war have placed spiritual and moral values at a discount.

"Truly we have before us a herculean task if we are to succeed against the vast armaments, machines and armies which Hitler has created."

Mr. Conant referred to the speech given about two weeks ago in Toronto by James H. R. Cromwell in which the United States Minister to Canada said a victory for the Allies was necessary to the welfare of the United States.

He praised the Cromwell speech as forthright and added: "Let us hope that Mr. Cromwell did express the sentiments of the great majority of the people of the United States. But let us also hope that action and not merely professions of faith will follow."

Weather Poor On Front.

Bad weather on the front reduced air activity over the lines to a minimum. One French plane flew over the German rear and two or three German aircraft made reconnaissance flights into French territory.

Admiralty sources, who disclosed the attacks by British fleet units on several U-boats in the past two days, said most of them were believed to have been successful. Pending a check-up no exact figures could be announced.

On land, aside from the clash in the Nied sector, there were the customary patrols and small local encounters on the Rhine-Moselle front, accompanied by artillery activity, sometimes fairly brisk.

Immediately east of the Moselle, the enemy artillery was particularly active late yesterday. Between the Saar River and the Vosges foothills there also was artillery action and, in the same region, numerous German patrols approached the French positions. They were all easily repulsed.

This morning's official communique reported: "Activity by contact elements, especially between the Blies and the Vosges. We repulsed several German patrols."

over the North Sea, yesterday engaged six German Junkers, believed to be of the new Ju-88 type, sent one crashing into the sea and dispersed the five others, it was revealed here today. The flying boat was understood to be a Sunderland.

An Air Ministry communique said: "While engaged in patrol duties over the North Sea yesterday, Wednesday afternoon, a flying boat of the coastal command of the R.A.F. encountered six enemy aircraft of the Junkers type. One of the latter was shot down and was seen to fall into the sea. The remaining Junkers broke off the engagement and our aircraft resumed patrol."

The Junker mentioned in the Air Ministry communique was the 53rd German warplane brought down off the British coast since war began.

The 52nd victim of the R.A.F. coastal command, a Heinkel bomber, was sent plummeting into the sea yesterday by a Spitfire fighter, which itself was set afire and made a forced landing at sea. The pilot of the Spitfire was later rescued, unhurt.

The Spitfire was the first plane of the coastal command destroyed by enemy air attack since the start of hostilities.

It was believed here that another Junker which crashed near Stavager, Norway, last night also took part in the air battle in which its sister-ship fell into the sea.

BERLIN, April 4 (AP) — The German high comand today claimed about 40,000 of British war and merchant ships were destroyed or damaged by Gerwan raids on British convoys and other shipping yesterday afternoon.

Its communique said:

"In the west no special development.

"In the northern North Sea and off the British east coast, German fighting planes in the afternoon of April 3 attacked British war vessels, convoys and armed merchant ships. "One destroyer, one outpost boat and two merchant vessels composing a total of 17,000 tons were seriously damaged.

"Three outpost boats and one merchant ship of 5,000 tons were destroyed by fire caused by bombs. One outpost boat and three freighters totalling 17,000 tons were damaged.

"Two Gerwan planes made forced landings. The crews were rescued. One plane is missing. One British pursuit plane was shot down in an air fight."

16 Riding Horses

Hill saved the rest of the horses and stock from what is believed to have been certain starvation. Arrangements had been made with the farmer that, if anything went wrong, Mr. Hill was to be telephoned immediately. Nothing had been heard for three weeks and it was believed that the horses were being well cared for. During that time, Mr. Hill had been north on business.

"Finally," he said, "I was driving down the nearest highway and I had the feeling I should make a check. I walked in about three miles and found thirteen dead."

When the horses were stabled there, he was assured by the farmer, he said, that there was plenty of good feed.

"I found that the farmer had been away two weeks, and that the hired man had left about the day before I went in. I found they had run short of feed, and that the hired man had apparently fed the horses old and musty hay from a stack, and that as a result the horses had died. Three more have died since. That same night I got in good feed and two men to look after them. The twenty-three horses that were left were not in bad shape and responded to care. We walked them out to the highway and loaded them on trucks.

"Just three weeks before I had made a check and was assured that everything was all right. But in the meantime things had changed completely."

Gold Estimated At $433 In 8 Samples

Difficulty in marking exhibits because of the chemical action caused by the black precipitate contained in the bags that it was desired to designate featured the preliminary hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning of the charge against Douglas Newington, a former employee of the Cordova Gold Mines of having been in illegal possession of gold.

When these bags, produced in evidence by Provincial Constable Silvester, were to be marked, W. F. Green, Government assayer, remarked that the usual paper labels would be destroyed by the chemical action. He suggested that the labels should be wrapped in cellophane.

Finally, however, the problem was solved by using long wires to tie on the labels so that they might hang outside the container.

Later on proof of Mr. Green's statement in regard to the effect of the precipitate was furnished while he was in the witness box. He had marked the samples taken from the bags at his office in Toronto with slips of paper that were afterward wrapped in cellophane. When he examined them this morning in court he found that the orange-colored paper had turned red and it was impossible to read the numbers on three of them until they had been dried out on top of a radiator.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Newington, who was defended by Ralph Standish, pleaded not guilty and elected trial by judge and jury.

Provincial Constable David Silvester, the first Crown witness, told of how he and Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon E. Broughton had arrested Newington just east of the Locks Bridge, after he had received a telephone message from Provincial Constable Dymond of Madoc.

In the back of the accused's car, witness said, the officers found a lunch box, wrapped in a windbreaker, and containing four long canvas bags containing a black, sticky substance. Later Constable Silvester stated that he had taken the bags to Toronto to the office of W. F. Green, assayer for the Department of Mines, and there samples had been taken out of each of the four bags to be assayed.

The witness produced a test tube containing eight small buttons of gold that he said he had received later from the assayer, along with a report of the assay.

"What explanation, if any, did Newington make for the stuff being found in his car?" asked Crown Attorney McElderry.

"He said that he did not know how it had got there," replied Constable Silvester, "and that his car had stood outside all night and was not locked."

W. F. Green, assayer for the Department of Mines, testified as to the assay he had made. He had discovered, he told the court, that the black sticky substance was gold precipitate, and he had also found quantities of silver, copper, and zinc. The total value of the samples that had been taken from the four bags that had been given him by Constable Silvester he placed at $433.23.

The court adjourned for luncheon at this stage.

Pontypool Farmer Potato Champion

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 4 (CP).—Alex M. Stewart, Middlesex County farmer, gained five firsts and championships in oats and barley, with only five entries in yesterday's judging at the 13th annual Ottawa Valley Seed Fair.

In 1937 Stewart won the world oats championship at Chicago, and last year was reserve champion.

Other championships awarded here were wheat to D. L. Scott of Cityview, Ont.; peas to S. W. Haydon of Pakenham, Ont., and potatoes to Henry Blakely of Pontypool, Ont.

The fair closes tonight.

One Hundred Years Old To-day

William Luffman, Chamberlain Street, attained today the full century of his life which began on April 4, 1840, in the pioneer home of his parents in Hungerford Township, Hastings County. He has lived with his son, Clarence Luffman, in the south end of the city, an aging, kindly patriarch of the neighborhood in whose increasing years everybody took a friendly interest. Mr. Luffman has been confined to his bed since Christmas. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Liquor Cases And Fights Provide Live Session In Bancroft Court

BANCROFT, April 4—(ENS). — The following cases were disposed of in Bancroft Police Court on Tuesday afternoon; Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook was in attendance, and R. C. Donnan of Belleville the prosecuting attorney.

Henry Stein was fined $62 including costs for having deer hides without licenses in his possession.

Hermon Maxwell was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated.

Les Rumble, Harry Jenson and Marshall Godfrey were fined $10 and costs each for consuming liquor in a public place.

Morton Sarasas was fined $10 and costs when he was involved in an accident north of Bird's Creek, March 2, in which the car being towed by his truck collided with a team and sleigh, breaking the leg of one horse owned by C. Brown of Bird's Creek, the horse later being shot by P.C. Stanley Palmateer. Mr. Sararas was also assessed $5 and costs for towing a vehicle connected over fifty feet.

Provincial Constable S. Palmateer, acting on a complaint, attended an old fashioned dance west of Bancroft in which his investigation revealed furniture put out in the snow and blood stains on snow indicated fighting, resulting in Daniel and James Kelly being fined $9 and costs, each charged with assault. Les Rumble, Marshall Godfrey and Harry Jenson also were assesed $10 and costs each for being intoxicated.

During the week of March 28, Lornie Robbins came to P.C. Palmateer with a black eye and a cut cheek said received from Russell Trolley when Lornie Robbins and William Thomas allegedly attempted to take illicit liquor from Bert and Russell Trolley. The following night the Trolleys lay by the trail waiting for Robbins and Thomas. L. Robbins fell victim to Russell Trolley, but Bert Trolley was unable to handle Thomas and received a severe beating up himself. L. Robbins charged Trolley with assault. Later R. Trolley allegedly threatened if Robbins appeared in court against him. Robbins would get a more severe beating, which resulted in the non-appearance of Robbins in court. Result was Russel Trolley was placed under arrest, and may be held in custody until L. Robbins appears against him.

Ronald Maxwell was charged with obstructing a police officer and was remanded until April 30 on a $250 cash bail.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones returned home from Toronto, Monday night after a week's visit in the city.

Mrs. Clarence Marston of Toronto and her sister Dorothy Hagerman motored home to Bancroft Monday afternoon. Mrs. Marston will spend a few days with her mother.

Mr. G. E. Towle, who has been in Toronto taking a hair dressing course, returned home Sunday night.

HONOR FAITHFUL DOG

SONG BIRD BACK.

The merry music of the song sparrow has been heard in the city this week, one of the first of the matinal singers to tune up for the assembling chorus that will soon make the mornings ring. Some one has commented that robins have been comparatively few so far this season.

COLLIDE ON GEORGE STREET.

Cars driven by Mrs. Chas. Wooll, 517 Sherbrooke street, and E. O'Shea of Hastings, met in collision on George street Wednesday afternoon as Mrs. Wooll was moving out from the curb in front of the C. D. S. store and O'Shea was driving south on George street. The damage was not extensive.

NO DRIVING LICENSES.

The motoring public is warned by the traffic officers that persons attempting to drive without their new driving permits are asking for trouble. Already fifteen motorists have been summoned for the next traffic court on charges of failing to carry and produce their permits and the officers are systematically checking up on all offenders.

NO EVIDENCE OFFERED.

When a young man who had been arrested in one of the recent bootlegging raids was charged with illegal consumption before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning the police offered no evidence and the case was dismissed.

ON DRUNK CHARGE.

Two young men appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on drunk charges. One of them pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and $4.50 costs. The other asked for an adjournment but Chief Constable Newhall suggested a remand instead and got his way.

TO ADDRESS KIWANIS.

F. L. Abrey, for 20 years a resident of China, will be guest speaker at the Kiwanis club's luncheon meeting on Friday at the Empress hotel. His topic will be "Conditions in China." Five members of the Peterborough club were in attendance at Lindsay on Tuesday night when that club celebrated its Charter night. Next Tuesday this city will be represented at Hamilton when a charter is presented to the new Hamilton East club.

William Luffman Is Celebrating His Hundredth Birthday; Born In 1840 In Hastings County

William Luffman, 466 Chamberlain street, joined the exceedingly small company of centenarians as he arrived today at his one hundredth birthday.

The wise and gentle patriarch of the Alparka section of the south end, enfeebled by the weight of his years, has been confined to bed most of the time since Christmas, but he got up this morning to greet the Examiner on this day of rounding out a century of living.

For years he has been a cheerful and friendly neighbor with all the preprogatives of a kindly, old man, —that freedom to chat with everybody, a strange kinship with the children of the vicinity, and generally to take an interest in all the little affairs of the people of the neighborhood.

Familiar Figure

With his cane and his pipe and a slow moving pace, Mr. Luffman has long been a familiar and pleasing figure in that community down below the Canadian General Electric Company. But, he has been missing all winter, and the folks knew that the debilities of his age were keeping him in bed. In fact, he was only occasionally seen around last summer, and it was gradually realized that he was being forced to keep more at home.

William Luffman was born in Hungerford township, Hastings county, in the Tweed district on April 4, 1940. His parents were pioneers. They had come from Ireland, obtaining new and unbroken land on which they began to build a home and establish a farm. There were thirteen children in that Luffman family, and William was the third oldest. Two brothers survive with him, James and Peter, both of Sulphide in the old Luffman settlement.

Resided In Belleville

After he had grown up and began to make his own way in the world, Mr. Luffman lived for years in Belleville where he worked as a gardener. He came to Peterborough twenty years ago, and continued his gardening on a small scale at the old Sabin home on Chamberlain street, where he lived with his son, Clarence. In fact, Mr. Luffman was still actively gardening in his ninetieth year.

His surviving children are Mrs. J. R. Dyer of Windsor, Mrs. F. N. Bishop of Craven, Saskatoon, who came home to be with her father on his birthday and is returning west on Friday, and Mrs. Charles Purchase of Whitby, and two sons, Sidmore of Whitby, and Clarence of Chamberlain street with whom the father has lived since coming to Peterborough.

William Luffman has long been a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge, and in his quiet way of living he has always found assistance and comfort from reading the Bible which he had beside him this morning although he cannot now see to read the ordinary print.

George F. Cairns Passes Away In His 65th Year

One of the Peterborough Examiner's oldest employees, George Frederick Cairns, died this morning at his home at 491 Patterson street. Although he had been in failing health for a long time, his last illness was a short one. He was in his 65th year.

George Cairns worked in the job printing department of the Examiner when it was located on George street where the Peterborough Printing Company is now established. He was there for many years, retiring before the plant changed hands five years ago.

Popular Employee

He was one of the firm's most popular employees, and of recent years was often a visitor to the new plant, renewing acquaintance with his old friends. His death today was a severe shock to them.

Born in Peterborough, son of the late George Cairns and Mary Detcher, he spent all his life in this city. He was an ardent bowler and curler, belonging to clubs in both these sports for many years. He was also a member of All Saints' Anglican church, and of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

He is survived by his sister, Clara Cairns, who resides at home. His wife, Katie Campbell, died several years ago.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Dr. T. Johnston For 50 Years Been Veterinary

Dr. Thomas Johnston celebrated on Wednesday the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation from the Ontario Veterinary College as a Veterinary Surgeon in Agriculture and Arts. Of the 240 graduates of that class of 1890, Dr. Johnston is probably the only surviving practitioner.

Beginning his profession at Keene, where he remained for three years, Dr. Johnston purchased the practice of Dr. Hazard in Peterborough. He has devoted his life to the care of animals, and was always interested in their humane treatment. His interest was active and practical, and for years it was exercised to a large extent through the Peterborough Humane Society.

Dr. Johnston has been associated with hundreds of farmers of this county and district since he first opened an office in Peterborough. He alway kept abreast with the later development and progress of his profession, and was regarded as an expert on questions pertaining to the health and treatment and care of animals.

Election Officials Receive Cheques

Vincent Eastwood was preparing this afternoon to vacate the office designated as room 15 in the Bank of Commerce building from which he has directed his duties as electoral returning officer for Peterborough West.

He informed the Examiner that the remuneration of all the deputy returning officers and poll clerks, and the landlords of polling places in the riding was mailed Wednesday afternoon for delivery today.

The writ authorizing Mr. Eastwood to hold an election will not be returned to Ottawa until next Tuesday. It will be sent back with the envelopes containing the ballots and other documents relating to the election some time next Tuesday. These records of the voting must be held until that day for reference in the event of a request for a recount.

Mr. Eastwood said that the work of the enumerators and poll officials had all been well done. There was not a hitch in the smooth progress of the elections up to the casting of votes, and subsequently in the return of the ballot boxes. Incidentally, the Examiner had access to all the information connected with publicity of the election, and received kindly co-operation from Mr. Eastwood and his assistant, John W. Mayneord.

Crokinole Tourney Feature Y.P.U. Meet

FRASERVILLE, April 4 — (ENS). —The Young People's Union held a successful crokinole party in the hall on Monday night. Jean Holden, Thelma Yelland, and Mrs. F. Horton were conveners. Seven tables of crokinole were played, with Mrs. K. Larmer taking home the ladies' prize and Haig Bothwell the men's prize. Consolation prizes went to Elinor Pue and David Lusk. Lunch was served bringing a jolly evening to a close. Four dollars was realized from the gathering.

The Sunday School session will be held in the morning on April 7 at 10.30, with the church service at 7 o'clock in the evening. These services having been held in the afternoon all winter are now changed back to normal time.

The Rev. F. and Mrs. Horten were visitors to Port Hope on Monday.

Campbellford WMS Holds Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, April 4 — (ENS).—Mrs. A. L. Malcolm's group was in charge of the program presented before members of St. John's W.M.S. at their April meeting held in the ladies' parlors of the church on Tuesday. The president, Mrs. E. C. Roberts presided for the opening prayer. Eighteen calls were made during the month of March by the visiting committee. Mrs. Allan Hutcheon was named caller for this month and will appoint her own assistant. The president urged each member to make at least two calls on shut-ins, and also reminded members of the sectional meeting of the W.M.S., Cobourg Presbyterial, to be held in Warkworth on April 22.

A letter from Mrs. Emery was read by the president and asknowledged receipt of the Christmas bale sent from here to the West for distribution and expressed thanks to the members. A number of suggestions of interest were contained in a letter from the Presbyterial treasurer read by Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Malcolm announced the program which opened with a hymn, followed by two Scripture readings by Mrs. M. Baker and Mrs. C. W. Palliser, devotional topic "Good Citizenship" by Mrs. C. W. Turner, prayer by Mrs. S. L. O'Hara, vocal solo "Come Unto Me" by Mrs. E. Bates, reading from the study book, "India's Millions," by Mrs. W. A. Johnston.

Defence Minister Norman Rogers Plans Visit To Great Britain

OTTAWA, Aril 4.—(CP).—Statutory formalities surrounding official counting of the civilian and active service vote in the Dominion election, and possible recounts, make it impossible for Parliament to meet before the second week in May and the opening may be delayed to the third week, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a press conference.

Meeting Ottawa correspondents yesterday for the first time since January, Mr. King asked them to "discount for the present" rumors that cabient re-organization was pending, and announced he would take a short holiday before meeting Parliament.

The Prime Minister made formal announment of choice of the Earl of Athlone as Governor-General of Canada, and revealed plans of Defence Minister Rogers to visit England for conference with British war leaders and an inspection of the Canadian forces.

No details were given of Mr. Rogers' time of departure, but Mr. King said he would be back well in advance of Parliament's opening.

Mr. King said it was considered desirable that Mr. Rogers, who is responsible for Canada's naval, military and air activity in the war, including the British commonwealth air training plan, should consult with members of the British government and leaders of the various services.

Mr. Rogers will be the second member of the cabinet to visit England since the war started. Resources Minister Crerar spent several weeks there in consultation with members of the British government and representatives of the other dominions prior to the end of 1939.

The Canadian forces now in England, which Mr. Rogers will visit, include the First Overseas Division in training at Aldershot camp and No. 140 Army Co-operation Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force, training in the south of England.

The minister was responsible for all arrangements for the despatch of these troops overseas and undoubtedly will make it a point to obtain personal reports of their training progress.

Session to Last for War.

Questioned on the report that Parliament might be kept in session indefinitely during the war, Mr. King said: "We will leave that to Parliament; Parliament is going to be supreme for a while now."

Appearing robust and in good spirits, the Prime Minister expressed appreciation of the manner in which newspapers reported views of the Government during the election campaign and said it seemed to be the general feeling that the contest was conducted "fairly and squarely."

Commenting on the fact that the soldier vote was some 30,000 less than had been anticipated, he said he interpreted this as meaning those who did not cast ballots were satisfied with the administration.

A number of Cabinet ministers will take holidays to rest after their strenuous election campaigning. Mr. King, whose campaign was limited to a half-dozen platform appearances, said he would wait until his colleagues returned then "slip away for a few days."

He said he could not fix the day for opening Parliament definitely, but it would be "probably the second or third week in May." Since the opening is always on Thursday this would mean May 16 or 23.

The Prime Minister would not forecast the length of the session. That, he said, would be entirely up to Parliament itself.

Many calls are being made at the Prime Minister's office this week by candidates in the general election, both those who were defeated and those who were successful.

It was reported that the vacancy in the Cabinet created by the death of Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, will go unfilled for the present. Justice Minister Lapointe has been Acting Secretary of State, and may be sworn in formally, thus combining the two portfolios.

Wedding Gifts To Hastings Couple

HASTINGS, April 4—(ENS).—An interesting post-nuptial event took place on Tuesday evening, April 2, when well over 100 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Buck (nee Myrtle Pulfer) whose marriage took place on Easter Saturday, gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pulfer of the Cobourg Road, to enjoy a social evening with them and shower them with gifts. Friends were there from the entire community, Norwood, Hastings, Otonabee and Roseneath.

The gifts were exceptionally beautiful and were presented with a host of good wishes to the young couple who will reside on the groom's farm near Norwood. The groom on behalf of himself and his bride, graciously thanked the donors for the much-appreciated gifts. The night was pleasantly spent in dancing of various kinds with music furnished by Messrs. Beamish.

County Roads Reported Fair Condition

Winter is making a rapid and orderly retreat from the main and secondary roads of Peterborough County.

Alderman Dutton of Stocks Bread gave the information this morning that the county highways are in fairly good condition, according to the reports from the delivery men. In the district north of the city and also in Otonabee county plows have done extensive work, and during the last week or more the milder weather has melted the snow down to the soil in most places.

"We are still having trouble in Cavan and some other areas where you cannot get through with a truck," Alderman Dutton said. "The route from Peterborough through Havelock to Campbellford and west to Harwood and Gore's Landing is very much improved, but our driver has decided no longer to risk returning north across Rice Lake from Harwood. So, he has come home by way of Cobourg because he can't get through from Gore's Landing to Bewdley and the Peterborough-Port Hope highway."

Alderman Dutton said he had motored Wednesday to Millbridge, about twelve miles north of Madoc.

"The provincial highway is in good condition for this time of the year. There doesn't seem to be any heaving by frost. Men were working here and there laying gravel where it was needed. North of Madoc the road was also in fine condition, I thought. There was quite a bit of water in some places, but generally speaking the change from winter to spring has not yet caused any great damage to the road body."

Alderman Dutton said he was impressed by the disappearance of snow from most of the fields along the way, although north of Madoc there were more evidences of the snow barriers that had blown across the country for election day.

Millbrook Guild Holds Tea Sale; Box Sent Finns

MILLBROOK, April 4—(ENS). — A Spring-like atmosphere greeted the many incoming guests at the Community Waiting Room on Saturday afternoon, when the Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Anglican Church held its annual tea and sale of home cooking.

Golden daffodils and tulips were everywhere in evidence, with hyacinths and lillies, each dainty tea table having one or more of these blossoms, with a bit of fern, in the bud vase with which it was centred.

Mr. G. F. Harrington and Mrs. R. A. Ford were in charge of the table of home baking, with its tempting wares, which rapidly diminished as the afternoon wore on. Pouring tea at the hostess table, lovely with lace cloth and silver bowl of daffodils on the central reflector, were Mrs. John Dawson and Mrs. A. A. Smith, while attending to the service of the guests were Mrs. Douglas Sheppard, Miss Muriel Smith, and Mrs. Fred Lowery. Miss Ada Attwooll was cashier, and others who assisted in making the event such an enjoyable and successful occasion included Miss M. L. Collins and Mrs. H. J. Russell. Mrs. (Rev.) William Simpson, president of the Guild, welcomed the guests near the entrance doorway, and the treasury was enriched to the extent of $35.00 by the undertaking.

Red Cross Bale Packed

On Friday afternoon, at the Red Cross rooms, under the supervision of the secretary, Miss B. M. Turner, B.A., a box was packed, containing five warm quilts, and a number of articles made by the Junior Girls' Branch, including flannelette jackets, sweaters, mittens, gartrudes, and other children's clothing, the whole being intended for Finland.

Marooned Cars Robbed

The large snow-plow reached Millbrook about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening, with a crew of seventeen men or more, after several hours' labor in covering the road from a short distance south of the village. It returned to Port Hope that night and was back here in the early afternoon on Sunday, and about 2 p.m. started on the job of clearing the road west to Pontypool, closed ever since the big storm of over one week ago. According to word later received, the plow reached Pontypool somewhere around 3 a.m. on Monday; J. L. Byam and Wilbert Fallis, who had been obliged to leave their cars on the road near the village mentioned, after attending the East Durham L.O.L. annual meeting there one week ago last Thursday night, managed to retrieve their property after the plow opened the road in the early hours of Monday morning.

Allegedly, a buffalo robe was missing from the Byam car, and although Mr. Fallis had locked his car, it is also alleged that a window was broken, and among other things a locked metal box containing valuable L.O.L. papers, taken to the county meeting by the recording secretary, Nathaniel Belch, in case the records were needed, was also missing.

Mr. Byam required his car on Monday morning, when school reopened after the Easter vacation, as he drives Continuation School pupils living outside the community, to and from school each day.

The farmers on the road west from the village had been hard at work for more than a day shovelling off the top of the drifts in readiness for the plow, as it came along to complete the work of final opening for traffic, on Sunday.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.
BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.
TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.
BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.
MYRA NOYES, famous radio star engaged to Brent.
YESTERDAY: After watching the audition of a radio drama at one of the studios, Romany goes to dinner with Brent.

CHAPTER SIX

AT LANDAU'S, Romany was wearing her first orchid. Brent Nelson had taken her into the florist shop beside the night club and bought it as they got out of his car.

In Aunt Cissie's furs, with the lovely flower nestled on her shoulder, she felt like a queen. It was a glorious feeling, and the girl had a delicious sense of the power of her sex as Brent leaned toward her, feasting his blue eyes on her dark beauty.

"You're the most beautiful thing I've ever seen in my life," Nelson told her softly, and she believed he meant it.

She felt beautiful. Sure of herself. Entirely at ease. She looked as though she had been born to luxury, and the announcer was secretly pleased at the attention she was attracting—the envious glances of women and the none too subtle glances of the men.

"Tell me about yourself," Brent asked then.

That was the last thing Romany wanted to do. There was nothing to tell at all, she felt. All she had ever done was to grow up on a farm, and struggle through four years at Indiana on Aunt Cecelia's stipend. She laughed softly.

"Tell you about myself! Mercy, my life story would bore you to death."

"No," he denied, "that would be impossible. You would never bore me, my dear."

"I'd rather tell you about Aunt Cissie," she evaded.

"All right, I'll settle for Aunt Cissie."

"Aunt Cecelia Harlow, Mrs. Will J. Harlowe."

"Oh!" Brent nodded, impressed. "Farm Implements."

"That's right." Romany was pleased that the name meant something to him.

"I thought there was a gold spoon back somewhere in your family," Brent grinned. "You couldn't look like that on peanuts, even if you are beautiful."

"Aunt Cissie," Romany went on, avoiding the issue, "is marvelous. You'd love her."

"I'm sure of it, if she's anything like you."

"We look almost like twins." Romany laughed. "If I said mother and daughter, Aunt Cissie would strangle me. I'm living at her apartment now."

Brent shook his blond head dismally.

"Chaperoned! I knew it!"

"Oh, but she's in Europe," Romany smiled. "And she isn't coming back till just before Christmas."

"Good!" Brent enthused. "If I work fast—"

"Silly!" broke in Romany. "My room mate from college, Cholly O'Neil, is living with me. She's engaged to Terry O'Rourke."

"The song plugger," Nelson nodded. "That guy's got talent if he—"

When Nelson hesitated, Romany finished the sentence:

"If he'd settle down and stop drinking and have a little sense. But I wonder if he ever will."

"That's problematical," Brent shrugged. "His audition at Interstate had every one excited, and our artists' bureau was very much interested in him. But when Baines found out he drank pretty heavily he didn't even bother having recordings made of his voice."

Romany said unhappily:

"And Cholly is so crazy about him! I'm always afraid she'll marry him in a moment of weakness and have to take care of him the rest of her life."

"All the gals are crazy about 'Big Terry'," Brent said. "Cholly must be the little redhead I've seen with him."

"That's Cholly. Turned-up nose and freckles."

"Cute child."

"She's a wonderful musician," Romany told him. "I wish she could get a break in radio. She's playing the piano part time in Leo-Dane's now, and she has her mother and seven brothers and sisters to support."

Brent whistled:

"Wow! That's a nest full. If I hear of an opening any place, I'll let you know."

"Oh, that would be marvelous," Romany said gratefully. "I worry about her so. And she's so independent."

Romany's stock went up several points in Brent's opinion when he saw the sympathy in her face. He knew she was not just talking for effect. It was nice that a girl with her means should be so eager to help another girl with nothing. Too bad piano players were a dime a dozen, or he might use his influence in getting Cholly on the staff at Interstate.

The orchestra was playing a medley of old waltzes. Brent wanted Romany close to him, so he said, smiling:

"Shall we dance, lovely lady?"

They were near the same height, and with her dark beauty contrasting with his blond, tanned, cheerful face they were a handsome couple. Her nearness was breath-taking. Brent held her closer, moved tremendously. Romany felt she should pull away, but self-consciousness would not let her.

Back at the table the announcer told her, grinning:

"I've always had a weakness for heiresses, being a self-made man. An apple knocking son of the soil, that's me. Do you think your Aunt Cissie would approve of me? I'm going to be around a lot."

Evading, Romany said lightly:

"I knew you were a farmer. Where were you born?"

"On a farm near Urbana. I had never seen a big city till I went to college."

It was on the tip of Romany's tongue to tell him the truth and admit she was far from being the monied personage she looked. But she just couldn't bear to do it. She wondered if he would go on paying her so much attention if he'd known she had but five dollars in the world when the Haile alarm clock went off and he presented her with the thirty-five dollars following his interview!

At midnight, Brent looked at his watch.

"I have to be in the studio at 6.30 in the morning," he sighed. "So I'm afraid we'll have to call it an evening, if you don't mind."

"Of course I don't mind." Romany picked up her furs from the back of the chair beside her and put them around her neck. "You haven't bankers' hours, have you."

"Worse than a movie star's hours," Brent grumbled, looking very cheerful about the whole thing.

Romany sank back to the luxury of his limousine with a delicious sigh. This was the life! She hoped terrifically that Brent would offer to introduce her to someone who could help her in radio but she was much too wise to even hint such a thing.

Brent drew Romany close and she cast an uncertain glance in the direction of the colored chauffer.

"He's blind," whispered Nelson.

Romany wondered, in a panic, if he was going to try to kiss her. She wouldn't mind too much, of course. He was very nice. But she had never been promiscous with her kissing and even after four years in college felt panicky when she thought a man was going to try to make love to her.

Brent drew her face close, felt her resistance and said a little thickly:

"Not just one little kiss, Romany. You're so—dear."

When she shook her head, he made no more effort to force the issue, being entirely too well schooled in the ways of women. The little Haile was not the coy type, he felt certain. More than likely she had to like someone pretty well before she could be kissed.

"I'll call you tomorrow," Brent told Romany at the door, and in his eyes was a warm admiration she could not miss.

"Do," she smiled, letting him hold her hand in both of his.

Upstairs, Terry was just leaving. He grinned at her, nodding approval:

"I'm told you've been stepping out with Brent Nelson. Nice work!"

"He's very nice." Romany threw off her furs. "A perfect gentleman."

"Don't like him too much," Cholly warned. "Terry tells me he's practically as good as married."

Romany sat down.

"Really? I didn't know."

"He's Myra Noyes' big moment," Terry said at the door.

Cholly added:

"And something tells me if anybody ever tried taking anything she wanted badly, she'd just about scalp 'em."

Romany made no effort to hide her disappointment.

"Drat it! Why is it all the nice, good looking men are either married or engaged? Especially the men who could help you get a radio job or something."

"Cheer up," said Cholly, consolingly. "Maybe we can push the little fiancee in front of a truck or something."

"I'll take her out and drown her, Romey. "If you think you really want Brent Nelson," grinned Terry. "Just say the word."

Romany lay awake a long time after she and Cholly went to bed, nursing a keen feeling of regret that Brent Nelson was engaged to the tremendously successful Myra Noyes. He shouldn't have tried to make love to her.

But men, she decided not originally, were all alike!

Otonabee Chapter Holds April Meeting

Mrs. F. L. Robinson, regent, presided for the April meeting of Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday afternoon. A new member, Mrs. J. Detcher, was admitted to the chapter.

Mrs. E. Jackson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. W. Comstock, who lent her home for the recent Spring tea. It was decided that a meeting of the chapter, to be held at the Kawartha Club, would follow the same plan as last year. Mrs. G. Borland was appointed convener of cars, assisted by Mrs. W. Comstock.

Mrs. K. S. Wightman was appointed as delegate to the Hamilton convention next week, and it is expected that a number of chapter members will also attend.

Mrs. Wightman, educational secretary, gave a short talk on Russian characters, beginning with the Czars of the early 18th century, and tracing the persistent quality of cruelty, violence, and inability to organize. These cruelties still exist among Russian leaders today, she said.

A contribution was voted for the Salvation Army, and plans were discussed for a rummage sale, of which Mrs. F. L. Robinson is convener.

Speaker Tells Of Work Among "Y" Girls

An interesting and instructive talk on her work among the adolescent girls and other groups of the Y.W.C.A. was given by Miss Christine Gardiner, girls' work secretary, at a meeting of St. Andrew's W.A., held in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Johnston presiding. The all 'round development of Christian character was stressed by the speaker, who explained that it has a very steadying influence on the girls. The Y.W.C.A. is striving to meet the needs of girls, and girls from the ages of 11 to 14 are taught cooking, handcrafts, how to take care of their personal appearance. They also belong to Bible study groups.

During the business period Mrs. J. R. Marshall was welcomed back after an absence in Florida. Mrs. L. M. Brooks gave a Red Cross report in which she stated that 39 articles were completed during the month of March. Mrs. Harry Wightman led in prayer. It was decided to hold a hostess tea and exhibition of old glass in the church parlors on Thursday, April 25, and a rummage sale is to be held the Friday evening and Saturday morning of April 19 and 20. A letter from the Y.W.C.A. asking support for its pageant on May 2nd and 3rd was read, and announcement was made of a flower tea in May.

Acknowledgment Is Made Of Magazine Gift

A letter from Halifax acknowledging receipt of the many magazines sent for distribution among soldiers and sailors, was read by the convener, Mrs. W. Belleghem, at the monthly meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., held Wednesday evening in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. The letter told how greatly this gift was appreciated, and commented upon the suitable type of magazines and recency of issues sent. It was decided that the chapter would continue collecting magazines for this purpose, and that a number would also be supplied to Nicholls Hospital.

Mrs. B. Moore, war convener, reported a large box of leather sent to Mrs. Russell-Brown, I.O.D.E. representative in England, and that wool to the value of $34.00 was being knitted each month by chapter members.

Mrs. E. V. Morphet was appointed convener of the bridge which is to be held in May to conclude the bridge tournament series.

A collection was made for contribution to the fund for the Canadian Women's gift to Lady Tweedsmuir.

Major Bennett Chapter Plans April Bridge

The April meeting of the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at the home of Miss Marion Worboy, Sherbrooke Street, with the regent, Miss Betty Lytle, presiding.

Minutes were read by the secretary, and a favorable report of the Leap Year dance given by the treasurer. Miss Betty Lytle was appointed to represent the Chapter at the annual I.O.D.E. convention in Hamilton next week.

Plans were made for a bridge to be held at the Y.W.C.A. on April 22, Mrs. J. Comstock, Jr., to act as general convener, assisted by Miss Loyise Spriggs, Miss Jean Dorris, Miss Margaret Morgan, Miss Mary Kirkwood, Miss Dorothy Lipsett and Miss Margaret Preston.

The May meeting of the Chapter is to be held at the home of Miss Betty Lytle, Rubidge Street.

Mark Street Baby Band Mothers Meet

Mrs. E. W. Rowland, president of the W.M.S., opened her home to the mothers of the Baby Band of Mark Street Church Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs. H. Alton, opened the meeting with a passage from the scripture which revealed one of life's profound mysteries, the Garden and the Cross. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Rowland, and Mrs. W. King gave a reading entitled, "Wanted by the King."

An inspiring story of mission work in China was given by Mrs. N. Alton; Mrs. K. Ferguson gave a splendid report of work in connection with the sale; and Mrs. G. Harding reported fine cash results from the crokinole party and sale of Easter baskets.

The meeting closed with a beautiful thought for the encouragement of young mothers, "Build it well, whate'er you do; build it great, and strong and true. Build it clean and high and broad; build it for the eye of God."

Rose—Williams

A quiet marriage ceremony took place at Knox United Church Manse on Saturday, March 30, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt officiating, when Miss Clementine Rose of Marmora, daughter of Mr. Rose of Marmora and the late Mrs. Rose, became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Williams, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Williams of 276 William street.

The bride wore a becoming ensemble of Elizabeth blue with matching accessories, and a corsage of white spring flowers. Her attendants were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Archer of Peterborough.

The bridal couple motored to Marmora, where luncheon was served at the home of the bride's grandmother. They will live at 541 Gilmour street.

Anniversary Tea Is Held By I.O.D.E. Chapter

The spacious rooms of the officers' mess at the Armouries were decked with a profusion of flowers and ferns Wednesday afteroon when the 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E. held an anniversary tea. Mrs. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne received the guests with the regent, Mrs. H. E. Clarke, and Mrs. H. Dodds, first vice-regent. Mrs. F. J. Frape was treasurer.

Mrs. V. J. Tully was convener for the tea, and tea room hostesses were Mrs. T. Wallace, Mrs. E. Lush and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser. The table was covered with a beautiful mosaic cloth, with pink, green and mauve used in the charming color scheme. Tall candles of corresponding colors in silver holders lit the table, and early spring flowers were arranged in a huge cut glass bowl. Massed about the centre reflector were attractive ornaments and small china figures from which grew tiny flowers — the entire arrangement having the delightful air of a spring garden. Tea was poured by Mrs. T. W. H. Young, Mrs. H. Foote, Mrs. G. Hall and Miss I. Wesley, and tea room assistants were Mrs. J. S. Fanning, Mrs. D. Loomis, Mrs. W. Langford, Mrs. A. E. Chalmers, Mrs. U. E. Waterman, Mrs. T. Melton, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, Mrs. James Turnbull and Mrs. A. E. Borland.

Homemade cooking was in charge of Mrs. J. Duncan and Mrs. C. McWilliams.

A draw for the Mixmaster was a special feature. Drawn by Mrs. Fraser, the lucky ticket made little eight-year-old Irene Nicholls of 520 Weller street the winner. Mrs. D. Loomis was convener of Mixmaster tickets, assisted by Mrs. T. H. Floyd and Mrs. U. E. Waterman.

If flannels feel rather hard after laundering instead of soft and fluffy as they should, wash them again in a bland soap-suds to which a teaspoon glycerine has been added. Then rinse in a mild borax solution of the same temperature as the suds bath and dry without wringing.

About Town with FLORA

A passion for polka dots is sweeping the country—every New York magazine or Paris fashion note I scan is singing praises of crisp dots for adding dash to wardrobes, so I hied forth in search of a frock to swing me into this sprightly style picture. It was at the Darling Shop my highest hopes were realized—here they seem to have an unerring instinct for what is going on in the style world—here first fashions are always gloriously anticipated. Dots sprinkle classic little sports frocks; they lie like snowflakes on afternoon dresses that are just what we want for teas, bridges, etc., the coolness of them is seen again in redingote styles that are steadily growing in fashion. As refreshing and new as an April breeze, these models are so forward-looking they'll be just as smart for summer. In alluring shades especially invented for a 1940 spring, they are reasonably priced from $8.95.

Much more pleasant than grandma's seasonal sulphur and molasses for a spring pick-up is a Mineral Pume Bath at 220 Brock St. — from much personal experience I can assure you that after one such bath you'll feel a new pep in your step, a new light-hearted gaiety which bubbles up from the joy of being radiantly, HEALTHILY alive. If your high spirits are at a low ebb because your system is loaded with poisons it cannot throw off—if your energy is sapped from prolonged colds or 'flu, or if a cold is just catching up with you, there is no better way of chasing it, or breaking up an old one, than a Mineral Pume Bath. Many women I know 'phone 3157 for an appointment if they feel a bit "low"—they know that after a treatment high spirits flow back and they'll feel like dancing all the way home! The beneficial and healing effects on rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and neuritis are, of course, very well known.

Here's your chance to go 'nuts' over nuts! You are going to have the scrunchiest time of your life! What's happened is this: Dutton's Tea, Coffee and Nut Store at 406½ George Street has undergone a complete transformation—outside sparkling new glass front with black and scarlet trimming—inside larger quarters and a soda fountain counter where you can order the most delicious double rich malted milk shakes you ever tasted for only 10 cents, to say nothing of sodas in every grand flavor imaginable! Nuts, of course, are still the big interest, but they are such big, meaty, tender nuts, toasted, salted, buttered—that they tempt you until you gleefully dip your fingers into their crisp freshness and wish you could go on eating forever! It's hardly necessary to remind you, but this shop is still the home of super ice cream—at the economical price of 18 cents per brick, or 2 bricks for 35 cents.

Ho hum! Spring fever got you? That's the way I felt yesterday before I hurried on my hat, firmly closed the kitchen door, and turned my steps toward the BILTMORE RESTAURANT—that fine new successor of the Elite Grill—now I'm feeling on the best of terms with the world. You see, I walked into this new establishment with its happy air of restfulness and freshness, ordered me a delicious dinner, and over my tea cup had my fortune told by a lady who has an uncanny knack of letting you know accurate things about yourself, and then peeping around the mysterious curtain which drapes the face of the future. Altogether, it was an exciting experience—and I've felt like a new woman ever since! Take my word for it, folks, you'll be glad you dropped in at the new Biltmore, whether it be for breakfast, luncheon or dinner. There's something different on the menu every day, and prices are gauged to fit every purse. Tea cup reading is for a limited time only, so get together, girls, and have your fun while my clever fortune-telling lady is still in town!

Your Breakfast ought to make you say BOY! THIS MAKES MY MOUTH WATER

...or you won't get the food values you need!

These days there are three things breakfast ought to do, if you're to keep on top of your form: First, it must be tempting enough to wake your sleepy appetite. Second, it must release quickly the energy you need to start "in high." Third, it must help sustain you for hours.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the answer! They're proven first in flavour! And they're jam-packed with carbohydrate energy. Time-saving, too! 30 seconds and they're ready, with no messy pots to clean.

Order several packages tomorrow. And when you breakfast out, ask for the wax-wrapped individual package. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

FLAVOUR EXPERTS SAY what housewives have always known, that Kellogg's Corn Flakes are first for flavour—Canada's most popular ready-to-eat cereal. In a recent Dominion-wide survey, housewives were asked: "What ready-to-eat cereal is the favourite in your family?" Kellogg's Corn Flakes were named first choice more than FIVE TIMES as often as the next brand of corn flakes. After a blindfold test of all four brands of corn flakes, John A. White, Chief Taster of the Chateau Cheese Company, declared: "I certainly had no difficulty in picking the sample which had the finest flavour . . . the sample which later proved to be Kellogg's."

ECONOMICAL, TOO! Canada's favourite cereal costs only a few pennies for the whole family's breakfast, or supper. Have you tried the new family-size package? Ask your grocer to-morrow.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Meat Pie That Will Suit The Taste Of Everyone

(By MARY MOORE).

Until a few days ago I thought my mother was the inventor of the meat pie patterned on the ordinary two-crusted pie, with the sweet fruit filling replaced with a ground meat and vegetable mix.

As youngsters we loved it and if I had sense enough to make it sooner my own family could have enjoyed it before this—but I had to have it served to me by a fifth-generation Canadian before I realized it had been a well-known old-timer.

My Mother's Meat Pie.

At the present time we are having a run on hot water pie crust because it is so tender after it is kept in the ice box.

Emem's Hot Water Pie Crust: Pour 1-3 cup boiling water over 2-3 cup lard (or part lard and part butter). Stir till lard is melted, then add 2 cups flour, ¾ teaspoon sale, ¾ teaspoon baking powder sifted together. Stir with fork until smooth. Roll into ball wrap very well and keep in ice box until needed.

When hot water pie crust is at least one day old roll out into 2 crusts lining a deep pie plate with one of them. Pour in meat pie filling: At least 2 cups ground left-over meat (beef and pork mixed are best, but beef alone is good), 1 medium onion grated, 2 medium potatoes chopped into about ¼-inch cubes, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon or a little more of salt, if on hand 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Now from somewhere you have to produce 1 up of liquid—part of this liquod could be left-over gravy or liquid from bottom of roasting pan—or if it has to be all water let it be boiling hot and if possible flavor it with an oxo cube. Mix all ingredients—and to keep pie crust from "soaking" brush it with egg white, bake for 10 minutes in over of 500, then fill with meat mix, put on top crust, pinch down edges, brush top with egg white or evaporated milk to give it a glazed finish and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 for 20 minutes or until crust is golden and done.

Serve pie in wedges as you would apple pie. It is good to pass either catsup or chili sauce or serve this with escalloped tomatoes. Mother used to serve a tomato sauce with horseradish in it but my memory of it is dim and I have not tried to imitate it.

Shepherd's Pie For a King.

One and one-half pounds shank, neck, rump or chuck of beef, ¼ cup flour, 1½ teaspoon salt, 1 onion, chopped, 1-3 cup diced carrots, 1-3 cup diced turnips, 1-3) cup diced celery, ½ cup peas, enough hot water to cover meat, 2 cups mashed potatoes, with milk and seasoning added, 1 egg beaten. Wipe meat and remove from bone cut into 1-inch cubes, and roll in flour. Put a little of the fat from the meat in a kettle and brown the floured meat in it—you may need to add lard or oil. Add enough water to cover meat..

If you have any bones lay them on top of the meat and simmer until the meat is tender—about 2½ hours. In the last 45 minutes of cooking remove bones, add salt and vegetables, and more water if needed. If desired, other vegetables may be used, and the stew may or may not be thickened. Pour the mixture into a large casserole. Add beaten egg to mashed potatoes and pile lightly on top of stew. You have to compete with many chefs in restaurants for appearance of a Shepherd's Pie as they use pastry tubes—so can you for a small cost—they work magic and are a recommended investment. Brown pie in hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes.

Southern Chicken Pie

Dress, clean, and boil one large fowl (6 or 7 lbs.) in water to immerse at least 1 inch. Add one small onion cut up, and cook slowly at simmering point covered until chicken is tender—about 2½ hours. When chicken is half cooked add ½ tablespoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon white pepper. Remove chicken, strain and skim off fat. If you have 5 cups stock left thicken with ½ cup flour stirred into 1 cup cold water until smooth. When boiling hot and thick add 3 tablespoons butter and more salt as desired. Place a small cup in centre of large baking dish—around it arrange rather large pieces of chicken taken from the bones, pour the gravy over so that it covers the chicken by at least ½-inch and cool the whole dish. Make pastry very rich, and chill. (If you are using puff paste make extra to cut into diamond to pass at table in addition to the crust.) Put crust over cold chicken and gravy, pinch well to rim of baking dish, and make several large incisions in top to allow steam to escape. Bake in oven of 450 deg. Fahr. (500 for puff paste), and crust is golden and baked through—chicken and gravy merely need reheating. (Onion in stock may or may not be strained out.)

Normandy Veal and Ham Pie

Please note that the ingredients in this recipe are largely spices—besides the meat—so do not judge the recipe as being complicated until you read it.)

Order 2 pounds of breast veal and have your butcher bone it and send the bones in the package, ½ pound raw lean ham sliced thinly, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 bay leaves, ¼ cup summer savory, 1 tablespoon gelatin, 2 tabespoons cold water, ½ cup bread crumbs, ⅛ teaspoon thyme, ⅛ teaspoon marjoram, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg yolk, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, flaky pastry. Cut the veal into one-inch cubes, cover with water, add bones and simmer until tender. Strain off broth, return bones to it. Season the broth with salt, pepper, bay leaves, summer savory, and let simmer for an hour. Strain, add gelatin which has been soaked in the cold water, stir until blended, then cool. Cook the ham in boiling water for 10 minutes. Make force-meat balls by mixing together the bread crumbs and all remaining spices. Rub into this the lemon juice and rind, butter and yolks. Stir until well blended then make into balls, using 1 tablespoon of the mixture for each ball. Butter a deep baking dish and arrange meat in layers, filling up crevices with force-meat balls. When all ingredients have been used, pour strained broth over all and cover top with flaky pastry. Bake at 425 for 15 minutes, then 350 for 40 minutes. When nearly done brush crust with milk or egg white and return to hot oven for glaze crust for a few minutes.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL.

In an instructive talk on the League of Nations, Miss Myra Baird, a member of the teaching staff, entertained her audience by amusing digressions from the subject of her speech at the monthly meeting of Prince of Wales Home and School Association Tuesday evening. Miss Baird claimed that the majority of the League of Nations' supporters are much more pacifist than the world dares to hope or expect. "Let us not think the League of Nations is a complete failure," she said. "It seems to have failed insofar as world peace is concerned. Britain and France alone simply did not have the strength to carry it through."

The League has done miracles in controlling the drug sales of the world, Miss Baird said. So far as the abolishment of slavery is concerned, especially white slavery, it has accomplished a great deal. One of the most interesting things the League has worked on was the nutrition problem of the world. It was found that everybody had enough bread but lacked milk and green vegetables, she explained.

In concluding her contention that the League of Nations had been beneficial all over the world, Miss Baird stated that in China the League had reforested vast areas of land, thus helping a great deal in the prevention of floods.

Mrs. F. J. Frape, president, was in the chair for the meeting, which opened by repeating the Lord's Prayer. A full report covering the Home and School Federation Convention held in Toronto last week was given by the delegates who attended. Miss E. Thomlinson gave a brief talk on Religion in the School.

Musical numbers included a piano duet by Douglas and Buddy Kidd, and a vocal solo by Mrs. M. Shadgett.

The attendance picture for the month was awarded Miss M. Brock's class.

DOROTHY DIX

Children Should Help When Parent Wants To Remarry. Bereaved Father or Mother Has the Right to Search for New Happiness in Life.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a widow with no children, engaged to be married to a widower who has three children, two girls and a boy, ranging from 14 to 19 years of age. We are anxious to be married at once, as we love each other. But his daughters violently oppose it because his wife has only been dead fourteen months. They think it will show inconsideration for their mother and that he should wait at least two years before remarrying. Since their mother's death the girls have been doing slap-dashy housekeeping for their father. They never bother to sew on a button or mend his clothes or take any trouble to entertain or amuse him. Still less do they show him any affection except to give him a dab of a kiss once in a while as they dash in and out of the house. They regard him only as a provider for their wants. It isn't that they are not good girls. They are. It is only that they are young girls and absorbed in their own lives. And their father needs somebody to take care of him. Still we don't want to do anything that will hurt them. What is your advice?

A LONESOME LADY

ANSWER:

Inasmuch as all the objection the girls have to their father's marriage is that they think he should go through a longer period of mourning, there is no reason why you should not go on with your wedding at once. The conventional period of mourning is one year. That is supposed to show the proper respect for the memory of the deceased husband or wife.

Children nearly always have a curious jealousy for their dead parents and object strenuously to their widowed father or mother putting some one else in the place of the wife or husband they have lost. But it is a rare thing for the youngsters to make the slightest effort to fill the void in their parents' lives. They don't stop to think how lonely are the men and women deprived of the companionship of their mates; how dreary are the evenings spent in an empty house with nothing to do but thrash over old memories. Nor do they feel called upon to stay at home and make things brighter and pleasanter for Papa or Mama.

This is perfectly natural because youth is selfish and absorbed in its own pleasures and amusements and plans of life, and no one would sacrifice it to the sorrows of its elders. No one would condemn the boy and girl whose feet are aching to dance to spend their evenings trying to carry on a doleful conversation with their depressed parents.

But, all the same, it is hard on Mama or Papa to be left alone while Mary and Johnny have gone to parties, or are joyriding, or are rushing about from place to place after the manner of the young. And certainly it is unreasonable in the children, who are so gay themselves, to be so determined that their parents shall wear perpetual mourning and never rebuild their lives.

In common humanity they should be glad for their fathers and mothers to find happiness again if they can in new marriages, new homes, new interests. They should be glad that somebody else takes up the duties that would otherwise devolve on them. They should rejoice that father has some woman of his own age to talk to him about the things he is interested in and to make him comfortable, without some good daughter being enslaved by the task. They should be glad that mother has a husband to support her and whom she can fuss over without a dutiful son having to give up all thoughts of marriage himself to take care of her.

The parents' second marriage is the emancipation proclamation of the children. It sets them free to live their own lives, and it solves the problem of what to do with mother or father when their homes are broken up by the death of their first mates.

So instead of forbidding the bans, children should give mother or father their blessing when they want to remarry.

Be Sure You Love Before You marry

Dear Miss Dix—Two boys whom I will call A and B want to marry me. A lives in a distant city and if I married him I would have to leave home, and my parents say they will disinherit me if I do. But if I marry B and stay at home they will give me a nice home. I don't know which one of these boys to take, but I believe I prefer A and, anyway, I don't want my mother to dictate to me about whom I shall marry. I have always looked forward to planning a home of my own. Which one would you advise me to marry?

WORRIED.

ANSWER:

Neither. When a girl doesn't know whether she loves a man or not it is a sure sign that she doesn't. When you are really in love it breaks out all over you like the measles and you don't have the slightest difficulty in diagnosing what's the matter with you.

The only reason that you think you prefer A is because your mother's unreason has antagonized you and made you put your back up. She is wrong and foolish in trying to pick out your husband for you. That is a personal matter in which every girl is entitled to gratify her own taste. Don't be bribed into marrying a man you don't love for the sake of getting a house. It is too high a price to pay. Wait until you find Mr. Right.

Step-Parent's Right to Discipline Child

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am married to a second husband and have a child by my first husband who is very much spoiled. She doesn't mind me and I cannot make her do anything even if I spank her. Is it right for my present husbands to spank her when she needs it?

BELLE

ANSWER:

If you have raised your child to be a brat, you should be grateful to your husband for giving her the discipline that she needs and that you have failed to give her.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 5.

A lively day, with probably sudden excitement and quite unpredictable occurrences, is presaged from a very interesting chain of planetary aspects. This state of affairs is likely to operate in the social, domestic or emotional life, probably the latter, and may bring a spectacular development in a romantic courtship or marriage. Elopements come under this influence. While there is sign of pleasure and definite benefits, there also are omens of entanglements, intrigues, or angles, sinister and treacherous. Beware.

A child born on this day, although clever, good-natured, and well meaning, may be carried away by its romanticism or impressionable temperament and be duped or misled by sinister influences or designing associates.

THE CULPRIT ESCAPES

WHENEVER a psychic bid addict gets away with an apparently impossible fine score on a deal, it encourages him to try more of the same. In the long run, it is highly questionable that he profits, in terms of net points, from the spectacular unorthodox tactics, but he undeniably gets something which the conservative bidder never can have in the same form—thrills. So perhaps he is pretty wise at that, for the main thing we all seek from the game is fun.

Better let Henry C. Meyer III, star of Union League club's champion team in New York's Inter-Club league, tell about it.

"When I heard Ed's bid of 1-Club with that vulnerability," he said, speaking of his partner, Edwin N. Moore, in the North, "I guessed it to be psychic, especially when East overcalled. To head off a possible spade game for them, I bid the suit myself. As Ed showed strength with 3-Spades, I knew I was in for it. I tried twice to get out of trouble into No Trump. The only reason I didn't try 6-No Trumps is that I was afraid he'd go to 7-Spades."

Now for the play. West led the heart 9 to the A. The spade 2 brought the 5, A and 9, then the 4 called out the 10, K and 6. The 3 was led and East took his Q, on which West's J fell, leaving dummy's 8 high. Thus the crazy contract was made, Mr. Meyer running nine more tricks after East returned his heart J. Hardly anybody could believe the score on the slip until it was explained.

Tramps Begin To Worry Havelock; 37 Merchants Plan To Organize

HAVELOCK, April 4—(ENS).—The transient problem, a source of trouble to this municipality for several years past, once more cropped up for discussion when Councillor Pollock at the April session of the Havelock council on Monday evening, announced that he had had several complaints recently from citizens who had been annoyed by these unwelcome visitors.

"Just your chickens coming home to roost," spoke up Council Martin, referring to Councillor Pollock's demands at a recent meeting that Constable Akins scrub out the transient quarters.

Nothing much could be done about it, all agreed, except to have the constable keep a more strict watch. "You can't very well shut the door and keep them out in the cold," said Reeve Seeney. "No that wouldn't be human," voiced Councillor Pollock.

Dr. D. J. Holdcroft interviewed the council in connection with his salary as Medical Officer of Health for the village, for the last four months of 1939, on the basis of work shown in his report for that period. Refusing to accept the amount of $40, which a motion by Councillors Martin and Pollock granted him, the doctor was requested to be present at the May meeting of the council in order to reach some agreement.

Merchants To Organize

A petition containing the names of thirty-seven merchants, announcing their intention of forming a local Business Men's Association was thoroughly approved of by the council, and they were granted use of the council chamber for the purpose of holding an organization meeting.

Criticism of the council's method of distributing work on the streets was hurled by Mr. Jack McQuigge, who charged that the same two or three men received all the jobs last winter. Presenting the pay-rolls as proof that such was not the case, Reeve Seeney said that no matter how fairly the work was divided, complaints were always forthcoming. In reference to this Councillor Pollock said that "the west end complained if east end workers shovelled snow in their territory and vice versa."

Addressing the council on behalf of the "Aces" orchestra, Mr. Douglas Hutchinson asked that they be given a reduced hall rental in consideration of the amount of money which they had already paid over to the municipality, and also that on Saturday's they could take advantage of only half a night, since the dances must stop at midnight. On motion of Councillors Martin and Pollock the rental was reduced from $6 to $4 from now until the first of November.

The clerk informed the council that he had advised Mr. T. L. Ashton, advertising manager of the Peterborough Examiner, that the Belmont council would assemble here this Saturday, and that representatives from the local council would also be present to take up the matter of a part in the annual Examiner Vacation Edition.

The tax collector's roll was returned on motion of Councillors Martin and Leeson.

Reeve Seeney brought to their attention, that a number of the elms planted along No. 7 highway had died and also suggested that the site at the eastern entrance to the village was well suited for pines. On motion of Councillors Ketchen and Leeson, the clerk was instructed to forward this information to Mr. A. Elliott, M.L.A. of Peterborough.

Constable Given Raise

Constable William Akins addressing the council asked them to consider raising his salary from $50 to $60 a month. Having been on duty seven days a week for four years, Mr. Akins thought that taking into consideration the increased cost of living, his services should be worth at least $60.

A motion by Councillors Martin and Ketchen raising the constable's salary to $60 was passed when Reeve Seeney cast the deciding vote. Councillor Pollock admitting that $50 was too small a remuneration for the amount of work involved, voiced his disfavour at making an increase now, claiming that such a move should have been made in January or not at all. Councillor Leeson also took this point of view.

The treasurer was, on motion of Councillors Martin and Ketchen, authorized to sue if necessary for tax arrears and outstanding wood accounts.

On motion of Councillors Ketchen and Pollock the following general accounts were passed and ordered paid: H. B. Puffer, quarter salary tax collector, affidavit, registered letter, phone, $153.36; W. J. Akins, March salary, phone, $67.50; B. A. Curtis, repairing chairs, $13; W. Platt, handling scenery, $1; Bank of Toronto, Hydro, town hl, $19.30; R. Sanderson, hardwood for hall, $21; W. J. Stillman, snow-plowing, $23; Beatrice Dewey, re Foley estate, $10; Mr. E. Johnson, re Foley estate, $10; Ray Peters, hauling fire engine Quinn's, $3; H. W. Krantz, repairing coil furnace, $4.85; village treasurer, pay sheet, No. 6, $27.20; pay sheet No. 7, $33.15; pay sheet No. 8, $62.20; Archie Bannon, snow shovelling, $4.80; Y. Pomeroy, snow shovelling, $33.60; George Derrett, snow shovelling, $7.50; C. Emery, snow shovelling, $3.60; George Jones, snow shovelling, $9.90; Thomas Forsythe, snow plowing, $24.

The following relief accounts were passed on motion of Councillors Leeson and Pollock: H. Wing, food, $15; William Smith, food $2.15; R. Sanderson, fuel, $7.57; medical services based on four at 35 cents, $1.40.

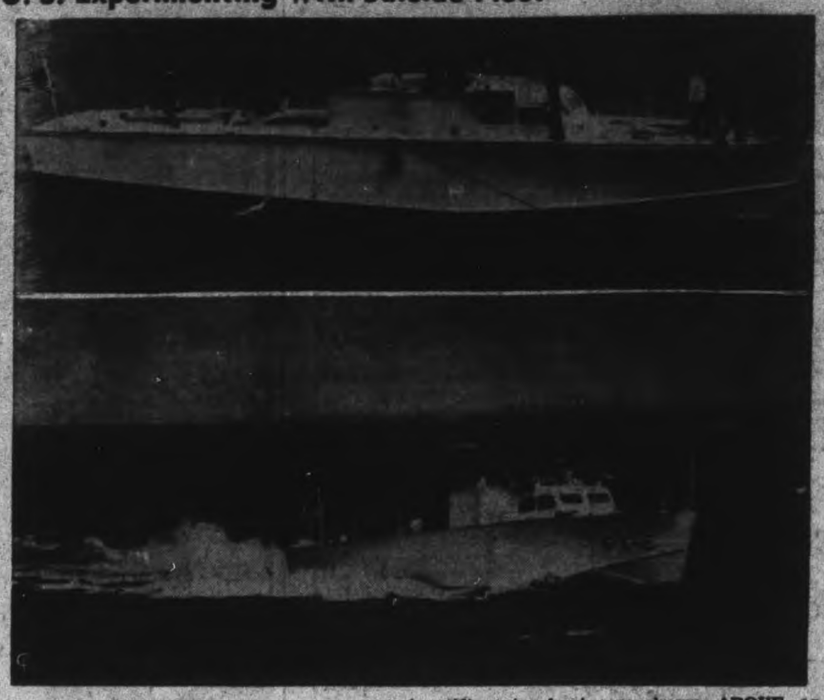
U. S. Experimenting With Suicide Fleet



Following the lead of Britain, the United States may soon have a "suicide fleet" composed of powerful tri-motored torpedo carriers. Two views of the first of these swift motor boats are shown, ABOVE, as the boat was tested by the navy at New Orleans. Although not opened up, the boat attained a speed of 46 miles-per-hour. Her 12 cylinder motors have 1,250 horsepower.

Havelock District Ministers Hear Message On Evangelism

HAVELOCK, April 4—(ENS).—Outlining the need, message and method of "Evangelism," the Rev. Amos J. Thomas, M.A., B.D., of Toronto addressed the members of the Havelock-Hastings-Norwood ministerial association which assembled here on Monday afternoon at the United Church parsonage.

A full attendance included the president, Rev. R. E. Lemon, and secretary, Rev. McIntosh, both of Norwood, as well as Rev. Glover, Rev. W. Stocks and Rev. D. K. Perrie of Hastings, Rev. M. I. Robinson of Norwood and Rev. A. McLauchlin, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McFarlane, Miss Stafford and Miss Tristan of Havelock. A general discussion followed an interesting address by the guest speaker.

A distinguished leader in the United Church for many years, Rev. Thomas is a former pastor of George Street United Church in Peterborough, and also of famed St. James' Church in Montreal. He has occupied some of the leading pulpits in Canada, but at his own request has been granted temporary leave from the regular pastorate to engage in special evangelistic services. Commencing on Sunday, Rev. Thomas began a two-week preaching mission in Norwood United Church, holding services every night except Sunday.

The association accepted an invitation to meet jointly with the Campbellford Ministerial Association in Campbellford on May 6th, when Rev. William Stocks of Hastings will speak on "Hymns of the Church."

Lunch was served at the conclusion of the meeting by the hosts, Rev. and Mrs. Andrew McLauchlin.

Cavan

The Rev. J. E. Whitthame, Toronto, visited Cavan friends on Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Eric Porteous, Brantford, spent the Easter week-end at his home in Cavan, leaving on Wednesday to attend the Ontario Educational Association convention, Toronto.

Mr. O. Carley sponsored a spcial evening for the younger boys and girls in the church basement on Thursday evening. Music, community singing, and contests provided entertainment. Candy was served.

Miss Annie Tinney was hostess for a pot luck dinner and quilting on Friday. Ten ladies were present in the morning, and others came in the afternoon. Two quilts were quilted for the Red Cross.

Cavan Community Hall was the scene of a euchre party and dance held on Friday night under the auspices of the boys' hockey club Eight tables were used for the progressive euchre. Prizes were won by Mrs. Norman Brailsgaite and Milford Byers. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Edgar Fallis and Allan Ellis. Music for dancing was supplied by the Sutton Brothers. An appetizing lunch was served.

A Hot Tip?

BOSTON, April 4 — (AP). — Detective Frederick Williams wonders if this could be a political augury. During a bookie raid he answered a ringing telephone and a man's voice inquired: "How did Third Term make out?" Williams said he didn't know the horse was running. "Oh, get wise," the caller snapped. "You know I bet $5 on Presidential in the fifth race at Bowie." Williams looked it up, and sure enough, Presidential won.

66 Neutral Cargoes Of 100 Freed Intact

LONDON, April 4—(CP) — On April 2 there were 20 neutral ships in three British contraband control ports, the Ministry of Economic to-day.

Ten of these had been in these ports for five days or less. The vessels included 13 Dutch, three Norwegian, two Belgian, one Danish and one Eirean.

During the week ending March 30, the contraband committee examined cargoes of 100 ships which others from the previous week. The combined total included shipments of the following nationalities: 36 Dutch, 33 Italian, 17 Norwegian, eight Belgian, seven Swedish, five American. In 66 cases the cargoes were released intact either on first consideration or after inquiries.

Quizzed In Floggings

Imperial Wizard James A. Colescott, of the Ku Klux Klan, pictured waiting in the corridor of the Fulton county court house, Atlanta (Ga.), where he testified before a grand jury probing a series of flog-rides in suburban East Point, Ga. The jury was asked to investigate a series of night-raider lashings in the Atlanta area which culminated early in March in the death from flogging of Ike Gaston, an East Point barber. Revelations of K.K.K. activity during the investigation have caused a wave of indignation in Atlanta against that organization.

London Scotty A-1 Of C.A.S.F.

LONDON, Ont., April 4 (CP).—A broad-shouldered young Scot, Albert John McCallum, of London, a squadron sergeant-major at 26, has regimental number A-1 in the Canadian Active Service Corps. He is a member of the First Hussars Regimental Depot.

McCallum looks like a fighting man and perhaps he should because his father, Robert McCallum, enlisted in the Argyle Southern Highlanders for the Boer War. He transferred to the mounted infantry, and then to the 15th and 19th Imperial Hussars and saw service in India.

Young McCallum was born in this city and before he was 15 and while he was still in High School, in 1929 he joined the First Hussars, of the non-permanent active militia as a signaller.

He learned to ride and also to lead men. Last year his squadron was judged the best in summer camp at Thedford. He enlisted promptly when the First Hussars were mobilized at the outbreak of war. He was acting regimental sergeant-major before he was transferred to the depot, which clears recruits.

The First Hussars were listed originally with the first division and it was given the top block of regiment numbers. As acting regimental sergeant-major, A-1 fell rightfully to McCallum.

In The Bag

LOS ANGELES, Ajril 4 — (AP). —The case against James D. Bland was in the bag. He attempted to rob a cafe by pretending he had a pistol in his pocket. A waitress gave him $18, then pushed him. He fell backwards into a laundry bag held by the cook, who quickly tied the top and called police. Bland pleaded guilty to second degree robbery and was put on probation for five years.

To Stop Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation's got you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey . . . it's time you did something about it. And something more than taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat only the things most people do, the chances are that a very simple fact causes your constipation . . . you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It means a kind of food that after the digestive process leaves a soft "bulky" mass which helps a bowel movement.

If constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, eat Kellogg's All-Bran, a tasteful ready-to-eat cereal, for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran supplies the "bulk" you need, plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B1. Made by Kellogg in London, Canada. Sold by every grocer.

4 Destroyers Bombed In Jade Bay

Nazi Craft Damaged Warship Attacked, All Britons Return

LONDON, April 5 (CP) — The Royal Air Force bombed a formation of German warships in the Jade estuary Thursday afternoon, the air ministry announced tonight.

An official statement said it is believed damage was done to four destroyers.

The official statement:—

"During yesterday afternoon a formation of British aircraft of the bomber command penetrated enemy defences in the Jade estuary and successfully reconnoitred the naval base of Wilhelmshafen.

"An enemy warship was observed near Wilhelmshafen and was attacked with bombs. Farther south four enemy destroyers were also attacked and damage is believed to have been done.

"No damage or casualties were suffered by the British aircraft, all of which returned safely to their base."

The Jade estuary is at the head of Jade Bay, in western Germany not far from The Netherlands. The naval base of Wilhelmshafen is situated at the top of the bay.

One Trawler Sunk.

LONDON, April 5—(CP). — German aerial attacks on five British fishing trawlers in the North Sea Wednesday were reported belatedly today to have resulted in the sinking of one, the 208-ton Gorspen. The crew was saved.

Nazis Give French 1st Air Strafing

PARIS, April 5 — (CP-Havas).—The first attempt by the German air force to bomb and machine gun French troops was disclosed here today by military authorities, who reported an unsuccessful enemy attempt to storm a French outpost in the sector between the Nied and Saar Rivers.

The Nazi air raid over the front lines, the first since the war began, was said to have been carried out several days ago. Military sources said it was a relatively minor flurry and was not co-ordinated with any overland operations.

The German push in the zone between the Nied and Saar Rivers was the one outstanding operation along the front yesterday. Heavy artillery and minnewerfer fire laid down by German batteries took a number of casualties among the garrison holding the French outpost, but the subsequent infantry attack was decisively repulsed.

Thursday otherwise was featured by particularly intensive patrol activity in the sector to the west of the Vosges. Germany's "propaganda war" showed new life along the Nazi side of the Rhine, but was quickly greeted with bursts of French machine gun fire.

This morning's official communique merely advised that there was "nothing to report."

Miss England Goes Back To Land

With all the men of military age gone to the wars and with England needing more home-produced food than ever before, the women have stepped into the breach with the determination to raise a bumper crop for John Bull this year. Here is a scene on a big farm at Bury St. Edmunds, where women of the land army are digging and planting from sunup to sunset. Most of these women have menfolk at the front or at military stations in England.

Neutrals Hail New U.K. Trading Firm

Chance Of Cash Sales Hit German Balkan Hold Hard

BUDAPEST, April 5 (AP)—Neutral producers of southeastern Europe today welcomed a chance to sell—for cash—to Britain's new English Commercial Corporation despite concern that an economic struggle might bring military warfare to this area.

(Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, told parliament yesterday that "Enco," official abbreviation for the English Commercial Corporation Ltd., whose capital had been subscribed by the British Treasury, had been organized primarily to deal with the Balkans but would be authorized to trade anywhere.)

Rumanian business circles said if Britain had established such a special trading company 10 years ago she would have kept the Balkans from Germany's economic grip.

Hungarians held that Britain would rely on a threat to cut off the Balkans' access to Empire raw material to obtain the essential products of southeastern Europe.

Yugoslav official quarters indicated that the vice-governor of the Yugoslav National Bank, Ivo Belin, played an important role in London in the formation of "Enco," and that Yugoslav policy and aims put Britain at least on a par with Germany in their country's foreign trade.

Yugoslavs pointed out their minister of agriculture had been participating in Budapest conferences with German, Italian and Hungarian representatives which the Budapest press declared "assured the agricultural solidarity of these four powers."

Hungarian newspapers predicted that Germany would reply to the Allied trade drive by demanding even closer cooperation with all the Balkans.

"Fun" In Convoy For Neutrals

OSLO, Norway, April 5 — (AP).—Bombed eight times by German planes, the Norwegian passenger ship Mira, with two of its 107 passengers slightly injured, arrived today from Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The two were injured by bomb splinters, other passengers reported. The Mira, a 1,152-ton ship, sailed in convoy.

Passengers said the first bombing occurred shortly after the trip started, and one German plane was believed to have fallen during the first raid.

"The following day we were attacked anew about 11.50 a.m.," a passenger said. "A violent battle followed and another plane seemed to fall. That same day, about 1.55 p.m., we were attacked again.

"The Germans had several planes in this attack and came at us in pairs. About 4 p.m. Wednesday there was a new attack and three bombs were thrown at the ship and exploded about 12 feet away. Nobody was hurt.

"Exactly 35 minutes later five bombs were showered on us. All the passengers were standing on the deck ready to go into lifeboats and had no protection against the attack.

"The bombs rained on all

Traitor Label Given Communists

French Police Search Power Extended To Nab Propagandists

PARIS, April 5—(AP).—France's new government was understood today to be considering a decree which would make dissemination of Communist propaganda a treasonable offense punishable by death.

The decree, proposed as the final step in an anti-Communist campaign launched last September 26 when the party was outlawed by the government, was reported by semi-official sources to have been drafted by Henri Roy, Minister of the Interior, and to be awaiting the signature of Premier Reynaud.

These sources said the decree would further assist the government in its drive to stamp out Communist activities by::

1. Lifting the legal ban which has long prohibited police from entering and searching private homes between dusk and dawn.

2. Augment squads of police assigned to investigate seditious activities.

3. Permit deportation of Communists to concentration camps in North Africa.

The Communist party in France once counted millions of Frenchmen among its members, held 77 of 618 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and formed part of the people's front which governed the nation from 1936 to 1938.

The government subsequently pursued its "Red" hunt by enacting a

New Nazi Envoy Out To Push Jap Alliance

TOKYO, April 5 — (CP-Havas). —The Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha president of the German Red Cross, will return to Tokyo shortly with a rank equivalent to that of envoy extraordinary.

Major-General Eugene Ott, the German Ambassador, called on Foreign Minister Arita yesterday concerning the duke's forthcoming visit here.

While the duke's mission is described as a "good-will mission," it was generally believed in informed quarters that his real purpose will be to obtain a Japanese commitment to greater collaboration with Germany in the war.

The forthcoming talks were linked here to the striking coolness displayed in Berlin toward the new Nanking government set up by the Japanese with Wang Ching-Wei at its head.

It is known that Germany has been employing every possible means to persuade Japan to take part in the war on the German side. These efforts were stimulated by the arrival here of Emil Melferich, special unofficial envoy of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The Germans were reported to be threatening a reversal of their Far Eastern policy if Japan did not assume an attitude at least of benevolent neutrality.

Afloat But Lost

Malmo, Sweden, April 5 (AP)

THE NETHERLANDS tugboat Hoek Van Holland and three sand dredges today were reported "afloat but lost" in a German mine field off Trelleborg on the southern tip of Sweden.

The entire crew of 14 were rescued by the German ferry boat Treussen Thursday night after a difficult encounter with ice and high winds.

5 Men Remanded No Bail In Double Attack

TORONTO, April 5 (CP) — Five Toronto and district men, arrested yesterday and last night on charges of assaulting two women in different sections of suburban Toronto, were remanded in custody today until April 12. Bail was refused by Magistrate F. C. Gullen.

The men appeared in court in two separate groups and on different charges. Three, Antonio Bello, 32; David Hill, 19, and Hill's brother, Leonard, 24, were charged with criminal assault and robbery with violence.

British, French Empires Being Welded

LONDON, April 5 (CP) — The possibility of a joint parliament to cement growing British-French unity was mentioned today as the Allies drove forward with their plans to buy up German markets they cannot bottle up by blockade.

A front page story in the Daily Mail said the idea of a British-French parliament to deal with broad questions of common concern already had been taken up but that it still was in a visionary stage.

The newspaper, however, said discussions were understood to have taken place here and in Paris to attain the most intimate co-operation between the Allies to fuse them "into one military and economic force, not only during the war but also when peace comes."

The objective, it said, is a permanent partnership "which would make the two great empires so powerful a force for peace that no aggressor would dare challenge it."

Georges Monnet, France's new minister of blockade, was due here today to confer with Ronald H. Cross, British minister of economic warfare, as the two nations united themselves even more closely in

Berlin Suspects Welles Used In French Trick

BERLIN, April 5—(AP).—Authorized sources commenting today on Sumner Welles' denial that he had looked at a map in French Premier Paul Reynaud's office, said: "Then he had become the victim of an infamous propaganda trick by the French."

A German spokesman yesterday accused Welles of "bad taste" in posing with Reynaud, then Finance Minister, in front of the map. Germans assert it illustrated French aims to dismember Germany.

"The fact that Welles denies having noted the map relieves him of any stigma of bad taste but throws an interesting light on the game that was played with him."

Blame Retoucher.

PARIS, April 5—(AP). — French officials today blamed a magazine retoucher's zeal for the appearance of new-drawn frontiers on a European map in a photograph of premier Paul Reynaud, United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and the First Secretary of the United States Embassy, H. Freeman Matthews.

Yugoslavs Balk At Guarding Nazi Shipping

BELGRADE, April 5 — (AP). — Germany, seeking a blockade-proof route for transporting Yugoslav bauxite through the Adriatic, was reported today to have attempted unsuccessfully to obtain Yugoslavia's promise to guard Nazi merchantmen against seizure by Allied warships in her territorial waters.

The reports, which could not immediately be confirmed, said Great Britain had warned Yugoslavia that bauxite shipments to Germany would be subject to seizure as contraband.

Official sources previously had said that Yugoslavia would sanction use of her territorial waters for German ships carrying bauxite to the Italian port of Trieste, whence it would be shipped overland to the Reich.

Bauxite, mineral base of aluminum is not considered by Yugoslavia to be a war material and hence not subject to seizure, these sources said.

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON (CP)—The submarine Thetis, in which 99 men lost their lives last June, and which subsequently was salvaged, is now being repaired for service, the Admiralty disclosed today.

BROOKLIN, Ont. — (CP). — John Jepson and his daughter, Mrs. Grant Sime, captured an intruder in Jepson's hardware store here early to-day and while Jepson covered him with a revolver, Mrs. Sime tied him up with ropes.

PARIS — (CP-Havas). — Police to-day arrested 19 alleged French Communists, charging them with spreading illegal propaganda. Among the men arrested, it was stated, were the chief of the Communist propaganda organization for the northern suburbs of Paris and his assistants. A printing ouifit was seized.

LOS ANGELES—(AP). — Detectives questioning 11-year-old Chloe Davis in connection with the bludgeon deaths of her mother, her two sisters and her brother, pointed out to-day that a child less than 14 years of age under California law is held incompetent to distinguish right from wrong. Even if she should be convinced of the quadruple slayings the maximum penalty Chloe would face would be incarceration in a correctional institution until she reached the age of 21, when she would be released.

Chancellery's Bronze Doors Go To Adolf's Metal Pot

Europe waited today for the next move in the war of caution between its huge belligerents suspecting it might not be long before Germany, feeling the pinch of the Allied blockade, touches off the fireworks along the Westwall.

There is ac hance that the increasingly heavy artillery fire from the German side, followed usually by infantry sories, may constitute experimental testing of the strength of French defences preliminary to a sudden assault.

Blockade and politico-economic encirclement are nerve-racking weapons for a nation to face when it has no navy strong enough to break through.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain could have caused no joy in the Wilhelmstrasse yesterday when he told the National Conservative Association:

"You can take it from me that one by one leaks and loopholes are being stopped and that as the war goes on that strangling effect will more and more drain the lifeblood out of our enemy."

There was an indication, too, that already the blockade was having serious effects in Germany. Adolf Hitler ordered the great bronze doors of the Berlin Chancellery melted down to help meet the Reich's demand for metal. He also selected ornaments to be melted down and the government launched an appeal for gifts of such articles.

Some time ago iron fences and the like were sacrificed in Germany to forge guns, the sort of thing that does not happen in a country confident of reserves.

Egypt Prepared To Back Britain

CAIRO, Egypt, April 5 — (CP-Havas).—Egypt will be on the side of the democracies in case they should be threatened by an extension of the war, Saleb Harb Pasha, Egyptian Defence Minister, told a Havas correspondent last night.

"If we are drawn into the conflict we shall retaliate against any aggression," he said. "We are ready. Our fortifications are strong at all strategic points. Our motorized units are well equipped and can be shifted from one point to another rapidly. Great Britain and her ally, Egypt, have made the necessary preparations at the frontier either to defend them or launch an attack."

Asked how much Egypt could count on the support of Arab countries, he said:

"There is no doubt that the Arab states regard Egypt always as a great sister nation. Any conflict in which Egypt would be involved would be of immediate interest to them and I have good reason to believe they would not refrain from giving us their aid in such a situation. They know that Egypt, on her side, shares these feelings."

BEHIND his dogs and a new sleigh, Canada's youngest milkman, 11-year-old Mossom Harrison of this Haliburton county village made deliveries as usual today and considered himself fortunate to be alive.

A Canadian National Railways train demolished Harrison's milk-laden sleigh at a crossing near the village yesterday. The youngster, who delivers the milk with a team of collies dogs, just managed to reach safety before the crash. Force of the crash pulled the harness off the dogs who were thrown a few feet but escaped injury.

Sweep Winner Of $69,000 To Stay On Job

WINNIPEG, April 5 (CP)—R. A. Coppen, holder of an Irish sweepstakes ticket on the victorious Bogskar in the Grand National steeplechase, today joyfully accepted a sudden shower of wealth. The winner's sweepstakes pot runs around $139,000 but he sold half an interest in his ticket for $3,000.

Coppen last Tuesday accepted a telegraphed offer from New York of $3,000 for the half-share. He figured he would collect around $69,000 for his interest—$66,000 for the half he holds plus the $3,000 received from the half he sold.

The Canadian General Electric Company employee was the only Canadian holding a ticket on first, place or show horses. In previous years Canadian winnings often have exceeded $500,000 on the Grand National sweepstake, but the war apparently has resulted in a heavy drop in sweepstake ticket sales in the Dominion.

The Canadian exchange rate in New York will bring Coppen an extra $300, providing the purchaser of half his ticket pays him in New York funds.

Guard Witnesses As Mobs Import Killers

NEW YORK, April 5. — (AP).— Special police are standing guard over witnesses in the investigation of Brooklyn's murder ring after District Attorney William O'Dwyer, charged that imported killers are waiting for a chance to fill them full of lead.

O'Dwyer disclosed last night that at least two hired gunmen, one an "ace trigger man" for Detroit's purple gang, and another a Los Angeles gangster, have been called east by the murder ring to "shoot down those who stand in the way" of freedom for the gang's jailed members.

Announcing the assignment of special guards for witnesses, O'Dwyer said the out-of-town hoodlums answered the call of the cash-and-bury syndicate in return for past gun-favors—out-of-town killings by the Brooklynites.

One of the visitors, O'Dwyer said, is "known as a collector" for Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, industrial racketeer, and Charles (Luck) Luciano, one time overlord of a $2,000,000-a-year vice ring, both of whom are serving prison terms.

Six Of Nine Reached Deck Says Pilot Swam 20 Minutes Before Picked Up

HALIFAX, April 5 — (CP). — At least six of the nine men who were lost in the sinking of the pilot ship Hebridean off Halifax harbor a week ago reached the deck of the stricken vessel before she plunged beneath the surface, according to Harbor Pilot Roy Sullivan, one of the survivors.

Sullivan was released from hospital yesterday, and upon returning to his home gave the first eye-witness account of the tragedy to be made public.

Sullivan could cast no light on the mystery of how the collision occurred. The Hebridean had approached the freighter to put a pilot aboard her and the pilot was actually making the transfer in a dory when the collision occurred.

"We quite often came up close when putting a pilot on board," he said. "Something must have happened that sent her across the bow of the freighter, and she was struck broadside."

He said he saw six of his companions on deck in the interval between the time when the Hebridean was struck by a freighter and when she went down. They were endeavoring to launch the "Squid," a double-ended boat carried on the schooner's dack.

Before they could do so, said Sullivan, the Hebridean went down. "I made one plunge," he said, "and jumped clear. All the others who were lost must have been engulfed in the great sea that came in. They didn't have a chance."

Sullivan was interviewed a few hours after he was visited in hospital by Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll of Nova Scotia Supreme Court, who conducted an investigation into the sinking.

Airman Pilots 25-1 Shot Bogskar To Win At Famed Grand National

AINTREE, England, April 5 — (CP). — Tradition that the favorite seldom wins the Grand National held true to-day when Lord Stalbridge's Bogskar, starting at 25 to 1, came from out of the pack to defeat the highly regarded MacMoffat in the 102nd running of the world's premier steeplechase.

With Sergeant M. A. Jones of the Royal Air Force handling the reins, Bogskar carried 144 pounds over the four miles 856 yards in 9 minutes 20 3-5 seconds to finish a good three lengths in front of L. Scott Briggs' jumper, who also was second last year. The time was only one-fifth of a second off the record established by Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller in 1934.

MacMoffat, heavily backed at 3 to 1, had six lengths to spare over J. B. Neill's Gold Arrow, a 50 to 1 chance. Arthur Sainsbury's Bymeeths was fourth in the field of 31.

Only 17 horses finished.

Jones did not start to make his move with Bogskar until the last furlong. Then, as cry of "who's ahead?" swept through the crowd estimated at more than 100,000, the seven-year-old son of Werewolf-Irish Spring started after Gold Arrow and Macmoffat, the leaders.

Gold Arrow and Macmoffat took the second from the last fence like a team but then, as Gold Arrow fell behind, Bogskar came storming up. He was leading as they came to the final jump, took it beautifully and came down the home stretch.

"It was like riding in wheel chair," said Jones after the race.

H. C. McNally's Royal Danieli, second in 1938 and co-favorite, raced with Macmoffat and Gold Arrow most of the way. Two fences from homes h fell on his head and had to be carried off the course.

No Opening Up Of Probe Into White Book

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP)—Chairman Key Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee today rejected fresh suggestions for a congressional inquiry into the Nazi "white book" imputations that United States diplomats helped pave the way for Europe's war.

"It is obviously unwise," the Nevada Democrat said, "with the United States enjoying such a peaceful situation at home, to make unauthentic publications of belligerent powers the subjects of violent discussions in our own country."

The war's ramifications, however, continued to be a provocative topic in the capital:

1. Senator Rush Holt (Dem-West Virginia) described as "tea hounds" James R. Cromwell, United States Minister to Canada, and William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France.

2. Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, dismissed as "fantastic nonsense" German assertions that in Paris he had discussed French plans to "whittle down" the Reich when peace comes.

TWEED, April 5.—(ENS).—George Derusha, who resides in the Township of Sheffield, north of the village of Marlbank, suffered a heavy loss when the frame house and barn on his property were completely destroyed by fire. Ben McGill Is Red Hot Tory

Eighty-six years old to-day, Benjamin McGill, 412 George Street, was still smiling in recollection of having marked a winning ballot for Gordon K. Fraser in the recent Federal elections.

"Always voted Conservative," he smilingly remarked to the Examiner, and with a little more emphasis he added, "in fact, I have always been a red hot Conservative."

Apparently the election of Mr. Fraser afforded some compensating satisfaction to Mr. McGill that tended to lighten the disability of his advanced age. "I have been feeling rather poorly of late," he said as he sat in the warming April sun.

Ben McGill was born near Janetville in Manvers Township, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGill. "I was born on the farm at Lot 6, Concession 12, in Manvers. There were fifteen of us children, nine boys and six girls, and there are five of us still living. I grew up on the farm and then kept store at Janetville for ten years. I came to Peterborough thirty-eight years ago, and kept store for ten years at the north-east corner of Lake and Aylmer Streets. After that I was caretaker of the Customs House for twelve and a half years, but I guess you don't need to say anything more about that. But you can say that I have always been a real Conservative."

Mr. McGill declared that he had never strayed from his political loyalty to the party.

Canada Looking To Banner Tourist Year

OTTAWA, April 5. — (CP).—Tourist dollars will clink louder in cash registers across Canada this summer, government officials agreed to-day, despite the nervousness of U. S. citizens over spending their holidays in a country that is at war.

The note of optimism spread through reports on 1940 prospects from both Dominion and Provincial tourist offices. D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said the outlook "is very bright"—and his cheerfulness was mirrored in several provinces which expect an all-time high in tourist trade this year.

Last year was something of a disappointment. Off to a banner start, 1939's tourist business ended up about $8,000,000 under 1938. Last summer's International crisis culminating in the war, was blamed for the drop of $275,000,000 in Can-

Miss Paget's Kilstar, the overnight favorite, faltered at the third fence the first time around. After that he never was in the race.

Among the crowd were many Canadian officers and other ranks in battle dress and air force blue. For most of them it was their first Grand National and several expressed their gratitude to Adolf Hitler for the opportunity.

The boys got a great "kick" from rubbing shoulders with Britain's racing elite, including such notables as Lords Derby, Rosebery, Sefton and Glanely. Most of them also had a few bob riding on their particular favorite.

The commanding officer of a famous British unit found a novel way of giving his men a day's treat. He arranged a route march somewhere in England to the Aintree course and then dismissed the unit until after the race.

At the outset of the race Royal Danieli took a slight lead going over the first fence and maintained it over Becher's Brook. Beyond Valentine's, Dunhill Castle and National Night fell.

At the water jump Macmoffat took the lead while four fences before Beecher's the second time round Gold Arrow raced to the front, with Royal Danieli, Macmoffat, Venturesome Knight and Bogskar following. Under Bid fell two fences before Beecher's. Macmoffatt took the lead at canal turn, followed by Gold Arrow, The Professor II, Royal Danieli, Venturesome Knight and Bogskar. Royal Danieli fell two fences from the finish.

Behind Symaethis at the finish came Venturesome Knight, The Professor II, Takvor Pacha, Away, Inversible, Dominick's Cross, Luxborough, Kilstar, Rockquilla, Downright, Lazy Boots, Red Eagle and Tuckmill.

Second Act, who fell, was so badly injured he had to be destroyed.

Lord Stalbridge, the winning owner, of Bogskar's victory: "I've been a hunting and jumping man all my life but never before had a horse good enough to win the Grand National. Now Bogskar has fulfilled my ambition."

Londoners, for instance, still bruise themselves in the blackout, bumping into those old sawed-off cannon that stand waist-high, like old-fashioned hitching posts, along the curb.

The great iron fences around Hyde, Kensington and St. James' Parks are still there, even though some citizens considered them a nuisance and wanted them down in peace time.

There is every prospect that the blockade will get tougher and tougher, and now, with the creation of the English Commercial Corporation, there is a good chance that Germany will face loss of a great deal more of her trade with countries outside the blockade.

Field Marshall Hermann Goering predicted again last Wednesday that when the time came Hitler would order a lightning blow in the west—that being the only direction in which it is possible to fight the Allies.

The duration of the lull depends probably on two things—the length of time Germany can consider she has prospects of politico-economic gains, and Hitler's patience.

Hitler was notably impatient before the Munich conference when he was threatening Czechoslovakia, a smaller nation. He was impatient with Poland, also small.

So far he has been extremely patient in withholding his attack on Britain and France in the west—so patient that Mr. Chamberlain said he had "missed the bus" by giving the Allies time to catch up with their preparations.

What Europe would like to know is this: Will Hitler strike soon, or will he wait, hoping to gain some sort of diplomatic triumph, to find the Allied blockade holding him in a vice and that he has "missed the bus" again?

U.S. Watches Wang Regime Warily

WASHINGTON, April 5 — (AP). — United States officials are watching the Japanese-sponsored government of Wang Ching-Wei at Nanking with a wary eye, determined to hold Tokyo rather than Nanking responsible for any action which infringes United States rights.

Persons close to the State Department believe that Wang Ching-Wei's government must strive to gain acceptance not only of China but also of third Powers. Toward this latter end the Nanking authorities may take one or both of two steps:

1. Offer concessions to third Powers which recognize it as the government of China. State Secretary Cordell Hull has refused recognition, declaring that the new regime "has the appearance of a further step in a program of one country by armed force to impose its will upon a neighboring country."

2. Discriminate against the citizens of countries which refuse recognition. State Department notes to Tokyo charge that Japan has discriminated against Americans in the Japanese-occupied areas of China.

Same Old System.

Mr. Hull's recent statement indicated that the State Department believes the same thing may be attempted by Wang Ching-Wei. Hull said:

"The developments there (Nanking) appear to be following the other regimes and systems which have been set up in China under the aegis of an outside Power (Japan) and which in their functioning especially favor the interests of that outside Power and deny to nationals of the United States and other third countries enjoyment of long-established rights of equal and fair treatment which are legally and justly theirs."

Officials here contend that the Coppen, surrounded by his excited family, said he was "all up in the air" over his winnings. One of his first purchases will be a new fur coat for his mother, fulfilling a promise he made before the race was run.

On Job Till September

Coppen was at work as a stock man for C.G.E. when the news of Bogskar's victory arrived.

"I was pretty excited at first," he said, "but later I cooled down. I told the switchboard I didn't want to be called on the telephone, and I was darn glad nobody could bother me.

"I'll be back at work this afternoon, and tomorrow and every day until September when I might take a little holiday. I don't regret selling a half interest in the ticket, because it looked like a good gamble then.

Unmarried, the 46-year-old Coppen, veteran of the First Great War, had little to say. He told his family he had been questioned so much he was going to lock himself in his office.

Unmarried, Coppen, 46, is the son of Ambrose H. Coppen, for 27 years an employee of the Manitoba government, serving part of that time as chief clerk in the offices of Premier John Bracken before retiring in 1937.

His mother assured interviewers that her "bashful son" is going to keep on living "naturally" despite his sudden fortune.

"He's already put in the bank the money he received for selling a share in the ticket," she said.

"The boy is at work now as usual. He has been plagued all week and said he was going to lock himself in his office.

"You find now you have more friends than you even thought," she added. "But he's nobody's fool."

Germans contended the map showed a "whittled-down" Germany as part of the Allies' war program.

The disputed picture appeared on the cover of the magazine L'Illustration for March 16, which authorities seized from the news stands.

The French said the original map in Reynaud's office was of pre-Munich vintage, and did not bear the marks appearing in the photograph.

Meanwhile, in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, youngsters feverishly searched in dumps and vacant lots for a $75,000 cache reported as the hiding place of Abe (Kid Twist) Reles' reserve cash. Reles joined O'Dwyer's "singing class" to turn informer on the syndicate.

Churchill Given Greater Scope For His Talents

LONDON, April 5 (CP)—Additional power given Winston Churchill as chairman of the committee of service ministers was re-emphasized editorially today by The Times.

"Foreign comment has drawn the natural and correct conclusion," the newspaper said, "that of all the various permutations in the government, the added authority given to Mr. Churchill's position is most important. The First Lord (of the Admiralty) as every observer of the mind of the country knows, is regarded by the average Englishman as a war leader par excellency—and therefore he is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly well suited to exercise co-ordination authority over the work of the defence ministries.

Criminal Offence

"Nazi spokesmen, it may be noted, with their familiar contrariety of judgment seem to think it a criminal offence in an opponent to be a 'warmonger' in wartime. Mr. Churchill will now have greater scope for his talents and his energy than hitherto.

Six Of Nine

Mr. Justice Carroll now has completed his inquiry and said yesterday his report would be forwarded to Ottawa. The entire hearing was behind closed doors.

Sullivan's statement contradicted earlier suppositions that the Hebridean plunged to the bottom a few moments after being struck, trapping the nine victims within her hull.

He said he was asleep below when he heard the crash. He jumped to the cabin floor, and found the water up to his knees. He groped his way to the deck, where he was quickly joined by seven others.

"There was no excitement on deck," he said. "Everybody seemed surprisingly calm." They tried to lower the small boat, and he had seen "lots more excitement in launching the boat at an ordinary time."

When the schooner took the final plunge she went so fast Sullivan barely had time to jump clear. When he came to the surface for the first time he could just make out the peak of the two masts disappearing in the water. Of the seven men on deck besides himself, only Pilot Carl Himmelman was saved. Himmelman is still a patient in hospital.

Three others who were aboard the Hebridean apparently perished below decks.

Sullivan said he was in the water at least 20 minutes before being picked up. After the schooner sank, he said he heard several men shouting in the water around him. The shouts continued until three or four minutes before the rescue boat arrived. At that time, only he and Himmelman were still afloat.

They were arrested early yesterday at their homes after a 26-year-old wife of a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force stationed at Ottawa reported to police three men pulled her into an automobile on a Toronto street, drove to a lonely section and assaulted her and robbed her of two rings and a watch. They then pushed her from a car she said.

Charged with attempted criminal assault on a second Toronto woman, which also occurred Wednesday night, Herbert Mucci, 26, and Frank Bello, 34, brother of Antonio, were the second group to be remanded in custody. They were taken into custody late last night. The second woman said she beat off her assailants and was left lying in a suburban ditch.

Muskrat Trapping Almost Impossible

No word has been received yet as to the opening of the muskrat trapping season, north of No. 7 Highway, Fish and Game Overseer I. J. Lyons stated this morning. The season south of the highway opened on Wednesday but just how long it will last has not been stated.

"Trapping is almost impossible anyway at the present time," Overseer Lyons said. "The conditions are such that the trappers cannot get to work at all. There is still too much ice to permit trapping either north or south of the highway."

"When the conditions are right about a week is all that is necessary to enable the entire catch to be taken," the official stated.

Hoodlums Damage Aged Man's House

Wilful damage to a house which an 86-year-old man has been fixing up all winter is reported from Lock Street, North Monaghan, where youthful hoodlums have been amusing themselves by hurling stones through a number of windows in the building, bought last fall by Henry Penrose, 498 Murray Street. The large window in the front room of the house was shattered and several windows at the side and another in the attic broken by stones. The bulk of the damage was done Wednesday night. Constable Bruce Menzies, North Monaghan, is investigating.

British Liner Reaches Hawaii Islands

HONOLULU, April 5—(AP). — Usually reliable sources said today that Britain's swift liner Mauretania would quit Honolulu at noon (5.30 EST) today to resume her blacked-out wartime voyage, apparently to New Zealand or Australia to pick up troops.

The spacious passenger ship was being readied here for departure. A crew of 410 was aboard, 280 of them in the culinary service—a fact which lent credence to the theory she would enter transport duty.

One crewman expected the vessel to pick up a British naval escort on leaving Hawaii. Projecting craft

Old Cereal Mills On Otonabee

The Examiner has been asked by a reader to tell through the news columns about the first cereal mill built on the site of the present Quaker Oats plant. "I am not referring to the McAllister mill, a stone building, that stood on the same side of the street near the east end of the present Hunter street bridge and was pulled down a few years ago," the communication said.

Several old timers interviewed by The Examiner could throw no light upon the subject. None of them could remember a cereal mill where the Quaker Oats plant is now located, and a 1875 map in The Examiner office shows all that side of the river as far north as the foot of Murray street vacant.

However, William Lundy, a treasure trove of information on the earlier days in Peterborough was able to solve the problem. "There used to be a cereal mill on the west bank of the river north of Hunter street," he said. "It was known as Clegg's Mill and was situated south of Brodie and Paisley's woollen mills at the foot of Murray street. And there was another cereal mill on the river bank just south of Hunter street, operated by Nihil Munro's father."

Incidentally the 1875 map shows that while there were no cereal mills on the present site of the Quaker Mills at that time there was a flour mill further north about halfway between the north end of the Quaker plant and the powerhouse at the end of London street. That was the Ontario Flour Mills operated by Dawson and Monro.

TOKYO—(AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported today that regular Soviet Russian troops had crossed the Manchoukuo border near Suifenho and set fire to a small village Wednesday. It said both sides rushed reinforcements up but that the Russians withdrew before the Japanese arrived and there was no fighting.

Suifenho is in Eastern Manchoukuo on the border of Siberia, about 100 miles northwest of Vladivostok.

BIERUT, Lebanon—(CP). — New petroleum fields, said by experts to be a "very great importance," have been discovered in Northern Syria, in the Eldjesira region near Turkey, it was learned today.

BRUSSELS—(CP-Havas). — Belgium's position as a neutral was reviewed today at a conference attended by the principal members of the Foreign Office staff and Belgian envoys to all the principal European capitals, who were called to Brussels for the occasion. Premier Hubert Pierlot presided at the conference.

LONDON — (CP Cable). — Men whose 25th birthday fell in 1939 and those who have become 20 since March 10 of this year today were warned to register themselves for military service tomorrow. About 300,000 men in the 25 class are expected to call at local employment exchanges, taking identity cards with them, at specified times, according to an alphabetical list.

This call-up will produce fewer soldiers than previous groups because many occupations are "reserved" after the age of 25. Meanwhile many 24-year-olds registered March 9 are being medically examined.

BERLIN—(AP). — The Defence Council has decided that no one may take up permanent residence in the vicinity of the Westwall without a special permit from local police.

Persons already living in the area are not required to obtain permits.

ANKARA, Turkey—(AP). — The Education Ministry has decreed that girls must pass an examination in military science before graduation from high school.

Army instructors have been detailed to teach them tactics, sharpshooting and first aid as the first step toward formation of a women's auxiliary corps which, in event of war, would take over the peacetime duties of men behind the lines.

CHINGKING—(AP)—General Wu Te-Chen, Chinese Overseas Affairs Minister, announced today he had raised among Chinese individuals a "considerable sum" for the British war organization fund in Hong Kong.

Wu said 60,000 Chinese dollars (approximately $5,000) of the sum had been contributed by the Governors of Yunnan, Kiangsi, Shensi and Chekiang Provinces, and that the Chungking Ministers of Publicity and Education had been among the donors. The total raised was not given.

BUEHLER'S

GRAND Opening

VISIT US TOMORROW TO SEE THE NEW STORE and NEW VALUES!

Here is a new store, modern to the very last degree, designed and built to offer you better meat service. BUEHLER'S has completed seven years in Peterboro and appreciates the splendid volume of business and steady patronage that has been given the store by the public.

Now, to further improve our service, this very modern meat store has been constructed. It is perfectly sanitary in every detail—a modern new cooler has been installed and all fresh meats are kept at constant temperatures in refrigerator counters. Over 125 different cuts and varieties of Ontario's finest meat products are on display in our refrigerator counters. Fresh shipments arrive daily and insure our customers of satisfaction. A full line of C.P.C. Products will be carried. Any items not in stock will be ordered on short notice.

Our new store is somewhat smaller than the former one and the greatly reduced rent will enable us to offer still better values. Make it your regular custom to BUY at BUEHLER'S for BETTER values.

Can't Do It That Way

"Canada's supreme task in the present conflict is to make every sacrifice short of impairing its status as a sovereign nation, to bring the United States into the war on the side of the Allies."

That in a general way was the text of an address delivered by Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General of Ontario, when speaking in Cannington. If the United States desired to proceed with the development of the St. Lawrence waterways plan then by all means we should join them in the scheme. If United States desired to make a road for military or business purposes connecting that country with Alaska—which road would have to run entirely through Canadian territory—then that should be settled at once and the States should be told to go ahead and build their road.

Mr. Conant admitted that United States and Canada had been good neighbors, but now this country of ours is faced with the greater responsibility. The task is to get United States to enter the war. The speaker was certain the Allies were going to need such assistance, and if it were forthcoming quickly then the war would be shortened.

The trouble with an address of that kind is that Mr. Conant was not speaking to the people most concerned in his suggestion. He was talking to a gathering of farmers in Cannington district and to business men of the village, and he was telling them that our chief purpose at the moment is to try and interest United States in the war.

Admittedly United States has a tremendous responsibility in what is going on in Europe at the moment, even if the Atlantic ocean is in between, and we admit too we would feel better if United States were standing square beside us in this conflict.

But we doubt if United States is going to be brought into the war by any frontal attack we can make on them by way of pointed suggestion. A nation will enter a war when that nation has reason to believe its interests are endangered or the safety of its people is in jeopardy. It is not at all likely to enter a war because one of the participants suggests such a step should be taken.

There is a large and assertive section of public opinion in United States which will resent Mr. Conant's suggestion; they will call it propaganda; they will say he is trying to force United States into the war, and the idea of being shoved into a war will increase the resistance against any shoving being done.

Nor do we believe United States will pared to make were for the purpose of getting United States into the frame of mind where it would join the Allies in the war, then Washington would probably refuse to rise to the bait. Looked at from any corner, we do not believe Mr. Conant's message will accomplish the mission on which it was sent.

be favorably impressed if we should begin a course which was framed, timed and engineered on the plan of giving to that country anything and everything it requested with no questions asked and no arguments raised. If Washington knew—and Mr. Conant has furnished the information already—that all the concessions or agreements we were pre-

Can't Find Another Hepburn

The talk about calling an immediate Liberal convention in Ontario and asking for the resignation of Premier Hepburn has gone dim. The movement as usual originated in Toronto and was helped along by newspapers who sent reporters seeking interviews.

We gather now that when Liberals voted the King Government back to office they were not thinking of casting a vote to put Mr. Hepburn in his place. They were voting straight for the Liberal government and they did not imagine they saw Mr. Hepburn's name on the other side of the ballot paper.

It is found there is difficulty in the way; those opposed to Mr. Hepburn do not know how to go about the business. Mr. Hepburn is today Premier of Ontario and very much the boss of the situation. His term of office is not up for some time to come, and it is hardly possible to go in and ask a Premier to resign. The only way to bring that about is to have him defeated in the House, and members of his own party would have to do that.

There is also the feeling that the Liberals would not be in power at Toronto today if it were not for Mr. Hepburn. From 1902 to 1934 there had been no Liberal government in Ontario. In 1929 there were but 14 Liberals against 91 Conservatives in a chamber which at that time boasted a membership of 112. Now in a Legislature of 90 members there are 66 Liberals, and it was Mitchell Hepburn who pulled the Liberals through the campaigns of 1934 and 1937. If they were to toss him over now where would they find another winner?

Punishing Mr. Hepburn for his attempt on the political life of Prime Minister King is one thing; finding another Hepburn to keep the Liberal party on the high road is quite another. Practical politics will have a good deal to do with the solution of the problem, and for the moment the inclination appears to be to let the matter rest.

Reaching The Century Mark

William Luffman of Peterborough has been spared to look upon the century milestone of his life. That post is rather far down the road and the number who travel along the sunset route to that distance is indeed small.

Those with whom he started on the journey have long since departed. Mr. Luffman has been an outdoors man, working for years as a gardener. In his own neighborhood he is on good terms with the children and the adults too. He admits he finds comfort in reading his Bible, and that has been a custom of long standing. To a man at the century mark it would be one of the things which had not in the least changed; the same when he first read it as it is today.

One could write at length regarding the changed conditions of life in one hundred years, of the revolutionary improvements in the mechanical world and so on, but at the moment chief interest is in Mr. Luffman himself. An Examiner staff writer who went to call on him referred to him as "a wise and gentle patriarch," and that is saying much in few words. Congratulations to our centenarian.

Tourists In Planes

It is not unusual to see an airplane over Peterborough; the number has increased since the air training scheme became operative. We are on the direct line between Trenton and Camp Borden, and that is one reason why an airfield is needed; also we are on the straight line between Ottawa and Toronto.

How long before people will want to come in here by air, making use of their own planes as they now make use of cars? In the current issue of Collier's is an advertisement telling of a light plane and Collier's is not an aircraft magazine where such products are generally advertised.

We learn that one of these light planes can be secured for a down payment of $333, and the total purchase price is $995. The plane travels 25 miles on a gallon of fuel; many people spend a week-end at some point 300 miles away; people at 65 and children under ten are flying today.

It means that we are going to have people using planes who will want to enter our remarkable summer territory. Undoubtedly those who used to come in cars will be listed with the number who now prefer to travel by air, and each year the number will increase.

Our landing field project appears to have come to a dead end for the time being, but in view of the rapid development of air travel we cannot afford to leave it in that condition. If the tourist of the future prefers to come to us by air rather than water or road we will have to possess a place for him to land or he will go where other landing fields are located. With planes getting down to the place where in price they compete with cars they are certain to increase in number—and rapidly.

Debt Also Increases

The Department of Municipal Affairs for Ontario reports we have in the province 27 cities, 148 towns, 156 villages and 571 townships. That is a total of 902 local municipalities and each one has a governing body. If there were an average of only six such members in each place there would be 5,412 municipal governors. In addition there would be an equal number looking after affairs of education, bringing the figure to near the 11,000 mark.

One table in this report looks back over the years beginning at 1900. Between 1900 and 1938 our population had grown from 2,014,000 to 3,394,000. In that time per capita assessment for taxation purposes had increased this way:

1900	$408	1928	$965
1913	709	1938	864
1918	802

The per capita tax levy growing out of that assessment had gone this way:

1900	$ 6.45	1928	$36.67
1913	14.05	1938	34.29
1918	23.55

Debenture debt had made rapid strides since the turn of the century—too rapid in the opinion of most folk. The record on a per capital basis:

1900	$ 26.39	1928	$144.26
1913	63.01	1938	119.11
1918	93.06

The experience of this province is probably the same as that of other places. As population increases the cost of living as reflected in taxation does the same thing. People expect and at times demand more services; more schools; in the larger centres more sanitation and more police and fire protection. Our population increased over a million since 1930 but our per capita tax levy went from $6.45 to $34.29.

Berlin Knew About It

There were important changes made in the British cabinet, and as usual the press was given the information with a release hour attached, which in this case was 6 o'clock.

Half an hour before that time the German radio station in Berlin put the announcements out over the air, and if a person in Canada with a good short wave machine had tuned in, the information with the German-made comment would have been available. That is, one in Canada could have secured the news from Berlin half an hour before it was released in London.

How Berlin would get that information we haven't the least idea, and it would be foolish to pretend otherwise. The obvious thing is to say there must be a leak.

The practical thing is to realize that we are fighting a clever enemy, a well-organized enemy, crafty and relentless.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We are again assured that Spring is here. It's something like reading about the prosperity of the country—difficult at times to feel it.

Before having an election in Alberta there was a seven-day session of the Legislature for which members received full sessional indemnity of $2,000 each.

New York States now has the same sort of pari-mutuel betting machine as we have in Ontario, the one handicap now being that the individual still has to go in and pick his own horses.

Man in court at Brantford was fined $100 for running a cock pit—that is, a place where game roosters fight. Apparently there is money in that kind of poultry—for the court.

Thomas Girling of Calgary has six sons in the Canadian army at Aldershot. For the moment he can slip in some carbon paper when he sits down to write to the boys.

Woman in Toronto used 30 different names when buying goods in Toronto stores, but she didn't pay for the stuff under any of them, so that's why she's in court.

The Single Tax Association has changed its name to the Henry George Society, and we doubt if it will make more progress under the new name than it did under the old one.

Car driver in Sarnia got into trouble because he drove into a German trophy cannon and knocked it off the base. He was charged with reckless driving. But the man had the right idea only he was driving in the wrong country.

Russia is going to raise 57,000,000,000 rubles for defence purposes. A ruble is worth about 20 cents, but when you have to gather 57 billion of them it still remains a lot of money.

The Brandon Sun says the prodigal son walked home instead of writing home for the cash to get there. As we understand the situation the young man was so much up against it he couldn't wait for a native runner to make the two-way trip.

STRATEGY

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Wee Angus argued much today, with Pete and Dan upon the way, and that was after four; they had a map of Europe there, and reasoned sea and land and air, and there they fought the war.

¶ Wee Angus talked about the fleet, a thing the Germans couldn't beat, it seemed quite clear to him; he was I fear inclined to boast, he'd sail it there along the coast, and drop shells on Berlin.

¶ And Pete was talking of the air, and he had lots of planes to spare, he'd read a lot on that; he knew the spot they should attack, he planned the way he'd fly them back, he'd beat the Germans flat.

¶ And Dan was talking of the troops, he had them lined up there in groups, each statement he could prove; he pointed with his finger there, he'd march them quietly unaware, he knew the very move.

¶ They puzzled somewhat on the map, before they laid the final trap, and each surprise they'd spring; if they just slipped and went right through, before the Germans ever knew, they couldn't do a thing.

¶ War councils of the Allied force, should know about these things of course, might help them out a lot; for Angus, Pete and Dan all know, exactly how a war should go—and how it should be fought.

Germans Know Convoy Plan Hard To Beat

THE Germans have in the past few days underlined the success of the British convoy system by displaying their anxiety to prevent joining British convoys.

To neutral countries the British Convoy System has been described as "a walk to the cemetery." The convoy system is further described as "treacherous." Threats have been made that neutral ships accepting convoy can no longer expect "that special consideration which the German Admiral Doernitz assured them is otherwise shown them," and which has in practice meant the sinking of nearly 12 neutral ships sailing unaccompanied!

Neutral countries have been told that the British insist that they should join convoys which the British know are exceedingly dangerous, because it is the neutrals who bring foodstuffs to England.

German propaganda would have the neutrals believe that England is trying to press ships which carry their food supplies into particular danger. This statement appears contradictory.

The air attacks on Britain's East Coast shipping routes have been advertised as successful and particularly that of February 8, when they claim to have sunk one minesweeper, four outpost vessels, and nine merchant steamers! They further state that all the British ships sunk were in convoy.

APART from the minesweeper H. M. S. Sphinx, which, as announced by the Admiralty, was disabled by aircraft attack and foundered while in tow in a full gale the following morning, the only ship sunk that day was the Norwegian S.S. Tempo, which was not in convoy. As on other days, no ship in convoy was sunk by aircraft.

The Germans claim to have sunk 30,000 tons of shipping on January 30 alone and 200,000 tons in ten days.

The actual sinkings from all causes for the week ending midnight, Sunday February 4, were 42,615 tons. The German claims, made within a few hours of the raids having taken place, when it was impossible for them to know either the names or the tonnages of those unescorted ships which they did sink, are a measure of what they expected. The actual results proved disappointing to them.

The object of German propaganda is to prevent neutrals seeking the safety which can be afforded them. Experience has taught the German High Command also that attacks on convoys by either U-boat or aircraft are exceedingly dangerous for the attacker. This is underlined by the news of the sinking of two U-boats, which attacked a convoy, by one of the escort.

FACTS cannot be evaded. Neutral vessels out of convoy are sunk, often without warning, by Germany. Even neutral vessels going to neutral countries have been sunk. The Allied practice is completely different. Neutral vessels are taken into the control ports and only that portion of the cargo which is destined for Germany taken before the prize court. The ship is allowed to proceed on her journey, which is in the deepest contrast to German practice. This is to sink any ship which can be sunk.

A neutral opinion on this is of interest. The Swedish paper Goetebergs Handels-og Stoefartstidning ironically says:

"The Germans kindly sink Swedish boats again as well as other neutral boats. Their generosity casts a glamor over their exploits. The English jog-trot is different. They take time to examine vessels. Life is short and the Germans, in a compassionate spirit, act quickly. They sink boats, sometimes sending several of the crew to the bottom, and no time is wasted in fussing.

Thus, the convoy system developed by the Allies is giving to merchant shipping a degree of safety which makes it quite impossible for Germany to hope for victory by her attacks upon shipping.

Much is made by German propaganda of tonnage figures of alleged lo s imposed upon the Allies. All these claims have been proved by the facts to be grossly exaggerated. Nevertheless, it is easy to create a false impression by the reiteration of tonnage figures, whether they be real or fancied. German propaganda has, however, avoided mention of the fact that the British merchant navy is constantly receiving large reinforcements in ships, either from the completion of new tonnage, captures from the enemy, or chartering.

When the total losses of British merchant ships since the beginning of the war are considered in conjunction with these reinforcements to the British mercantile marine, it is found that the net loss of British mercantile tonnage is less than 150th of the total British mercantile tonnage available.

This is a fraction so small as to reduce the German war effort at sea to proportions incapable of having any bearing upon the outcome of the war.

These facts are realised by the German leaders—as is also the fact that it is the convoy system which is giving to shipping such a high degree of immunity from the worst that Germany can do.

Cuba will have a birth control drive.

• One Vote Saved Hotel Project

THERE now seems to be a real probability that we are to have a new hotel in Ottawa, one of the Ford hotels. Council having approved the fixed assessment which the Ford company made a condition. Acceptance of this proposition, it seems, was in the absolute discretion of Council. Away back in 1926 the Ontario Legislature gave Council the right to make such a fixed assessment on a hotel costing not less than $600,000. The scheme that legislation was intended to cover long since blew up, but the act remained, and now can be used for quite another project. Neither the ratepayers of Ottawa nor the Ontario Municipal Board, remarks Ottawa Journal, need be consulted.

The hotel is to cost about $900,000 and the assessment is to be fixed for 15 years at one-third of what would be its normal assessment, excluding all parts of the building used for shops or not directly connected with the hotel's operation. As school, water and local improvement assessments also are excluded it was estimated by advocates of the scheme that actually the hotel would pay about 6 per cent of full taxes. The site is to be within the area bounded by Laurier, Bank, Sparks and the Canal, and construction is to be completed in 18 months.

The vote in Council Monday night, 14 to 13 for the proposition, probably not unfairly represents public opinion. Until the details were revealed at Council the people had been told little about the scheme, and they fell back on the safe generality that fixed assessments in principle are bad. Now for the first time they have been told of a definite project, the points to be incorporated in a legal contract, and the situation is altered.

There is much to be said for the proposition, and perhaps as much against it. A fine new hotel in the up-town area will be of advantage to the city, its moderate prices may attract tourists, and the construction job will give needed employment to local labor. On the other hand it can be argued that a fixed assessment is a special privilege for some at the expense o. all and so unjust to the majority.

Council has decided, by a bare majority, that the advantages out-weigh the disadvantages, and perhaps there will be no serious protest from the public in the matter.

A financial paper has stated that the Ottawa project is contingent upon local people purchasing $150,000 to $200 000 of stock in the company (about one-fifth of the cost), but that condition does not seem to have been publicly discussed. It should be made definite in the bylaw that the conditions of the offer of a fixed assessment must be implemented within a given time. In the memorandum it is stated that "construction would start wihin 90 days after the execution of the agreement." That may or may not be clear as it affects the resolution of Council agreeing to a fixed assessment.

• What German Parents Are Told

THE WAR is building up a magnificent fund of apocryphyal anecdote, and the following tale has just arrived from London. A family of Schmidts, it seems, had a son on a German U-boat, and they and their whole Rhineland village were very proud of him. Came the day when they were informed that his submarine with all hands aboard had been lost.

The Schmidts were properly sympathized with by the village. A local Gruppenfuehrer who called on them advised them to take comfort in patriotic marches on the radio, but the family turned the dial aimlessly after his departure, and to their consternation found themselves listening to a German voice from London. The voice said: "We shall now read a further list of German prisoners of war. They have been saved from U-58 and are interned in Great Britain." Listening with all their ears, the Schmidts heard the name, "Matrosengefreiter Otto Schmidt."

They did not listen any more, but rejoiced mightily. They started out to tell their friends. And then stopped short. There was a penalty of three years' imprisonment for listening to the foreign radio! So the Schmidts contained themselves and rejoiced inwardly. So did the whole village, which in its various ways heard the news, too.

At the memorial service, already announced for the next day in honor of the hero, the officiating clergyman coughed discreetly when he came to the young man's name and never actually pronounced it. That evening the burgermeister called on the Schmidts, and told them he was a great believer in dreams, that on the previous night he had distinctly dreamed that Otto was safe, and that if he were they he wouldn't worry any more. The milkman, the butcher, the baker and many others made occasion to tell the Schmidts very much the same story. Everybody shared the good news. And nobody had listened to the London radio!

A Bit of Nonsense

Stranger At The Gate

A commercial traveller away from home for long periods at a time saw very little of his child, aged four. Returning home one morning very early, he stayed in the sitting-room reading a newspaper before the family got up. Presently his little daughter came in. She looked at her father for a few moments, and then shouted: "Mammy, mammy, come here, quick; that man's here again."

Good For Nothing Else

"Can I lead a good Christian life in New York on fifteen dollars a week?" asked a young man of a missionary.

"My good man," he replied, "that's all you can do."

No Safe Job

"There is no need for your wife to worry about her sight," said the optician. "The weakness is just a sign of advancing years — and you can tell her that." "Me!" gasped the little man. "You tell her yourself, old chap!"

Pale Customer

Adolphus walked into the ironmonger's shop.

"I want a bucket," he said. "It must be a nice big one that will hold plenty of water."

The ironmonger produced his largest bucket. Adolphus examined it.

"That will do," he said at last. "Please send it round to No. 16 Springfield Road."

He strolled to the door. Then he turned again.

"Oh, and you might send it soon," he added. "You see, our house has caught fire."

LEAVING THE FARM

THE new Premier of Quebec, A. Godbout, a former Minister of Agriculture in that Province, recently emphasized a point we often lose sight of in Ontario also. He said that no province can hope to make progress in Canada if farmers' sons continue to leave the land. An obvious truth. But what is not always so obvious is that, while many such sons do well in the cities to which they gravitate, there are hundreds who never reach any such level of independence and prosperity as could have been attained on the farms they left. It isn't only the farms that suffer.—Elora Express.

To The Editor

OBJECTS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I would like through your paper to draw the attention of our city authorities to a very unsanitary habit that is practiced by people who live in apartments and others occupying offices above the stores and other business places in our main thoroughfares, chiefly George, Hunter, Charlotte and Simcoe streets.

The practice I am referring to is the shaking of dusters, floor mops, pillows, bed clothes, small rugs and anything that needs a shaking, out of the windows down on to the heads and clothes of one and all making their way to business in the mornings and other hours of the day. Dust and perhaps germs being blown about in all directions and certainly very objectionable to pedestrians.

I thought there was a bylaw strictly prohibiting the doing of such things. If there is it is quite time it was put into force and a stop put to such disgusting actions.

Yours truly,
PEDESTRIAN.

Peterborough, April 4.

ENOUGH POLITICS

THERE is talk of provincial elections in both Ontario and Manitoba. Party strategists are figuring that on the wave of the Liberal sweep it would be good business to go to the country. It is to be hoped that it is only talk. It might be good politics, but certainly it would not be good business for the country. The people are satiated with politics. They want a respite from political warfare. There is just one thing which counts today and that is to get ahead with the war.

As far as Ontario is concerned there is no necessity of an election for several years, and a Manitoba election need not be held for a year and a half. The Conservatives may be demoralized and their forces scattered, as a result of the recent contest, but the calling of unnecessary elections with all their cost and upset to the country might react in a way that would surprise the politicians. Let us proceed with the war and forget political controversies.—London Free Press.

Generous

"Son, why don't you play circus? It's great fun. First you make a sawdust ring."

"But where would I get the sawdust, dad?"

"Here's the saw. Just cut some of the firewood into fireplace lengths. And you can have all the sawdust you make."

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation.... My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him. He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence; I shall not be moved....

O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved. For thou, O God, hast proved us: thou hast tried us, as silver is tried.—Ps. lxii, 1, 5, 6; lxvi, 8-10.

MAYOR AND HATS

SHAME on Mayor LaGuardia of New York for his aspersions on "those hats" the women are wearing this Spring!

Aren't you being a little hard, Mr. Mayor, on those thousands of citizens of your great metropolis whose days are bounded by asphalt, skyscrapers, and whiffs of automobile exhaust pipes? Were it not for the annual migration of milliners' flowers, feathers, wispy veilings and tints of sunset, how would they ever knew it is Spring?

As for your plea to milliners to consider the needs of women who have to hop busses and sit in the subways, what can make a stenographer forget financial inequalities more quickly than to realize that her jaunty new $1.95 flowered turban is an "exact copy" of the one for which her boss' wife paid $25 on the "Avenue"?—Christian Science Monitor.

SAFETY STILL WAITS

MOST PEOPLE who drive cars are fond of saying in their own screamingly funny way that they always like to keep one foot on the ground — meaning to say that they won't fly. Yet all the commercial flying services in United States, carrying thousands of passengers over millions of miles, went through an entire year without a single loss of life.

Flying people made a business and science of safety. Motorists have made neither one yet, although automobile engineers have given them every safety device it is possible to cram aboard a four-wheeled chassis. Safety is still a hitch-hiker with us, thumb out, beckoning a ride. When are motorists going to get wise to themselves and take him aboard?—Vancouver Sun.

NO SUBSTITUTE YET

IN THIS ersatz world, when a man's necktie may once have been a spruce tree; his pipe stem, formaldehyde crossed with phenol, and his shirt buttons once a pail of milk, hail the good old reliable railroad crosstie!

For a solid century inventors tried for a substitute. They made ties of everything from compressed paper to glass, but in the 20th century the Twentieth Century still runs on wood.

Probably there is no patent sage sadder than that of the crosstie substitute, except the perpetual-motion file, at the Patent Office. There are 2,500 patented crossties there that never carried a rail on a real railroad. —Chicago News.

INTERFERING WITH NATURE
(Farmers' Advocate)

When hens laid in the spring, as nature intended, eggs were a good price all winter long. Now that hens have been tricked into laying all winter the best price for eggs is some other time. Poultry raisers must feel the same about it as a seasoned producer who exclaimed years ago that "The packers want the king of cattle the farmer ain't got."

Tax Payments Higher In Seymour

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — (ENS). — Arrears of taxes in Seymour Township came in better in 1939 than they have for several years, according to the report of Tax Collector William Fisher, who returned the roll to the Township Council on Monday. Approximately $486 in arrears previous to 1939 were collected during the year and in addition to this there was but $1,100 of current arrears on the list when the roll was returned. Also, a reflection of returning prosperity was the additional $200 collected.

Other items dealt with by the Council were the report of School Attendance Officer G. W. Anderson which was received and filed on motion of Councillors Dnucan and Wight.

Woking District Gives RCASC Times Of Lives

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 5 — (CP).—When Lieut.-Col. P. Shields, of Calgary, marched his men of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps into their training quarters near Woking, he was warned by some of the natives that the area had a reputation for being peopled by those who were either "mad, bad or dead."

"It is true that in the immediate proximity of the camp we have a mental institution, an ancient prison and Brookwood Cemetery, one of the largest burial grounds in the country," one of them explained, "but I am sure you won't find us such a bad lot."

The boys of the R.C.A.S.C. have had ample opportunity since then of testing the truth of that remark for themselves. Ever since the Canadian troops took over the historic imperial encampment, they have been royally dined, wined and entertained by the friendly populace.

Hundreds of residents of Woking proper and other nearby communities have thrown the doors of their homes wide open to the officers and other ranks. Concerts, parties, dances and afternoon teas have become the regular fare during off-duty hours. Hospitality centres have been established where invitations from almost every part of the United Kingdom are filed inviting the men to spend their leave in some quiet country retreat. Many have already taken advantage of this gesture but the majority are awaiting the advent of warmer weather.

"The way the people over here have treated us has been simply grand," said Col. Shields. "They have made our stay in their midst so pleasant that most of us will find it quite a wrench to leave them. It certainly has taught us all the true meaning of real friendship."

In token of their appreciation the men have given a number of special shows and band concerts for their benefactors. Later they intend to stage an inter-unit sports meet to which an open invitation will be extended to every resident of the neighborhood.

Mother Of RCASF Enlists Her Boys In Crusade To Keep Empire Cause

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 5 (CP) —Mrs. Ernest Bigland, artist, writer and philosopher, known as "Mother" of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, has enlisted "Her Boys" in a new crusade to help the Empire's cause.

Wife of the retired founder of the Cuban Steamship Company, Mrs. Bigland has given over her stately mansion nestling amid the tree-clad hills of Surrey, to the entertainment of her large Canadian family.

Every night her richly-furnished home is crowded with a jovial group of R.C.A.S.C. boys, dining, chatting around the fireside, viewing films taken by their host on her travels throughout the world or singing to the dual accompaniment of organ and piano.

"We are a very happy family indeed," Mrs. Bigland said, "but I should like my boys to help me spread that joy farther afield. What we need today is an empire clarion call or a prayer if you like that will echo around our great commonwealth in these times of stress."

She suggested that the chimes of Westminster's famous Big Ben might be adopted as the vehicle to put across her idea.

"Every time I listen to its booming, melodious notes, I can hear it ring out this message:—

'All through this hour
Lord be our guide,
And by thy power
Good shall abide.'

"That will be the finale hereafter at our little gatherings and I do hope we can prevail upon other parts of the commonwealth to sing it as an empire hymn against those ruthless, tyrannical people who have driven us into this war."

Before her marriage to the English steamship magnate, Mrs. Bigland toured Canada and the United States several times. She was known then as Florence Parbury, whose painting were exhibited in art galleries throughout the world.

Pictures she painted of scenes in the Canadian Rockies so impressed the late Lord Strathcona that he purchased them and had 30,000 copies distributed.

It was this trip to the Canadian West that served as the direct link resulting in her recent adoption of the R.C.A.S.F., commanded by Calgary's Lieut.-Col. P. Shields.

"I shall never forget the Christmas of that year," Mrs. Bigland remarked. "I was quite a young girl to be travelling alone so far from home, but I was enjoying the experiences of seeing the world and finding plenty of scope for my particular job of painting.

"Christmas Day arrived while I was in Calgary. I didn't know a soul there, so stayed in bed all day. I am not ashamed to admit that I was genuinely lonely.

"Late that evening I began to feel the pangs of hunger and thought it might be a good idea to order a somewhat belated Christmas dinner. But I had waited a trifle too long. All the kitchen help had left for the night and all I could get was one roasted potato."

From that time onward she has gone out of her way to cheer up any lonely person who has come to her attention. In the First Great War she went to France as a nurse and remained to organize a group which entertained more than 600,000 soldiers before the end of hostilities.

Her grandfather, George Parbury, was the first man to make the overland route from India to England and was instrumental in the move which led to the building of the Suez Canal.

"Snooping"

New York, April 5 (AP) ELISHA HANSON, counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association, today assailed what he termed "snooping" by agencies of the United States government, and said that "no man, woman or child who lives in America is free from the heavy and oppressive hand of the government."

"There is not a single activity of life, whether of business or of pleasure in which the government does not play a part and an increasing part," he told the 35th anniversary meeting of the Advertising Club of New York.

Hibbard; gents, Messrs. Font, Maybee and Robert Hancock. Consolations were given Mrs. Irwin Whitehead and George Byers. After lunch music and dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell and Miss Kay O'Connell have been visiting a few days in Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Benson spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson.

Miss Ida Morton, Port Hope, visited her sister, Mrs. W. Sackville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Morton and Hilton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller at Bowmanville.

Clothing Bale Ready For West

LAKEFIELD, April 5—(ENS). — A complete boys' wardrobe was on display at the afternoon tea of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's church, Lakefield, Tuesday afternoon. The members are responsible for the clothing of a boy in the Old Sunday school in Alberta. All clothing for a twelve year old boy for the year were shown. Some of the clothing having been made by the ladies. On display also was a handsome quilt and aprons to be sent to the empty stall at the convention. A quilt for the bale for white settlers wa salso shown.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. S E. White and Miss Florence Atwood. In charge of the tea tables were Mesdames S. Touchburn, Wm. Webdale and H. Wannamaker.

Presiding over the display were the members of the Dorcas committee, Mesdames E. Waldon and W. Armstrong.

At the candy and home-cooking table Mrs. J. Sanderson and Miss A. Watson sold the many tempting cakes and candies.

The cashier, Mrs. C. Stenner, reported very satisfactory results for the afternoon's efforts.

In order to stir up a greater interest in good reading and education the Diocesan council of the Catholic Women's League of Peterborough has offered two prizes of five dollars each to the pupils of Grades VII, VIII, IX and X who submit the best book review. The first two mentioned grades are of the primary school and the last two that is IX and X are High school. A prize of five dollars is offered to the best book review of each.

A list of the books to be ushed has been previously given to the different sub-divisions of the diocese. The time limit is May 15th and the length of the review five hundred words. The work must be certified to as the pupil's own, by either parent or teacher.

There is an additional scholarship by Miss M. Baker of Lindsay. It is a ten months' tuition course free at the Baker Business College, to a pupil of matriculation standing. Contestants must submit to a test by Miss Baker in spelling and grammar before the award is made.

MOST CARS ARE TOO BIG!

As you buy clothes to fit your person and purse—build a house to be comfortable but not extravagant—why should an over-sized, over-powered, over-appointed car, whether new or used, be considered? Why not purchase a thoroughly up-to-date, brand-new Willys—the car that is adequately sized, adequately powered, stylishly appointed—so that all its provable economies can save more money—to spend at destination rather than for getting there?

ALL HAVE THE SAME FUNDAMENTAL PURPOSE

The most expensive car made may have the wheelbase and weight of a truck, an engine capable of powering an aeroplane, the appointments of a bridal suite, cost the price of a house—yet its real purpose and use is transportation; therefore the way a car is used should decide the one to buy.

DO YOU COMMUTE?

If your use of a car is like that of the great majority of owners, you will commute 98 per cent of the time—back and forth between home, work and nearby places, or between farm and town—your speeds will be far less than 70 miles per hour—you will average fewer than three people per trip—the traffic conditions will require alertness and the parking will not always be easy: These are the reasons why the Willys is more exactly designed to meet the driving and cost requirements of most people. There is no waste of size, weight, or power; everything is ample but not excessive—the long as well as short trips are speedily, comfortably and economically taken.

DOES A LARGE CAR GIVE PRESTIGE?

Some people may think that a large car gives prestige, but even the "Joneses" know that smaller bills, promptly paid, create far more prestige with the people that mean anything. Pride of ownership usually disappears with the first dented fender. A salesman's real opinion of the large car is best known when trading it back in.

WHAT ARE TAXES GOING TO BE?

Looking forward to the next few years, the cost of taxation and of living show upward trends, hence a Willys is not only the best car to buy now, but plays safe when such developments occur . . . Get a free demonstration of this quality car (guaranteed for 100,000 miles) and you will conclude, as thousands of owners have done, that the Willys meets all motoring requirements; that any larger car is an extravagance and simply a waste of hard-earned money.

THE WILLYS IS NOT SMALL...MOST CARS ARE TOO BIG!

TROPHIES PRESENTED CHURCH HOCKEY CHAMPIONS AT BANQUET

Record Turnout Attends Annual Affair

Trophies were presented the championship hockey clubs last night at the annual banquet of the Church Hockey League, held at All Saints' parish hall. There was a record attendance of guests, players and officials, totalling 64 — never more than 50 previously attending. But one of the four champion club's members was absent.

An excellent meal was served up, followed by songs, speeches and the presentations. A feature was the presentation of the new Ministerial Association Trophy. This handsome cup was given to the league by Rev Canon J. D. Paterson, who headed the committee which purchased and arranged for this trophy. Canon Paterson explained the objects of the cup to the league. It was received by President Jos. Dunkerley of the league, who asked Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt to present it to the winner, Bill Lawson.

Receives Cup.

Rev. Mr. Zufelt explained how the winner was selected and the popular choice received much applause. He was modest in his acceptance. The three runners-up for the cup, guests at the banquet, were Jack Chambers of All Saints' Bantams, Warren Smith of George St. Juveniles, and Wally Parnell of Knox Bantams. Members of winning teams received crests.

Vice-President Geo. Beauclerc presented the senior crests to Murray St., Art Watkins accepting. The chairman, Jos. Dunkerley, presented the junior victors, Mark St., with their emblems, Carl Ferguson thanking him—and giving credit to his small squads this year and the past two for regular attendance at games and team play. Both All Saints' bantams and juveniles won from Trinity, so Harold Rehill, S. S. Supt. at Trinity and former active officer of the league, made the presentation. Managers Art Beauclerc and Gord Smith were the recipients.

The first speaker of the evening was Rev. F. W. Craik, retiring president of the Ministerial Association, and his address was received with enthusiasm. Entertainment was provided during the evening by a sing-song led by Lloyd Parnall, with Mrs. Bert Austin, one of the catering ladies, at the piano. Jack Thompson entertained with some clever magic tricks. The various speakers of the evening praised the league for a fine season, giving the officials considerable credit—singling out the work of the secretary, Don Charlton. It was an enjoyable affair throughout.

Hornets Shaded 4-3 By Reds

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 5 — (AP).—Probably the most exciting play-off series the International-American Hockey League has been prepared today to shift its scenery with the Providence Reds leading the Pittsburg Hornets 2 to 0.

It took the Reds two overtime periods last night to capture their second of the best-of-five series victory 4-3, but the important fact is that they did get it.

For most of the regular period the Reds were outplayed, but in true movie fashion Hub Wilson came through with a goal to tie the score in the last 30 seconds of the game and then 12 minutes and 46 seconds along in the second overtime period John (Red) Doran took a pass and banged it into the nets for the winning goal.

The Reds were forced to remove Goalie Mike Karakas from the ice in the final minute of the regular period and field six forwards, but the desperate manoeuvre paid off.

SCARED PIGEON RAID

LONDON—(CP). — Farmers are being asked to shoot every wood pigeon they see, following an invasion, believed caused by the fright of gunfire on the continent. The pigeons prey on crops, eating valuable seeds.

LONG A PRIEST IN AFRICA

RONDEBOSCH, South Africa — (CP).—Canon Horace William Orford, who died here at 89, had been an Anglican priest for 66 years, 20 years in England and 46 in South Africa. He was ordained in 1874.

Remember When—

Joe Louis and Roy Lazer of Paterson, N.J., both unbeaten after a year's professional campaigning, met at Chicago five years ago tonight. The Detroit negro who later became world's heavyweight champion boxer, floored Lazer three times before knocking him out in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Shore Scouting Generals, Leafs In Tilt Tonight

TORONTO, April 5 — (CP). — Eyes of hockey's most colorful figure will be trained on Oshawa Generals and Verdun Maple Leafs as the teams open their best-of-three game series for the Eastern junior title here to-night.

Eddie Shore, defenceman of New York Americans, and owner of the Springfield Indians of the International-American League, will appear in a new role—scout. The Alberta wheat farmer arrived here to-day after watching Sydney Millionaires blank Kirkland Lake Blue Devils 1-0 in Ottawa last night to even the Eastern senior finals at one victory each.

Several other professional scouts also will be on hand as the Leafs and Generals renew the feud which started when the same clubs clashed in the Eastern final last year. The Leafs gave the Generals a stouter argument than they received in the Dominion finals against Edmonton Rosmers.

The Generals will enter the first contest as favorites, but Coach Art Therrien has plenty of confidence in his revamped lineup. It was Billy Taylor, brilliant young centre now with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, who spelled the downfall of the Verdun boys last year.

Verdun Confident.

With Taylor missing from the Oshawa lineup, feeling is general in the Verdun camp that they can gain revenge this time. The Leafs boast plenty of speed and pack considerable weight throughout the lineup.

Although the Verdun team has lost several of last season's stars, newcomers have shown up well in the march to the Eastern title bracket. Besides the loss of Defenceman Frankie Eddolls to the Generals, Wes Ramsay, Bob Fillion, Eric Fleet, Butch Bouchard, and Paul Bibeault are no longer with the Leafs.

Pat Desbiens, clever forward who shares the scoring spotlight with Roland Herbert, will be playing to-night with a special face guard. He had his nose broken in two places in the series with Perth.

There were no worries among the Generals as they rested for the opening tilt. Coach Tracy Shaw considers his team better balanced than last season when Taylor was the main cog. The second game of the series is scheduled for next Wednesday in Montreal.

Callura Matches Salica In Ten

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 5 — (CP).—Little Jackie Callura has more than made up for his poor showing against Maxie Shapiro in New York last month when he made his debut in Manhattan.

The scrappy Hamilton, Ont., fighter stood toe to toe against one of the world's leading bantamweights, New York's Lou Salica, to earn a creditable draw in 10 punishing rounds here last night. Callura at 125 pounds had a six-pound edge, but that was the only advantage he had against a more experienced opponent.

Against the National Boxing Association's No. 1 challenger for the bantam title Callura put up a stout defence and at times took the offensive with an unorthodox, swinging attack that had Salica in trouble. Twice on the verge of a knockdown and clearly outclassed, Callura gained a draw with a display of courage and aggressiveness that won the approval of the crowd.

Heavy Scoring Boosting Wartime Soccer

LONDON, April 5 (CP Cable)—An attractive list of fixtures finds most of the United Kingdom's soccer teams in action tomorrow. Prolific goal-scoring has given a new lift to wartime regional competition and if good weather prevails club officials look for larger attendances.

Previous scoring records went by the board Wednesday when five matches in Scotland's western division produced 43 goals. Dundee United laid down a barrage against Stenhousemuir, winning 10-2 and Falkirk trounced Hearts of Edinburgh 7-1.

Lead of Eight Points

The victory put Falkirk far in the lead and the squad looks to have the championship of the group sewed up. With 35 points, Falkirk is eight points ahead of Aberdeen who now lead Hearts and Dunfermline by one point. The pacemakers go to Perth at the weekend for a game with St. Johnstone.

Rangers remain at the top of the East section with a margin of two points over the Dumfries outfit, Queen of the South. The light blues clash with their old rival, Celtic at Ibrox Park and Queen of the South is at home to Ayr United.

West Ham United and Tottenham Hotspurs, two crack London elevens, meet at White Hart Lane and a victory for the Spurs would put them on even terms with their opponents at the top of South 'C' Division. Runaway leader in South 'D', Crystal Palace, is at home to Brighton.

Three-Way Battle.

The East Midland group is providing a three-way battle for leadership honors with Chesterfield and Barnsley deadlocked in first place with 22 points. Sheffield United, trailing by two points, has a game in hand on Chesterfield and two on Barnsley.

While Huddersfield Town has drawn away from the rest of the field in the north-east, Bury, Preston North End and Blackpool stick close together in the northwest. Bury, the leader at the moment, has a tough game at Oldham and the other challengers clash at Preston in what may prove one of the tightest struggles of the day.

Competition is quite as keen in the western division, but Stoke may lose its slight advantage over Manchester United and Everton when it opposes Liverpool in the Seaport city.

Bowling At Duffus'

CITY LEAGUE

Three teams, C.G.E., Grafton's and Jay's, who were battling for second place in the City League, saw their chances fade at Duffus' Alleys last night. Duffus' hung another 4 to 0 defeat on Jay's to hold the second rung and stay eight points up on Joe Dean's Capitol Grill squad who downed Grafton's for the same count. The Lock Works took the C.G.E. for three points while Bill Burford hit 799 in the Grant's 3510 as his team broke even with the champion Gordon's squad.

Five big singles were knocked off, Lefty Kearns counting 360, Tom Curvin 337, J. McDonald 312, Bill Burford 306 and Vince Anthony 301. Walter Firth's 688 won a shirt donated by Bill Burford of Green's Clothiers, for a three-game blind score total.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Don Crowe, his voice still a bit on the weak side—from tonsilitis—will let his bodychecks do the roaring for him tonight in Oshawa. The slamming local defenceman is expected to take his turn on the ice tonight against Kitchener and swap bumps with all and sundry. And Jack (Smoke) Gardner, nursing a sore elbow, will be out there again banging ambitious rival forwards around at the blue line. Yeah, the Petes are at full strength this p.m. for what they hope will be the final fray of the O.H.A. intermediate "A" finals. They were to motor down to the Motor City early this evening, all set to cop the championship.

* * * * * *

Over a thousand redhot puck followers from Peterborough-on-the-Otonabee will probably view this playoff battle. With some fans from Kitchener and quite a crowd of Oshawa rooters. Special train leaves the C.N.R. station at 6.30, and pulls out of Oshawa on the return trip at 11.30 o'clock. Besides the big gang going via rail, dozens and dozens of cars will head down the highway from five o'clock on. Looks like a big night, folks, and we're all a-pullin' like dentists for a Petes' victory! Period scores will be wired back.

* * * * * *

Few Rule Changes

Among rule changes to be brought up at the O.B.A. annual in Welland tomorrow, is one to permit soldiers to play wherever they happen to be stationed this summer. Another suggestion is to move the residence rule back from March 15th to April 1st—but we'd like to see it April 15th. Also an amendment calls for an annual fee of $25 for associations operating four or more series, or $10 for any senior, intermediate or junior league, and $5 for any juvenile, midget or bantam loop. With an additional charge of one buck for each club above the junior "A" class.

* * * * * *

Fred (Ripper) Collins, former ball pilot of the Petes, writes us to say he is back living in Trenton, at the Hotel Gilbert. Following a siege of nine months in Christie St. Hospital. In that time, the huge Ripper dropped in poundage from 240 to 123, believe it or not! He is now on the upgrade and scales 158, and is hoping to eat his way up to 195 in time. He is 56 years old and gets a great bang out of life, and we always liked Fred Collins. We hope he continues to improve rapidly.

* * * * * *

His Friends Here

Fred wrote: "I made some real friendships at Christie among the boys, and they are real soldiers—sure can take it. The doctors, nurses and orderlies do a fine job, always looking after your welfare. Jim Dorris, Vern Dawson, Ron Knox, Walker Jones, George Dormer and Eddie Starr all visited me; also Dr. Clark with Al and Grant. And at Christmas the gang, Russ Kitchen, Fred Ash, George Dormer, Ron Knox, Walker Jones, C. McFadgen, Jack Waters and some more of Peterborough's real guys sent me a hamper with everything from soup to nuts. It sure is fine, this kindness and thoughtfulness, and I shall never forget all the regular guys and good fellows in Peterborough."

* * * * * *

He also added: "I sure did pull for the Petes in the ball playoffs but it does seem they have a Chinese curse on them in the finals. More luck this year and I hope they finish Ontario champs in 1940. How I would like to drop in on the Hot Stove League and get the lowdown and do a little popping off myself!" He asked to be remembered to his friends here, especially the boys who played ball for him, and finished by signing himself "your old meat-rider pal, Fred Collins"—the meat-rider referring to the time he, Jack Condon and the writer had a car bust down on 'em and had to hitch-hike to a game in Napanee, going part way in a poultry truck.

Away Down South

Annual Southend Softball League meeting is next Wednesday at 8.15 p.m. at Barrack's Store. Election of officers, reports, plans for the season, and general re-organization work is on tap. Prexy Bill Prindible and Secretary Jack Copping have indicated their intentions of retiring from office, but 'tis doubtful whether the loop will let 'em get away just yet, both having helped build up this thriving independent circuit. There were 10 clubs in last summer, Cogs, Orphans, Quakers, Brintons, Maple Leafs, Hawks, Nationals, Wallace Point, Keene and Bridgenorth. Cogs won the title. All these teams are expected back again and several others may seek entry. Two new umps are sought, too, last year's arbiters having joined the army—feeling, no doubt, that war is a picnic to umpiring! The meeting Wednesday eve is open to all.

* * * * * *

A record attendance marked the annual Church Puck Loop banquet last p.m. with 64 players, officials and guests on hand—but one player of the four champion clubs being absent. Ministerial Trophy was presented to Bill Lawson. Runners-up were Jack Chambers, Warren Smith and Wally Parnell. Senior crests went to Murray St., junior honors were taken by Mark St., and both juvenile and bantam trophies went to All Saints. It was a fine affair, with several members of the Ministerial Association being present at All Saints' parish hall, and ends a swell season. Much credit should go to the various officers, not forgetting the hard-working secretary-treasurer, Don Charlton.

7-Team Lpop Sought for Lakeshore

COBOURG, Ont., April 5—(CP).—Seven teams will be asked to enter the Lake Shore Intermediate Baseball League this year, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the league executive here last night.

The secretary was instructed to invite Grafton, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Peterborough and Sunderland to enter teams. Some discussion centred on Oshawa, but no action was taken.

It was decided to hold the annual Lake Shore League meeting in Port Hope on April 25, and one of the items tabled for discussion is the sponsoring of representative on the Ontario Baseball Association who will be more intimately connected, from the standpoint of residence, with the Lake Shore League. It is too late now to take any action as far as this year is concerned, but it is planned to have the matter of an O.B.A. representative lined up for next year. A. Brown of Port Hope, secretary-treasurer of the Lake Shore League was named the league delegate to the O.B.A. meeting to be held on Saturday at Welland and alternates are Roy Dodge, Cobourg, president of the league, and Sid Little of Bowmanville, vice-president.

Edmontons Tie Thistles 2-2 Overtime

EDMONTON, April 5 — (CP). — A ding-dong battle for the Western junior hockey championship is in prospect with Kenora Thistles and Edmonton Athletic Club apparently evenly-matched and ready for a bruising series.

The Albertans, Western champions last year who lost in the 1939 Memorial Cup series to Oshawa Generals, came from behind twice last night to earn a 2-2 overtime tie with Kenora, North-western Ontario team which won the Manitoba title.

Second game of the best-of-five series will be played here to-morrow night and the remainder in Winnipeg next week.

Edmonton easily had the best of the play in the penalty-filled game, but time after time their best efforts were thwarted by the brilliant goalkeeping of Charlie Rayner in the Kenora net.

Thistles went ahead in the first period on Eddie Dartnell's goal, but Jack McGill tied it up early in the second. Dick Milford's solo effort put Kenora ahead midway in the third frame only to see one of their players, Joey Johns, penalized for slashing, and then Edmonton finish off a power play with Bruce MacKay scoring.

Cheering from the more than 5,000 fans was spasmodical as the teams, evidently preparing for a long series, carefully felt each other all the way. Officials quickly put a stop to any burst of fireworks by calling 16 penalties, all of them minors. Most of the sentences were for tripping or interference. Kenora drew nine and Athletics eight.

Star of the Thistles

Milford starred in the Kenora play, scoring the smartest goal of the game and turning back most of Edmonton's plays with quick, flashing poke checks. On his goal he stole the puck inside the Edmonton blue line while the E.A.C.'s were attempting to kill time while short-handed, sifted in on Kilburn and beat the goalie with a high shot.

Dartnell and Johns staged a breakaway for the first Kenora goal and Edmonton turned it into a gift as they failed to check Dartnell as he stood 10 feet out from goal for nearly a quarter minute before taking his shot.

Athletics showed a little spirit early in the second period but as soon as they brought the game back to even terms they let down. McGill barely missed being called offside on the scoring play as he caught Ken Reardon's pass at the blue line and rounded the defence for a clear route to Rayner. The goalie stopped the shot but the puck dribbled over his shoulder and across the line. Reardon took a poke at it as it lay on the ice to make sure it went in.

Probably the saddest player of the game was Frank Chad of Edmonton. Half a dozen times he had his stick on the puck inside the goal crease, only to be beaten by Rayner.

St. Paul's Team In Playoffs Against Toronto

St. Paul's, local church cage squad—Ontario Church Basketball Association victors in Intermediate A last year, and also Eastern Canada titleholders— face elimination here tomorrow evening at eight in the Y. They are down 14 points in the Provincial O.C.B.A. semi-finals to the powerful Toronto College United hoopsters from the tilt in Toronto last week. The winner meets Hamilton in Ontario finals, with the survivor then tackling Montreal for Eastern Canada honors.

The powerful Toronto team has several stars well over six feet in height, two former senior Varsity aces, and four negro stars, making it one of the toughest outfits to lick in the province, local cagers claim.

However, St. Paul's feel they can win the game here and possibly pull out the round, and a record crowd is sure to view a swell struggle. The local team will be picked from Harry Marsh, Jim Thorburn, Doug. McPherson, Pete McArthur, Jack Gemmell, Don Sedgewick, Walter Ward and Gord McIntyre.

Clubs Regret Passing Of Geo. Cairns

The games of curling and of lawn bowling lost one of their most ar dent enthusiasts and clever expon ents in the passing of George Cairns at his home on Patters Street early yesterday. A versatil sportsman of the very best type, Mr Cairns excelled in every athleti exercise in which he indulged. G a quiet and retiring disposition George was the same off the arena as on it. Unselfish in his outlook and generous in temperament he soon gained the confidence of al players—curlers and bowlers.

In lawn bowling circles he will be best remembered in the old days when bowling was first organized on the property now occupied by the Y.W.C.A.. He was instrumental with others in forming the present Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club in 1928-29. His advice and counsel was in no small way responsible for the splendid organization that now controls this sport in the city.

In curling quarters he was well and favorably known all over Ontario and especially in the city of Toronto. Up until a few years ago he attended the big open bonspiel with Ray Best in that city. He was a valuable member of the executive of the Curling Club here, and his long experience was of great value. He was a fellow of generous and happy sociability. The game of curling was not only his hobby, but part of his philosophy. As with few other games, it served not only the ends of recreation, but was also a means of cultivating good fellowship and testing manhood in observing the code of true sportsmanship.

The sympathy of all members of the Peterborough Curling Club and of Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club is extended to his sister.

SYDNEY MILLIONAIRES UPSET KIRKLAND LAKE TO EVEN UP SERIES

Sydney Defeats Devils 1-0; Evens Series

OTTAWA, April 5 (CP)—Coach Bill Gill of Sydney Millionaires made no idle prediction three weeks ago when he said his Maritime provincial hockey champions would extend any team opposing them in Allan Cup eliminations. His words are true today.

On the brink of elimination after dropping the first game of the Eastern Canada semi-final series to Kirkland Lake Blue Devils 6-3 in Toronto last Saturday, the Maritimers held the Ontario titleholders to a 3-3 overtime tie here Tuesday and defeated them 1-0 here last night. This tied the best-of-three playoff and forced a deciding match in Toronto Saturday afternoon. The winners play Montreal Royals in the Eastern final.

Remie Van Dale fired the goal that gave the Cape Breton Island team its first victory of the series but there were other stars besides the defenceman with the booming shot. Goalie Bill Dickie's superlative efforts made him an outstanding performer for the Millionaires and he was particularly brilliant after Van Dale's counter at 7.06 of the second period.

The goal was the signal for a mass attack by the Blue Devils who bombarded the slim goalie until the finish, although they took plenty of punishment in doing so.

Slow Devils Up

Body-checking and high-sticking was general all over the ice and the Millionaires—bigger than the Northerners—rode the bumps more easily. It was the old story of cutting the Blue Devils' speed to their own gait and the Millionaires did a good job of it.

Instead of waiting for Kirkland Lake to attack as they did in the tie game, the Millionaires went on the offensive four and five-strong at every opportunity with the result they had more shots on goalie Bill Durnan of Kirkland Lake in the first two periods last night than during the entire game Tuesday. They were too busy clearing the puck in the third to organize an attack of their own and most of their threats in this frame were on breakaways.

Van Daele's goal came just as Ray Powell, Sydney defenceman, finished serving a penalty. It was a high shot from near the boards and just nicked the inside of the goal-post.

Toronto Leafs Out To Beat Kerr And Roughnecks

TORONTO, April 5.—(CP)—New York Rangers, hungry for the kill now that they're only two victories away from the Stanley Cup, were due in town today for the remainder of hockey's world series.

Their wounded adversaries, Toronto Maple Leafs, returned yesterday with grim promises to do better when the round is resumed Saturday night. But the Rangers hold the whip hand, knowing that they don't have to scramble their lineup or think up new strategy immediately.

Lester Patrick's old Ranger system has clicked for 2-1 and 6-2 victories in the first two contests of the best-of-seven series, even though the Leafs forced the opener into overtime play.

Sound, almost violent, defensive hockey and quick breaks from the Toronto attacks carried the Broadway Blueshirts into position to collect on their shooting skill in the first two games.

That was the system that carried the Rangers past the National league champions, Boston Bruins, in the first round of playoffs. It's the same thorough style of check-and-skate that Patrick had been working on ever since the Rangers took a brief fall from the heights after wining the cup in 1933.

On the other hand, Coach Dick Irvin saw that his Maple Leafs just couldn't pay off at the goal-mouth in the New York games.

"We had an edge in the attacking a good deal of the time," he said. "Yet Davie Kerr kept kicking away just about everything we threw at him."

A Hard One To Solve

Irwin was presented with the fact that the Rangers' roughneck line of Phil Watson, Byran Hextall and Wilf (Dutch) Hiller stopped his high-scoring combination of Sylvanus Apps, Gordon Drillon and Bob Davidson and at the same time scored four goals Wednesday night. He didn't have an answer for the problem of overcoming the roughnecks immediately.

Then there were weak links in the Leafs in the second engagement and Irvin didn't know what moves to make for filling them. He thought Billy Taylor, who scored a goal in Wednesday's game, might be recalled again from Pittsburg of the International-American league, for Saturday's battle.

"But it's pretty hard to call on players like Murph Chamberlain and Bucko McDonald, who have been out of action for two and three weeks, to step into the lineup again and do as good a job as the men who have been working regularly," he said.

Irvin declared vehemently, though, that the Leafs were far from through yet. He pointed out how close the first game had been and declared that a victory now would give Toronto a new lease on life.

"The rest of the round will be played here and that means a lot," he said. "We've got to win four games out of five, but we can do it. We were beaten here only three times in 24 starts during the schedule."

Havelock Club Wins 10-6

HAVELOCK, April 5.—(ENS).—The Havelock Badminton Club defeated the Marmora club in a friendly tournament Thursday night on the local court, when they captured ten of the sixteen keenly contested games. The homesters amassed a total of 205 points against 171 for the visitors on the evening's play.

Seven victories in nine of the mixed doubles gave Havelock quite an edge over their opponents, who were slightly disorganized by the strange court. The visiting ladies, however, proved to be best in their division, winning three of the four women's matches. In the men's doubles, the locals took two of the three games.

By their victory, Havelock gained revenge for a trimming which they received two weeks ago on the Marmora court, when they lost out fourteen to four.

Refreshments were served following the games by the hostess club. Robt. Scott, speaking on behalf of Marmora, thanked the Havelock group, to which President Bert Haryett of the locals responded.

Bear Cats Check Stampeders In 3-1 Rampage

SASKATOON, April 5.—(CP)—Port Arthur Bear Cats, aiming at a second consecutive Canadian senior hockey championship, are unbeaten in the current play-off season and apparently as powerful as when they whipped Montreal Royals in the Allan Cup final a year ago.

Bear Cats, almost intact from 1939, won the first game of the best-of-five western senior final here last night, ringing in three third-period goals to come from behind and beat Calgary Stampeders 3-1.

Second game will be played here tomorow night and the series continues in Calgary Tuesday. The victory last night was Bear Cats' 11th straight since they started down the play-off trail a month ago.

Before A Full House

A capacity crowd of 5,600 saw the Albertans go ahead midway in the first period and Stampeders appeared to be coasting to victory on tireless backchecking and the great work of Goalie Art Rice-Jones until the three-goal outburst by the Lakehead champions in the third.

Dave Duchak, slighty Calgary centre, scored the lone Calgary counter, after picking up a rebound near the Port Arthur net. Goaler Jakie Nash slid out of his net to save from Chuck Milliman and Duchak punched the puck home.

The Albertans checked relentlessly for the remainder of the first and throughout the second but Bear Cats put on the power in the third and Bert Laprade, Bones McCormack and Don Gordon scored in quick succession.

The first two Port Arthur goals were tinged with luck and they were tough breaks for Rice-Jones who had played sensationally in the Calgary net.

Laprade's looping shot from near the blue line caromed into the net off the shoulder of Pat Hill, Stampeder defenceman. McCormack's shot through a maze of legs took an awkward hop and Rice-Jones had no chance on that one either.

Goal Tossed Out

Early in the first period Tony Desmarias had shoved the puck into the Port Arthur net after grabbing the rebound of a shot by Les Thirlwell but the goal was disallowed. Referee Ike Morrison of Ardill, Sask. ruled he had blown his whistle before Desmarais scored. He said he had blown his whistle because he lost sight of the puck.

Outstanding feature of the game was the fine goal-tending of Rice-Jones and he seemed to be headed for a shutout when the two easy goals were counted by Bear Cats. In the first and second periods, Port Arthur players had broken through alone repeatedly only to have the tall Winnipeg product outguess them.

After getting the first goal, the Albertans gave a great defensive display until the pair of Bear Cats goals forced them to open up. They checked the speedy Lakehead forwards relentlessly and appeared to have taken the drive out of the Port Arthur attack until Bert Laprade's goal revived the Allan Cup holders.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 5.—(CP)—George Caster seems to have earned for himself the dubious honor of hurling for Philadelphia Athletics in the opening game against New York Yankees April 16. He topped off previous good efforts yesterday by twirling six scoreless innings against Fort Worth's Texas Leaguers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Schoolboy Rowe is ready to try nine innings against Brooklyn Dodgers today with a place among Detroit Tigers' starting pitchers as a possible reward for a good performance. So far this spring Rowe has looked promising and Manager Del Baker hopes he has conquered his problems of recent seasons.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Their old, old failing of either fanning, popping up or grounding into double plays is still with the Phillies. The National League tail-enders muffed heart breaking scoring chances yesterday in losing to Minneapolis.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Larry Macphail has quietly deserted Brooklyn Dodgers again and is reported canvasing Florida for another starting pitcher. The failure of Whitlow Wyatt's knee to loosen up has left the Dodgers with only three hurlers regarded as dependable starters—Luke Hamlin, Hugh Casey and Tex Carleton.

Cattle, Vealers And Hogs All Take Drop

TORONTO, April 5 — (CP). — Cattle prices dropped 25 cents on a draggy live stock market here this week, veal calves were down $1.50 cwt. on good and choice grades and hogs dropped 15 to 25 cents on live sales and 35 to 40 cwt. on dressed sales. Sheep and lambs were steady. About 350 head of cattle were unsold at the close.

Cattle trade was very dull from the opening with half of Monday's receipts left unsold. Weighty steers closed at $7-$7.15 for choice with common selling dwonward to $6.50. Fed calves closed at $7.25-$8.25 after making a top of $8.75. Butcher steers and heifers sold at $6-$6.75, with a few tops at $7-$7.25. Butcher cows closed at $4-$5.25, while canners and cutters held steady at $3.26-$3.75. Bulls closed lower at $4.75-$5.50. A few lots of medium quality stockers sold at $6-$6.40. Good milkers and springers, mostly Holsteins, sold at $75 to $85 each with comomn kinds selling downward to $50.

The calf supply was a great deal heavier than last week. Prices on good to choice vealers dropped $1.50 cwt. to close at $10 for tops. Common lights sold downward to $5.50.

Hevay Run of Hogs.

Hogs moved downward under a heavy run. Wednesday's price was $8.90 off trucks for bacons and $11.75 dressed. Thursday's bids on off-truck bacons were at $8.75 with dressed bids down to $11.50. Closing sales were mostly $11.60 dressed with some as low as $11.50. Sows sold at $5.50-$5.75 off trucks.

Sheep and lamb receipts included 1,920 Westerners. Prices were steady at $11 for the bulk of Western lambs, with one car at $11.25. Local feed-lot lambs sold from $8 for culls up to $10.90 for best grades. Sheep were steady at from $3 to $6.50 cwt, according to quality . A dozen spring lambs sold at $7-$13 each, according to weight and quality.

ada's annual tourist revenue.

U. S. citizens are still asking if there is "danger from submarines or mines" in the Dominion, if food prices are higher, if they can bring cameras and other equipment, and what restriotions have been placed on highway travel.

But that apprehension is diminishing. The Dominion Travel Bureau and the Provincial governments are concentrating their advertising on the fact that tourist travel may still flow freely between the United States and Canada "despite the conditions brought about as a result of the war."

Exchange to Help.

One war condition is considered by officials actually to be the most favorable single factor in the 1940 tourist picture—the favorable Canadian exchange rate which makes United States dollars more valuable in the Dominion than at home. Besides attracting tourists, they say, it should keep vacationing Canadians north of the border.

The cutting off of European travel because of the war and President Roosevelt's proclamation for a "Travel America" year—broadly interpreted by Canadian tourist executives as meaning also Canada—are calculated to bring more U.S. tourists to the Dominion.

The Royal visit gave 1939's tourist business a peppy start, and helped boost the year's total trade, but officials say that even without this impetus, 1940 should be well ahead of last season.

Here is the forecast for 1940 in a few words, as supplied by tourist associations and transportation companies:

The Maritime Privinces — "The biggest year in history."

Quebec—"A record breaker."

Ontario—"A big increase over last year."

The Prairie Provinces — "Much more than normal business."

British Columbia— "A slight increase."

Ontario officials are reluctant to make a detailed estimate of 1940 trade. They argue that while the summer should see a heavy increase over 1939 "everybody has to work together if tourists are to be attracted here,' 'and the result of efforts in this direction could not be figured accurately until next fall.

The Canadian National Exhibition and the Dionne quintuplets at Calander are listed at the top of Ontario's list of drawing cards again this year, but tourist heads have noted more inquiries regarding the tourist possibilities of the province's undeveloped northern frontiers.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended. Is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Advt.)

A Hacking, Racking Persistent Cough

The constant hacking, racking, persistent cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you do to get rid of it is the kind that is dangerous to neglect.

The longer the cough sticks, the more serious menace it becomes to your health.

But, there is a remedy to relieve coughs—coughs that won't let go. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is that remedy.

It has a healing and soothing action on the air passages, and acts as a disinfectant of the respiratory organs, destroying the germs that may produce serious complications.

His Majesty Collects The Ticket

You might call this the photograph of a faux pas. The British soldier at LEFT had just arrived on leave from France. Rushing to take the train for London, he shoved his ticket into the hand of the man in blue uniform with gold-braided cap who stood at the platform entrance. Then he looked into the face of the 'ticket collector' and snapped to the salute. The 'collector' was King George. The King grinned broadly, tore out the soldier's ticket from the book and handed it back to the stunned Tommy.

promised speedy consideration of a request for funds to finance the sweeping investigation of all war propaganda proposed by Senator Champ Clark (Dem-Missouri.)

Accept Denials

The "white book" inquiry recommendation was made yesterday by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep-Michigan), after saying that he accepted "at face value" the denials of Bullitt and the state department that the Nazi documents were authentic.

Pittman commented that, in his opinion, an investigation would accomplish nothing but arouse feeling among citizens whose forebears came from belligerent nations.

Vandenberg voiced willingness to have the "white boko" allegations considered by the projected Clark propaganda inquiry. If it it authorized by the senate. He said it should determine whether the German publication was "sheer propaganda."

A senate discussion of belligerent propaganda provided the springboard yesterday for caustic remarks which Senator Holt made about Cromwell and, in passing, Bullitt. Clark joined in the attack on Cromwell, who was recently rebuked by Secretary Hull for a Toronto speech in which he said he hoped for an Allied victory.

Holt said he did not consider the people "responsible for the Cromwells, the Bullitts and other tea hounds that are representing the country."

Use Each Others Products

The board of trade disclosed they had reciprocally increased facilities for importing the products of each other's empires. Educational experts studied ways of teaching French to British children and English to French children.

In secret session next Thursday, the House of Commons will debate methods of plugging leaks in the blockade of Germany which Prime Minister Chamberlain said yesterday would "drain the lifeblood out of our enemy."

Financial circles said that "Enco" —the official abbreviation for the English Commercial Corporation Ltd. — Britain's newest blockade weapon, would be a bold effort to recover trade lost to the Germans in the past 20 years by selling British products to Southeastern Europe and buying up supplies there that Germany wants for her war machine.

The technique is patterned on that of the great trading companies which laid the foundations of Britain's commercial supremacy in the 17th and 18th centuries, such as the East India Company in Asia and the Hudson's Bay Company in North America.

The new trading corporation was announced in parliament yesterday by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, who said it was organized primarily to deal with the Balkans but would be authorized to trade anywhere.

Greater Than Realized

The Mail's article on closer Anglo-French ties said:—

"Plans for a permanent Anglo-French partnership to make the two great nations so powerful a force that no aggressor would challenge it are being worked out by experts of both countries.

"The ultimate conception is of far greater magnitude than is generally realized. It is expected that some of the results of the experts' work will be reported to the next meeting of the supreme war council. In London and Paris committees of ministers are understood to have considered exhaustively the necessary details.

"The aim is to secure the most intimate co-operation between the Allies to the point of fusion into one military economic force, not only during the war but when peace comes.

"In many quarters the idea has such strong support that there has been talk even of a Franco-British parliament to deal with large-scale questions of mutual concern."

Local Relief Costs Drop $17,874 In Past Three Months

1,366 Remain On Lists Cost $10,355

The cost of relief in Peterborough receded $17,874.88 during the first quarter of this year as compared with the corresponding three months of 1939, Alderman Dutton reported to the Relief Committee last night.

The decline for March was $6,360.06 from the amount expended in March of last year, and the number of families receiving assistance dropped from 512 to 295.

"The average so far this year has been nearly $6,000 a month," Alderman Dutton said, and later in the meeting plans were discussed for an extensive gardening scheme which carries a compulsory feature for those who wish to continue receiving the usual aid from the city.

$10,355 Spent in March.

Relief Officer Metheral's statement for last month showed that $10,355.22 had been spent on relief as compared with $16,715.28 in March of last year. Details were: Provisions $5,016.71, milk $719.10, fuel $2,031.09, clothing $388.34, medicine $10.31, rent $1,711.57, doctors $478.10.

The number of persons on the relief list was 1,366 as against 2,295 a year ago, a decrease of 929. The number of heads of families last month was 295, number of dependent members of those families 972, single men 41, and single women 58.

During March, 1939, there were 512 heads of families drawing relief, their dependents were 1,670, single men 57, and single women 58. The only group showing an increase was that of single women, two more than last year.

In the meantime the cost for each individual had increased slightly from $7.28 to $7.58. Mr. Metheral reported 445 investigations for the month.

$34,400 07 This Year.

For the first three months of this year the total expenditure on relief in this city was $34,400.07. Of that amount an approximate rebate of $23,965.40 will be received from the Government, with $1,451.45 from the Ontario Medical Association, these two items amounting to $25,436.85, leaving $8,963.22 to be charged to the city.

The Council's relief appropriation for the year was $38,000, and with $8,963.22 as the city's share for the first quarter the remainder for nine months is $29,036.78.

Members of the committee remarked that Mr. Metheral's statement for last night was one of the most encouraging the committee has received in a long time. With seasonal work beginning during April it is expected that there will be further increase in employment, and consequent reduction of the relief bill.

295 Employable.

Information from Mr. Metheral indicated that there are 295 employable persons on the list. Opinion was expressed that many of them might be able to obtain work if they exerted themselves. Alderman Stocker commented that some of them must have been born tired.

The members of the committee present last night were Alderman Dutton, chairman, Wilson, Ovens, Bradburn, Stocker, McCannan and Roy, and Mayor Hamilton.

Mr. Metheral reported that he had attended a conference in Toronto last Friday at which twenty-seven relief officers were present. Plans for a general relief gardening scheme were discussed, and one of the orders to be enforced is to the effect that relief cannot be continued to any persons on the list who are able to assume one of the lots that will be made available, but who refuse to co-operate.

The Department of Municipal Welfare agreed to pay 80 per cent. of the cost of plowing lots, but the city will have to bear the entire cost of fertilizer. The property adjoining the Queen Mary Hospital on the northern fringe of the city which was selected as a gardening site has already been manured, and Mr. Metheral estimated at $36 the outlay of mineral fertilizer which the committee intends to buy.

"We can't spend a cent without the approval of the Government," Mr. Metheral told the committee. A motion by Mayor Hamilton, seconded by Alderman Ovens, authorized the engagement of a gardening supervisor, and Mr. Metheral was directed to make the appointment, preferably from the relief list, if possible.

Alderman Dutton and Mr. Metheral were instructed to look after incidental details such as water supply, tool shed, and probably the removal of one of the skating rink dressing rooms to provide protection against rain.

CLEANING MARKET SQUARE

The police department was asked today to have the market square cleared of motor vehicles to give the board of works "gang" a chance to clean the winter's accumulation of dirt from the square.

6,000 PLANTS ORDERED.

Alexander Turner has been given an order for 3,000 each of tomato and cabbage plants for the relief committee's gardens this season, A. G. Metheral told the relief committee last night.

SWALLOWS RETURNING.

Belleville reports that swallows have arrived in the Bay of Quinte district and have been seen skimming the Moira River as swallows have immemorially done.

BANK CLEARINGS.

A small increase in the bank clearings for the past week ending Thursday as compared with the same week a year ago was reported to-day. Clearings this year totalled $776,025, while a year ago the total was $774,724.

AT DAIRY CONFERENCE

W. J. Moore, dairy instructor in this district, will attend a conference of eastern Ontario instructors at Kingston next week. This is one of the first evidences of returning interest in the new season's cheese making activities.

CLUB BAG STOLEN.

G. H. Cuthbert of Peterborough reported to Belleville police a club bag had been stolen from his unlocked automobile on Wednesday evening. His loss included wearing apparel, an electric razor and carton of canned goods. He had left the car parked two hours opposite the Belle Theatre.

NO POLICE COURT.

The regular customers were all in their pews at police court this morning and Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had assumed his place on the bench when it was discovered that there was no cases, either city or county, on the list to-day. And so the customers had to file out into the open air again with dinner time still two hours away.

BORN AT COBOURG.

City Solicitor Huycke recalled last night that his father, the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke, had once told him that the soldier who is now Brigadier-General Victor Odlum, newly-appointed Commander of the Second Canadian Division, was born at Cobourg, and was a member of a Sunday School class which Judge Huycke used to teach many years ago.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN.

John F. Shaughnessy, 10 Haggart street, reported to the police station at noon to-day that around 12 o'clock as he was driving his car south on Rubidge street a small boy ran out from the west side of the street almost at the intersection of Townsend street and into the side of the automobile. Shaughnessy said that the boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dore, 266 Dalhousie street and was apparently unhurt. He took the little fellow to his home.

LINDSAY BOY PICKED UP.

Joseph Teatro, 14-year-old Lindsay boy, found the police department here Good Samaritans Thursday night when he was stranded in Peterborough after getting a ride here in a truck. The police found the boy had had nothing to eat since morning so the night sergeant sent him to a restaurant to fill up on vitamins and then arrangements were made for a bed for the night at the Children's Aid Society shelter.

AT BELLEVILLE DINNER

Senator Duffus will be one of the speakers at a citizens' dinner in Belleville this evening in honor of Judge C. A. Cameron, recently appointed Judge of the county court in Hastings county. Judge Cameron and Senator Duffus were elected to Parliament in 1935, occupied the same office in Ottawa for six sessions, and on February 15 last received the two appointments which transferred them from the Commons, Judge Cameron going to the Hastings county bench and Senator Duffus to the Red Chamber.

NO GARBAGE COLLECTION

To permit necessary repairs to be made at the incinerator there will be no collection of garbage made on Saturday, April 6th. Ashes will be collected as usual, however, on that day. Citizens' co-operation will be appreciated.

Winston Churchill Assumes Responsibility For All Armed Services Of Britain

SIMON — HOARE — CHURCHILL — WOOD — HUDSON

In a long-heralded shuffle of the British Cabinet, Prime Minister Chamberlain appointed Winston Churchill to direct all Britain's armed services and divided Britain's war efforts against Germany among three key committees. Mr. Churchill will be chairman of the Service Ministers' Committee; Sir Kingsley Wood becomes Lord Privy Seal to head the home policy committee which will deal with domestic problems; Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will preside over the economic policy Committee to handle financial and trade matters. Veteran Cabinet Minister Sir Samuel Hoare will take over command of the Air Ministry, and Robert Hudson will assume the portfolio of Shipping Minister.

Quebec Police Fail To Notify Father

That H. G. Hutchinson, proprietor of a tourist camp at Lake Penange had not been informed of the death of his son, David, found dead in a box car a few weeks ago, was discovered this week by M. W. Lyle of the Canadian Canoe Company who wrote a letter of condolence to Mr. Hutchinson after seeing the story in the Examiner.

Mr. Lyle had a letter from the father in reply, stating that David was away on one of his tours and that Mr. Hutchinson was of the opinion that the item about his death really referred to a cousin of his.

It will be remembered that several weeks ago the Peterborough police department was informed by the Quebec provincial police that a boy had been found dead in that province and that when his finger prints were taken and referred to the finger print branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police they were found to be those of David Hutchinson, alias David Black, who had been finger-printed by the Peterborough police early in 1939 after the lad had been convicted on a charge of vagrancy. That would seem to remove any doubt as to the identity of the dead boy.

The youngster found in Quebec was undoubtedly the David Hutchinson who was tried here and who was liberated by the Department of Justice after an item in the Examiner had revealed to his father that the boy who had been missing from his home for many months was here.

Mr. Lyle checked the matter with Chief Constable Newhall this morning and will advise the Lake Penange man to get into touch with the finger-prints branch at Ottawa and with the Quebec provincial police.

Seymour-Bred Bull Sold To McLaughlin

The April issue of the Holstein-Friesian Journal reports the purchase by R. Ray McLaughlin of Oshawa of a Holstein bull, "Springdale Pride," bred by W. J. Seymour of Cavan township.

"Springdale Pride" was the reserve grand champion bull at the 1939 Quebec Exhibition. He has been sold by Brown Corporation of La Tuque, Quebec, to Mr. McLaughlin, who was particularly interested in the animal because it was out of a sister of Holmview Spofford Ormsby Burke which was in his herd and made the highest record of 1938, 1,208 pounds of fat from 28,774 pounds of milk testing 4.2 per cent.

"There is a lot more to this bull than that," the Journal comments, "as at the 1939 Quebec Exhibition he was the sire of the first bull calf, first yearling bull and junior champion, first junior heifer calf, third and fifth senior heifer calves and the first junior get. His son "Browns' Rag Apple Pride," is being retained as a junior herd sire by Brown Corporation. They also have about twenty-five heifers by him.

He was bred by W. J. Seymour, Cavan, and his first daughter has been reported in that herd with a junior two year old Sub. B record of 11,402 pounds of 3.74 per cent milk in 305 days. His dire is a son of Sir Francis Mercena Burke, while his dam is a daughter of Ormsby Burke of Poplar Row with five consecutive records up to six years old, all in Sub. B, which total 69,506 pounds of milk and 2,467 pounds of fat."

28 Years In China Described To The Kiwanis Club

Close to three decades of life in China were review for Kiwanians at the Empress hotel to-day by F. L. Abrey. Mr. Abrey, architect in charge of the new extension to the Canadian General Electric plant here, lived in China most of the time from 1910 to 1938, saw the break-up of the old monarchy and the formation of the new republic, lived through the chaos that was China afterwards, and witnessed the outbreak of war between Japan and China.

"It would be optimistic to say that China will win this war," he declared. "But I don't think the Japanese are going to achieve their military objectives." He pointed out that the Japanese control only a few miles outside any city they have captured, and only a mile on each side of railways. On the other hand they control seaports and the first five hundred miles of the all-important Yangtse river by which most inland trading is done.

It was on October 10, 1910, that Mr. Abrey left Toronto and he did not arrive at his destination in Chungking until the following March 15. He travelled up the Yangtse by steamer junk, and sedan chair to reach that destination, through hazardous waters.

Streets Very Narrow

Chungking, "city of a hundred odours" was then a vastly different city from today. Streets were so narrow that a man could stand in the middle of the road, and by stretching his arms almost reach from a shop window on one side to a shop window on the other. But in 1934, when he re-visited the city, all had been changed. The military had decided to widen the streets and they did so two and three times until now four cars can travel abreast on main thoroughfares. The old landmarks are gone, the city is entirely rebuilt.

On this early trip he was in Chungking when the Manchu dynasty gave way to the new Republic of China and armies left their barracks to loot the city. Foreigners, he said, had learned of a secret sign which they attached to lanterns hung from their homes by night, and so escaped the general looting.

With the Republic came a new order in China—an order of internal strife urged by rival warlords, yet an order marked by increased education and revival of business, and with this order came Chiang Kai Chek and the modern China that has withstood the invasion of Japan.

Hired Brigands

He told of making a long trip up the Yangtse at this time of warlord strife that was vastly different from his earliest visit. Brigands had to be hired to escort his party through their territory all along the route; once they ran into actual warfare between rival parties.

He told of the anti-British feeling that swept through China after the killing by British soldiers of Chinese students in Shanghai, and of the difficulty he encountered in his construction business as a result. One day uniformed boycotters appeared at the building he was constructing, and all work ceased. The Chinese, he said, are the best in the world at organizing a boycott; it is thorough that all work ceases immediately. For close to two years boycotting continued intermittently. Sometimes it would last for a month and work would be permitted to resume for two or three weeks at a time.

When war broke out his work was almost completed and he travelled down the Yangtse, seeing Japanese bombers dropping their loads over cities on his route.

Mr. Abrey was instroduced by Leo Copp and Jacob Low moved a vote of thanks.

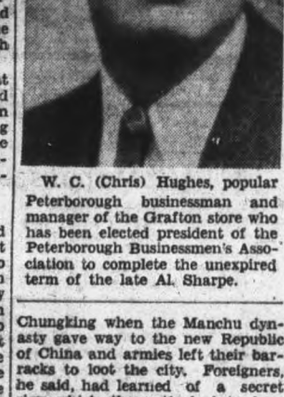
Veteran Employee Of Tannery Given Presentation On Retiring

HASTINGS, April 5 — (ENS). — After 29 years of faithful service in the Breithaupt Leather Company plant here, John Cruickshanks retired this week. For the past 16 years, he has been in the drying department of the plant, where he gained the friendship of all the employees and the good will of the firm. Mr. Cruickshanks is a former Peterborough resident who served as foreman of a section gang on the old Grand Trunk Railway. It was in this capacity, he was transferred to Hastings about 35 years ago before this line was taken over by the Canadian National.

He worked for the Grand Trunk but a short time when he was offered a job in the Hastings Tanning Company at the time John McGrail and John Valoney were managing the plant. He operated a setting machine at the time when the plant was devoted entirely to the manufacture of harness leather. In later years, however, sole leather has been made exclusively. Mr. Cruickshanks is the second "old-timer" to voluntarily retire from the plant within three months. George "Sandy" Whitred concluded many years of service in January.

Mr. Cruickshanks is a true born son of Erin. He was born in Ireland on March 17 and came to this country at the age of three with his parents, who settled at Fraserville. It was probably with these markings in mind that employees, in giving him a present on the occasion of his retirement, presented him with a beautiful green upholstered chair.



JOHN CRUICKSHANKS

The presentation was made in the shipping room of the plant and the address was read by Stewart Whitred.

Mr. Cruickshanks said he had found the firm one of the finest to work for and thanked "the boys" for their thoughtfulness. He added words of praise for the plant manager, L. F. Daly.

Wins Table Cover At Lakefield Party

Newington Is Committed To Stand Trial

Douglas Newington, former employee of the Cordova Gold Mines, was committed for trial Thursday afternoon by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., after the Crown had finished its evidence in the preliminary hearing of the charge against Newington of illegal possession of gold.

No witnesses were called by the defence and a plea by Ralph Standish, defence counsel, that Newington should be bailed for trial was denied by the court. In view of the Crown's evidence Magistrate Langley said that he could do nothing but commit the accused.

David Weston, mill superintendent at the Cordova Mines, was called by the Crown at the afternoon session. He said that Newington had been employed at the mine as solution operator and identified the canvas bags that had been put in as exhibits, describing them as precipitate bags.

The witness explained how the bags were used to catch the precipitate after the ore had been crushed and treated with zinc. Newington, he said, had worked the night shift from 12 o'clock to 8 in the morning. On the day he was arrested the accused had left the mine shortly after coming off work, telling witness that his mother was ill in Timmins and he wanted to go there.

"I asked him when he would be back and he said he would let me know in two or three days," replied the witness.

Weston said that shortly after Newington had gone he noticed that three of the precipitate bags had been taken. He knew that the removal was recent because he noticed that the metal tops left behind were still clean, whereas if they had been removed sooner they would have been rusted.

Provincial Constable Dymond at Madoc was notified and Newington's arrest followed.

In cross-examination Weston said there had been earlier shortages at the plant and at first the management did not know whether the shortages were due to the assay department or to high grading. He said that it had been discovered that the assayer had not been making all the required assays and he was discharged on that account.

Weston said, in answer to a question from Mr. Standish that he had access to the precipitate bags and that he knew that Newington was going to Timmins that day.

Mr. Standish informed the court that he did not propose to call any evidence and Newington's commitment followed.

Mrs. John Lane Oldest Native Dies Age Of 95

One of the oldest residents of Peterborough, a woman who remembered this city when it was a straggling town, died in Toronto yesterday. She was Mrs. Catherine Lane, widow of John Lane, widely known resident of this community.

Mrs. Lane was born in Peterborough 95 years ago, and was probably the oldest native resident of this city. She was formerly Catherine Dineen, daughter of the late Timothy Dineen and Elizabeth Cavanagh, who came to this district more than a century ago from Ireland.

Catherine Dineen was born on their farm, which was later the old Hilliard property that now constitutes the north section of Peterborough. She married John Lane, a lumberman, and they lived in Peterborough until his death 15 years ago, when she moved to Toronto.

Surviving are one son, Thomas J. Lane of Peterborough; one daughter, Mrs. F. J. Cooney of Toronto; and one brother, Maurice Dineen of Peterborough.

The remains will arrive in Peterborough by train at 7.50 o'clock this evening, and will rest at the home of her son, Thomas J. Lane, 243 Hunter street west until Saturday morning at 8.45 o'clock, when they will be removed to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem Mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Pedestrian Suffers Lacerations To Face

Allan Lester, 427 Park Hill Road, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital shortly after midnight this morning suffering from lacerations on the nose and face and shock, following a traffic accident at George and Murray streets at 12.20 a.m.

Lester, walking north on George street, had just started to cross Murray street from the southwest to the northwest corner, when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Clarence West, Y.M.C.A. West had been driving north and was making a left turn into Murray street when the left front of his machine struck Lester.

The motorist took the injured man to the office of Dr. J. M. O'Brien from which he was afterward removed to hospital. His injuries are not regarded as serious, police report.

Chief Newhall Pays Tribute To Safe Drivers

Industrial organization which give safety awards to truck drivers are offering considerable encouragement to the men to strive for clean records, and this practise might well be copied by many industrial firms in the city, Chief Constable Sam Newhall told a Bell Telephone group Thursday evening.

Forty men from the Central Ontario district gathered at the Empress Hotel for a banquet and 17 received safe driving award buttons, as members of the Ontario Safety League. The men set up an enviable record during 1939 when in the entire district 53 out of 58 earned awards, and the figures indicate an average mileage of 118,000 miles without an accident.

Chief Newhall was invited by the Bell Telephone to attend the banquet and say a few words to the men. He was introduced by J. A. Brown, district plant superintendent of Toronto, who was chairman.

"Generally speaking we find truck drivers much more reliable than passenger car drivers," said the Chief, and he added that it was so long since any Bell driver had been at his "hotel" for a breach of the Highway Traffic Act that he could not recall even one case. He lauded the Bell Telephone Company for being a member of the Ontario Safety League and for giving their drivers every encouragement to set up fine safe driving records.

T. W. Eadie, general plant manager of Toronto, spoke briefly when called on to make the awards and said in part: "We are anxious to emphasize the company's desire to do everything possible in the line of accident prevention. Our achievements in this effort during the past quarter of a century have been remarkable, but we must strive for the perfect record every year.

"When a man entered our employ 20 years ago records indicated that he could expect to have three accidents if he worked 30 years, but today the records indicate 30 years' service without a single lost time accident is the usual thing.

"No service is so important that it cannot be done the safe way.

Driven 275,000 Miles

H. C. Walford, division plant superintendent of Toronto, said 58 drivers in the Central division had driven a distance of 275,000 miles between February 9 and September 15 in 1939 without even a bumped fender.

"We must be alert to the hazards that exist in our work at all times, and I must stress the fact that accidents to employees now are due to minor things. We have made great strides in eliminating the major hazards.

It had been the custom to hold a banquet each year in Toronto for the distribution of safety awards, but this year the plan was changed and banquets held in each of the large centres in the district.

Those who were given buttons and the number of years they have driven without a lost time accident are as follows: From Peterborough —G. W. Poole, 2; A. S. Pinn, 6; E. W. Watson, 6; Steve Elliott, 6; E. Freeman, 6; Tom Sproat, 6; Len. F. Adlam, 7; Dave White, 7. Lindsay—D. Tolmie, 3; T. E. Hall, 7. Cobourg — M. N. Thomas, 2; J. Payne, 7. Port Hope—G. E. Sweanor, 1. Campbellford—R. P. Seymour, 2. Construction Dept.—L. E. McCracken, 5; H. E. Gubbins, 3; J. Brodie, 4.

An excellent program of entertainment was provided by Dick Lush who was given able assistance by Robert Hardie, talented young sleight of hand artist, and six pupils of Marion Perry Laird, who danced and sang their way into the hearts of the gathering.

Kenny Simmons and Shirley Garner started the ball rolling with a smooth song and dance act to the tune of "Oh Johnny" and their tap routine was perfect. They were followed by Doreen Hogg and Winnie Land who sang "Peggy O'Neill" and did a waltz clog with a professional touch that indicated good training. They looked smart in flared Pierrette style dancing frocks of green taffetta lined with yellow and wore tiny Dolly Vardon bonnets made from green lace and yellow flowers.

Three-year-old Joyce Maher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Maher, Park street, made her debut as a dancer, and her dancing was excellent. Another promising artist is Audrey Doogan, who although on the sunny side of nine years did a most difficult acrobatic dance.

The highlight of the entire program was a dance ballet by the Ken Simmons-Shirley Garner pair to the Blue Danube melody, and they went through the dance with ease. The finale was the entire troupe of six singing and dancing to the Beer Barrel Polka.

On behalf of the gathering Dick Lush presented Marion Perry Laird with a lovely bouquet and each of the little entertainers was given a suitable gift.

Jack Marshall, veteran entertainer, played the musical accompaniment for all the song and dance numbers and also pepped up the banquet with community singing.

Pitiable Victims Of War and Floods

War and flood, three years of the former and a succession of the latter, have had their effect on the Japanese-dominated part of China. There is starvation and suffering, with children, as usual, bearing the brunt of a catastrophe that was none of their fault. Here is a scene in Shanghai, where free bread is distributed every day to the hungry. More than 2,000 Chinese, most of them women and children, have died in Shanghai streets this winter.

PARADISE IS HERE

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.
BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.
MYRA NOYES, famous radio star, engaged to Brent.
TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.
BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.
YESTERDAY: Brent begins to show his interest in Romany.

CHAPTER SEVEN

CHOLLY AND Romany were breakfasting the next morning when the phone rang. It was Brent Nelson. Romany was to come down to Interstate for a special audition at four o'clock that afternoon!

"Well!" Cholly choked on her toast in her excitement. "I must say, Brent hasn't wasted much time in using his influence to get a break for you."

Romany was almost tearful with happiness. But there was one difficulty. She'd have to bring her own material to read.

"Call Bax," suggested Cholly.

Romany winced.

"I feel like a heel," she said regretfully. "Having a dinner date with him last night and breaking it to go out with Brent Nelson! Now if I call and ask him to write something for me—"

"Don't be silly!" Cholly got up. "This is no time to stand on a guilty conscience. If you haven't the nerve to call him, I will."

In an hour Bax was out at the apartment with his portable typewriter. Seeing his dark brown head bent over the machine, his keen face etched in serious thought, Romany realized for the first time how very attractive Baxter Tree was. In his personality was strength, and there was a warm friendliness in the lean face and twinkling brown eyes behind his horn-rimmed glasses.

By one o'clock he had written three short sketches for her audition. With Cholly sitting mouse-like in a chair in the corner, he coached and re-coached Romany in radio technique.

After a time Cholly got up and went to the kitchen to fix lunch. When she came back to tell them it was served, Romany was reading lines like a veteran. Finally Bax applauded:

"That's swell! Keep it at that tempo and you'll be okay. Just take it easy, and keep your voice down. The charm of your voice is in your low tones."

"Very well, teacher," Romany smiled. "If my knees hold out, I'm sure my memory will. And I'll read it just as you taught me."

Bax rode down on the Illinois Central with Romany from South Shore, and left her at the door of Interstate.

"Good luck," he smiled warmly. "I'll meet you here in the lobby at 5.30 for dinner. That is, if we still have a date."

"Of course we have!" Romany assured him. "I wouldn't miss it for the world."

In the lobby Brent Nelson was waiting. He crossed to Romany smiling.

"You're more beautiful every time I see you.

She was wearing a rose lace afternoon dress, with matching short cape and a big picture hat. It belonged to Aunt Cissie, of course. But that did not interfere with Romany's pleasure in wearing it. Brent looked at his wrist watch.

"It's almost time for the audition. I guess we'd better go up."

At the elevator they met Myra Noyes. Panic seized Romany, and she would have given anything to avoid the little blonde. Brent was taken by surprise, holding Romany's arm; but he smiled evenly.

"Hello, Myra, I'd like you to meet Romany Haile. Miss Noyes, Miss Haile."

Romany inclined her head.

"I'm one of your fans, Miss Noyes."

Myra's eyes were cool. She said in her best dramatic school voice: "Thank you so much. Are you in radio, too?"

"I hope to be," Romany said, smiling.

"Miss Haile is going up for her audition now," Nelson informed his fiancee.

"Oh, I see," and Myra did see the light suddenly. She hid, with difficulty, the sudden jealous rage that possessed her.

Romany Haile was the girl she'd seen in the control room when "Paradise Is Here" was cut. She was the girl she'd listened to being interviewed on the "Hello Stranger" program two evenings before. And she must have been the brunette Brent had been seen with the night before at Landau's. A friend had told her on the phone that afternoon. And Brent had broken a date with her to go.

Seething, Myra remained outwardly cool.

"Are you going to sit in the control room and listen to Miss Haile's audition, darling?" She took Nelson's arm in the elevator.

"I'd thought I might," he admitted.

"Then I'll come with you." Myra smiled too brightly. I haven't seen you since yesterday afternoon."

In the audition room Brent held out his hand.

"Good luck, Miss Haile. Take it easy. The mike won't bite you."

"I'm sure she'll be perfectly marvellous," Myra forced a smile. "There's nothing to it, really."

There were three other dramatic auditions ahead of Romany's. Only an engineer sat in the control room. The program board listened to the auditions from a beautifully appointed room on the next floor. In the hall between the studio and the control room Myra dropped all pretense of coolness and whirled on Brent furiously.

"What's the big idea!" she began hotly. "Are you giving me the run around?"

"I don't quite understand." He lit a cigaret.

"You know perfectly well!" Myra flamed. "This is the girl you had on your program the other night. I saw her at Byrd-Cromwell's yesterday afternoon."

"Pretty good detective work," Brent grinned exasperatingly.

"And," Myra's eyes narrowed, "you took her to dinner at Landau's last night."

"Well, news travels fast." Nelson blew a smoke ring indifferently.

Myra stamped her foot.

"I won't have it!" She looked as though she were going to strike him. "You can't make a fool out of me. You—you two-timer!"

"Myra," Brent said commandingly, "cut it! Someone will hear you raving. I'm not married to you, and you can't tell me what and what not to do. I'll have my friends when I want them. Is that clear?"

Myra raved on:

"Picking up a cheap little nobody at a station! I'm surprised at you."

Nelson's blue eyes narrowed and he looked at her with eyes void of feeling.

"Jealousy is not becoming to you, Myra. Your tongue gets the best of you. Romany Haile is a lady. She's far from a cheap little nobody who can be picked up at a station."

"Well, who is she?" Myra stamped her foot again. "I've never heard of her!"

"Why should you have heard of her?" Brent said coldly. "She doesn't live in the headlines. Miss Haile, it so happens, is heiress to the Harlowe Farm Implements millions."

Miss Noyes was somewhat taken aback. But she recovered her bearings quickly to say with a sniff:

"Then what's she doing up here having an audition? Trying to take somebody's job away from them!"

"Oh, you'll manage to earn three squares a day." Nelson crushed out his cigaret. "I wouldn't lose any sleep over Romany Haile's radio career if I were you."

Brent was so furious with Myra, so disgusted with the scene she had staged, that he pushed the door of the control room open and walked in ahead of her.

Sam Carr, the engineer, who had heard a large part of the quarrel, smiled to himself. Myra Noyes was far from popular with the Interstate staff. He was glad Brent Nelson had told her off.

A look at Romany Haile through the glass windows of the control room and it was easy to understand the jealous rage that had seized the blond star. Romany was every inch an heiress—and one of the most beautiful girls ever to be auditioned at Interstate, Sam decided. With television, if she had talent, nothing could stop her.

Romany was the last to be auditioned. Nelson had arranged the list so that she would have plenty of time to get her bearings. She was unaware of the smouldering-eyed Myra sitting beside Brent beyond the glass partition.

Completely enwrapped in her job, Romany rose without showing the slightest sign of fright, and began to read the bits Baxter had labored over with her. Brent smiled to himself.

Her voice, warm and vibrant, set his pulses racing. She had it! And he'd been so sure she couldn't miss from the evening he'd interviewed her at the station. For five minutes Romany stood at the microphone reading. When she had finished, she turned and looked at Brent, smiling at her in the next room. Myra, biting her lip, turned and walked from the control room without so much as a word to Brent. Even she, in spite of her jealousy and hatred, knew a great radio voice when she heard one.

That, added to the fact that she photographed as colorlessly as a mouse, added to Myra Noyes' wretched state of mind.

Millbrook Group Entertains At Play Party

MILLBROOK, April 5 — (ENS). The Young People's Society of Grace Presbyterian Church was hostess for a most enjoyable play party in the Sunday School Rooms on Monday night, their guests being officers and members of the Young People's Union of St. Andrew's United Church. There were over one hundred present, the president, Miss Margaret Armstrong, and Miss Rhoda Gibson having the event under their special charge. Stunts and games, particularly those in keeping with All Foo's' Day, April 1, and including a candy hunt which had no candy at the end of the trail, filled the hours happily.

The minister, Rev. A. R. Gibson, and John Hicks, had an especially amusing stunt of their own contrivance, and during the service of lunch, which was the concluding item on a program filled with enjoyment and interest, John Blair provided entertainment with a number of guitar selections.

Ladies' Aid Meets.

Mrs. Robert and Miss Mina Gibson were joint hostesses for the April meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Presbyterian Church, held at their home on Tuesday at 3 p.m. with a good attendance of members and visitors, and the president, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, in the chair. Mrs. H. C. Lord gave a reading, "The Touch of the Master's Hand." Mrs. Mervan Kinsman conducted a contest "What to plant, and what will grow up," the answers being names of either animals or flowers.

A letter of thanks from Miss Edyth McMahon, Reg. N., for a card of sympathy received following the death of her aunt, Mrs. R. J. McMahon, a valued worker in the society, was read by the secretary, Mrs. Alexander Miller. Mrs. T. C. Ingram's group was made responsible for the talent table at the next meeting. This table has home-made bread, fresh eggs, cream, fruit or jellies, etc., and is a feature, netting a neat sum, of each monthly meeting.

Miss Gibson reported $13.00 from the Irish supper, and it was decided to hold a Hostess Tea on May 15, with Mrs. H. A. Kerr and the president as Program Committee. To prepare plans for the tea, and submit same at the next meeting, Mrs. Kerr, Miss Gibson, and Miss Jean Syer were appointed.

Mrs. S. E. Eakins was chosen to have the program for the May meeting, and after the benediction by Rev. Mr. Gibson, afternoon tea was served, with the president pouring tea at the hostess table, lovely with lace cloth, runners of pale green, and crystal bowl of daffodils on the central reflector. Over six dollars was realized from the talent table and the tea served.

WESTWOOD.

Four names were inadvertently omitted from the list of those who attended the Westwood team banquet. They were: Misses Jessie Davidson, Jean Sargent, Mary Healey and Virginia Lobb.

Has Vatican Job

Professor Roberto Almagia, Jewish professor at the University of Rome, is shown studying the ancient map he has been commissioned to restore for the Vatican. Originally drafted in 1546 by Giacomo Gastaldi, the map, of Central Europe, is the only one in existence. The Vatican has reserved innumerable requests for copies—requests that must wait until Professor Almagia completes his restoration task.

Havelock Boys Hold Sale For Camp Funds

HAVELOCK, April 5—(ENS). — Endeavoring to raise funds for their annual summer camping trip, the Church Boys League of St. John's Anglican church successfully sponsored a sale of handicraft, candy, home-baking and tea on Saturday afternoon which netted them $25. Under the supervision of their rector, Rev. R. E. Lemon, who is leader of the class, the boys were enabled to sponsor the event, through donations from the congregation, and were also assisted by several of the church ladies.

The sale was held in the church basement, where the tables were effectively arranged, and the entrance decorated with the class colours, red, whit and blue. The handicraft display included birdhouses, candleholders, tie racks and other articles made by the boys and was in charge of Herb. Davies and Don Green. Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft, assisted by Marvin Curry, presided at the baking table, while Ford Peters and Ted Flemming looked after the sale of home-made candy.

Afternoon tea was served under the direction of Mrs. H. Davies, assisted by Mrs. Woodbeck and Mrs. A. Curry, with two girls of the Mission Band, Elsie Flemming and Robena Rice, also helping.

Officers Chosen

Mrs. Charles Taylor was chosen president of the Havelock Home and School Association at their annual meeting and election of officers held on Tuesday evening in the school building. There was an exceptionally large attendance of both members and guests to participate in the varied and interesting program.

Other officers elected were: 1st vice-president, Mrs. V. Brisbin; 2nd vice-president, Miss E. Roberts; secretary, Mrs. Ray Scott; treasurer, Mrs. H. Pollock; program convener, Mrs. H. Hubble; executive committee, Miss L. Wing, Miss G. Thomson, Mrs. R. W. Goheen, Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft, Miss M. Seeney and D. C. Drinkwallter.

The meeting opened with Mrs. George Rigby, the retiring president, in the chair. Reports were then received from the secretary and treasurer and a few items of business discussed. A few of the highlights of the recent Home and School convention in Toronto were described by Mrs. Rigby who was in attendance.

Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft and Mrs. W. Nobes were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for a play by a Peterborough H and S Club, provided a suitable date can be found.

The treasurer, Mrs. Brisbin, reported that as instructed she had purchased a screen for use with the lantern slides.

Many of the items on the program related to "Mothers Day" which will be celebrated before the next meeting of the local Howe and School. Mrs. R. W. Goheen spoke on "The responsibility of mothers," Mrs. W. A. McFarlane took as her subject "Our Daughters," and Mrs. A. McLauchlin gave a reading pertaining to "Mothers." An interesting talk on "mental health of school children" was also given by Mr. T. P. Lancaster.

Other numbers included a vocal solo by Mrs. T. P. Lancaster entitled "Mother Machree," and a medley of nursery rhymnes by the pupils of Miss L. Wing's primer classroom.

The parent attendance shield was won this month by Miss E. Robert's classroom. The meeting concluded with the National Anthem, and prayer by Mrs. W. A. McFarlane.

Der Fuehrer Says They Should Be Prepared To Die

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler is shown chatting to German soldiers who were wounded in the current war during the memorial day services held in Berlin early last month. It was on this occasion that the Fuehrer told Germans that they should be prepared to die if necessary for the fatherland.

Centreton

School reopened Monday after the holidays and the teachers, Misses Marion Nichol, Norma Nichol and Bessie Hinton again took up their duties at Mill Valley, Mulholland and Centreton schools.

Miss Violet Rogers returned to Cobourg Collegiate and Mabel McKenzie to Castleton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Turk and Mrs. E. Tucker attended the funeral of the late Mrs. John Cowling, Fenella, on Saturday.

Miss Jean Ivatt spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Mr. Herbert Sherwin and Miss Olive Sherwin of Roseneath spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith. Mrs. Smith and children return home with them for a few days.

Some of the members of the official church board attended the board meeting at Baltimore on Monday afternoon.

Heralds of Spring have been seen: robins, blackbirds and woodchucks.

Miss Hazel Blogett's class of senior girls delighted all with the poyous Easter message sang on Sunday morning.

Mr. Birney spent Sunday with Mrs. D. Blodgett and Miss Hazel Blodgett.

Mr. William Etcher, Bethel Grove, spent part of Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Etcher.

BANQUET FOR WEASELS

Nearly 50 weasels invaded the home of M. McNells in Ardara Eire, and defied all efforts to oust them until they had warmed themselves and had eaten all the food they could find.

New Secretary For Red Cross Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5 — (ENS).—Miss Stella Keir was named secretary at a reorganization meeting of the Campbellford and Seymour Branch of the Red Cross Society held Thursday night. The appointment of Miss Keir was made necessary owing to the resignation of Mrs. S. Twigg, who had held the office since the branch was formed here. In accepting the resignation, President N. Alex. MacColl praised the faithful and energetic efforts of Mrs. Twigg, adding his personal regret that she had found it impossible to carry on. Another change in the executive was the creation of a third vice-president's office, to which Mrs. H. Coxwell was elected.

The president reported progress was being made by H. Kitney, who is arranging a special musical program to be presented under the Society's auspices here on May 16 and 17.

Gum Crusader

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP).—The leader in a one-man crusade to keep New York from being buried under mountains of discarded chewing gum estimates there are 1,500,000,000 wads on the city's streets. J. Le Bloas Marlaine, a French perfume importer, said a recent census in one mid-town subway station showed 50,000 quids on the platform and stairs.

FASHIONS

A button-front frock has so many advantages. It is easy to slip into and easy to launder. This princess style is particularly becoming to the more mature figure because of its slimming lines. You will want to make several of these useful dresses to put on first thing in the morning, and wear all day long as you go about your household chores. Working in the garden is fun, too, when you know that your dress is easily washed and ironed. Printed cotton is gay and spring-like and ric-rac makes a bright trimming.

Stlye No. 3041 is designed for sizes 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39inch material, with 1⅛ yards contrasting; 4 yards braid.

GIVE YOUR ROAST AN EXTRA FLAVOUR
this new way

A FAMOUS Montreal cook sent us this tip on roasting. She advises mixing a tablespoonful of H. P. Sauce into about a cupful of water and suggests pouring this mixture into the bottom of the roast pan and using it to baste the meat occasionally while it is roasting. This cook tells us that this plan greatly improves the flavour of both roast and gravy.

For fried steaks, broiled meats, chops, hamburg steaks and other foods, including fish and fowl, add a little H. P. when serving. Thick, fruity H. P. Sauce brings out hidden flavour in foods. Try it with your next meal. A small amount is all that is needed to add a distinctly enjoyable and appetizing flavour.

ning, April 17, to which other Auxiliaries are to be invited.

A request from the C.G.I.T. to cater for their Mother and Daughter banquet was accepted, the date to be May 5. Mrs. A. Long gave an interesting reading entitled, "When the Deacon spoke in Church."

The worship service was conducted by the president, assisted by Mrs. F. English, Mrs. A. McKinlay and Miss L. M. Armstrong. A summary of the chapters four and five of the study book, dealing with "The Ministry in India," was given by Mrs. E. Menson and Mrs. J. F. Morrison. Mrs. J. Allen taking the subject of "Higher Christian Education in India." The meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction.

We Noticed

. . . That wearing of small jeweled lockets on slender chains is a new jewel fashion. Single strand necklaces of beads are being worn this Spring by the most particular women, and pearls, rose quartz, amber, lapis lazuli and jade are favorites.

. . . These colored, less expensive gem stones make beautiful accent notes for Spring. There are rings, ear-rings and bracelets to match the necklaces.

. . . Topaz, zircon and amethyst are also popular, and set with gold have added color depth. Moonstone flowers set with rubies or emeralds in gold are new and moderate in price. The locket fashion has a sentimental value that has again come to be noticed by women of fashion.

Scout Auxiliary Holds Tulip Tea

A delightful tulip tea was held at the home of Mrs. W. Magee, 567 Bolivar street, on Thursday afternoon when the Parents' Auxiliary of the Fifth Troop Boy Scouts entertained. Mrs. Magee was assisted in receiving by the president, Mrs. R. J. Kearns.

Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Douglas Paterson and Mrs. J. Kemp, and arrangements were in charge of Mrs. A. Carpenter, social convener. Mrs. A. Reid and Mrs. E. Mowry were conveners of the table of homemade cooking, and assisting to serve were Mrs. O. Kidd, Mrs. H. Dunford, Mrs. O. Pollock. Arrangements for refreshments were under the direction of Mrs. G. Webb and Mrs. O. W. Hurrie. Mrs. A. Watkins was treasurer for the affair.

Ladies' Night Held By Masonic Lodge

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5 — (ENS).—Members of Golden Rule Lodge No. 126, A.F. and A.M., were hosts on Wednesday at a ladies' night held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple. More than one hundred and fifty guests attended and the evening was spent in playing bridge and euchre. Prizes for high score in bridge were won by Miss Jennie Martin and F. R. Dennis; low score, Miss Mabel Hay and Ernie Sutton. Euchre, high score, Miss Isobel Free and S. A. Maguire; low, Mrs. R. A. Bateson and Albert Hazel. Lucky draw won by Mrs. J. O. Benor.

Otonabee Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Otonabee celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday of this week with their family of four sons and two daughters, who were all home for the happy occasion, and their seven grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married at the bride's home in Douro township by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of George Street church at that time. The bride is the former Ruth Elizabeth Leeson. Mr. John F. Leeson of Douro, brother of Mrs. Hall, was the only person present at the golden anniversary who attended the marriage ceremony.

The bridal couple have lived their entire married lives in Otonabee. Many neighbors and friends called to convey their best wishes, and numerous letters and cards of congratulations were received. In the early afternoon the family gathered, and after greetings by Mary Macfarlane, a grandchild, a bouquet of golden roses was presented the bride and groom of 50 years by small Mary and George Hall, also grandchildren. This was followed by the gift of a pair of easy chairs from the family. Tea was served from a prettily decorated table.

The family are: Harold, at home; Fred, of Keene; Mrs. John A. Macfarlane of Keene; Stuart of Peterborough; James and Mary, at home.

Later in the evening a number of life-long neighbors called to spend a happy evening and present a beautiful silver bowl lined with gold to the bridal couple. An address read by Mrs. John Torpey was signed by Mrs. Thomas D. Chamberlain, Mr. Wm. Devlin, Mrs. Richard Bradfield, Mrs. W. J. Porter, Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, Mr. John Torpey, Mr. Roger Torpey, Mr. James Sweeny and Mr. J. J. Devlin.

George Street W.M.S. Meets

Group E of the George Street Church Missionary Society met on Thursday afternoon with the leader, Mrs. F. Merrett, in the chair. Taking part in the devotional period were Mrs. J. H. Vance and Mrs. Morrow. A questionnaire entitled "Information" was given by Mrs. Vance, Mrs. Burnham, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Hartley.

Miss Gladys Mills, accompanied by Miss Dorothy White, was heard in a fine solo. Mrs. W. Allison was appointed press reporter to succeed Mrs. M. McLean, who is leaving the city shortly. The May meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. White, 568 Bethune Street, at which the roll call is to be answered by a temperance quotation.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Hartley, Mrs. M. McLean and Mrs. W. Allison.

Marjorie Lewis Is Mission Circle Hostess

The Easter thank-offering meeting of the Francis Watt Mission Circle of Knox Church was held at the home of Miss Marjorie Lewis, Chamberlain street. During the business discussion attention was drawn to the inspiring address which Miss Myrtle Sargent brought the girls at the previous meeting in connection with her welfare work in Toronto. The Supply Secretary reminded the members that articles for the Presbyterial bale should be in by the first of May.

Miss Marjorie Thexton conducted the worship service, and Miss Irma Darling was in charge of the study period, the theme of both being "The Living Christ in the Living Church." After opening with an Easter hymn, the Te Deum was read responsively.

As an introduction to the study period, Miss Lewis and Miss Helen Ward rendered a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross." The study program presented the message of the Madras Conference, with Mrs. V. Smith as the messenger, and five delegates impersonated by Mrs. C. Ross, Miss Elva Darling, Miss Maxine Elliott, Miss Gwen Lockie and Miss Gertrude Lancashire. In conclusion, an appropriate story, "White Lilies," was read by Miss Elva Darling.

A hymn and the benediction closed the service, which was followed by a social half hour.

April Meeting Is Held By Knox W.M.S.

Quiet music, the call to worship and prayer by the president, Mrs. J. Gerard, opened the April meeting of Knox W.M.S. During the business period Mrs. R. Laing read a letter refuting the false reports occasionally circulated about the Red Cross. Members reported 30 calls made during the month. It was decided to hold an open meeting of the Auxiliary on Wednesday evening, April 17, to which other Auxiliaries are to be invited.

A request from the C.G.I.T. to cater for their Mother and Daughter banquet was accepted, the date to be May 5. Mrs. A. Long gave an interesting reading entitled, "When the Deacon spoke in Church."

Faulty Table Manners Spell Failure Socially

Eat Difficult Foods Correctly

She spent hours dressing for this important dinner date—but she didn't give a thought to her table manners!

"Never again!" her escort mentally comments, as she showers the table with salad in her efforts to cut hearts of luttuce with a fork.

Avoiding such embarrassing blunders is just a matter of checking on etiquette, of learning the right way to eat difficult foods.

With hearts of lettuce, endive or romaine, a knife may be used. Artichoke leaves you eat with your fingers, biting off the tender part and putting the rest back on your plate. Use a fork for the heart. Asparagus also may be eaten with the fingers when the stalks are short firm and dry. Otherwise, a fork.

At a dinner party, should you wait for everyone to be served before eating? No, it is proper to start in a leisurely way soon after your plate is put before you. Or do you find yourself beset with doubts at teas, buffet parties?

Be sure of the correct thing, make a good impression wherever you go. Our 32-page booklet gives etiquette for formal dinners, teas, buffet parties, clubs, restaurants. Tells what silver to use for difficult and unusual foods.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of GOOD TABLE MANNERS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and the NAME of booklet.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 6.

A particularly lively and inspiring day is the augury based on very interesting planetary configurations. An element of the unique, surprising and dramtic is shown, possibly with the private, social, artistic or even spiritual life involved. There is sign of group action in social, educational or humanitarian work, with elderly feminine influence potent.

Those whose birthday it is have an outlook for a very romantic, novel and thrilling year, in connection with social, educational, or humanitarian groups, or in creative work—writing fiction, plays or musical compositions. Feminine influence is strong.

A child born on this day may have much versatility and original talent, possibly in musical composition, modernistic art forms or in unique fictional or dramatic creation. It may be energetic as well as brilliant and practical in promoting its alluring career.

Pick What You Want To Begin With Safest Rule in Marriage. Men and Women Cannot Be Made Over to Suit Your Likes and Dislikes.

When we wonder why John Doe picked up Jane Roe for a wife and why Jane Roe selected John Doe for a life companion we fall back upon the theory that at the time of their marriage they were not in full possession of their faculties. We think they were so bemused by love's young dream that they were temporarily bereft of their powers of perception, and that he saw her as an angelic being, unmarred by any of the faults of her sex, and that she beheld in him her Fairy Prince.

We are sure that they never would have married each other if John had even suspected that Jane's complexion was only hers by right of purchase; that she wasn't on speaking terms with a gas range; that she was bossy and naggy; and that she had never read a book since she escaped from school.

And we are also convinced that Jane would not have marched up the aisle with John if she had known beforehand that he was fussy about his food; careless about his clothes; that he liked to show off before company and that he had a padlock on his pocketbook.

Hence at a wedding, when we say, as we always do: "What did he see in her?" "What on earth did she see in him?" the traditional answer is: "Just something they imagined. They didn't see the real man and woman at all."

But this isn't true, for after all John Doe and Jane Roe are not blind, nor fools. They are people of intelligence and it would have been impossible for them to have gone together for even a week or a month—not to say years—without perceiving each other's faults and peculiarities and getting a line on each other's tastes and habits and mental equipment.

Why then, this being the case, are there so many misfit husbands and wives? Why is there so much wailing and gnashing of teeth over the alleged disillusions and disappointments of marriage?

It is because both men and women believe themselves to be miracle-workers who can change a sow's ear into a silk purse and make over their mates into their heart's desires and when they find that they can't do it, they emit these screams of baffled rage.

Before he married her John knew perfectly well that Jane couldn't even boil water without scorching it; that she was clothes mad and was always dressed far beyond her means, and that she considered the time lost that wasn't spent in going to places of amusement. Also he was aware that whatever brains she had were in her heels, and that the only current news in which she was interested were the fashions.

But does this knowledge forewarn John, who is a clever, highly educated, ambitious young chap with his way to make in the world, that Jane won't be the kind of a wife he needs? Not at all. He is going to make a mystic pass over her head as soon as they are married that will convert her into a good cook and thrifty manager. Make her willing to wear hand-me-downs and prefer spending her evenings at home discussing the political situation and the new books to going to night clubs.

The same way with Jane. She knows that John drinks too much, that he is a ne'er-do-well who has never even supported himself. That he is high-tempered and jealous and hard to get along with. But she marries him all the same because she means to make him over as soon as she gets him home, into a strong, sober go-getter.

Or maybe it is John's table manners, or his grammar, or his taste in clothes, or his egotism that Jane is going to take tucks in after marriage until they fit her streamlined ideal of a husband.

It is a swell theory, only it doesn't work. Psychologists tell us that after they are 20 years old people rarely change. Their habits are formed. They are set in their ways and it is virtually impossible to alter them. You have to take them as is, or leave them.

It would save a lot of unhappiness and messy divorces if all young people who are contemplating matrimony would bear in mind the fact that they cannot change those they marry. Nature and their mothers beat them to the character making job by some twenty-odd years and sank John's and Jane's ways in cement. Furthermore, for husbands and wives to try to improve their mates is playing with TNT that is pretty sure to explode and blow the marriage to Kingdom Come. For what people marry for is to get some one on whose admiration they think they can depend. To find out that they are only objects of criticism to their wives and husbands is more than they can stand.

So the only safe rule in marriage is to pick out what you want to begin with.

When Baby Is Coming Tell Husband

Dear Miss Dix—For seven years my husband and I have been happily married, but lately I fear he has become interested in a married woman. He is constantly making excuses to see her and tells her how he wishes he had known her sooner. I know he has always been faithful to me but I am fearful as to where this may lead.

And here is the worst of the situation: We have always wanted a child and after seven years of hoping and praying our great desire is going to be gratified, but my husband does not know this. Somehow I cannot bring myself to tell him. If he is serious with the other woman, I would despise a situation that would make him feel that I had a greater hold on him. What shall I do?

A TROUBLED WIFE

ANSWER:

Tell your husband at once. It is his right to know. It is cruel to keep from him the knowledge that will be the realization of his dearest wish and fill his heart with joy.

You have brooded so long over your fear that your husband was losing his love for you that you have grown morbid and lost your perspective. A plain talk with him will dissipate all of your apprehensions and make you see things in

Child 11 Claims She Slew Mother, Sister

LOS ANGELES, April 5—(AP).—Early solution of the brutal hammer slaying of a mother and her three small children is anticipated, authorities said today, as they held Chloe Davis, sole 11-year-old survivor of the death drama on suspicion of murder.

From amazing, discrepant versions by the cool, slang-talking child, Police Captain Edgar Edwards said clues indicated she bludgeoned her mother, Mrs. Lolita Bjorkman Davis, 36, to death with a claw hammer after fatally beating her sisters, Daphne 10, and Deborah Ann, seven, and her brother, Marquis, three.

The husband and father, summoned home after the tragedy from a grocery store where he clerks, aided authorities in their questioning of Chloe who, despite several divergent stories, still blamed her mother for the crime.

Dr. Paul De River, police psychiatrist, after questioning Chloe, a sixth-grade student he described as above average intelligence, said he considered her "the cruelest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met."

Veteran police officers, accustomed to questioning hardened criminals, said they were astonished by the imperturbable demeanor of the girl, who was described by one police matron as having 'a face like an angel's."

"I had a very limited interview with the girl in the police station after I was called into the case," said Dr. River. "She stood up well for one of a family struck by such a crime. She showed little emotion.

Acts Like Girl 16

"Chloe is a precocious youngster. She acts like a girl of 15 or 16 years of age. She is a child of a great deal of imagination and is well read."

After being questioned for awhile, Chloe sat down with Captain Edwards and ate a hearty steak dinner. When he refused to order her a bottle of beer, she snapped:—"Mother and I split a bottle a couple of days ago."

Captain Edwards said the 80-pound fair-haired, blue-eyed Chloe first told him calmly and with no sign of tears that her mother, of medium height and build, killed the three children with the hammer, saying that "demons" were after her.

Then, at the request of her mother, Chloe said, she took the weapon and "conked" her about 50 times on the head and body until the head broke off the handle of the hammer, then beat her with the handle "until she stopped breathing."

Repeated questioning of the girl and subsequent development of the discrepancies, however, led Edwards to conclude, he said, that Chloe awakened while her mother was still in bed; went to the kitchen where Marquis and Daphne were playing and fatally bludgeoned them; then encountered her mother in the hallway, struck her down with the hammer and beat her to death.

Floods And 'Quake

ANKARA, April 5.—(AP)—Floods and violent earth shocks brought terror to Northern Anatolia yesterday in the same general area in which about 40,000 lives were lost in the earthquake of Dec. 27. No deaths were reported.

The floods, brought on by rains, swept the town of Amassia, about 175 miles northwest of Ankara, and 35-odd northern Antolian villages. A vast countryside was inundated as rivers overflowed.

Canada's New Governor-General Will Arrive In Canada In June

Sometime in June, the Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, will arrive in Canada to assume his duties as Governor-General. Owing to the war the new Governor-General was not able to commit himself to staying in Canada for the full five-year period when he accepted the appointment as His Majesty's Canadian representative. The Earl is shown, LEFT, as he appeared at an inspection at Nautical College Cadets, CENTRE LEFT, shaking hands with a member of the women's section of the St. John Ambulance Brigade during an inspection of that unit at Hyde Park. Havelock Groups Hold Quiltings

HAVELOCK, April 5.—(ENS).—The three groups of the United Church Women's Association assembled individually on Wednesday afternoon for their first meetings of this month.

The west end group assembled for a quilting at the home of Mrs. Cecil Thoms, with sixteen members in attendance. During a period of business conducted by the leader, Mrs. George Rigby, plans for a play were discussed.

Their next meeting will be held on Wed., April 17th, at the home of Miss Etta Crawford. In the meantime, two quilts will be completed at the homes of Mrs. R. Longmuir and Mrs. A. Plunkett. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The central group met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Gordon Denike with a fine turnout of eighteen members. The concert which this group successfully sponsored recently, will be given also in Trent River and Cordova, it was announced, although the dates have not yet been decided. The centre group will hold their next meeting in the church basement. A lunch was served by the hostess after yesterday's meeting.

The east end group, with fourteen in attendance, met at the home of Mrs. H. Hoard, with the leader, Mrs. L. Weese, presiding. This group also quilted during the afternoon, and at the conclusion enjoyed a social hour, when refreshments were served by the hostess.

Knox Y.W.A. Meets.

The Young Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian church held their weekly meeting in the Sunday school room, with the president, Mrs Ted Watson, in the chair.

During the business it was decided to accept the orders for three more quilts, which are to be finished before the summer holidays. The meeting closed with hymn and benediction, after which refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Angus Clarke and Miss Violet Scott.

The Y.W.A. will meet next on Monday, April 15, when the roll call is to be answered with a verse of scripture beginning with the letter M.

their right proportion again.

It seems to me that all of your suspicions about your husband are groundless. Certainly because he likes the company of a bright and entertaining woman, pays her a few compliments, and asks her why he didn't meet her in time, is no reason for you to get green-eyed. Why, that is the stock-in-trade line of every man who doesn't happen to be a glib talker, and there isn't a personable woman in the world who hasn't had it said to her dozens of times.

No doubt men have given you this same brand of "jolly" and you paid no attention to it, but you have forgotten that now, and it seems significant to you when your husband does it just because you are sick and nervous and have lost your sense of humor for the time being.

But, believe me, the child will change all of that. Baby hands work miracles. They draw husbands and wives closer together, and the woman who is the mother of a man's children he puts on a pedestal a little higher than any other woman occupies. When your husband knows he is going to be a father after waiting so long for that honor, he will forget all about this other woman of whom, it seems to me, you are so needlessly jealous.

Westwood W.I. Plans Quilt For Missions

WESTWOOD, April 5.—(ENS)—Mrs. Dilliam Morris was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the members of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Glover took charge of the business discussion. Final arrangements were made for the presentation of the sacred drama "The Challenge of the Cross" by members of Hastings Y.P.S. on Sunday evening, April 7, in St. Andrew's Church.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 10 a quilt for the missionary bale will be quited at the home of Mrs. Morris. The May roll call scripture verse must contain the word "faith."

Mrs. E. W. Sargent's group had charge of the program which opened with the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun" in keeping with the April theme, "Into All the World". Special scripture passages were read by Mrs. W. Morris, Mrs. A. Wood and Miss Jessie Davidson, and Mrs. J. Hope offered prayer.

An inspiring message on "Eastertide" wa given by Mrs. J. E. Glover and Mr. Morris rendered a pleasing solo. The chapter of the Study Book "Facing the Future Task" was given by Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. E. Sargent.

The hymn "Guide Me, Oh Thou Great Jehovah" and the Mizpah benediction closed a pleasant meeting.

72-Foot Leap

Los Angeles, April 5 (AP)

A SCRAGGLY black and white kitten risked all of its nine lives today to leap 72 feet from a ledge atop a five-storey downtown building, where it had been stranded six days.

The animal's fall was broken by some trolley wires, but it was able to get up and walk away. The cat had crawled to the ledge from a fire escape and was unable to find its way back.

Presentation Made

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — (ENS).—Teachers and officers of St. Andrew's Sunday school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, Sebastopol street, on Wednesday evening for their monthly meeting The occasion was of particular significance since the meeting coincided with the 22nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, who were presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by the superintendent, Wilsie Phillips, on behalf of the gathering. Principal item of business was the decision to begin morning S. S. classes April 14.

WA In Millbrook Planning Teas

MILLBROOK, April 5—(ENS).—Mrs. H. J. Armstrong extended the hospitality of her home, Union Street, for the Easter meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church, held on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, in the chair.

Mrs. A. L. Sisco read the lesson with the story of the resurrection, and the talk on "Victory Over Death," was given by the devotional convener, Mrs. Edmund Ball, followed by prayer by Mrs. F. J. Smith. In answer to the roll call contributions to the "mile of coppers" were received, and the sunshine bags collected, the amount received from this latter source being $2.34; more of the bags will be brought in at the May meeting.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, reported $7 for a "Dresden plate" quilt made for Mrs. H. D. Bigelow, further money for the banquet for which total receipts are now $71.40, and $20.89 on hand to be added to the bank account of the society; this did not include what was taken in on Wednesday.

Letters of thanks in reply to cards of sympathy were read by the secretary, Mrs. Weston Fallis, from Mrs. W. W. Jones, of Cardinal, and Mrs. G. E. Burnham, and announcement was made of some pot luck suppers still to be held—one at the east under Mrs. F. L. Edworthy and Mrs. J. H. Might, and the other at the west end under Mrs. P. Stinson and Mrs. F. L. Kidd.

Under the heading of new business, it was decided to hold the annual hostess tea at the usual date, May 29, and arrangements for the afternoon tea, to be held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Howard, on April 19, were proceeded with, those to pour tea being Mrs. G. Locke and Mrs. F. J. Smith; Mrs. Howard and the president will be the reception committee, and in charge of the home baking table, Mrs. J. McKnight and Miss Josie Sutton.

Serving in the tea room: Mrs. H. D. Bigelow, Mrs. Edmund Ball, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, and Mrs. H. A. Fallis. Mrs. P. Stinson will act as cashier. The "travelling basket" will be started on its rounds again, beginning with Centre Street, and Saturday, December 7, was set for the date of the annual bazaar.

Mrs. Bigelow's invitation for the May meeting at her home was gratefully accepted, and afternoon tea will be served after the regular session.

MELBOURNE—(CP).—G. E. W. Harriott and Reginal Glennie of Sydney, N.S.W., and J. A. Hetherington of Melbourne, have been appointed as war correspondents with the Australian Imperial Force overseas.

Fritz, Graboski Take Shore's Eye

OTTAWA, April 5 — (CP). — Eddie Shore left for Toronto last night shortly after watching Sydney Millionaires defeat Kirkland Lake Blue Devils 1-0 and deadlock their Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-final series. He had praise for two of the Millionaires.

"I wanted to have another look at Doug Fritz," said Shore, New York American defenceman and owner of Springfield Indians. "We had him at our Springfield Hockey Club pre-season training camp in Quebec last fall. He went very well," Fritz played a bang-up game for the Millionaires at left wing.

Of Tony Graboski, sparkling Sydney new defenceman, who like Fritz wears shatter-proof spectacles to play, Shore thought he was colorful and a good defenceman.

Shore said he intended to watch the rest of the Toronto-Rangers National Hockey League final series in Toronto.

Remember When—

Australia's wonder horse, Phar Lap, died of colic at Menlo Park, Calif., eight years ago to-day. The big red gelding travelled 10,000 miles to win the $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap without a preliminary race, bringing hi stotal earnings to $332,750. He was bought as a yearling for $800.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

UNDER-LEADING AN ACE

NO MORE precarious lead exists than the under-lead of an ace against a suit contract. Because of the risk of finding the king in one of declarer's two hands and a singleton in the other, it is likely to beat your side out of any trick at all in the suit. Furthermore, it may set up an honor at your right, which would be captured if you did not lead the suit. In some extremities and special situations, however, it is worth trying, but only in such spots.

3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

If West had made an orthodox lead of his heart suit here, the A, declarer would have made his contract with ease, plus an overtrick if he played his K in case West repeated the suit. But West was not orthodox. He reckoned that the contract would be easy for the declarer unless something special happened, that an overtrick seemed likely, as his partner could hardly have anything worthwhile.

Then he reasoned that North almost surely had the heart K, from his No Trump bid. He might not have the Q, which was about all East could hold. When he led his heart 4 to make the reading difficult for declarer, the latter decided East had the A, probably singleton. So he played the J from dummy. The Q took the trick, the 2 was returned to West's A, a third heart was led and East ruffed it. He returned a diamond and that gave the side the setting trick.

LAKEFIELD

Junior Institute Holds Meeting

LAKEFIELD, April 5—(ENS).—Plans for a dance for April 24 were made at the regular meeting of the Lakefield Junior Institute held in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

The members answered the roll call with "an emergency and how to meet it."

The branch will also send a representative to the annual girls' conference in Guelph, Mrs. G. Bullock being chosen with Minnie Charlton, Bernice Slater or Idelle Northey going respectively if Mrs. Bullock is unable to attend.

The juniors will co-operate with the senior branch in whatever program they choose, from the co-operative program outlined by the department.

For the next meeting the members were asked to bring ideas for the exhibit for the Lakefield Fair.

Miss Muriel Bullock, president, was in charge of the program.

United Church W.M.S.

The theme 'Living Christ in the Living Church' was carried throughout the regular meeting of the W.M.S. of the Lakefield United church, when the members met for the regular meeting at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) G. F. Kelly on Tuesday afternoon.

Owing to the absence of Miss Margaret Sanderson, through illness, who was in charge of the program, Mrs. P. H. Darling, president, took charge of the meeting.

Following the business period the Easter program, based on the conference held at Madras, was taken by Mesdames P. H. Darling, Geo. Spence, W. Whetung and W. J. Charlton.

The sixth chapter of the study book was given in a most interesting manner by Mrs. W. W. Leonard.

The meeting closed with the hymn, 'Crown Him With Many Crowns' and the benediction.

A pleasant social half hour followed.

Hostess To W. A.

Mrs. Robt. Garbutt, Bridge street, was hostess to the Women's Art Association of St. Andrew's church on Tuesday afternoon for the regular monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. A. Davis, presided and led in the devotional period and the business discussion.

Following the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and a pleasant social hour was spent by the ladies.

Emily To Spend $6,300 On Roads

OMEMEE, April 5. — The Emily Municipal Council met in the Farmers' Club rooms on Tuesday. Members present: W. J. Patrick, Reeve, in the chair, and Councillors Harold Dick, Paul J. McGuire, Thos. Morrisey and D. W. Wilson.

The following communications were read:

From the chief engineer of municipal roads, informing council that the amount of expenditure on township roads in 1940 eligible for subsidy would be $6,300.

From F. L. Weldon, enclosing list of pupils attending the Lindsay Collegiate for verification.

From R. F. Downey, advising council that the township grant to public schools was now 100 per cent. or in this township $600.

From F. L. Weldon, advising council that two old age pensioners had taken up residence in Emily.

From the registrar, board of review, advising council of the findings of the board in the matter of the applications of two township residents.

A summary of municipal and school legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature was received by the council.

School accounts were received from School Sections 3, 6, 7, and 15.

Accounts for the upkeep of Cowan's and Emily Creek bridges in 1939 were received from the county.

An account of $18 for snowplowing was received from the county of Peterborough.

A by-law was introduced and passed confirming the appointment of fence viewers, poundkeepers and school attendance officers.

Motions.

That the reeve be authorized to sign the application for a renewal of the treasurer's bond with the A. E. Wilson Co.; premium $5.

That the road accounts as presented by Walter Herlihey, road superintendent, be approved and the same paid by the treasurer. Amount $274.70.

That the collector be instructed to return all unpaid taxes to the treasurer, to be forwarded to the county treasurer for collection, and that the roll be now returned to the treasurer.

Moved in amendment that the collector's proceed to collect all taxes on the collector's roll that can be collected without causing undue hardship on the ratepayer, and that where there are no chattels the taxes be now returned to the county. The motion carried.

That the clerk be instructed to advertise twice for tenders for power to operate the stone crusher for the season of 1940, the successful tenderer to furnish water, belt, and oil and grease for the engine and crusher, tenders to be received by the clerk until May 7 next at 2 o'clock.

Payments.

Schools: S.S. No. 3, J. M. Thurston, secretary-treasurer, $80; S.S. No. 6, V. Perdue, secretary-treasurer, $100; S.S. No. 7, Frank Crough, secretary-treasurer, $65; S.S. No. 15, Emmitt O'Neill, secretary-treasurer, $100.

Miscellaneous: David Weir, one-quarter salary, $100; A. E. Wilson Co. premium on treasurer's bond, $5.

Relief: M. D Earl, $14.44.

Council adjourned to meet on Tuesday, May 7 next, at one o'clock.

Bonarlaw Couple Given Surprise

BONARLAW, April 5—(ENS). — About fifty of the younger generation joined together on Tuesday night of this week and gave Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Broadworth an old fashioned chivaree at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bateman.

All met at the 12th line school house annd from there Captain A. B. McComb marched his ballant forces through slush and snow to the Bateman residence about a mile north. When within a few rods of the house the noise commenced. High-pitchd voices, cow bells ringing, pounding on tin pans, and firing of guns made such a bedlam that the bride and groom soon appeared and Mr. and Mrs. Bateman threw open wide the doors giving the crowd the traditional Bateman welcome. They were treated to sandwiches, cake and coffee and the captain was given a generous amount of cash wherewith to purchase soft drinks and candies. Several hours were then spent in playing games, dancing, community singing, etc.

The bride and groom were given the good wishes of all for a long and prosperous happy married life.

A pot-luck dinner was held on Tuesday in the club rooms by the Springbrook branch of the Women's Institute with a fair attendance. The meal commenced shortly after 12 noon and when everything was cleared away those present quilted a quilt to be donated the Red Cross Society for refugees.

Miss Leola Pollock of Keswick, Ont. was a recent vistior at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Mumby.

MELBOURNE—(CP). — Marine fossil forms which take Broome, on the northwest Australian coast back to the Jurassic age, 110,000,000 year ago, have been discovered.

F. K. Kirkpatrick Dies Suddenly

TORONTO, April 5—(CP). — Stricken with a heart attack while motoring, Frank Home Kirkpatrick, widely known as a lecturer on public speaking, died suddenly last night. He was found dead slumped over the wheel of his automobile on a road northwest of Toronto.

Professor Kirkpatrick, who was 66, attended lectures at the University of Toronto yeterday and had not complained of ill health. He was connected with several educational institutions as special lecturer, including McMaster University at Hamilton and St. Peter's Seminary, London.

For years he was principal of the Toronto Conservatory School of Expression and he was the author of several textbooks on this subject.

A native of Gwillimbury Township, he attended schools in Bradford and Ottawa. He received the degree of Ph.D from Hiram College, Ohio.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters and a son, all of Toronto.

Germans See Decisive Weekend On

Predict Allied Notes To Start Something Hint Threat Involved

BERLIN, April 6(AP)—German spokesmen professed today to foresee a "decisive weekend for Europe" as a result of the French and British notes to the Scandinavian countries.

On the answer to these notes or the attitude taken by the Scandinavian powers may depend far-reaching further developments, they said.

The German government, these spokesmen said, is not yet in possession of concrete information concerning the Allied representations.

Official circles said the Swedish and Norwegian press is minimizing the importance of the communications by speaking of them as "information containing no severe threat."

A Red Demand

OSLO, April 6 (AP)—A reported Moscow radio broadcast demanding the resignation of Carl Hambro as president of the Norwegian parliament because of his "Anti-Soviet attitude" was virtually ignored by political circles here today.

The press recalled that Hambro—who, as president of the League of Nations assembly, presided over the league session at which Russia was expelled as a member last December—previously had denied Russian accusations of hostility.

New Plane Engine Ends Icing

NEW YORK, April 6 — (AP).—The manufacturers of small airplanes for the private owner usually pull a new one out of the hat in the spring, and this year it is a motor which in its design is an almost certain guarantee against power failure.

Fuel-injection engines are no novelty, even in aviation, but they are newcomers in the light airplane field. By doing away with carburetors entirely and squirting gasoline directly into the engine cylinders, the hazards of carburetor icing and of motor stoppage due to water in the fuel tank are obviated.

The seriousness of the carburetor icing problem was dramatized a year ago last January when a big airliner en route from New York to Bermuda went down at sea with dead engines. Ice can form even in August because a carburetor is a natural refrigerator.

Moreover, carburetor-equipped aircraft engines are likely to "load up" as they idle on a long glide and fail at an embarrassing moment. The new fuel-injection motor brought out by the Continental Motors Corporation does not suffer from that ailment.

Norwegian Flareup Follows British Note Seeking Curb In Nazi Shipping; Resent Advantage To One Belligerent

Allies Hint Aid Ready If Nazis Move On Scandinavia

LONDON, April 6 (CP)—Communications to Norway and Sweden stating firmly "where Britain and France stand" aroused diplomatic speculation today on the future of neutrality in those two Scandinavian countries.

Notes similar in tone were handed to the ministers of the two countries last night by foreign secretary Viscount Halifax and France's Premier, Paul Reynaud.

The Press Association said the notes were understood to refer specifically to the so-called "covered way" through Norwegian territorial waters which Germany has been using to elude the Allied blockade.

Asked whether they could be termed a "warning," one informed source said this might be one interpretation, and other diplomatic sources said the Allied attitude on German Ore shipments from Sweden through territorial waters was defined.

The foreign office said the notes might be published, but not without consultation with the governments concerned.

One source said the possibility "cannot be excluded" that Norway and Sweden also were informed any further Russian "aggression" in Finland would meet Allied force. It was believed such "hypothetical questions" probably were dealt with at some length.

Coincident with its diplomatic activity, the government pressed its campaign of economic warfare. Air traffic with Germany, given sharp impetus by the war, has been designated as the next target of the Allied blockade.

Allies Offer Aid

PARIS, April 6 (CP-Havas)—The French government has dispatched notes to Norway and Sweden designed to clarify the Allies' attitude on various problems affecting Scandinavian neutrality, it was authoritatively revealed here today.

Premier Paul Reynaud handed the notes to the Swedish and Norwegian ministers here last night, while similar messages were being given to the Swedish and Norwegian ministers in London by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

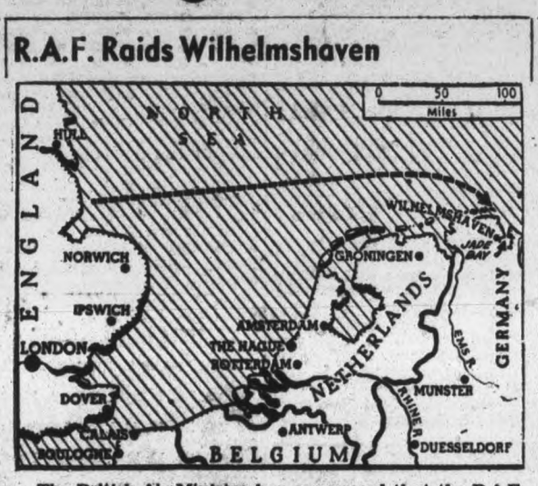
R.A.F. Raids Wilhelmshaven



The British Air Ministry has announced that the R.A.F. staged a successful raid on the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and also bombed four destroyers in the Jade estuary situated at the head of Jade Bay.

Nation At Same Time Protests Nazi Sub Tactics

OSLO, April 6 (AP)—Norway will "at once be at war" in defence of her neutrality if free shipping in Norwegian waters is interferred with to the advantage of one of the belligerent major powers, foreign minister Haldvan Koht told the Norwegian Storting (Parliament) today.

The foreign minister made this firm statement of Norway's neutral position in discussing Norway's shipping problems in relation to foreign policy—in particular to iron exports from Narvik.

(The Allies have protested to Norway and Sweden against allowing German ships to use Scandinavian territorial waters for carrying raw materials such as Swedish Ore to Germany. British notes reported to outline the British position on neutrality were handed to the Norwegian and Swedish ministers in London yesterday).

"If the Allied powers should ask us to stop free shipping, which goes on according to generally acknowledged International law and which they themselves have acknowledged," said Khot, "this would either be of great damage to themselves or, if such hindrance of shipping should be onesided against one party, and therefore in open conflict with the neutrality which we have pledged ourselves to maintain, Norway will then at once be at war."

Exports Exaggerated?

"I have stated publicly that people exaggerate the importance of the ore export," the Foreign Minister declared.

"Circumstances have reduced this export to one-fourth during the war months and much more Swedish ore goes to England than to Germany.

"In addition, it should be evident that free sailing of commercial ships in Norwegian waters is of at least the same advantage for the Allies, chiefly for Britain, as for Germany since we have a much bigger trade with Britain than with Germany."

In his 45-minute review of Norway's foreign policy—to be the subject of parliamentary debate next Tuesday—Koht stressed that Norway's neutral position was unaltered, that this neutrality has been

Liberal Carries Acadia By 2

EDMONTON, April 6 — (CP).—A Liberal, Dr. A. M. Day, Friday was declared elected as member of parliament for Acadia in the Dominion election March 26 when the last of 203 polls was reported Friday, giving him a margin of two votes over Victor Quelch, New Democracy.

The final returns were: Day 3,748, Quelch 3,746, and George B. Smith, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, 784. Mr. Quelch was the member of the last parliament.

The Acadia vote was one of the closest in any Dominion election and the neck-and-neck race was reflected in the soldier vote for the riding, which gave 17 votes to Dr. Day, 14 to Quelch and 12 to Smith.

Dr. Day's election increased the Alberta Liberal members to eight against only one, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister without portfolio, following the 1935 general election. New Democracy candidates won the other nine seats in this province against a representation of 14 Social Crediters at dissolution of parliament. Social Credit candidates are under the New Democracy banner in the March 26 election.

Will Mop Up Hainan For Naval Base In South Pacific

HONG KONG, April 6 (AP) — Central News, officials Chinese agency, reported today that at least 60 Japanese warships, including three aircraft carriers, were concentrated off the coast of Fukien province and that a Japanese conference held at Amoy apparently was in preparation for large-scale manoeuvres around islands in the southern seas.

Chinese sources here added that a "mop-up" campaign on Hainan Island, off the south China coast, was being intensified preliminary to estbalishing a Japanese naval base there for southern Pacific operations.

These sources said that 3,000 Japanese troops had been withdrawn from southern Kwangsi province last week and sent to Hainan for the purpose.

(Hainan is in the Gulf of Tonking, bounded largely by the east coast of French Indo-China.)

Stormy Weather Keeps Front Action Quiet

PARIS, April 6 (CP Havas)—Another sluggish day on the western front was reported in military dispatches received here this morning. Stormy weather held air activity to a minimum.

A few exchanges of artillery fire and a bit of French target practice against German working detachments south of Saarbruecken provided minor diversion, while west of the Vosges Germans running into a French outpost beat a hurried retreat, leaving their officer wounded in French hands.

In the air the French made but two reconnaissance flights above the lines, while the Germans sent a couple of planes over northern France. The destruction of a Nazi Dornier on April 1 was confirmed when after long search the wreckage was found in a thick wood, with one dead and two wounded occupants.

Military quarters disputed a German communique Friday claiming capture of a French position with a loss of 15 French lives. The position actually is still occupied by the French who lost no more than three

Nazis Lose Liner Sink Trawler As An 'Equalizer'

LONDON, April 6—(CP).—A tiny trawler of 208 tons was the only victim of Germany's sea and air raiders in the week ending April 5. The vessel was the victim of enemy aircraft.

The Germans themselves lost the 4,007-ton passengers liner Mimi Horn, which was scuttled by her crew when approached by a British naval vessel.

Several successful attacks by the Allied navies on German U-boats were reported unofficially although there was speculation that the Nazis might be keeping the bulk of the underseas fleet at home in preparation for a concerted attack on Allied shipping.

On the other hand some observers expressed the opinion the increasing efficiency of the convoy system had made it unprofitable for the U-boats to attack.

The week's losses, as compiled by The Canadian Press:

Italians Extend Mobilization; Assail Allies

ROME, April 6 (CP). — A new mobilization law and an attack on the Allies by Benito Mussolini's newspaper, Popolo D'Italia, occupied foreign observers' attention in this capital today.

The new mobilization law, drafting women and children over the age of 13 for civilian duties in wartime, gave the supreme defence commission, headed by the Duce, sweeping powers over the entire population.

Its publication last night followed by only a few hours the appearance in Mussolini's newspaper of three articles, all on the front page, denouncing the Allies.

One, entitled "Let us not forget," said it was foolish to spread abroad the illusion that the Italian people were capable of forgetting "the wounds inflicted on its self esteem."

This article accused France and Britain always of standing "athwart Italy's path." It said: "Always the democracies insult and humiliate our people and its desire to live. If there are Italians with so little self-esteem that they are willing to forget the past in return for supplies

Nazi Air Traffic To Neutrals Next U.K. Target

LONDON, April 6 (CP)—Air traffic with Germany, given sharp impetus by the war, was designated today as the next target of the British-French blockade.

This type of transport has grown so important, informed sources said, that Ronald Cross, British minister of economic warfare, and Georges Bonnet, French minister of blockade, are conferring on creation of an air contraband system.

Details of the air holes in the blockade and the strategy to stop them were withheld. The problem is admittedly difficult.

One British source reported that transit dues on traffic to Germany were averaging nearly $25,000 a day at one unidentified international air station.

In this connection, it was noted that K.L.M., the Royal Dutch Airlines, last Tuesday inaugurated twice-weekly service between Amsterdam and Lisbon, connecting with the Pan-American Airways service to the United States. The Dutch planes, carrying no passengers, fly over water all the way, avoiding British and French soil.

Singer Abducted Held Months By Murder Gang

NEW YORK, April 5—(AP). — A 17-year-old nightclub singer was "kidnapped" and held a "love-captive" for months by members of Murder, Inc., the association of killers and thieves, the Brooklyn District Attorney's office disclosed yesterday.

Burton Turkus, Assistant District Attorney, described the case when he opposed lower bail for Evelyn Mittleman, 25, a friend of several alleged members of the murder syndicate. He told Supreme Court Justice Peter M. Daly that the entertainer, whom he declined to name, was seized by five of the gang, assaulted and taken to a hideout where they discussed her "future."

"Brutally they sat around and debated whether to buy or bury her," Turkus said.

Finally they gave her mother $500 and warned her that she and her daughter would be killed if any information were given the authorities, he declared.

Turkus cited the incident to support his argument that Miss Mittleman, held as a material witness, would meet with no mercy if allowed to go free on bail. The court refused to lower her $50,000 bail.

General Ironsides' Interview Rouses Press and Members

LONDON, April 6 (CP Cable) — A storm in Whitehall and Fleet street following publication of an exclusive interview with General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the imperial general staff, in a London newspaper was heightened with reports today that questions will be asked in parliament about the circumstances of publication.

The interview with a single newspaperman took place Thursday and when it appeared in a London newspaper yesterday the press generally was invited to meet General Ironside.

The Daily Telegraph today prints the general interview with the officer but editorially attacks the ministry of information as "ministry without information" where "there is apparently nobody who knows the conditions under which the principal news agency operate."

The Telegraph adds that "thanks to the primal innocence of the ministry of information (still so-called) not only the London press in general but the press of all the dominions overseas was deprived of news of public interest and importance."

The Evening Standard concerns itself about General Ironside's remark: "Thank goodness we were not attacked during these first seven months. I tremble to think what would have happened because there was no army at all although it was ready on our plans."

The Standard comments: "If after the warning (of Munich) and the intervening year for preparation, the chief of the imperial general staff is 'trembling' lest the enemy might attack, the British people may with some justice demand that an inquiry should be made into the causes of this failure."

4 Families Flee As Fire Threatens Town

L'ASCENSION, Que., April 6 — (CP). — Four families were driven from their homes to-day by a fire that threatened to sweep this small Labelle County village. Sixteen children were saved before the flames razed three buildings and outhouses.

The fire broke out at eight o'clock in Edgar Turpin's home and a volunteer brigade of about 100 persons was unable to check the flames which spread quickly to Alberia Richard's home which also served as the village post office.

The old Hotel Du Nord was destroyed before firemen reached here from nearby Annonciation. They managed to keep the flames from completley destroying a building next door to the Richard home. The garage and outhouses, however, were burned.

The fire left homeless the families of Albert Perrier and Pierre Beauchamp besides the Turpins and the Richards.

Senate Approval Makes Trade Election Issue

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP).—Senate approval of the reciprocal trade agreements program made that fundamental administration policy an issue of the presidential campaign today and stirred fresh speculation as to state secretary Cordell Hull's chances of being the democratic standard bearer.

The Senate, following the leadership of President Roosevelt and the secretary of state, voted 42 to 37 yesterday to continue the program three years from its scheduled June 12 expiration date.

The chamber sent the house-approved legislation to Mr. Roosevelt after bowling over a dozen restrictive amendments which administration leaders contended would cripple the system of bargaining down tariffs reciprocally and impair its value as an instrument for world peace.

All of the 20 Republicans present voted against continuance of the President's authority to enter into the trade agreements. Their leaders made it clear that the country would hear much more of their opposition between now and the November election. Exactly what stand the

Canadian Trade Is Hit Hard During Wartime

By WALLACE WARD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, April 6 —(CP). — Import restrictions and Government control of foreign exchange in the sterling area cut more deeply into Canadian export trade in wartime than the menace of mines and U-boats, a review of Canada's trade prospects showed to-day.

While volume of Canadian exports to the United Kingdom, South Africa, the British West Indies, and the United States may be expected to increase, wartime measures taken by some British Empire countries will reduce sharply their purchase of Canadian goods. The shrinkage will run into millions of dollars, it is estimated reliably here.

Try to Build Up Reserve.

Britain and certain of her Empire partners, notably New Zealand and Australia, want to sell as much of their goods as possible on foreign markets so as to build up reserves of credit in the money of the countries they sell to as funds to purchase necessities of war.

At the same time, they want to keep their own money in the country, so they have restricted foreign

Blackout, Still Little Man's Plague Fails To Curb London Night Life

LONDON, April 6.— (CP)—The blackout is still the plague of the little man, even though he has had more than half a year in which to get used to it.

The supply of flashlight batteries, however, is now unlimited, and if he barks his shins on a traffic standard it's his own fault.

The little man has reacted to the lack of light by seeking the brightness behind the dull glow of regulation "open" signs. This system of marking has caused some confusion for the uniform sign marks anything from a fish and chip shop to a ladies' corsetry.

London's tubes have acquired increased poularity in the search for brightness at night.

Some opportunist on the London underground railway art staff designed a poster advertising: "Travel the Great White Way to Your Theatre and Restaurant" depicting brilliantly-lighted trains. There were complaints, however, from those who followed the advice and found that when the trains reached the surface in the outer suburbs they blacked out and whisked into dim stations resulting in many passengers going past their stops.

But Piccadilly Circus on Saturday night is as crowded as ever it was in peacetime and most of the theatres are turning them away. And this despite the criticism of the keener critics like Bernard Shaw that the brand of presentation is second rate. However, the desire to escape from the blackout to the warm companionship and easy informality of war-time theatreland outstrips other considerations.

This overwhelming move for shedding the blackout blues has included the shedding of clothing by chorines and also the shedding of some "raw" jokes by footlight funny men who would in peacetime be censored by

'Army Day' Finds 7 U.S. Divisions About Ready For Any Firing Line

WASHINGTON, April 6—(CP).— The 23rd anniversary of United States entry into the first Great War—gave the nation an opportunity today to gauge the progress made in transforming the country's land forces into a streamlined, hard-hitting machine.

Reviewing the record of the past year, military officials expressed gratification at the success of the program for reinforcing national defences.

Since 1939's Army Day, and especially since the start of the war, the United States army has been undergoing an intensive modernization.

An inventory based on the latest official reports by war secretary Harry Woodring, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff and others figuring prominently in the preparedness efforts would indicate that:

The war department's long sought objective of a compact, fully-trained and equipped professional force, ready for quick action and expansion in an emergency, is definitely in sight for the first time in peace.

Arms and equipment are in service, on order or immediately projected for an "initial protective force" of about 400,000. Congress has provided some funds toward reserve equipment for a "protective mobilization plan" involving 1,000,000 men.

By contrast with 1917-18, when 14 months elapsed before a complete United States division saw front line action in France, the army expects soon to have five "streamlined" infantry divisions and two cavalry divisions prepared to take the firing line almost immediately, if need be.

These could make up expeditionary or continental defence force of some 70,000 regulars, backed by reserves and by insular garrisons of about 70,000. The second line would be 236,000 National Guardsmen.

May Advertise Power In Mail-It-Away

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6. — (ENS).—"I think we should stress the particular advantages this town offers in the way of cheap power," emphasized Mayor Long to the Water and Light Commission when a resolution was passed by council suggesting that the two bodies share the cost of advertising in the Examiner's mail-it-away edition. He felt that a number of copies should also be purchased by the town with which Chairman Benor agreed, declaring the Commission had urged this type of advertising seven years ago but the council had turned it down. "We're spending about $500 a year on this and other types of publicity for the town," announced the chairman who made a motion authorizing the manager of the Commission to act in co-operation with the chairman of the Industrial Commission.

Guards Dismissed.

Campbellford will follow the example set by the Hydro in dismissing men from guard duty on their local power plant. The action of the manager who gave guards notice they would be through Saturday was ratified by the commission. 'We can't do anything but let the guards go. The government should know more about this than we do and if they feel guards are no longer necessary it's up to us to adopt similar action," said Mr. Benor.

The matter of fencing the property was discussed and the manager said he had already looked into this possibility, estimating the cost at $300, but no action was taken. During a discussion of the town's fire fighting equipment and hydrants the hazards of winter freezeups were emphasized and the commission's plan to begin this year by placing granulated cork insulation around fire plugs was revealed. One of the chief causes for the freezeups was that plugs were not properly turned off in the fall, according to the manager, who said the tremendous cost of the work would prevent the work from being completely done in one year.

Faial To Hear Bell.

The Mayor stressed the inadequacy of the present fire alarm system, pointing out that when the fire bell sounded for a recent early morning fire most of the men had to be notified by telephone as they didn't hear the bell.

"What the town needs is a good siren," Chairman Benor declared, making a motion that the manager look into the cost of procuring one and that the commission bear half the cost if the council should decide to make the purchase.

Other members of the commission were strongly opposed to a recommendation brought in by the Mayor in which it was suggested that James McMullen, an employee of the utilities and also of the fire department should be dropped from the latter's pay roll in order to make room for a new fireman living closer to the fire hall. According to the recommendataion Mr. McMullen's salary from the commission would include attendance at fires to disconnect electric wires when necessary. The commission took the attitude that the matter was purely withi nthe jurisdiction of council.

Receipts Increased.

Receipts for the first three months of the year indicated a net increase from all departments of $1,215.37 with domestic light accounts leading the way with an increase of $330. Commercial light was up $276 above the first three months of 1939.

Girl's Shooting Held Justified

WILMINGTON, N.C., April 6 (AP) A verdict of justifiable homicide yesterday freed 13-year-old Zelda Deloris Morrison of murder charges in connection with the slaying of her father in their small home near here Jan. 21.

"He threatened to cut my mother's tongue out," the child told Judge T. A. Henderson in New Hanover county juvenile court. She testified she shot her father, William H. Morrison of Toronto, as he sat in a chair choking her mother, Mrs. Grace A. Morrison.

The mother, who corroborated this testimony, said her husband became angered by her threat to disclose that he had illegally entered the United States.

"He wanted to take my car and go to Mexico," she said.

"In this and all previous presentation o fevidence," Judge Henderson said in rendering his verdict, "I find that Zelda has freely and readily admitted she shot her father."

CONSTIPATED? Laxative Should Work Where Trouble Lies

Blame your big bowel when you need a laxative. That's where most constipation occurs, and where quick help is needed. So why take calomel, salts, oils or some other dose that works first somewhere else in the bowels, possibly upsetting the whole bowel tract? Intead, try CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS. They concentrate their help in the big bowel. And because they contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action" of any cathartic, they bring gentle relief in 10 to 12 hours, or overnight. ish and French notes were not disclosed but they were considered in informed circles as of paramount importance in development of the economic warfare against Germany.

In pursuit of the policy of strangling Germany economically, these sources recalled, great importance has been attached to the question of stopping Scandinavian iron ore shipments to the Reich, or cutting them to a minimum.

Although the notes were kept secret, it was understood that they had been under study for some time and were designed to let the Scandinavian countries know exactly what policy the Allies intended to follow henceforth.

It also was indicated that the Allies had offered positive assistance to Norway and Sweden if, as result of measures to stop ore shipments, Germany intervenes militarily in Scandinavia.

A German Invasion.

It is evident, informed sources said, that tightening of the blockade around Scandinavia, possibly accompanied by moves in Norwegian territory waters, would create a situation in which German invasion cannot be discounted.

Accompanying the tighter blockade, it was understood, may be intensification of air attacks on German shipping—and not only in Scandinavian waters. Such measures would show the neutrals that the Allies are determined to definitely cut Germany's lifelines.

On another front, the Balkans, the economic warfare also was entering a new phase with conversations here and in London between the two Foreign Offices and British and French diplomatic envoys in South-eastern Europe.

The conversations, it was held here, are directly connected with the Allied decision to strengthen the blockade, as are the talks in London between French Blockade Minister Georges Monnet and Ronald Cross, British Minister for Economic Warfare.

the Lord Chamberlain. This guardian of public morals is even now considering the advisability of moving against the more flagrant nude shows despite the management's claims they are only trying to give the men home on leave anything and everything they want.

Most of the shows get their biggest laughs by lampooning Hitler but Lord Haw Haw, the Hamburg radio announcer, runs his leader a close second. If a comedian finds his audience restless he can always get a good response by dropping one like this: "Jairmany calling, Jairmany calling. Ask Meester Churchill where the Isle of Wight is."

And there are poignant scenes, too. These are mostly enacted at the big railway stations. Here war is brought right smack home. A silent mother holds her son's rifle while he reflectively lights a "fag" before wishing her goodbye. On another platform a cheering, singing, happy band of Tommies, laden with full battle equipment, bound in long strides toward a group of excited women and children. "Bonjowr, bonjowr" they shout in bad but boastful French.

The nation, faced with newspaper posters foretelling the start of the war proper, is no longer jumpy but inclined to be confident and cocky. As one newsy observed as he handed over a late Standard shouting the epic of Sylt:

"I betcher this 'ere Hitler wished 'ed never started anyfink naow, sir. We give 'em proper 'ell larst night, eh?"

And then as an afterthought: "An well give 'em more 'ell if 'ee bombs one of our towns or kills any more of our civilians an' 'ee knows it."

Red Cross Volunteers Turn Out 245,000 Articles For Troop Comfort

TORONTO, April 6 — (CP). — A picture of what the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society is doing in wartime is contained in the division's annual statement, released today.

The outbreak of war in October found the Red Cross organized for the emergency and Ontario raised $2,500,000, including pledged subscriptions, in the country-wide campaign for funds to carry on the war work. Toronto and district contributed some $1,089,000 of this total.

In the first four months after the outbreak, Ontario women mobilized and produced more than 245,000 articles of comfort, ranging from wash cloths to socks and roller bandages, for use of the armed forces.

These articles included (in round numbers) 77,000 socks, 6,000 sweaters, 23,400 pillow cases, 2,000 handkerchiefs, 75 bed socks, 19,000 pyjamas and 9,600 hospital gowns.

All of these are made by voluntary workers, checked for workmanship and packed for shipment and "a steady flow of cases is now en route to England."

In the section on organization, the report discloses that four weeks after the declaration of war 71 new branches had been organized and were functioning.

At the end of last year 400 branches were operating in Ontario instead of the 76 immediately before the war—an increase of more than 500 per cent and "a wonderful tribute to the faith and confidence of the people of Ontario in the spirit of Red Cross."

Criminologists Confounded By 11-Year Girl

LOS ANGELES, April 6—(AP).—Eleven-year-old Chloe Davis, unruffled by a quadruple slaying before her eyes and by two days of questioning by police and physicians, has confounded criminologists who would have blamed her for the deaths.

Chloe, her flaxen hair in pigtails, told such a startling tale when her mother, Mrs. Lolita Davis, her two sisters and her little brother were found dead in their home Thursday, that authorities could not at first accept it.

Chloe said her mother hammered the three children almost to death, attempted to kill Chloe, tried to set fire to the girl's hair, and forced her to beat Mrs. Davis until she stopped breathing.

Later, said Police Captain Edgat Edwards, Chloe elaborated upon the story, saying that after her mother "stopped talking" she, Chloe, also struck the boy to "make him quit groaning." The two girls died after being taken to a hospital.

Chloe also added a day later, that her mother had forced her to bring

Play 'His Second Chance' Has Auspicious Title For Lakefield Teacher

Lakefield, April 6 (ENS)

WHENEVER Robert Spence of the Public School staff here thinks back on a short play "His Second Chance" that he acted in on Friday evening, it will be with mixed feelings. He isn't quite sure whether that title isn't a warning for there was more than a little aptness for him in it yesterday.

"His Second Chance" required, as stage properties, some telegram forms and so Mr. Spence went to the C.N.R. station to get them. It was then that his second chance, and one not often given to motorists, came to him. Accompanied by his sister, Jean Spence, he started away from the station in low gear and apparently failed to see or hear an approaching train. His car came to a stop with the front wheels on the tracks and the train crashed into it, tossing it sideways, parallel with the train. Both occupants escaped with a few minor scratches, although the car was damaged exensively.

Partial Eclipse Due On Sunday

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP).— A fiery ring in the heavens, caused by an annular eclipse of the sun, will move across southern and southeastern United States tomorrow, offering this country its first glimpse of the phenomenon in 75 years. The next is not due until 1994.

The full phase will be visible along a 150-mile belt from the big Bend section of Texas to Jacksonville, Fla., provided the weather is clear. Forecasts indicate cloudiness over most of the region.

Elsewhere in North America, with the exception of Northwest Territories and Alaska, only a partial eclipse will be seen.

Because of the moon's distance from the earth will be too great to effect a complete blackout or "total" eclipse of the sun, the "ring" eclipse will result. Ninety-three per cent of the sun's surface will be covered when the moon reaches the point of concentricity.

To the casual observer in the central phase zone the effect will be only a lessening of sunlight and possibly a paling from a yellow to a greenish cast.

Through smoked glasses or an over-exposed film negative, however, the sight will be that of a flaming ring, with huge billows shooting outward from the sun's edge. It will last four to six minutes.

Flood Rises

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 6. — (AP)—A seven-hour rain storm that struck the Susequehanna River Valley on the heels of a devastating flood sent one of the stream's branches surging upward again today but Federal and State forecasters said no new crisis was expected.

Accompanied by hail, the downpour drenched the river basin from the New York State headwaters south through hard-hit Wilkes-Barre, causing new fears among 30,000 homeward-bound refugees and temporarily halting rehabilitation along a 100-mile stretch.

CAPE TOWN—(CP).—The Navy League here is urging the government to include construction of a dry dock in a harbor extension scheme now contemplated.

3 Spee Officers Escape; Worry Argentine

BUENOS AIRES, April 6—(AP).—The government, disturbed lest the flight of three interned officers from the scuttled German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee reflect on Argentine neutrality, was reported today to have advised the German Ambassador that it is taking strict measures to prevent further escapes.

Unofficial reports said that one of the three officers already had reached Germany with papers of the Graf Spee, which was scuttled off Montevideo last December 17 after she had taken refuge in Uruguayan waters following a running fight with three British cruisers.

Approximately 1,000 officers and men from the battle-scarred German warship later sought refuge in Buenos Aires and were interned for the duration of the war.

The German Ambassador, Edmund Von Thermann, was summoned to the Foreign Office yesterday shortly after the officers' escape had been disclosed.

Well-informed sources said Foreign Minister Jose Maria Cantilo had advised Von Thermann that the government was taking stringent measures to prevent further escapes.

These sources said that the remainder of the interned officers, held at the Buenos Aires naval arsenal, would be removed to safer places under close guard if they persist in refusing to promise not to leave the country.

Several of the Graf Spee seamen previously were reported to have disappeared from interior provinces.

Two were seized earlier in the week at Santos, Brazil, and will be returned to Argentina.

One of the three officers who escaped was said to have been third in command of the Graf Spee. When and how they fled was not disclosed.

P.F.D. No. 16, 12-6; St. Luke's No. 2, 11-13.

P.F.D. No. 15, 18-9; B.E.S.L. No. 9, 4-9.

Trinity No. 12, 12-19; B.E.S.L. No. 7, 10-5.

L.O.L. No. 6, 3-14; S.O.E. No. 3, 13-10.

P.F.D. No. 16, 12-11; St. Andrew's No. 11, 8-12.

Bonnerworth No. 13, 4-12; St. Luke's No. 1, 18-9.

Cup Final

L.O.L. No. 3, 6-3; P.F.D. No. 16, 9-12.

Schedule—City Carpetball league. President's cup game:

P.F.D. No. 15 St. Andrew's No. 11, at S.O.E. Hall. Referees, F Pursome and F. Hopgood; scorer, C. Luffman. The game to be played on Monday, April 8th.

Tuesday, April 9—St. Luke's No. 2 vs. L.O.L. No. 5; S.O.E. No. 3 vs. Bonnerworth No 13.

Wednesday, April 10th—St. Andrew's No 11 vs Bonnerworth No 13; St. Luke's No. 2 vs. B.E.S.L. No. 8.

Thursday, April 11—S.O.E. No. 3 vs. St. George's No. 10.

Friday, April 12—L.O.L. No. 6 vs. P.F.D. No. 14; B.E.S.L. No. 8 vs. St. Luke's No. 1.

Only one more game in the semi-finals of the President Cup games, the winners of which will have to meet the Fire Hall Orphans.

The Orphans this week eliminated the Fighting Parsons in two straight games.

Should the Scabs win on Monday, the second game may be played on Thursday or Friday, but should the St. Andrew's boys win the game will be on Tuesday or Wednesday next week.

A special meeting of skips and the executive will be held in the Fire Hall on Wednesday, April 10, at 7.30 p.m. sharp. It is essential that all skips and executive should attend this meeting to settle the banquet question. All details will be ready by that date.

All this week's results have not been received at time of writing but it is definitely settled that No. 4, 15 and 16, who have completed their schedules, have finished in 1st, 5th and 6th places.

The 2nd, 3rd and 4th places have yet to be decided although No. 14 has a good grip on second place. St. Luke's No. 2 and L.O.L. No. 5 are really tied up in 3rd place. St. Luke's have a one game advantage over their opponents.

The Fire Bugs got a better grip on the second position this week by taking the lowly Antiques by a double as did Billy and his gang, when they met the Lightning Macs.

The Scabs made sure of 5th place when they held the Antiques to 1 point in the last game of those two this season in the scedule.

The Quaker's squad caused a collapse of the Army Transport squad in their own depot. Some one suggested sabotage.

That league leading C. N. R. Freighter crew certainly put the power on the Fighting Mac, outscoring them by 35 to 13 as a final curtain play of the season.

All postponed games must be played during next week as we want to conclude all scheduled games before Saturday.

The results of 10-2, 12-5 and 14-7, scheduled for the past week have not been received. All other games are on the schedule in this column.

There are three men who have not paid their fees yet—why not arrange this matter right away.

Those chicken-hearted birds that are looking for wishbones will have to be satisfied with spareribs according to the Farm Yard squad. How about taking some fish for a change.

Will those teams who have trophies please turn same in to Elsie Bennett Gift Shop at once to be cleaned and have names inscribed.

The holders for last year are: St. Luke's No. 4, the Hope Cup; S.O.E. No. 8, the Bleasdell Shield; P.F.D. No. 13, the Elsie Bennett Trophy.

SERVICES IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES TO-MORROW

Their Majesties After Traditional Maundy Ceremony

King George and Queen Elizabeth are shown bidding good-by to the clergy at Westminster Abbey after taking part in the traditional Maundy ceremony in symbol of the King's humility before God. The royal couple, at high noon, on March 21, stood with 44 aged men and 44 aged women while the King handed them pouches containing 44 pence each, in specially minted silver coins—the 44 matching his age. The ceremony dates back 600 years in which the King was obliged to wash the feet of the most wretched of his subjects. This part of the ceremony, however, was abandoned by King James II.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

THE EXCLUSIVE CLAIMS OF CHRIST

THERE IS none other Name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved.—Acts 4:12.

Can you imagine that gathering? "It came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers, and elders, and scribes, and Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander were gathered together at Jerusalem. And what they had set them in the midst, they asked, By what power, or by what name have ye done this?" A man lame from his mother's womb had been healed. The first miracle after Pentecost.

A handful of men, plain everyday men, are standing in their their midst. From boyhood they have been trained to give the deepest respect to the great Church authorities—the high priest and the members of the Sanhedrin. Naturally such men would be overwhelmed by their situation; they would be speechless as they stood before that august assembly. Under ordinary circumstances they would have been, but we read: "Then Peter filled with the Holy Ghost said unto them." A spiritual power, the Power of the Holy Ghost had come into these men and they were filled with courage and enthusiasm. This is the marvel of the Apostolic Church. They were changed men. Something had happened. It was the fact that Jesus Christ had risen from the dead. Quietly and calmly St. Peter stated a new and startling truth: "There is none other Name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

St. Peter makes a tremendous claim, yet he is but following in the footsteps of the Lord Christ. Ponder upon a few of His statements and claims.

"He that loveth father and mother more than Me is not worthy of Me." Then a spiritual claim: "All things are delivered unto Me of my Father; and no man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him." This passage is one of the best authenticated in the three Gospels and acknowledged to belong to that original Gospel or dairy which was the foundation of the Gospels.

Simply and clearly for the ordinary man Our Lord says: "I am the way, the truth and the life. No man cometh unto the Father but by me."

When you meditate upon these words you can understand how St. Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost would remember these tremendous claims and calmly say: "There is none other Name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

Years later St. Paul, the Apostle to the Gentiles, teaches the same truth: "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a Name which is above every name: that at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father."

The greatness and exclusive claims of Jesus Christ is the dominating note of the New Testament Scriptures. Many today have lost that clearness and positiveness of statement. They look upon Jesus as a wonderful Teacher, a man living before His day. In every generation He arouses criticism and opposition for did He not say: "I came not to bring peace but a sword?" A noted teacher of the nineteenth century, Dr. Liddon in his Bampton Lectures pours out his confession in these moving words: "Eternal Jesus, it is Thyself who has bidden us either to despise or worhip Thee. Thou wouldest have us despise Thee as our fellow man, if we will not worship Thee as our God. Thou art the King of glory, O Christ. Thou art the everlasting Son of the Father."

"THOMAS ANSWERED AND SAID UNTO HIM: MY LORD AND MY GOD."

Envoy Sheppard To Visit City

Envoy Stanley Sheppard who will be visiting Peterborough during the week-end of April 13, 14 and 15 has been a Salvation Army officer for many years. He is also of the second generation of the Salvation Army. His mother, still living, recently retired after forty-eight years as an officer.

For twenty-six years he was a member of the National Staff Band of the Army which is considered the premier musical organisation of the Army in America. For ten years was its cornet soloist and for nearly three years its conductor.

For the past eighteen years he has conducted religious services on the first Sunday of every month in Sing Sing prison and these are largely attended with very happy results.

He is used by the Army at its large dinners and other public functions, especially campaign drives, as a public speaker because of his wealth of human interest material which invariably arouses public interest.

He created the system that is now in use by the Army all over the United States in dealing with criminals.

He has been a cornet and trumpet player for twenty-nine years and is regarded as one of the Army's leading artists. His work, before musical clubs, church and fraternal groups is in constant demand and acceptable.

He is a member of the Music Club of his own community which numbers among its membership some of national reputation.

As former soloist with the Staff Band and alone he has broadcast over all of the principal stations of New York city.

Britain's balloon barrages are manned by more than 40,000 men.

Trades Taught In Mission Work

Vocational schools have become very numerous all over the world in recent years. There is a successful experiment of this kind in Rasalfine, Central India. In this school young people are taught carpentry, tailoring, motor mechanics, printing masonry and agriculture. Rev. S. B. Wylie, a versatile man, is in charge with a large staff, and there are 200 boys in the school.

The funds are provided by the United Church of Canada, and some beautiful work has been turned out. A communion table with elaborate carving has been made for one of the churches . A trailer also for the convenience of Rev. Richard Netram who takes long evangelistic tours through the hinterland. Mr. Netram is well known in Canada.

Some of the boys learn tailoring, and go to work in the homes of wealthy people to whom they tell the story of Christ and His salvation. Modern methods of agriculture are taught to boys who afterwards work on farms, and prove to be valuable helpers in little churches in isolated parts. The school farm raises sugar cane and bananas in sufficient quantity to support the large family of boys. There are Boy Scouts with a band that discourses good music at the Sunday services.

This vocational school and its varied work will be the subject of a picture sermon in St. Andrew's Church on next Sunday night.

Highlights Of S.S. Lesson

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 7 is Amos 5, 7, the Golden Text being Amos 5:15, "Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate.")

THE LESSON today commences the second quarter of our series. In our last, you remember, the Risen Christ exhorted His followers to go "and make disciples of all nations."

This lesson goes back to several hundred years before Christ, in or about 760 B.C., when Uziah was king of Judah, and Jeroboam II reigned over Israel. It was a time of great oppression of the very poor and of dishonesty, debauchery and general wickedness. The rich lived in luxury on the products of dishonest trading, false weights, the sale of worthless goods, bribery, etc. They had beautiful summer and winter homes, where they ate, drank and caroused to excess. The poor and those who were cheated had no redress in the courts, for the judges also were dishonest, and their judgments often were "fixed" by those who were willing to pay them.

Amos, whose name means "burden" or "burden-bearer," was a humble shepherd living "among the herdsmen of Tekoa," on the edge of the desert, about 12 miles south of Jerusalem. He raised a peculiar breed of sheep, stunted and ugly in appearance, but valued for their fine wool. He also described himself as a "dresser of sycomore trees." Thus he was a countryman, living close to nature, but he must have had dealings in the cities and knew the wickedness of many who dwelt therein.

Uses Classical Language

In spite of the fact that Amos was apparently unlettered, he is, says one commentator, "the author of the purest and most classical Hebrew in the Old Testament." As he himself said: "I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was a herdsman, and a gatherer of sycomore fruit:.

"And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord said unto me, Go, prophesy unto My people Israel."

So Amos went to Bethel, where the court was, and plainly told the wicked people what would happen to them if they did not forsake their evil ways. He was not afraid to approach the highest in the land, this humble shepherd, and gave them the message that the Lord had given him.

"Hear ye this word which I take up for a lamentation over you, O house of Israel.

"They hate him that reproveth in the gate, and they abhor him that speaketh uprightly.

"Forasmuch therefore as ye trample upon the poor, and take exactions from him of wheat; ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them, ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink the wine thereof.

God Knows Their Transgressions

"For I know how manifold are your transgressions, and how mighty are your sins—ye that afflict the just, that take a bribe, and that turn aside the needy in the gate from their right . . .

"Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live; and so Jehovah, the God of hosts, will be with you, as ye say.

"Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate."

He told them that Jehovah hated their feasts and their burnt offerings, and took no delight in their solemn assemblies, because they lived evil lives, not following the laws God had given them. For a long time Amos preached and exhorted the people, and at last he aroused Amaziah, the head of the church, who denounced Amos to Jeroboam, the king, and then told him to go away, saying, "O thou seer, go, flee away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread and prophesy there. But prophesy not again any more at Bethel: for it is the king's chapel and it is the king's court."

Amos told him then how the Lord had come to him and told him to go to try to save the people from destruction. Their land he said would be given to their enemies, the king killed, and the people would be taken captive and driven from their homes. He told of visions which the Lord had sent him. In the first the whole country was laid waste by locusts which ate every green thing. When he interceded, the Lord withdrew that threatening; the next was an all-devouring fire, which was also called off at Amos' behest; and the third was a vision of the Lord with a plumbline, measuring the kingdom to cast it down.

Amos refused to be silenced by the head priest. What was the eventual fate of this fearless man no one seems to know, but it is thought he returned to his home place and lived quietly to the end of his days. His prophecies, however, actually came to pass.

Amos Pleads for Justice — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Amos 5, 7

Amos the prophet was a shepherd of Tekoa. He raised a breed of small, fine-wooled sheep on the edge of the desert, 12 miles south of Jerusalem.

Although he was a countryman, Amos knew that the rich in cities grew richer by robbing the poor, by taking bribes and turning the needy from the gates.

To the wicked rich Amos prophesied that destruction would surely come if they did not repent; "seek good and not evil, that ye may live," he told them.

Amaziah, priest of Bethel, denounced Amos to the king, and commanded him to go back to his own country. (GOLDEN TEXT—Amos 5:15)

The Thing Backfired

When Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General of Ontario, made his address at near-by Cannington, he set the heather on fire. Looking over the rather wide range from which comments have been coming one can summarize it this way:

Secretary Cordell Hull at Washington was rather sarcastic in his pointed remark.

Premier Hepburn said if he had known of the speech in advance he "would have indicated to him the possibility of international complications which might ensue."

James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Ottawa, who made a speech recently in which he said the Allies must win the war, had not a word to say.

London was reported silent with no official comment.

Ottawa was said to be irritated, although the exact form the irritation was taking was not indicated.

So if Mr. Conant was seeking for notice he has received it in large measure.

It has bounced as anticipated. United States has plenty of senators always ready to cause the people to believe they spend days and nights shivering in the watch tower of public safety, and Mr. Conant gave them the very thing they craved. Once more they are able to point the finger to alien propaganda which seeks to "drag us into the war." And the senators are able to announce that they have been on guard and have harpooned the thing and saved the country.

If people find it necessary to make addresses during war time—and they do—it would be the part of wisdom to keep away from such topics as are likely to embarrass the Federal Government, our one agency charged with the prosecution of the war on our behalf.

Sufficient has already come to the surface to indicate that it was a blunder of the major sort to have a high-ranking official of the Dominion's greatest province enunciating the theory that our mission in life at the moment is trying to cause United States to enter the war.

Hard To Keep In Step

It is hard at times to do suggesting at the right time and have it stop at the opportune moment. This way: Feeling started to grow in St. Thomas that Lord Elgin would be the ideal Governor-General for Canada. Lord Elgin was in St. Thomas a year ago and Elgin County, in which St. Thomas is located, got its name from the grandfather of the present Lord Elgin, the grandfather having been a former Governor-General of the country. His tenure of office was in days of trouble enough. Once he was stoned by a crowd in Montreal, and at Brockville there was a black flag placed on the wharf when a boat bearing Lord Elgin and his suite passed along the river. But he lived to win a creditable place in Canadian history.

On Thursday, April 4, the Brockville Recorder and Times commented editorially on the suggestion from St. Thomas that the present Lord Elgin should come to Canada. Favorably too. Said he would fit in nicely. The trouble is that on the front page of the same day's issue of the Brockville paper is the announcement from Ottawa that the Earl of Athlone had been named for the position in Canada.

The Judge Changed It

Walter Lips, a farmer of 60 years, won an appeal in court at Brampton, after having been previously sentenced in magistrate's court to a fine of $200 and three months' imprisonment. He had been charged with disaffection toward His Majesty under the Defense of Canada Regulations.

The evidence was to the effect that Lips had been heard to make derogatory remarks about the King and Queen and he had also said the Canadian system of government was corrupt. On the defendant's behalf several citizens had given testimony showing that he had shown his loyalty on several occasions.

The judge hearing the appeal declared: "To have this conviction stand, in my mind, would be the height of injustice. It would be most unsafe to convict on this evidence. I would take it that this man is more loyal than the average British subject."

We are not commenting on this case particularly and exclusively, but on the general practice of bringing such charges. There are cases where the accused is undoubtedly bent on mischief, but there are others where conversations and chance remarks are picked up and reported. There was nothing to show that anything Lips had said was interfering with recruiting or causing the authorities anxiety. Possibly he was nursing a grievance about the way the country is run, and that is quite a normal condition with many people. From the election platforms recently we heard many times that there was corruption and graft and patronage and what not in connection with the conduct of our government, and no arrests were made.

We desire to have a sensible citizenship during the war, and we also desire to keep as far away as possible from the German Gestapo system where one never knows if his neighbor, or the man next to him in the shop or perhaps some one in his own home is listening to all that is said and planning to report.

By all means put the clamps on those who deliberately and with intent seek to create trouble, but let us be certain that we do not arrive at the point where we consider people should be brought to court for trivial remarks which represent nothing at all apart from a man's private grouch.

Crime Is Their Business

Readers of the Examiner know they do not get much crime news in this paper. Truth is, we don't like it and prefer to fill available space with something better. But crime there is whether we like it or not. District Attorney William O'Dwyer of New York is today in for the fight of his life in trying to round up the murder ring in his big city. He has witnesses, and he has to keep them under guard all the time. Mostly they are locked up for their own safety. O'Dwyer knows if they were at liberty to come and go they might go but they would never come back.

Latest reports tell of "trigger men" from various centres drifting into New York; they are being called in to see what they can do about killing O'Dwyer's witnesses. They are actually described as men who "thoroughly understand their business." If there is any chance of getting through to where the prisoners are located they will take that chance and they will shoot it out with any one who are present to interfere.

Admittedly people in this country find it difficult to believe all this because we are used to coming and going at any time and feeling safe in doing so. They have something different in New York and in other large cities in the States. They have organizations which collect toll from business people; collect it because the business people dare not refuse to pay it. The so called big shots in crime manage the business and that is why they have these "killers" or "trigger men" in their following. The whole thing reads like something which could not possibly take place, but it is actually as real as the fingers on your hand.

To grasp the situation it is necessary to realize that crime is organized; it is business just as much as running a store, a factory or anything else. Right now O'Dwyer has information that one of the most capable criminal lawyers has been asked if he will accept a fee in six-figure money to defend the gangsters which District Attorney has under lock and key. The crime business has one of the most complete organizations in the States — technical men, scientists, agents, lawyers and plenty of money to pay the bills.

War Issue In U.S.

President Roosevelt has succeeded in sitting tight on the third term lid. Possibly he knows himself whether he will try it or not, but the information stops right there.

One thing is certain. If he does try it he will have to face the Republican charge that he is going back in order to take United States into the war, and that he has actually been preparing for that right along.

Frank Gannett, of Rochester, is regarded as a possible Republican candidate, and in an address at Denver, Colorado, said:

"There is doubt in the minds of many whether we can keep out of this European mess if President Roosevelt remains in office. Under the pretence that it is for defence he is getting ready for battle with foreign foes."

From an impartial view such as we can take in our country on American politics, there is nothing to indicate that President Roosevelt has been trying to put his country into the war. He has not hesitated to speak plainly on world matters, but he has never in any way indicated a desire for participation in war.

Political platforms are not always arranged with absolute fairness in mind. The idea is to bring something before the public which has a strong appeal to popular imagination, and the Republicans see their chance in the war. "Roosevelt and the Democrats will take us into the war; the Republicans are pledged to keep us out." And it is quite within reason to believe that the presidential election this fall will settle down to something like that, and the political mill will have again put through a small grist.

Now He Has Money

When a man gets some money people soon start to know him or want to. R. A. Coppen of Winnipeg is ahead by $69,000 on an Irish Sweep ticket. He's 46 and unmarried and works as a stockman for the C.G.E.

The only thing he has in mind is that he wants to purchase a fur coat for his mother. He has no intention of quitting work; intends to keep right on as usual until September, when he is likely to take a little holiday. That's all. Something kindly about it, but nothing spectacular.

But Coppen had to make an arrangement so that he would not be called to the telephone when he was at work, and when he gets home he wants the door locked so people can't get in. Possibly people want to sell him everything under the sun, and are working on the belief that when a man comes into money the first thing he does is start to pelt it out.

No person ever made a fuss over him before, and it looks as though this chap were wise enough to realize that his money is what all these people are so concerned about. They don't regard him any differently than they did through the years when they left him alone.

He shows a degree of common sense when he locks the door and refuses to answer the telephone so he can go ahead with his day's work. The one worthy feature in the story is that his mother is going to have a new fur coat. That's fine.

This Age Of Efficiency

People today must be efficient. Possibly more efficient than they were a year ago, whether they feel like it or not. There's Mrs. Margaret S. Cunningham for instance, at present teaching fifth grade in a New York school. She weighs 275 pounds on the hoof.

She has to do something to earn a living, but those who are keyed up a bit on efficiency declare Margaret is a fire hazard. That is, she is rather short on alacrity; can't go popping about in an emergency, and so on. In order to prove their case the efficiency people rang in a fire alarm and gathered to see the results, and the report read:

"Before Mrs. Cunningham limped down the stairs the children in her class were a block away from her."

And that seems a crude sort of way to parade the movements of 275 Margaret. She probably did her best. She certainly was not blocking the door when the children wanted to get out. If any one was going to get scorched it would be the teacher herself. If they wanted to fix things right they would shift rooms about so Margaret could teach on the ground floor. Then she could march out with the little ones and all would be well.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Brant township found it cost so much to remove snow during the winter that there will be nothing left for road work during the rest of the season. The day when road work consisted only of putting some gravel on the main roads in the spring is gone. Roads are now a 12-month problem.

COLOR SCHEMES

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Alfalfa paints up quite a lot, much more than what I think she ought, the stuff's so easy seen; what puzzles me from day to do, when she goes tripping on her way, is some new color scheme.

¶ Alfalfa's fairly large you know, about one-sixty pounds or so, nor is she frail or quaint; and she's got health on cheek and brow, and I can't understand just how, she dabbles with the paint.

¶ But one day when Alfalfa goes, she is the color of a rose, a big red one I mean; she's blooming on her jaw and cheek, her color scheme's not faint or meek, and it's so easy seen.

¶ And thus I think of her as red, and get that notion in my head, can recognize it quick; but next time when I see her come, she has a tan like summer sun, and she has laid it thick.

¶ I think of tanned Alfalfa then, I'll easy spot her once again, but she keeps up to date; I saw her passing yesterday, and she looked like I'm bound to say, an orange in a crate.

¶ I could quite easy pass her by, no recognition in my eye, no snubbing she could charge; but I could hardly pass her by, she's easy to identify—because she is so large.

HARD TO ENTER PRISON

THAT investigation into a murder ring in New York and Brooklyn, through which prices for killings were quoted daily, and where it was possible to shop around until you found a gangster who would bump somebody off at a bargain rate, gets more sensational by the hour. Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast killers were really upper-bracket slayers compared with the Brooklyn type.

The record of one gangster shows he was arrested more than forty times for about every crime on the calendar and almost always turned loose by judges and magistrates. He was convicted only seven times and served time in only four of those cases. In each case it was more of a week-end visit to the hoosegow instead of a term there.

Two magistrates freed this mobster every time he faced them, the records show. The whole thing is pretty revolting and would seem to show that it was almost impossible for a notorious criminal to get into prison unless he had influence. —Dave Boone, in New York Sun.

• If The Allies Stopped Fighting

WINSTON CHURCHILL can always be counted upon to produce the vivid phrase. The other day he found one that was more enlightening than an hour's complicated speech on Allied war aims. "There are," he said, "thoughtless, dilettante or purblind worldings who sometimes ask us: 'What is it that Britain and France are fighting for?' To this I make the answer: 'If we left off fighting, you would soon find out.'"

Suppose we carry Mr. Churchill's "if" a little further. If the Allies "left off fighting," Hitler's Germany would be secure in the possession of its conquests and free for further aggression. What then? Does any one along Germany's borders imagine that the Reich would settle down as a good neighbor in Europe? The German campaign of abuse and terror which led to Munich came less than six months after Marshal Goering had given his "word of honor," on behalf of Hitler, that Czecho-Slovakia need have no fear. The German invasion, and the extinction of Czecho-Slovakia from the map of Europe, came only six months after Hitler had solemnly promised at Munich to respect the new Czech frontiers. The invasion of Poland six months thereafter followed the familiar timetable, and was preceded by the same technique.

The Allies are now convinced that if they "left off fighting" now Budapest and Bucharest, and also Amsterdam and Stockholm, would soon become concentration camps like Vienna and Prague and Warsaw, with the same savage despotism crushing every standard of decency and every spark of freedom. They believe that insecurity and fear would grip every free nation in Europe; that Britain and France would be fatally threatened before very long, and that distant spectators like ourselves would soon be confronted with a world of totalitarian economics and jungle law. For these reasons the Allies genuinely believe they are fighting the neutrals' battle as well as their own.—New York Times.

• Money Cannot Purchase Happiness

IT IS TRITE but worthy of repetition: Money does not bring happiness. Here is the tragic story, for example, of Madeline Force. She was a beautiful young girl, little more than a child, when she attracted the attention of John Jacob Astor, one of the richest men in the world—and old enough to be her father; with children, in fact, older than she was.

But there was the glamor of money and so they were married. He had divorced his wife that this might be. They were on their way back from Europe on the Titanic when that great ship hit the iceberg. Facing death Astor proved himself far greater than by anything he had ever done in life.

He tucked this young girl into a life boat, gallantly asked others to watch over her as an expectant mother, saluted and went to his death with a smile. But all the millions left her brought only sorrow.

Married and divorced she finally married a third rate Italian pugilist, almost young enough to be her son. Five years of bitter quarelling followed and then she divorced him. And now she is dead at the age of 47.

Astor died nobly. One wonders whether in her dark years of seeking for happiness, that was never hers because she did not seek it within herself, whether she did not regret that she, too, did not have the valiant exit of her first husband. A worthy death is far better than a wasted life.

The happy women of America are not those who have millions to play with and no objective in life; the happy women are those who lose themselves in the rearing of their children and the maintaining of their home, for they have a peace of mind and a contentment that all the gold on earth can never buy.—Malcolm W. Binjay, in Detroit Free Press.

• What Does Toronto Know Of Wolves?

NOT a great deal of support will be found in Algoma for the contention of Professor A. P. Coventry, of the University of Toronto, that the wolf is a boon to the deer of the province.

The professor's contention is that the wolf kills off only the weaklings among the deer and that as a result only the strong vigorous specimens survive. In support of his contention he argues that when wolves were killed off in Scotland and Switzerland the deer also died off, the weaklings infecting the whole stock and causing it to disappear.

A large proportion of Algoma hunters and students of wild life will not agree with this view, however, nor with the professor's view that the bounty on wolves should be abolished and that they should be allowed to carry on their health giving work by providing for only the survival of the fittest. The Algoma view is mainly that the wolf bounty should be maintained as an encouragement to the slaying of wolves and that anything else which will cut down the wolf population will be a benefit to the deer.

"It is a mistake," said one experienced Algoma student of bush lore, "to think it is only the weaklings among the deer which fall victim to the wolf. It is more likely to be the strongest and most vigorous deer which will be attacked as they wander most and the wolf has the better opportunity to pick up their tracks."

The same man said that his investigations had led him to the belief that deer had very little opportunity of escape once the wolves take after them. The deer was very speedy for a short distance, he argued, but the wolf lasted longer and in the end the deer fell victim, unless it could escape into open water.

The wolf indeed does not show any fine discrimination in selecting the deer it will chase, but goes after the first one it picks up. So with much evidence of the destructiveness of the wolf to the deer, including well documented accounts of several deer being killed at a time by the marauders, Algoma is entirely likely to stick to its support of the bounty.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

IN THE GAY NINETIES

CITY TREASURER Charlie McCrea was recalling the other day Mayor Biggings' campaign for board sidewalks seven feet wide in the days of almost half a century ago in the Sault. He recalled particularly the scrap over a walk of that type for Bay street.

The Sault had a small population in those days but the seven foot walks served a real purpose, for they provided a good track for the bicycles, then just becoming popular, a track that was much needed when there were no paved roads. A municipal bylaw of that time regulated the speed of bicycles, which were not allowed to exceed eight miles an hour—at least when using the sidewalks.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

HITLER AND MARCH

Heretofore, March has always been Hitler's lucky month and his month for action. Scanning the past record, forecasters made bold to predict that the rest of the world had better "beware the Ides of March" 1940. Well, March has come and gone and all fierce Fuehrer has done has been to hurl horrible threats of the wrath to come. The difference is that this time he has only been able to frighten the little neutrals.—Brantford Expositor.

30 PER CENT. OFF

The decision of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., merchants to charge a discount of 30 per cent on Canadian funds will not work any great hardships on this community.

It is true that Canadians will not be inclined to do much purchasing of goods there. But generally speaking their purchases can be made just as well or better at home.—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

HEARD AT A MOVIE

DURING the March of Time film which accompanies Deanna Durbin at the Imperial we discovered the woman sitting next to us had been to Vatican City, the subject of the news short. She kept telling her friend about it as the film unrolled and people round about began turning their heads irritably. When the scenes showed the Sistine Chapel Chapel with tourists lying on the floor the better to see the magnificent paintings on the ceiling, the commentator's voice took on a reverential tone. But the woman next to us hadn't thought much of the Sistine Chapel. She rather poohed-poohed the whole thing and told her friend decisively: "You know, I think the ceiling of the Grand Central Station in New York is far better than that!"—Toronto Telegram.

VOLKSWAGEN PLAN

One of the sad stories of the war is the experience of Germans who hoped to buy the low-priced car, the Volkswagen, which Hitler promised to produce. More than 250,000 Germans began to save at the rate of 5½ marks ($2.20) a week. At the end of 4½ years the cars should be theirs. Now production of the Volkswagen is postponed until after the war. Purchasers may continue their instalments in the hope that some day the car will be manufactured, or stop and forfeit all their savings.—New York Post.

CHAIN DOWN TANKARDS

Because the Haunch and Venison, oldest inn in Salisbury, England, lost all its tankards to trophy-hunting soldiers in World War I, chains with padlocks are now run through the handles of the pewter, brass and glass tankards which hang from the smoke-blackened beams.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Phil. iv, 6-8.

A Bit of Nonsense

Who Put It Out?

Teacher: How would you rewrite this sentence? "Before any damage could be done, the fire was put out by the Auxiliary Fire Service."

Evacuated Pupil: "The fire was put out before any damage could be done by the Auxiliary Fire Service."

Knew Their Stuff

"I was with some blokes a few nights ago, and I told a couple of good stories," said the quiet man.

"I saw one chap making a note on his cuff, and I said: 'Blimey, I didn't know blokes wrote things on their cuffs these days.'

"It's a habit I picked up from my old man," he told me. "It gets me into trouble sometimes. There was one laundry that wrote to me and said they wouldn't wash my shirts any more because some of the stories on my cuffs were really too hot."

"But," I said, "you didn't write down any bad words, did you?"

"No, they were harmless words, really. Just enough to remind me of the jokes. The trouble is that the girls at the laundry knew the jokes!"

Just As Effective

The little boy said: "Father, can I have a quarter?"

"What for?"

"To go to the pictures."

"No, son, I can't afford it. But you can have a big piece of bread and cheese before you go to bed tonight. That'll give you a lovely nightmare, and that's better than the pictures."

Politeness Essential

Said the fisherman: "I thought I'd go and do a bit of fishing in the river last Saturday.

"Well, I sat there all morning without a bite.

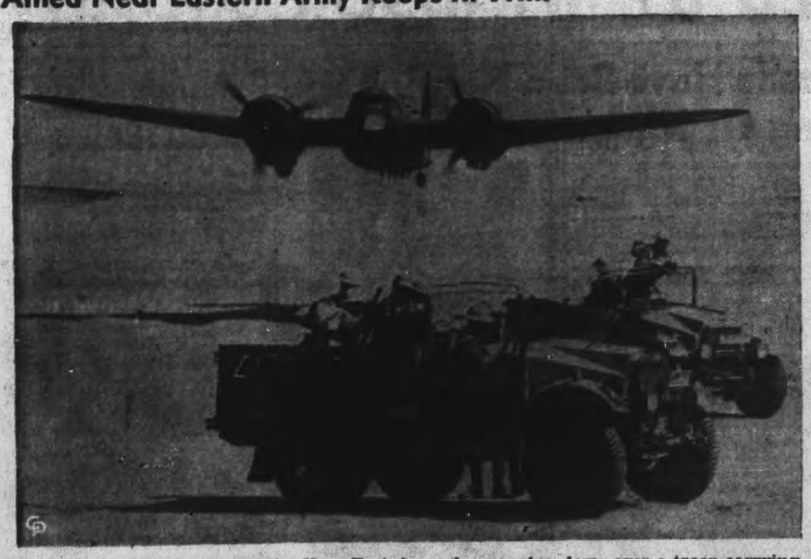
"Then a lady came walking along with a little boy, and the kid came up to me and said. 'Let's see you catch a fish, mister.'

"His mother said to me, 'Now don't you go and catch a fish for him till he says "Please."'"

BROKEN FAITH

CHILD'S Friday special, a couple of weeks ago, was fried scallops. This was announced in newspaper advertisements, along with a tempting picture of a portion. That noon a customer in one of the uptown branches sent for the manager, pointed to a plate of scallops that had just been served him, and said, "Look—there's not enough." The manager said that he had been served the customary number, nine. "That's not what your ad says!" the guest cried, producing a clipping. "Look at that picture. There's 12 scallops in it." They gave him three more scallops, and no back talk.—New Yorker.

Allied Near Eastern Army Keeps In Trim



While the Allied army of the Near East is content with maintaining a "watch and wait" policy, the fighting units of which the army is composed are not permitted to go rusty. Here is a Blenheim bomber of the type Britain favors for long-distance work, swooping down over a troop carrying convoy during manoeuvres in the desert outside Cairo. Recently Foreign Commissar Molotov, of the Soviet Union, hinted darkly that the Allies better watch their step in the Near East.

Fenelon Woman 91 On Tuesday

LINDSAY, April 6 — (ENS). — Mrs. George Martin, Fenelon Falls, will mark her 91st birthday on Tuesday next. For 69 years a resident of Fenelon Falls, Mrs. Martin is believed to be the oldest resident of the village.

Of Scottish descent, Mrs. Martin was Miss Christina Ann MacDonald and longevity has been a family characteristic. Her grandmother lived to be one hundred years of age and her mother's father to the age of 116 years. As a boy in Scotland, her grandfather had served as a drummer boy at the Battle of Culloden Moor in 1746.

She was born in Ops Township and moved to Fenelon Falls when married. She is an arden Liberal and joined in general rejoicing at the recent Liberal victory in this riding.

One of her interesting recollections is that of seeing the first train pull out of Lindsay when the railroad was completed in Lindsay.

Her birthday will be observed by a family gathering. A son, daughter and several grandchildren will join with her in marking the event.

52 Years Married.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, 10 Durham Street, Lindsay, celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary here yesterday. They are both in spent quietly with many friends excellent health and the day was dropping in to extend congratulations. They were one of the first couples to be married by Rev. Dr. C. H. Marsh, for 48 years rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church here.

William Gamble, 29, Lindsay watchmaker, was charged with theft of a watch here on Friday. Charge was laid by local police on the complaint of a Bobcaygeon man who told the police he took his watch to the accused to be cleaned two or three months ago, and that he had been unable to get it because accused claimed he could not get the necessary parts to repair it. The case was adjourned for one week.

Fairmount YPU Holds Geography Match

FAIRMOUNT, April 6 — (ENS). The Y.P.U. was held on Wednesday evening. Owing to the rainy time and bad roads the attendance was smaller than usual. The program in charge of the Fellowship convener, Mrs. C. W. Seymour, was put on by the president, R. F. McIndoo. "Adrift on an Icepan," by Grenfell was read by Jean Hanbidge. A reading, "For He is Risen" was given by F. R. McIndoo, and "A Mother's Sacrifice" by Mildred Ballantyne. Ned Ballantyne contributed "When the Bird Stopped Struggling"; "Victory Through Sacrifice" by Roy Fair; "The Power of Christ's Sacrifice" by George Turner; "Sorrow and Joy" by Roger Hanbidge; while the reading "Triumph Through Sacrifice" by Roy Ballantyne concluded the service, which was followed by a geography match.

Holiday Issue To Be Used

HASTINGS, April 6 — (ENS). — Village Council on Friday night decided to spend some money this year in the vacation edition of the Peterborough Examiner, providing a satisfactory agreement could be reached between the Council and the newly formed Hastings Boosters' Club. Walter M. Fowlds, representing the Business Men's division of the Boosters' Club, pointed out that it would be money well spent to invest at least $25 in a third of a page advertisement. He drew attention to the fact that surrounding towns and villages were advertising extensively and that a larger tourist trade was anticipated this year..

Reeve Lewis Kelley suggested to the Council that they offer to pay on a fifty-fifty basis with the Boosters' Club up to a total amount of $25. This will be the information Mr. Fowlds will relay to the Boosters' Club when they convene on Monday night in the Council Chambers.

The Royal Tour.

Almost 500 people witnessed the showing of the Royal tour film here on Friday afternoon and evening depicting the highlights of the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen to Canada last summer. A matinee drew an overflow attendance of school children with a few adults and seats were at a premium. Through a grant from the School Boards of Hastings Public and Separate Schools and the Cobourg Road School, children were admitted as guests of their boards on a ten-cent per child basis. The evening performance drew a full house. Sponsored by the Hastings branch of the Red Cross Society, the affair was a huge success and will mean much toward the financial standing of the Hastings branch.

Although spring has apparently arrived, it has meant little to farmers living off the main roads in this area as far as coming into Hastings by car. Reports from all directions indicate there is much snow on the side roads yet for the most part and farmers are forced to use horse and sleigh in most sections.

Loss Of Leg Fails To Halt Young Canadian Pilot

CALGARY, April 6.—The brief announcement by British Air Force authorities that F. Willard Sinclair has been promoted from squadron leader to wing commander was carried in Canadian newspapers the other day, and it recalled to many minds in this city the brilliant record of service compiled by the Calgarian.

At the age of 18 Sinclair went overseas with the 191st Battalion and shortly after arriving in England transferred to the Royal Air Force, where he began the spectacular career which took him to distant parts of the Empire. Like so many other Canadians, he proved to be a "natural" pilot. The Distinguished Flying Cross and the Croix de Guerre were awarded him. After the armistice he served three years with the army of occupation.

The postwar years saw the young Canadian serving his Empire in the Far East in 1922. He stayed three years at Bagdad, and in 1926, following his marriage to Miss Dora Jewell, he was sent to India, where he experienced the outstanding adventure of his career. While acting as temporary commander of No. 28 Army Co-operation Squardon, his plane was brought down by rifle fire in a rockey section of the North-west Frontier, inhabited by fierce enemy tribesmen.

Falls Into Crevice

His gunner managed to leap clear and was knocked unconscious. Sinclair tried to reach safety but fell down a 60-foot crevice, breaking his right leg. Wandering tribesmen picked him up and his life hung by a thread as the fierce natives debated whether to kill him and strip the wrecked plane or take him and the gunner back to the squadron and collect a reward.

A young native who had spent some years in an English school pleaded for the lives of the white men. And finally he was successful.

Then started an arduous journey of 100 miles to the military hospital at Peshawar. The injured men were placed on roughly made stretchers and the trip took four days, during which Sinclair and his companion suffered agonies. At the hospital an examination showed there was no hope of having his leg and it was amputated. He spent several months in hospital at Pashawar and then was transported to England, where he remained in hospital a year.

Loss of a leg would have meant the end of a career to most men, but the Canadian had no intention of allowing the physical handicap to retire him to the sidelines. He asked to be given some job in connection with the air force, and his wish was granted. A brilliant athlete in his younger days, staring in swimming, rugby and other sports, he was made director of sports activities for the R.A.F. at Halton Camp. He was made squadron leader and then came the announcement of his promotion to the rank of wing commander.

Police Magistrate D. Cameron Sinclair of Calgary is a brother. His mothed died in Calgary in 1936. The Sinclairs, who last visited Calgary in 1928, have two sons, Cameron, 10 and Ian, 5.

Bensfort Societies Hold Joint Session

BENSFORT, April 6—(ENS).—On Wednesday the W.A. and M.A. of Bensfort United church held their regular meeting in the basement of the church The meeting was in charge of Group B, with the president, Mrs. Edgar Wood, presiding.

The program was as follows: Prayer, Mrs. Edgar Wood; Scripture reading, Mrs. Lorne Harris; roll call, responded to by, "What you would like best to do for the Red Cross"; pdem, Mrs. Edgar Wood. 'Are you doing your best for the Empire"; Study Book was taken by Mrs. C. Barnard in the absence of Mrs. H. Howson; reading, Mrs. Chas. Fisher, "Canadian Red Cross."

It was planned to hold a special Sunday morning service the latter part of April and a "hostess tea" in May.

Trent River

Members of the War Service Workers met Tuesday afternoon and evening for quilting. Finishing one and setting up another.

The Ladies' Aid met Wednesday afternoon at the church.

Mr. George Armstrong, who is in training for air service for overseas, has been spending a few days at his parental home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wood and Miss Irene spent Easter week in Toronto.

Misses Jeryne and Glenna Brown were recent visitors with Miss Irene Wood after her visit with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tedford and little daughter Yvonne of Warsaw were recent visitors with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tedford.

The Misses Margaret, Jeryne and Glenna Brown were recent visitors with their grandmother, Mrs. J. Hendren of Norwood.

The condition of Mrs. M. Lindsay, who underwent an appendicitis operation at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, recently, remains unchanged.

Private Percy Tyler of the Midland Regiment, Trenton, who spent the week-end at the parental home, received a gift of a gold signet ring from members of the War Service Workers.

Miss Laura Wight and Bill Goodfellow of Toronto were week-end visitors at the former's home, "Cedar Isle."

Messrs. Frank Garneau, Thomas Tyler, Albert Tyler, James Carnrite, Bill McQuigge and Morton Stewart have secured employment at Campbellford.

The first harbinger of Spring was seen Tuesday—a pair of robins singing their song of greeting amid snow banks piled along both sides of Highway 30.

Concession roads are impassable for car traffic, owing to the deep frozen ruts.

Trapping season opened Wednesday but trappers report it will not be under way for another week or two as the marshes are frozen solid.

The two one-act plays with character cast from the United Church, Havelock which were to be presented Friday night at the United Church here under the auspices of group 3 of the Ladies' Aid, was postponed for a later date owing to road conditions.

The Ladies' Aid met Wednesday afternoon at the United Church, but owing to road condition on concession lines there was not sufficient attendance to hold the regular meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Watson and family of Havelock were Wednesday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Wight.

Mrs. P. Logan of Havelock was a visitor with her mother, Mrs. A. Wight of Cedar Isle, Wednesday.

16 Miles To Drill

BROCKVILLE, Ont., April 6. — (CP).—Cecil Gunness, a Leeds county farmhand who joined the Brockville Rifles last year showed his deep interest in the regiment by walking the entire distance of 16 miles from his home in Rockspring to the Brockville armouries for drill last night. On the occasion of two previous drills of the unit this training season Pte. Gunness was fortunate in hitch-hiking from Rockspring.

Tommy's Farewell To War Baby

A picture that is not without pathos is this one, made at Waterloo Station, London, just before the boat train left, bearing Tommies back to France after leave in England. The baby was born while dad was at the front some months ago. He saw his son for the first time when he came leave. Now, the parting.

BELLEVILLE BASKETBALL TEAM ELIMINATED BY WINDSOR SQUAD

Windsor Team To Meet Ottawa School

OTTAWA, April 6 — (CP). — Windsor - Walkerville Vocational School and Ottawa Lisgar Collegiate Institute, victors in the semi-finals, meet here to-night in the final game of the Ontario Secondary Schools Association senior basketball championship tournament, sponsored by the Canadian Secondary Schools Association.

Windsor-Walkerville took an early lead to down Belleville Collegiate Institute 36-24 in their semi-final match last night.

Belleville, Central Ontario titlists coached by George Laughlin, could not cope with the Windsor passing attack, and poor shooting kept their score down. Coach Arnold Harrison directed the Windsor squad. A Windsor team has won the five previous Ontario tournaments.

J. Harris with seven points and S. Zepka with six led Windsor scorers, while A. Argue, Ross Clare, and C. Griffin had five points each for Belleville.

Turn Back North Bay

Ottawa Lisgar Collegiate, who this year won their first Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Association crown in 13 years, turned back North Bay Collegiate Institute 44-18 in their semi-final match.

The Northern Ontario title-holders, coached by Leo Troy, checked continuously and fought a game battle but could not hold Lisgar's sharpshooters.

Led by Art Mackey, who sank six field goals, Ottawa piled up a 22-8 lead at half-time. North Bay were dangerous only in the first quarter, when three successive baskets by George Barrett, gave them a 6-4 lead.

Barrett scored eight points for North Bay, while Will Gigs and Glen Whitham got three each. Best for Harold Rothwell's Ottawa squad were Mackey, Douglas McLean with seven points, and Kenneth Checkland with five.

Belleville and North Bay will play a consolation final before to-night's championship match.

Joe Beaton Is Leading Scorer

LONDON, April 6 (CP)—Harringay Greyhounds, winners of the National Hockey Tournament for the second year in succession, produced the highest individual scorer and highest scoring line in the five-team league, according to final statistics.

Joe Beaton, New Glasgow, N.S., led marksmen with 54 points, 19 better than Alec Archer, Winnipeg, who performed for Wembley Lions. Beaton centred Dunc Cheyne and Duke Campbell, both of Winnipeg, to ring up a total of 77 goals and 60 assists. Cheyne placed sixth in the scoring list and Campbell eighth.

Fan Heximer of Niagara Falls, who played with the last-place Streatham Club, was third with 46 points, Charlie Turner, Hamilton, also with Streatham, had a point-total of 42, three less than Hymie McArthur of Shediac, N.B., of Lions.

Other goal-getters near the top included Bill Klem, Brandon, Man. with Harringay Racers and Lou Bates, Ottawa, with Lions, who had totals of 38 and 37 respectively. Archie Stinchcombe, Windsor, of Monarchs and Buzz Plumb, Toronto, of Lions, ended with 35 points each.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

And this is a rather tough one to write! Kind of hard to explain to some of the puck followers just how the Petes, after winning handily the first two playoff games from Kitchener, went and dropped a 2-1 decision to 'em last eve in Oshawa. Not hard to explain to about 1,000 fans from here who journeyed down by car and train (mostly by car) to see it. Folks who went to see a Peterborough team win a title. They saw the game and can draw their own conclusions. Those who didn't go will wonder how come the Buckaroos fell down when everything was set up for 'em so perfectly to cop the championship before a highly enthusiastic home crowd on foreign ice, and all. But the payees were doomed to disappointment, and we'll try to tell the others what happened.

* * * * * *

It looked to us like a combination of cires, the main one being that the locals were jittery and maybe a bit over-confident. They were playing a desperate team, one that had everything to gain and nothing to lose. Whereas the Petes had two wins tucked away in two starts and felt the third was in the bag. Then they got jittery out there on the big ice surface and ran into some fine fore-checking by the Greenshirts. Had 'em disorganized the last two periods, after tough luck and swelegant goaltending by one Bindernagel robbed 'em of several scores in the first. The Petes also seemed just a bit off to us, not looking nearly as good as in previous clashes with the same Kitchener crew. And Crowe wasn't rightly over his tonsilitis, Gardner had a badly bruised elbow—later getting a cut over the head—and Coughlin is just shaking a bad cold.

* * * * * *

No Use Of Crying

This isn't an attempt at an alibi—it's just an explanation. The Petes looked okay the first frame, but faded the last two as they were checked up till they were going around in circles, making screwy passes and bungling up plays. Kitchener left two defencemen at home, using two regular defenders and the rest forwards. And they used their first line against our second trio and vice versa—quite effectively. One line scored the goals and the other checked the Petes' main snipers to a fare-thee-well. However, that's only one loss and the Petes should click okay again next time out and send the 'Shirts to the cleaners. Yes, sir.

* * * * * *

You can't take it way from the victors; they deserve credit for an uphill battle with the odds against them. Goalie Bindernagel — who has looked nifty every tussle against our gang—was never better than last p.m. And the rest of the squad hustled every second, too. Both their goals were a bit soft—when our defence had momentary lapses in covering up—but that's part of the game. One guy or the other will slip up for a second occasionally, even in N.H.L. playoffs, and the lucky guys are right there to ring the cash register. The Petes' goal was thoroughly earned on a sweet rink-length rush by Honey Tompkins.

* * * * * *

No One Dallied

We liked the work of Tompkins especially on the first line, though his wing-mates were shuffling in there frequently trying to wham that bootheel by Bindy. And Jack Jopling was the hardest worker on the other line, but again we must say his buddies weren't stopping to pick any daisies along the road. Drake Jopling seemed steadiest to us on the back rail, and Harding was fine in goal. Had no chance on the two that beat him, one at close range and the other being snapped in when Ray's vision was blocked by a defenceman. The boys worked hard and sure tried, but were fore-checked into some disorganized puck-carrying, and their shooting wasn't up to par, either. But 'twill be different Tuesday, we're confident.

* * * * * *

And there ya are, folks, the way it looked to this corner. At least a thousand of the 1,500 fans there were local rooters and they witnessed a humdinger of a game. Not the smartest hockey of the year by a block and a half (if you include the vacant lot) but quite fast, very even and exciting enough to keep you hopping around like a lumberjack with ants in his pants! Outside of a few minor penalties and the referee getting a cop to warn a fan who was calling him a few names once, there was nothing that looked like a fight. A clean contest, but a tough one to lose, both the Petes and their backers feeling pretty blue when the last gong sounded. You could cut the gloom in the locals' dressing-room after with a dull knife. But they're still up on the series.

* * * * * *

He Says, Says He

In view of subsequent events, this item from Friday's Kitchener sheet might be interesting: "Judged on their play in the round-robin, Greenshirts and Petes are evenly matched, with breaks playing an important part. The betting men, who know the ability of the 'Shirts to really pour it on, concede Kitchener a 50-50 chance of winning tonight. Both clubs have had a four-day rest and neither one came out of Monday's game with anything resembling a serious injury. Greenshirts may have to take desperate chances tonight but as things stand now they may as well gamble to win. Trying to out-skate the Petes in the first two games of the final series did not pay dividends, so some other method of seeking out a victory will have to be tried."

* * * * * *

Big attraction here tonight is the Ontario Church Basketball Assoc. semi-final match at eight in the "Y". A second tilt of the intermediate "A" points-to-count serial betwixt Toronto College United and our St. Paul's, champs last year of the O.C.B.A. and Eastern Canada church honors. Toronto team is now up 14 points, so the Saints will have to fly faster than Superman to overhaul this edge. It ought to be a sweet scrap before a big crowd. Series winner meets Hamilton for the provincial cage title, victor then tackling Montreal in Eastern Canada finals. Local cagers include Harry Marsh, Jim Thorburn, Doug McPherson, Pete McArthur, Jack Gemmell, Don Sedgewick, Gord McIntyre and Walter Ward.

* * * * * *

Picking 'em off the Grapevine: Young Walt Gerow of Napanee is playing fine hockey with London in the Mich.-Ont. puck loop finals now ....Whitby knocked off Seaforth in Stratford last e'en to win the O.H.A. intermediate "B" crown; Whitby rubbed out Omemee Hawks earlier.... Local Lacrosse Club is busy on re-organization now and will soon have good news for the fans....Orfuns' gal cagers are in St. Kitts tonight.... Some two hundred Maxwille hockey enthusiasts saw their good team millionaires off for Glace Bay yesterday to open the two-in-three intermediate "A" series this Sat'day....Second game is Monday and third if necessary on Wednesday; winner meets either Petes or Kitchener for the Eastern Canada title....A good water meet here last p.m., we're told.... Lakeshore Ball Loop invites a local club to enter a seven-team setup at its annual meeting April 25th; Bowmanville and others objected to inviting Oshawa in, saying they had trouble before with Motor City teams.... Local Hockey Club plans to enter a team in the City Softball League this summer, Wes Champ sponsoring it....Ken Kingston intimated last p.m. that his firm might put one in, too....Looked like Old Home Week for Peterborough folk in the big lobby of the Oshawa rink betwixt periods last night; there were folks from here at the game that duck tilts in the Brock all winter....A neck-lace of headlights bobbed and twisted down the highway from here after dark as maybe 200 cars made the trek.... POME: We wanted to win by six or so, but we'd have settled for one—or even a miserable little tie by the time the game was done!

Baltimore Lacks Pitching For Top Four

By HUGH TRADER, JR.
(Sports Writer of Baltimore News-Post and American.)

BALTIMORE, April 6 (AP)—As a 32-game winner for Baltimore and the late Jack Dunn in 1925 and 10-year man of the American league, Tommy Thomas should know a thing or two about pitching. As manager of Baltimore Orioles for the 1940 International League pennant race, Thomas realizes his club lacks a first-division pitching staff.

"In all other departments," insists Thomas, we compare with any club in the league. Give me two more winning pitchers and we'll run one, two, three. But as our pitching staff stands now, we're not equipped to be a contender."

Club Has Power

In a word, Baltimore has its usual entry—good hit, no pitch. The club bulges with power, particularly if Frank McGowan returns fit from an ankle operation. The defence is improved vastly with Skeeter Newsome likely to be installed as the best shortstop in the circuit. The catching is in the capable hands of Jack Redmond, Joe Kracher and Divie Howell.

But the pitching from the list of Harry Matuzak, Orlin Collier, Dick Midkiff, Elmer Burkhart, Italo Chelini, Tom Hughes and Ken Trinkle, there doesn't appear to be an 18-game winner. But the "makings" are there and the possible return of Roy Bruner from the Phillies would very likely promote Baltimore into the "dark horse" class.

Offensively, Baltimore figures to carry at least four .300 hitters in Bill Nagel, Red Howell, Nick Etten and Art Graham. It is believed that Nagel, third sacker on option from the Athletics, and Howell will wage a personal duel for the circuit's home run crown in the tiny Oriole Park.

Cricketers Start Here On May 4th

The annual spring meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club was held last night at the Chamber of Commerce.

There was only a small attendance but many matters of detail were discussed and settled. The important matter of the purchase of new mat was left to the executive committee pending further enquiries as to price.

Treasurer R. N. Stuart presented a favorable financial report and Secretary Boothroyd reported progress as to the season's schedule. The first match will be against Trinity College School at Nicholls Oval on Saturday, May 4, followed by home and home games with Grove School, and St. Edmunds here on the holiday.

The following form the club's executive for the coming season:

Hon. President—Dr. Hammond.

Hon. Vice-Presidents—G. A. Macdonald (Chicago), F. A. Morrow and E. A. Peck, K.C.

President—Col. C. H. Ackerman.

38 Thoroughbreds Have Been Nominated For 81st Running Of King's Plate

By CHARLES "HORSES" AYERS
(Central Press Canadian Writer)

TORONTO, April 6.—The big news in Canadian turfdom, at the present time, is the release by Palmer Wright, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, of the list of nominations for this year's King's Plate, which is to be decided at Woodbine Park on Saturday, May 18.

The list contains the names of 38 province-bred 3-year-olds, comprising 14 geldings, 14 fillies and 10 colts, the property of 23 different owners.

Heading the list in number nominated is that of the Parkwood Stable, owned by R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa motor magnate, with five, they being namely—Frobisher, Abydos, Bally Boy, Don Mariner and Pfafryn. The star of the Parkwood Stable, and the main gun they will shoot with in the guineas, is Frobisher. This brown-coated son of Marine-Skygazer showed he was one of the star juveniles of last year when he scampered home the winner of the Clarendon Plate at Thorncliffe Park.

Next in number nominated is the stable of George M. Hendrie of Hamilton. This popular racing executive named a quartet in Storm Light, Stormful, Ochopee and Dark Comet. It is more than likely, providing he stands up under his gruelling early-spring training, that Dark Comet will be post-time favorite for the King's Plate. This good-looking son of Dark Hero-Candy Star in winning the $5,000 added, Orpen Cup and Saucer at Long Branch last fall, crowned himself king of the juvenile division in the homebreds, and also showed the racing fans that the Hendrie speedster could run over a distance of ground. The Long Branch feature being a mile and 70 yards.

The Riverdale Stable, owned by James Heffering, comes third with a trio. Those that will carry the white and black silks of this menage, are—Attorney General, Village Bud and an unnamed bay filly by Roselyon-Cabaret.

Another McCullagh Entry.

C. George McCullagh, who won last year's King's Plate with Archworth, has nominated a pair in Mons Memories and More Clothes.

Another popular owner whose burnt orange silks will be seen again in the guineas are those of William F. Morrissey, whose Bunty Lawless flashed home the winner of the 1938 renewal, scoring one of the most popular victories in the history of the race. Morrissey nominated Orange Liz.

Katie Bud, nominated by Davey Garrity, is expected to carry plenty of the public's money on Plate Day. This daughter of Marine-Kay Lerner was one of the outstanding juveniles of last year. Among her victories was the winning of the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park last fall, trimming such stars as Frobisher, fresh from victory in the Clarendon Plate at Thorncliffe Park, and Dark Comet, who later won the Orpen Cup and Saucer. Katie Bud did not start in the Long Branch feature on account of not being nominated by her breeders, the Parkwood Stable.

Another Plate candidate which is being much talked about in the year's run for the guineas is Jack McIntyre's Hood. This big chestnut son of Marine-The Wishing Well galloped into the winner's circle six times during his first year under colors, scoring more winning brackets than any juvenile in the province last year.

It will be recalled that King George and Queen Elizabeth graced the lawns at Woodbine Park last spring to witness the running of this event on their visit to Toronto, making the presentation of the 50 golden guineas to C. George McCullagh, owner of Archworth.

Is 81st Running of Plate

This year will witness the 81st renewal of the King's Plate. This Ontario Jockey club annual spring feature is the oldest continuously run stake on the North American continent, having had its first running back in 1860, when Don Juan, carrying the silks of Mr. Jas. White, was the winner, the race that year being held at Carleton, now West Toronto.

A brief history of the race is as follows:

This royal donation was originally made in 1859 by Queen Elizabeth, upon the petition of the Toronto Turf club, through Sir Edmund Head, the then governor-general. The headquarters of the club were at W. C. Keele's farm at Carleton, and the secretary-treasurer was colonel R. L. Denison. The prayer of the petitioners was for a Queen's Plate of £50, which was granted "to be run for at Toronto or such other place in Upper Canada as her majesty might appoint."

For four years, 1860-1863, the race was run at Carleton and subsequently, under political pressure, at Guelph, London, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Whitby, Prescott and Picton. In 1883 her majesty, Queen Victoria, at the instance of the Duke of Argyll, gave her sanction to an understanding with the founders of the Ontario Jockey club that the race should henceforth be established permanently here. Time has proved this to be a wise decision, as, under the control of the Ontario Jockey club, the race has amply fulfilled its purpose of encouraging the breeding of thoroughbreds in the province of Ontario. The Earl of Minto, a former governor-general of Canada, on his return to England, stated publicly, "Nothing, in my opinion, has done more good for horse breeding in Canada than the King's Plate run at Toronto." The race has steadily grown in importance, and the royal donation being continued by His Majesty King Edward the Seventh, His Majesty King George the Fifth and His Majesty King Edward the Eighth, has been run annually without interruption; so that when His Majesty King George the Sixth decided to continue the gift, the King's Plate was already established as the oldest fixture run continually in North America.

Following are the nominations:

Brown Lion, William Bovaird, Game Hunter and Blue Wave, Cosgrave Stable; Haggis, R. W. W. Cowie; Miss Wooler and Bospatch, G. Darlington; Star Gaiety and Greek Goddess, Erindale Stable; Katie Bud, D. Garrity; Ring Wise, Harry Giddings; Annie Jenkins, George Hardy; Curwen, H. C. Hatch; Storm Light, Stormful, Ochopee, and Dark Comet, George M. Hendrie; Willie the Kid, Miss M. A. Kane; Monaco, Lowfields Farm;

Mons Memories and More Clothes, C. George McCullagh; Hood, J. R. McIntyre; Youandi, Medway Stable; Rose Mountain, M. A. Merrill; Orange Liz, W. F. Morrissey; Arjayen and Timely Flight, Mrs. R. H. New; Abydos, Bally Boy, Don Mariner, PFafryn, and Frobisher, Parkwood Stables; Attorney-General, Village Bud, and an unnamed entry, Riverdale Stable; Sally Portia and Silvos, J. E. Prowde Seagram; Aromerit, William Smith; Meddle Mark, J. G. Fair.

Canadien Club Re-organized; New Ownership

MONTREAL, April 6—(CP).—Future of a Montreal team in the National Hockey League was assured last night with the announcement that completely reorganized Canadiens Club would be operated under full control of the Canadian Arena Company.

With the announcement yesterday by Senator Donat Raymond that the Arena Company had bought out interests headed by J. Ernest Savard, came also a promise of reorganization. Senator Raymond said a meeting soon would be held to formulate the rebuilding plans.

Already owners of a controlling interest in Le Club De Hockey Canadien, the company bought out all other interest for an undisclosed price. President Savard and his board of directors resigned and will be replaced by a management to be named later.

Likely Get New Coach

Senator Raymond, president of the Arena Company, which also operates the Montreal Forum, became also president of the Habitants in the deal. He said the owners were working already "to place on the ice next season a team that will be a credit to Montreal."

It is likely that a new coach succeeding Alfred (Pit) Lepine will be appointed and a committee formed and a scouting system developed.

Savard, in announcing his retirement, said it was impossible that two separate interests should control the club. He revealed he had offered first to buy out the Arena Company, and when that offer was refused had sold his interests to the company.

"It was impossible to operate the club again under conditions that prevailed during the past season," said Savard. "I wanted to have full control or nothing."

Ill-luck dogged the Canadiens during the five years Savard operated the club. During the 1937-38 season a promising drive floundered with the death of Howie Morenz. Albert (Babe) Siebert was drowned last summer before his reorganization plans as manager were instituted.

Operated at Big Loss

The crowning blow came when Canadiens, reportedly operated at a deficit of more than $25,000, both this season and the previous one, failed to make the Stanley Cup playoffs this year. It was only the second time it had happened.

Allan Marshall Sets Record

Allan Marshall, starry Peterborough breast stroker, broke his own tank record of 2 minutes and 44 seconds for the 200-yards breast stroke event, swimming the distance in the fast time of 2 minutes 35 1-5 seconds which is only 1 1-5 seconds behind the Canadian record of 2 minutes 34 seconds held by Dawson Benedict of Central Y.M.C.A. Toronto.

Stan McBride gave a fine exhibition of crawl swimming and also backstroke and combined with Wilson Wildman, Jim Hardy, Gerald Corbett and Chris Hayes, a newcomer to Peterborough, in an exhibition of diving. Mr. Hayes included in his exhibition a back one and a half somersault with a half twist.

Local Puckists Drop A Tough One To Close-Checking 'Shirts Before Big Peterborough Crowd

Playing jittery hockey in Oshawa last night, the Petes dropped a 2-1 decision to Kitchener Greenshirts for their first loss in three starts in the three-in-five O.H.A. intermediate "A" final series. The next game is billed for Kitchener on Tuesday, fifth tilt, if necessary, likely being in Toronto toward the end of the week.

A crowd of almost 1,500 fans—at least a thousand of them from Peterborough—whooped it up at the speedy and close action all the way. It was a clean, fast and exciting game, with neither side showing any real margin. There was no score in the first, both sides tallied in the middle heat, and the 'Shirts tossed in the odd counter in the third.

After the hot first frame, the Buckland bunch were checked closely and played some nervous and disorganized hockey most of the second and third chukkers. They edged the K's all through the first but could not dent the hemp, while the middle heat was as close and even as the 1-1 count indicates. In spots through the third, the Petes plied Goalie Bindernagel with rubber, but they ran into some disorganizing fore-checking and had little if any margin on real scoring chances over their gallant opponents.

Little Careless

Both the Kitchener markers were somewhat of the soft variety, some careless covering-up work inside the Petes' defensive zone by the defence setting the plays up and giving Goalie Harding little chance. The locals' lone tally was easily the prettiest of the night, Honey Tompkins pulling a picture rush from end to end, splitting defence and flipping the disc into the open side of the cage.

Tompkins and Jack Jopling were probably the pick of the forwards in this fray, and Drake Jopling turned in the steadiest game on defence. Harding also went good between the pipes, and the rest of the squad worked their heads off at top speed, but just didn't click as well as in their previous two playoff games. Just a bit of a letdown, possibly over-anxiety, plus some fine checking by Kitchener, spelled the narrow difference.

'Shirts System

The Greenshirts—using two less defencemen than last game and more forwards on the ice—staggered their front lines so as to have the second-stringers out to check the Petes' first trio, and their scorers out against the Petes' second line. It worked well with Grau getting both goals, Bauer aiding on one, and the local snipers being checked up closely throughout the last two innings. Goalie Bindernagel starred with some swell saves in every period and his defence worked well, the first line sparkling on the attack and the subs strong on the check.

Bauer got a close-in stab at the start and it was hot and lively for a time. A Kingdon-Heal rush nearly paid off and later Blewett got in for a shot. Simon went off for repairs after being flattened by Crowe and a bit later Gardner stumbled off with a cut on the head from a stick. The Petes began to carry the play and swept in repeatedly for hot pokes at Bindy, but he was flicking them aside or falling on the puck and holding it. A Coughlin-Blewett rush was close and, when Coughlin was gated for slashing—in self-defence—the 'Shirts pressed hard but Don returned with no damage done. Twice J. Jopling pulled fine tries and, with Fehrenbach next waved for holding, the Petes whammed the rubber at the goal half a dozen times but could not click. Tompkins and Kingdon nearly notched one but all were back and no score at the bell.

Even Second

Harding robbed Grau and Bauer early in the fast, even middle chapter, but less than five minutes had passed when Kitchener opened the scoring. Grau was uncovered and took Bauer's pass across in front of the net at close range to smack it home. Four Petes poured up to pepper Bindernagel and it was wildly exciting for a time. J. Jopling flew down the ice to foil a two-man breakaway, and Lang was helped off the ice after a collision at defence. Tompkins tied up the score at the halfway mark with a swell solo dash, carrying the puck on a weaving rush down centre, splitting defence and flipping the puck in neatly to earn heavy applause. Kingdon made a neat try and Ellis flopped on the puck to help Harding on a semi-breakaway by the K's. Bauer came close and in return a Blewett-Coughlin stab did everything but draw blood. It was up and down fast and evenly, with first an Ellis-Kingdon try looking dangerous and then a Grau-Vrooman duet right in there. The checking was close, especially by the 'Shirts most of this period and both goalies were good. Coughlin and J. Jopling pulled a good rush at the finish.

The Winner

Less than a minute of the third had passed away when the 'Shirts counted the goal that won the game. Grau gained the puck on a check in the centre zone and slipped across the blue line, the Petes' defence backing up a bit first and then starting to check him. He snapped a shot which Harding—his vision blocked by the defence—didn't see in time and it clicked in the twine. Heal and Kingdon almost got it back right away on a nice rush, and when Fehrenbach was penalised for tripping, the locals swarmed up the ice. However, they were checked so closely that they didn't have a good scoring try before his return. It was hot and even and marked by plenty of centre zone checking and some disorganised but exciting hockey. Tompkins got through again on a nice rush but was blocked by the goalie and an Ellis-Kingdon try came to naught. Blewett was dazed in a spill after a good sortie, and four and five Petes began to attack, with Bindernagel in great form to rob them. The Petes' first line was dangerous but close checking and threatened breakaways kept play even as the minutes ticked by. Harding came out to theft Lorents on a break and the Petes were using four forwards at the last but to no avail.

The teams:

Kitchener: Goal, Bindernagel; defence, Hause and Simon; centre, Bauer; wings, Grau and Vrooman; alternates, Fehrenbach, Lang, Smith, Lorents, Kuntz and Huber.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Ellis and Gardner; centre, Kingdon; wings, Heal and Tompkins; alternates, F. Jopling, Crowe, J. Jopling, Starr, Coughlin and Blewett.

Referee: Hap Day, of Toronto.

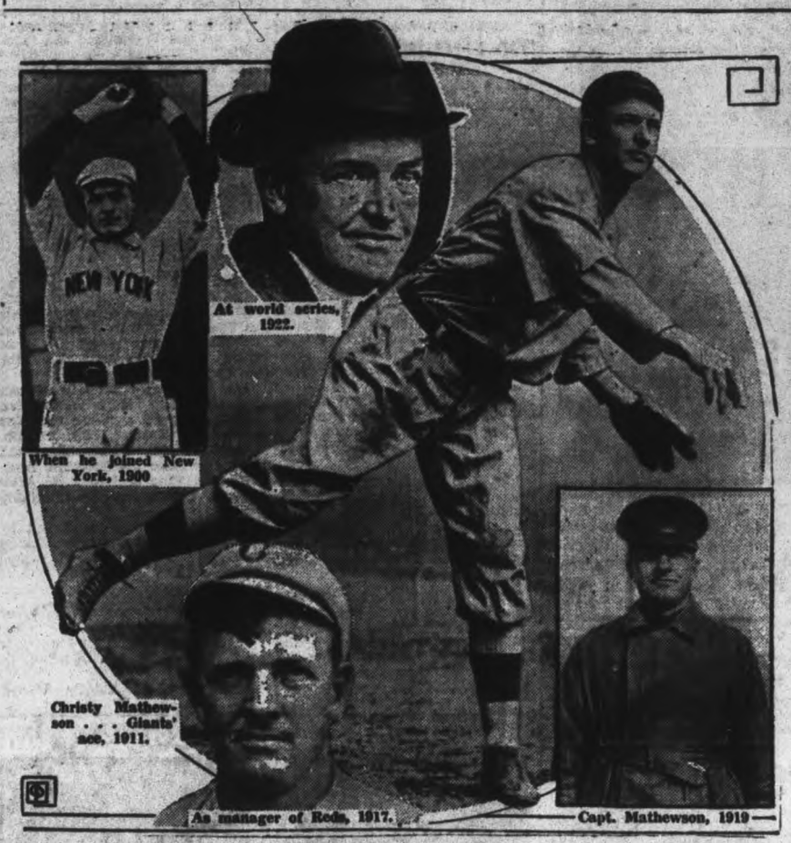
Diamond Meteors!

MATHEWSON WORKED LONG AND HARD FOR SUCCESS



By Central Press Canadian

The "fadeaway" trade-marked Christy Mathewson's formula for success.

Baseball's great righthander of yesterday struggled upward to fortune and diamond fame by unceasing work and ingenuity.

Matty was born of poor parents in the little town of Factoryville, Pa., in 1880. He knew when he was still a small boy that he would have to work for his pocket money and provide his own education.

He went after his aims in characteristic "Big Six" style. Same Crane, a sports writer, nicknamed Mathewson — years later — after a famous old New York steam fire engine. The nicename was as permanent and lasting as Matty's record, commemorated with a plaque in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1939.

Worked Way

Young Mathewson worked his way through Keystone academy with odd jobs. He got a semi-pro contract with the Y.M.C.A. team at Scranton, Pa., and paid his way through Bucknell University.

Up through the minors in New England and the South, Matty got a break with the New York Giants in 1900, but he was shipped back to Norfolk, Va., for seasoning.

This was the test period in Matty's career. Matty proved he could take the kick downstairs and keep struggling to get up again. When he showed signs of renewed prowess at Norfolk, he was quickly snapped up again by the Giants.

Develops Pitch

Under John McGraw of the Giants, Matty hit his stride in 1902. He developed the famous "fadeaway," a product of tireless work and endless experiment. This streaking pitched ball seemed to disappear or "fade away" on its path to the plate, and it baffled scores of hitters.

Next to his "fadeaway," Matty's most celebrated possession was his scruple against Sunday ball games. Throughout his career he never pitched a Sunday game. In 1918 after two years with Cincinnati Matty resigned and joined the United States Army Medical Corps for war service.

The slab artist led the National league in pitching in 1909 and 1910, winning 25 and 27 games, respectively.

Mathewson's health broke in 1919. After four years of sanatoriums he made a short comeback as president of the Boston Braves. Matty's death in 1925 during the world series overshadowed the baseball classic and shocked the nation. Mathewson reached the peaks of success in baseball and his passing brought sorrow to all the land.

Generals Beat Verdun 6-3 In Great Finish

By DICK SHERIDAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 6.—(CP)—It's the final drive that counts in any sport and it was this same closing kick that put Oshawa Generals within 60 minutes of creating hockey history today. Generals beat Verdun 6-3 in a flaming finish here last night and approached to within one game of their third straight Eastern Canada junior championship. No other club has ever won the title three years in a row.

For nearly 40 minutes the Quebec champions led the Memorial Cup champions on the score sheet, due principally to the showing of Goalie Reggie Bessette. Generals caught up the final minute of the second session and won in a third-period rush that brought three goals.

Big Factor In Oshawa Win

Two former Montreal boys were a big factor in toppling Verdun. Buddy Hellyer, ex-Montreal Royal, counted two goals and Frankie Eddolls, with Verdun last year, scored an important tally in the third.

Perhaps more than any other player, however, Roy Sawyer was responsible for the Verdun downfall. Sawyer, who missed last year's series between the teams because of a broken ankle, scored the tying goal on a breakaway near the end of the second period.

Early in the third Sawyer started the play that brought the winning goal. He rushed right in on Bessette with the puck and the two went down in a heap, leaving the net open for George Ritchie to score easily.

Ross Rossignol, Jim Gauthier and Maurice Richard tallied for Verdun, the latter two getting the most spectacular goals of the night. Gauthier raced through the Generals late in the 1st period, knifed through the defence and while off balance beat Goalie Dinny McManus.

The series resumes at Montreal next Wednesday.

New Haven, Conn. — Steve (Crusher) Casey, 225, Ireland, and Marvin Westenberg, 234, Tacoma, Wash., drew. Each had one fall when curfew ended the bout.

Remember When—

Turkish Delight II was the first of 1,840 horses Steve Donoghue rode to victory when the record-setting English jockey won his first race at Phoenix Park, Dublin, 33 years ago today. Steve became a legend in his 30 years of racing, and headed the jockey list 10 years consistently. The 55-year-old champion is a trainer now, and has under his care the horses of many whose colors he once wore.

Reveal Dictatorship Plans Of Silver Shirts

Miss Dorothy Waring, of New York, blonde, blue-eyed and beautiful, is shown with Rep. Samuel Dickstein of New York, CENTRE, as she testified before the Dies committee at Washington. Miss Waring told that she was a confidential secretary for an affiliate of the silver shirts headed by William Dudley Pelley, INSET. She said she was "placed there" by Rep. Dickstein to "get information." Highspot of Miss Waring's testimony was her account of how Pelley visited her New York apartment and told her of his plans to seize control of New York and eventually of the national government in Washington. Rep. Dickstein openly charged Pelley with treason and said that the silver shirt leader and "some army men planned to lead a revolt against the government." At LEFT is Richard Rollins, of New York, former congressional investigator for the Dickstein committee, forerunner of the Dies committee.

Women's Group Makes Quilt For Red Cross

LAKEFIELD, April 6 (ENS)—Two finished quilts which were given to the Red Cross Society for the refugee fund, were on display at the monthly meeting of the Lakefield Women's Institute on Wednesday afternoon. The linings had been donated by Mrs. M. Holland and Mrs. George Spence.

These were presented to Mrs. W. Gillman, convener of the works committee of the local Red Cross society. When thanking the Institute Mrs. Gillman stated the need of quilts, especially for children's cots.

The branch also received a quilt top and back, anonymous. Mrs. A. Windsor kindly donated the bat for this quilt which will be quilted Wednesday next in the Memorial Hall.

A gift of five pairs of mitts and two pairs of stockings for children and a quilt were received from Mrs. S. Hunter. These, too, are to be given to the Red Cross for the refugee cause.

Mrs. N. S. Higgins, president, presided, and in the absence of the secretary, Miss Margaret Sanderson, Mrs. A. Davis filled this office. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $2.83.

Bulbs Are Exchanged

There was an exchange of bulbs, seeds and slips. Health charts filled in by members were handed in.

A letter from the war charities fund of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario was read, but as the local branch is assisting the Red Cross Society this matter was left in abeyance.

"Dick," the amateur gardener, will give an illustrated lecture in the Institute Hall, on May 1.

A report from the National Institute for the Blind was given re glasses.

The ladies decided to cater for the Junior dance, April 24.

Three choices were given for the Co-operative program; first, "Home Utilization of Wool." "Preservation of Fruit and Vegetables" and "Lingerie."

As the May meeting will be the annual meeting all convenors were asked to have their reports prepared. Owing to the late hour, the meat contest was left over for a later meeting.

Mrs. Weir Hostess To Omemee W.M.S.

OMEMEE, April 6—(ENS).—The W.M.S. of Trinity United church met at the home of Mrs. David Weir on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance. The meeting was in charge of Group Two with Mrs. Vernon Lang convener.

The meeting opened with a hymn and Mrs. Lang led in prayer. Mrs. Morcombe read a paper on "The meaning of Easter"; Mrs. Everson, a paper on the "Resurrection," and Miss Lily Race the Scripture reading. Mrs. Pitts and Mrs. W. Weir sang a duet closing the worship period.

The business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Connell. Lunch was served by the group in charge at the close of the meeting.

Personals

Mrs. W. Henderson was a visitor to Lindsay on Thursday.

Miss Stella Mitchell of Lindsay is spending a few days with friends in Omemee.

The choir of Trinity United church was entertained at the home of Mrs. M. D. Earle on Wednesday evening. Various games were enjoyed and Mrs. Earle served a dainty lunch.

Miss Minnie Ellis of Peterborough spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ellis.

Mrs. Edith Fee and sons have returned to their home in Sioux Lookout after spending two weeks visiting relatives in Omemee.

Mrs. T. E. MacPherson, Mrs. L. Parker, and Misses Stella Mitchell and Florie Sloan were visitors to Peterborough on Thursday and attended the show "Gone With The Wind."

Mr. Ted Marsh was a visitor to Peterborough on Thursday.

Mr. J. Williams is spending the week-end in Toronto.

Mrs. W. Henderson is spending the week-end in Toronto visiting relatives.

The evening branch of the W.A. met at the home of Miss Patricia Hunt on Thursday evening. The devotional part was taken by President, Mrs. G. H. Johnson. Several items of business were discussed and arrangements were made for packing a bale. The remainder of the evening was spent in sewing. Dainty refreshments were served by Patricia and her mother.

The Women's Guild of Christ Church met at the home of Mrs. Ralph James on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock with a fair attendance. The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. James, in the chair. It was decided to hold a tea in May. Several letters of thanks were read by the secretary, Miss Mildred Jones. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing and work was given out to members to work on for the bazaar. Lunch was served by Mrs. James and Margaret.

See Mauretania To Hong Kong

HONOLULU, April 6 — (AP). — Britain's speedy liner Mauretania was on the high seas today, believed bound for Hong Kong to be remodeled into a troopship. The big ship stopped here for fuel and supplies.

Waterfront sources pointed out that when the liner left it was headed toward Hong Kong, British Crown colony, where the liner Empress of Canada and Empress of Japan were unofficially reported being converted into troop transports.

The same sources said remodeling of the Mauretania would be cheaper in Hong Kong and that Australian shipyards at present were probably too busy to handle the job.

Captain Ernest Edkin of the Mauretania told reporters he was sailing under sealed orders known only to himself, nine navigating officers and the British Admiralty.

"I can't tell you the purpose of the voyage. I'll have to leave that to your imagination."

A Precedent

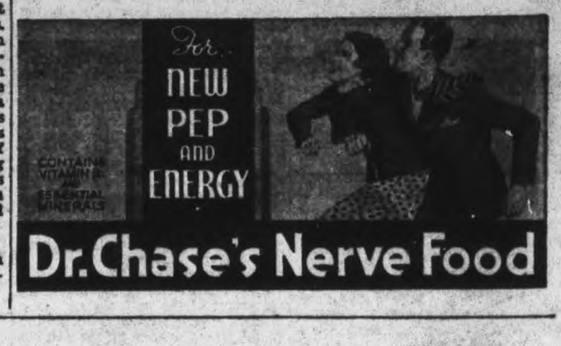
London, April 6 (CP Cable)

WHEN hand-picked units of Quebec's Royal 22nd mount guard at Buckingham Palace later this month it will be the first time in British history that His Majesty's person will be guarded while in England by troops not of purely British descent and not speaking English as their mother tongue.

But it will not be the first time that the French-Canadians have guarded the King.

Members of the Royal 22nd guarded the citadel at Quebec as Their Majesties spent their first night on Canadian soil last May 17 after landing at Wolfe's Cove.

And just after setting foot on Canadian soil the King inspected his guard of honor—trim ranks of the Royal 22nd.



Omemee Horticulturalists To Improve Village Park

OMEMEE, April 6—(ENS).—The regular meeting of the Young People's Union of Trinity United Church was held on Monday evening in the basement of the church. The meeting was in charge of the recreation convener, Miss Hazel Wilson. The business was conducted by the president, Richard Vaughan. It was decided that the local young people meet in a body on Friday evening at the church to attend the dramatic festival in Cambridge street church, Lindsay. The Anglican young people are to be invited to visit the society on April 22.

The scripture reading was taken by Doris McConnell and Velma Preston read an impressive poem, "Our Daily Vigil." The convener read a stirring commentary on the scripture lesson was a challenge to the young people to actually bring about the new world as seen by St. John on the island of Patmos.

Hazel Wilson led in community singing which was followed by a series of contests and games. A hearty pot-luck lunch closed one of the most interesting meetings of the year.

Prizes Presented

The Horticultural Society held its meeting in the council chamber on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. Moyer, called on the senior judge, Mr. Curtis, to present prizes to the following boys: High school, first prize, J. Deyell; second prize, K. Harrisson; third prize, J. Franks. Senior Public school: first prize, G. Brockley; second prize, G. Faulkner; thrid prize. R. McQuade. Junior Public School: First prize, D. O'Niel; second, E. Bullock; third prize, M. Windrem. The first prize in each case was $1.50 and the second one $1 and the third one, 75 cents.

Mrs. Mackey, chairman of the delegation to the council, reported interviewing the council and receiving a donation of twenty-five dollars which the society decided to spend on Coronation Park. The park committee was authorized to purchase three benches and plant shrubs and flowers on same.

The bridge committee was authorized to make plans agreeable to Mr. Moore of Department of Highways in connection with the approaches to the bridge.

A committee was appointed to order premiums.

After business discussion, Mr. E. Corneil gave his report on the conference, explaining the pruning of shrubs and trees and suggestions for flower shows.

April Fools' Party

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown entertained a number of friends to an April Fools' party on Monday evening, April 1. Everyone went in costume and bridge was enjoyed by all present. Other games were also enjoyed and prizes given the winners. Dainty refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. Brown.

Ladies' Aid Meets

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies Aid was held at the manse on Tuesday afternoon. Following the devotional exercises, presentation of reports and business, the members turned in their 'talent' money and recounted how they had earned it.

At the close of the meeting the usual friendly social hour was spent. As one of the members, Mrs. J. Payser, was celebrating a wedding anniversary, congratulations were extended and a cake suitably decorated was enjoyed by all.

Pot Luck Dinner Held At Selwyn

SELWYN, April 6—(ENS). — A very enjoyable day was spent by the ladies of the Selwyn United Church W.A. on Wednesday, when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald for a pot luck dinner and to hold their regular monthly meeting and also to quilt one of Mrs. Fitzgerald's quilts. There were twelve member of the W.A. present, also four visitors.

A very bountiful dinner was served at noon. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. William Purdy and opened with the hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Gilbert McIlmoyle, and the topic by Mrs. Edward Preston.

The day of meeting was changed from the first Thursday of every month to Wednesday. A study book was introduced by the president, to be read at the meetings, starting next month.

The ladies at the close of the meeting continued with their quilting until 4.30 p.m., when the hostess and her assistants served tea. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Nicholls upon her kind invitation.

After Gas Tanks Exploded

Huge clouds of black smoke billow into the sky from burning gasoline storage tanks at Kingston, Pa., one of four cities hardest hit by the flood waters of the swollen Susquehanna River. The other places are Wilkes-Barre, Plymouth and Sunbury. The gas tanks blew up with a terrific roar soon after an oily film from a leaking tank spread over the Susquehanna. Waters carried away burning gasoline which set fire to many buildings. It was believed that a short circuit or a carelessly tossed match or cigarette might have caused the blast. Authorities expressed belief that the blast had not added to the toll of nine lives previously taken by flood waters in Pennsylvania.

Textile Trade Honors G. Monkman

TORONTO, April 6.—(Special.)—Gordon Monkman, general manager of the G. Whitaker Company's Peterboro plant, was Friday night honored in Toronto by membership of the Canadian Allied Textile Trades Association.

On relinquishing the presidency of the Association, which he has held for two years, he was presented with a handsome silver tray, as a mark of esteem and in recognition of the services rendered to the organization.

The presentation was made by Karl Homuth, M.P.-elect, South Waterloo, at the Association's eighth annual dinner meeting at the Albany Club. He paid tribute to Major Monkman as "the man who had don a great deal for our organization and for the Canadian textile trade in Canada as a whole," and he hoped the retiring president would continue to lend his support to the Association.

Elected as his successor in the presidential chair at the general meeting earlier in the day, W. A. Kennedy, Hamilton, told members he hoped that through the critical period of the war, "You will do your utmost to further the interests of Canada and the British Empire and those associated with the Empire in trying to keep democracy on this good old earth."

Dinner guests included, J. B. Greaves, H.M. Trade Commissioner; R. R. Ellen, assistant Australian Trade Commissioner; H. Brown, assistant wool administrator; Harold Smith, Hamilton, vice-president Canadian Woollens and Knit Goods Association; D. G. H. Melton, manager Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Peterborough, and Peck Barber, Toronto, formerly of Dominion Woollens, Peterborough.

ROADS STILL BAD

Visitors to the market this morning report that many of the country roads are still in very bad shape so far as motoring is concerned and on a number of the side roads it is impossible to drive a car.

CROCUS IN BLOOM

Sure of spring, two yellow crocuses have opened out, and clumps of blossums are in evidence, at the home of Mrs. J. Cridland, 864 George street. Mrs. Cridland is president of the Conservative Women's Club of Peterborough.

MAPLE SYRUP ON MARKET

Maple syrup was fairly plentiful on the farmers' market today with the price quoted as sixty cents a quart.

HIS FIRST COUSIN

The appointment of Brigadier General Odlum to command of the 2nd Canadian Division, was of more than ordinary interest the other day to Gordon Powell, Peterborough electrician (Miller-Powell's). General Odlum is his first cousin.

DOG TAGS SELLING

Apparently Peterborough folk are more concerned about their dogs than their automobiles. At least they show more haste in buying their dog licenses than they do their car licenses. The canine year does not expire until the end of this month but dog-owners are applying at the police station for the new tags and up to this morning 39 new licenses had been sold.

DIES IN PORT HOPE.

Vincent Booth Coleman, veteran manager of the Port Hope Hydro system, is dead in his 71st year. The funeral service is to be held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. with the remains lying in state from 1.00 p.m.

PETERBOROUGH HEARD FROM

When the visit of Anthony Eden to the Royal Canadian Air Force squadron in England was being rebroadcast on Friday, Peterborough listeners-in had a chance to hear one voice from their home town. Near the end of the broadcast the fliers were given an opportunity to shout greetings to their Canadian friends and one voice was heard to say "Hello, Peterborough." Flying Officer Arthur Waddell is with the squadron.

Red Cross Program Given In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, April 6.—(ENS).—A splendid concert was presented under the auspices of the Lakefield Red Cross Society on Friday evening in the Memorial Hall to a large audience.

The program opened with the singing of 'O Canada,' after which the chairman, J. W. McKercher, gave a short address of welcome. Two much appreciated piano solos, Impromptu, in A flat by Shubert, and Minstrels by Debussy, were played by Miss Phyllis Stewart.

Eight children, quaintly dressed in styles of years ago, went through the intricate steps of a minuet. The girls were dressed in long, graceful gowns, each of a different color, and the boys with white breeches, stockings, and ruffled blouses. All wore white wigs. Those taking part were Alter Bullock, Barbara Hamlin, Frances Erskine, Elinore Deck, Ross Calberry, Billie Geraldi, Clayton Hutt and George Kelly. The accompanist was Miss Aileen Young, who had also trained the children.

Two guitar duets were given by Willie Garbutt and John Carveth.

Mrs. G. F. Kelly was the accompanist for the duets, 'Spelling Lesson' and 'Tell Me Gentle Stranger,' sung by Miss Cora Charlton and Rev. G. F. Kelly.

Miss Mary McKrecher's piano solos, Lubustroum and Arabesque, were much appreciated by the audience. Miss Jean Miller contributed two snappy military tap dance numbers.

A one-act play, 'His Second Chance,' was presented by Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Kelly and Robt. Spence. This was the story of how a man who was accustomed to drinking and neglecting his wife and home, was reformed by the drastic method of making him believe he had died from the effects of drinking and only his spirit remained. By seeing his faults he was made to promise to live a better life in the future.

W. J. Charlton was called in by the chairman to draw tickets for the door prize and for a quilt and lace table cover on which tickets had been sold.

Miss Sadie Young held the lucky ticket for the door prize. To Robt. Spence went the quilt and to S. J. Charlton the lace cloth.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the interesting program to a close.

Central School Captures Examiner Trophy

Two hundred boys of the Public and Separate Schools of the city and of May's and Confederation Schools in North Monaghan competed in the interscholastic swimming meet at the Y.M.C.A. last night which produced a promising group of young swimmers dominated by Don Pinch of King George School in the events for the boys of fourteen years and older.

The first tourney for youngsters ever held here, and arranged by Hamilton Goss, Boys' Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., for the purpose of stimulating their interest in swimming and diving, it was gratifying success not only in the large number of contestants, but also in the ability shown by many of the boys in the rudiments of various strokes and styles.

Each school was recently afforded two qualifying periods of preparation and coaching, and in these preliminaries and in other aspects of the competitions Mr. Goss received the fullest co-operation of the teachers. This spirit with the natural response of the boys, combined to make the affair so successful that it may become an annual feature in the community contribution of the Y.M.C.A.

In both breast stroke, free style, and back stroke performance, Don Pinch won the finals at forty and one hundred yards with speed to spare. He showed a crawl stroke in the free style that was smooth and powerful, and placed him easily at the top of the medal winners.

Prizes Presented.

The Examiner's attractive trophy in the relay events was won by the Central School. In presenting it to C. D. Munro of the Central School staff, H. L. Garner announced that it became the permanent possession of the school, and would be duplicated in future competitions.

Mayor Hamilton presented the medals to the winners, silver and bronze, and joined with Mr. Garner in congratulating the boys on their victories and also complimenting Mr. Goss on the success of the junior tournament.

In accepting the Examiner's trophy, Mr. Munro expressed his appreciation to Mr. Garner for his practical interest, and also thanked the "Y" for giving the school boys an opportunity of taking part in the meet under such pleasant and helpful circumstances.

Incidentally, Don Pinch carried off five medals as his share of the awards.

List of Winners.

The events were scheduled in heats to accommodate the large number of contestants, and the results of the finals were as follows:

20 yards, free style, boys 10 years and under—1 J. Armstrong, Central; 2, P. Walsh, King George; 3, Doug. Dobson, Queen Mary. Time—16 2-5 seconds.

With Peterborough Boys

Archie McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. McBride, 183 Stewart street is in the Toronto Scottish Regiment. He is with Roy Hope, Dave McCullough and Sid Youmans and he worked in the DeLaval at the time of his enlistment.

Pte. William R. Smith, 541 Gilchrist street, ePterborough, is also on the strength of the Ontario Regiment (Tanks) at Oshawa. Members of this unit can be readily identified by the tams, most of the infantry units wear the small forage cap.

James Lemmon, formerly of Bethany, who has been orderly at Nicholls Hospital for the past two years, is now a member of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment.

Joe Halpin of this city who enlisted with the 21st Battalion and served in World War I has deserted civilian ranks for the second time and is now in the uniform of the Hastings-Prince Edward regiment.

Herb. Bowen, 3 Grandview Ave, and Wilbert Butcher, London street, are two more local fellows who have donned the khaki in the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment.

Among the many Peterborough men now with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is Roy Brecker, 297 Townsend street, who is in training at Quebec.

Pte. S. J. Roscoe, 30 Park St. N., enlisted the 19th of March with the Hastings-Prince Edward unit. He was a mechanic at Peel'sGarage on Park street and is well known to the residents of that district. He is married and has five children.

Bill Robertson, Monaccord street, who was formerly telegraph operator in the brokerage firm of Leeming and Leeming, sent an interesting letter to his wife from Aldershot this week. Bill will be remembered as a tall thin fellow weighing about 145 but now he reports his weight has topped the 195 mark. He is with the Canadian Corps of Signals, C. A.S.F., 1st Division.

His letter tells of a visit to Guildford near Aldershot and will bring back sweet memories to many ex-servicemen in Peterborough. Here is an excerpt from the letter: "I went down to Guildford yesterday afternoonand had a grand time. It's only ten miles or so and the train takes 15 minutes and makes three stops. That's the way they do things over here, nice and easy. They had seen very few Canadians up to the time I arrived and I had more than one good laugh.

"I went into a tea room and ordered two poached eggs on toast. They never eat more than one and they couldn't understand. The waitress came back twice to make sure she had the order correct, and finally the cook came out to have a look for himself. Eventually I got the two poached eggs—on two plates. The climax came when I ordered two cream puffs and two chocolate eclairs. The entire staff of the tea room was gawking at me. I had more fun later when I went into an inn and ordered a hot rum. After I had given the order I noticed a bottle of Black and White Scotch on the bar so I told the barkeep to give me a double Scotch. He started to take the rum away and I had a heck of a time convincing him that I wanted both. The poor fellow looked pretty frightened and kept peeking at me around the corner of the bar while I disposed of the drinks. Mixing one's drinks just isn't done over here—Rugged people these Colonials."

Reg. and Hec Williams, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J Williams, Engleburn Ave., writes regularly from Aldershot. A letter from Reg. received this week tells of a visit to Kingsclere where his parents lived when they were first married. He says in part:

We saw the house where Mother was born, Rose Cottage, and also the house where you and Dad lived just after you were married. We went through the church where you were married and I was christened and I think I stood where you and Dad stood years ago when you became his bride. It sure is a grand old church....On the same day the two brothers visited another small town nearby and speaking of this place Reg says in his letter: "We saw where Dad's father is buried and the grave is very well kept. Hec and I went through the old church there and is it ever an old building, we saw some graves inside marked 1505."

A request for copies of the Examiner to keep in touch with sports in the Peterborough district is mentioned by Ken Bryant in a letter from Aldershot, England, to his father, Edward Bryant at Lakefield. He has been transferred from the trench mortar platoon to the job of truck driving, and says the new job is a rather tough one because we "have to learn the right hand drive, and shift gears with your left hand."

Quite frankly he mentions that he got three days C.B. again, "that is twice since we have been here, but I can take it," and he also says that he has had only two beers since arriving in England.

"We have lost two of the boys since we came here. They died about a month after we came. One was about 35 and the other about 20. He used to be my chum when we were in Picton. We are having nice weather now, but we had lots of snow about a week ago, and it was real Canadian snow. I have seen Dick Junkins and Vic Brown, but I haven't met Jim Earnshaw yet."

Pte. Frank Jordan, 347½ George street of the Ontario Tank Regiment at Oshawa. Frank is the son of Mrs. Jordan and the late Jimmie Jordan, who was well-known to the older generation. The family has lived in this city for more than a quarter of a century. Two brothers and his father served in the last war.

Third Offender Is Given Three Months

When a local man, a frequent visitor in police court circles appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of having been drunk on Charlotte street it cost him three months of liberty.

That was by reason of the fact that it was his third offence within the past year and when he admitted having been convicted on two previous occasions in the last twelve months there was nothing for it but three months imprisonment in the county jail, the minimum sentence for a third offence.

Educational Film Shown At P.C.I.

Pupils and teachers at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute had a rare treat in store for them Friday when Miss Mary Mussen, Women's Traffic Representative for Trans-Canada Air Lines, showed an interesting educational film, "The Swift Family Robinson."

The film was in natural color, and depicted a trip by a family named Robinson from a Montreal airport direct to Vancouver with stops at all the larger points of any size. The talking picture, which was extremely well done, had magnificent color and gave a new appreciation of the beauty of this Canada.

Miss Mussen, former air hostess, is a petite, attractive young lady who had an interesting story to tell about her crowded career. She was born in China 30 years ago of Canadian missionary parents and practically commuted across the Pacific ocean so often did she cross. She obtained her education in London, Ontario; in Shanghai, China; and attended university in Wheaton, Illinois. She also graduated from St. Luke's hospital, Chicago, and did post graduate work at the Psychiatric hospital in Toronto. Then she qualified for a post as stewardess with United Air Lines, flying the Los Angeles- San Francisco and New York-Chicago division, travelling a total of 350,000 miles by air, a total that has since been raised to half a million by flying over T.C.A. routes.

Canadian Legion Notes

We beg to remind all ex-service and enlisted men that the Vimy church parade will take place tomorrow (Sunday) to St. James' Church. The parade will fall in at the Hall at 10.15 a.m. with berets, medals and armbands. We hope to see a good turnout.

A special meeting of members in good standing will be held on Monday, April 8, at 7.45 p.m. to consider the question of securing new premises for a club house. It is essential that all members should be present as it is a matter that concerns us all.

The branch will hold its annual Vimy dinner on Tuesday, April 9, at the hall, and the time is 6.30 p.m. Tickets can be secured at the door.

The proceeds of the social games on Wednesday next will be given to the Ladies' Auxiliary to be used in their war work. It is hoped to have a large attendance.

Madoc Couple Hurt In Crash

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 6—(CP)—Percy Caverley, 60, and Mrs. Owen McEvoy, both of Madoc, were admitted to hospital last night after a motor accident on the Foxboro-Madoc road. They were passengers in a car driven by Owen McEvoy when it collided with a machine driven by Pichard McMurray, Gilmour.

Caverley suffered concussion and possible skull fracture; Mrs. McEvoy, fractured ribs and head injuries.

Obituary

JOHN ALEXANDER BROWN.

HASTINGS, April 6 — (ENS). — In the death of J. Alexander Brown at his home on Monday, April 1, Hastings lost one of its most beloved and revered citizens. Mr. Brown had not enjoyed the best of health for months, but was able to be about the village until four weeks ago, when he suffered a stroke and his condition became very critical.

Born in Alnwick Township on the farm recently owned by his only brother James, who predeceased him in November, he was the son of the late James Brown of Edinburgh, and the late Mary Ann Johnston of Baltimore, Maryland, who were among the earliest pioneers of the township, and who settled on their farm, then a forest.

He spent his early life in the Township of Alnwick, where he was a prosperous and prominent farmer until 22 years ago, when he retired and moved to Hastings, where he had since resided.

Deceased was devoted to his church, the Presbyterian, and always active in its interests, being faithful in attendance and support as long as health permitted. He taught Sunday School ofr 28 years, was superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School in Hastings for years, a member of the Board of Managers, and an elder of the church.

His interests also centered around his home and work. He enjoyed the quietness of his home, his work among his flowers and garden, and his work as agent for the International Harvesters' Manufcuring Company. In the community he was always doing good for others, so his death has brought deep feelings of regret to all who knew him and his cheery greeting and kindly ways will always remain a pleasant memory.

Highest tribute was paid to the memory of the deceased on Thursday, when friends from Alnwick Township, Warkworth, Toronto, Peterborough, and the surrounding district gathered at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 2.30 p.m. for service conducted by his pastor, Rev. D. K. Perrie, assisted by the Rev. Williams Stocks of St. George's Anglican Church.

Many floral tributes, wreaths, were received from friends, the Hastings Women's Institute, the Kirk Session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member of over 21 years, and from a nephew, Percy Speirs Read of San Francisco.

Pall-bearers were four elders, William Whitred, W. M. Fowlds, Howard Fife and J. Taylor, also H. McMillan and C. B. Plant.

Flower-bearers were D. Beamish, E. Hahn, C. Gillespie, W. McMillan, H Wiley, and Charles Ewing.

Interment was in Trent Valley Cemetery.

Besides his sorrowing wife, formerly Maude Speirs, he leaves to mourn his passing two sisters, Mrs. John Wiley of Peterborough and Mrs. Aaron Leach of Fort Worth, Texas, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Robert Brown of Roseneath and Mrs. W. Doughty of Peterborough.

George Street Union Presents Drama

If ever there was a responsive audience for a comedy-drama, it was Friday night in George Street Sunday School Hall when "April's Fool" was presented by the Young People's Union. Every available seat was occupied by the time the curtain went up, and from then on the house rocked with gales of laughter as the most amusing and well acted Y.P.U. play in many a season ran smoothly through to a successful conclusion.

Undoubtedly much of this success is due to the untiring efforts of Mrs Cecil Wasson, the director, who must have felt well rewarded for her efforts as the final curtain rang down to the sound of enthusiastic applause. Deserving of much credit, also, are Miss Helen Wellman, in charge of make-up; Mrs. Lloyd Ash, in charge of costumes, Miss Audrey Oliver as script girl, and Mr. Herb Pick as stage manager. Rev. M. C. Parr welcomed the audience on behalf of the Y.P.U., and excellent music between acts was provided by the Aloha Serenaders. Home-made candy was sold by members of the group.

Parts Well Taken.

With every player taking his or her part with an ability and naturalness that is unusual in an amateur cast, "April's Fool" was pure enjoyment from start to finish. Not for one moment did interest lag, and roles were so well interpreted that it is almost impossible to single out any one actor, unless it be Cecil Wasson, who gave an outstanding performance as the funny but lovable old Grandpa Hezekia Duffy, and Joan Fletcher, who was his exasperating but kind at heart spouse. Irene Constable, who was Mrs. Dagge, a neighbor, has evident acting ability, and Betty Banks, though playing an unpopular role, did it remarkably well, almost winning the "boos" of the audience.

Wally Crouter was "April's Fool," but not for long—his pantomime was good, and a mere shrug of his shoulders brought a laugh from the audience. Melville Akers, as Meredith Van Courtney, April's wealth suitor, carried the "aristocratic" air demanded by his role with an easy nonchalance, Jewitt Parr, who was Elbert Phipps, a theological student, gave an exhibition of nervousness that, though feigned, was very convincing. Muriel White, the Duffy's hired girl, known by the engaging name of Amarilla Pennypacker, in gingham apron and hair curlers, was excellent in the role of the gawky, awkward country maid. June Armstrong played April Trevis, and was lovable as the popular granddaughter, and Ethel Dobson, in the role of mother, rates credit for her interpretation of a striver after "society," to say nothing of money.

Old Couple Quarrelled.

The plot was a little more original than most. The quarrelling of the old couple who were fifty years married almost brought them to grief because their son and daughter thought it was a sign of lost affection, but all came out right at last, and much amusement was provided in between by the attack of "nerves" suffered by the daughter-in-law when things didn't go her way, and the love affairs of the pretty granddaughter.

DANGER IN RADIOS

Fishermen of Denmark have been warned not to use their radio transmitters near mine fields because transmitters often induce electric currents of sufficient strength to explode the mines.

Blouses make the suit and they also stretch your spring clothing budget. Wear these attractive styles with your new suit, with skirts already in your wardrobe or with a long skirt for evening. The lingerie blouse is as feminine as a fan and as smart as the day-after-tomorrow. Rows of lace insertion and ruffling make this blouse the perfect compliment for dressier occasions. New, interesting lines are the style feature of this basque type of blouse that gives you the longer molded waistline so popular this season.

Style No. 3208 is designed for sizes, 12, 14, 16, 36, 38, 40 and 42 Size 36 requires 2 yards of 39-inch material, with 4 1-5 yards of ruffling and 5 yards of insertion, for lingerie blouse; 1½ yards for fitted blouse.

STRAPLESSNESS has had its day. Those who want to wear something equally daring, if not more so, have the exposed midriff gown to count upon, and any number of semi-shocking decolletages from both Paris and American collections. Among the latter, in particular, are also skirts slit to the knee and even slightly above. Hollywood's Mary Healy poses in an entirely different kind of style, one which is popular every season of the year: The fitted, modest bodice strapped over the shoulders and seamed to a bouffant skirt. The material, checked taffeta, is crisp and young looking, trimmed at the top by black velvet and black lace ruffling. Nothing here to startle but everything to please, a dress for the sweet-looking girl who has no aspirations toward sophistication.

Miss Connie Wagar Is Elected Circle Secretary

NAPANEE, April 6.—The Spring executive meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch, Woman's Missionary Society convened in Trinity United Church, Napanee, on April 3rd and 4th with only three absent members.

Miss E. Dunoon, Lindsay, presided over the five sessions and the guest speaker was Mrs. L. F. Stephens, Hamilton, president of the Dominion Board who brought a timely message.

During the sessions Miss Connie Wagar, Peterborough, was elected as Mission Circle secretary and Mrs. W. A. Scott, Pakenham, as secretary of Community Friendship.

The treasurer remitted $65,174 to Dominion Board and excellent reports were given by each secretary and six presbyterial presidents.

Miss Mabel Clazie, of Belleville, home on furlough from Japan, after thirty years of service, attended the sessions.

The worship periods were based on "Should Missions go on in Time of War" and "Stewardship."

Mrs. Cecil Gillies had a splendid display of literature and Mrs. Percy MacMullen showed several press scrap books. The other appointments were:

Officers Appointed

Finance Committee—Mrs. Smyth, Mrs. Corkill, Mrs. F. Sherman, Mrs. Whiteside and the Christian Stewardship Secretary of Oshawa.

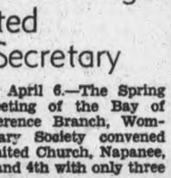
Advisory Committee—Miss E. Dunoon, Miss C. Wagar, Mrs. C. R. Carscallen.

Candidate Advisor—Mrs. R. M. Seymour.

Delegates to Dominion Board—Miss E. Dunoon, Mrs. R. Vatcher, alternate, Mrs. W. A. Scott.

Nominating Committee.—Mrs. A. I. Wright. Mrs. W. A. Dunk, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. C. Gillies, and presidents of presbyterials.

With The Girl Guides



The Provincial Council of Canadian Girl Guides is meeting today Saturday) at the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa for an all-day session when more than 100 Commissioners and Guides from all sections of Ontario are expected to attend. Mrs. H. F. H. Hertzbery, acting Provincial Commissioner, who is presiding for the meeting, will shortly visit Peterborough.

During the session plans will be made for the carrying on of war work as well as other Guide activities. At present the Guide training includes First Aid, Home Nursing and other activities invaluable in war work. In Ontario there are 1,500 adult Guides which includes Commissioners and Guiders, and 22,000 children.

The important role played by Guides in hospital and relief work during the Polish struggle against Germany will be outlined by Victor Podoski, Polish Consul-General, in an address to the luncheon meeting of the Council. His subject will be "The Place the Guide Takes in Poland."

Following the presentation of reports and election of officers during the afternoon, Lady Campbell will entertain the Council to tea at "Earnscliffe."

Do You Know?

Dress hangers, with an extra hook for the handbags, are a pleasing thought for the guest closet. They come in plastic in those glowing colors that look good enough to eat, and are extremely practical, since they may be washed off with a damp cloth.

We Noticed

. . . Although you may look a picture of suave elegance in your new Spring costume, and you may know you are chic these days because people tell you so, are you quite sure they have as high an opinion of your smartness after they've complimented you as they had before?

. . . Think carefully. If you have never learned to accept compliments charmingly, then the answer is No. Chic or smartness, after all, have to do with you, your manners and mannerisms, as well as with your make up and clothes.

. . . She who says, "Why, I can't imagine why you like this," when someone finishes telling her how nice her new hat it proclaims her lack of poise—and there's no chic without poise. If you don't know how to accept compliments charmingly, it's high time you learned. Being brusque, almost to the point of rudeness, simply to cover up embarrassment, is a little sad but not exactly excusable.

Art Club Members Share Delights Of a Ramble Through The Maritimes

The history and beauty of a land where the people take time to live, where the invigorating scent of the sea is usually in the nostrils, and where the oxen is often the beast of burden, were delightfully unfolded by Miss Lillian Esplen Friday afternoon when she spoke on "A Ramble Through the Maritimes" at a studio meeting of the Women's Art Association in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room.

"Following the historic St. Lawrence River on its way to the sea," she said, "one cannot help but dream dreams of Cartier, Champlain, Wolfe and the noble band of men and women who came to our country when it was but a wilderness."

New Brunswick, although the largest of the Maritime Provinces, is not the most interesting, the speaker explained as she took her listeners up an imaginary trail of the St. John River to the capital city of Fredericton, which makes the traveller feel the lure of age and historical background as soon as he enters the gates. The Parliament Buildings, and the Christ Church Cathedral, the latter of Gothic design and built of New Brunswick stone, were also described, the speaker pointing out that not the least of the thrill thetr visit gave them was the fact that the King and Queen of England had made the same tour of the city but a few weeks before.

Continuing overland to Moncton, a city of about the size of Peterborough, the largest railroad centre east of Montreal, and the city chosen as the Eastern terminal of the trans-Canada Airways, Miss Esplen told of the magnetic hill and the tidal wave.

It was with reluctance that the travellers had to continue their rambles rather than linger among the beauty spots by the sea — the rains had come, and throughout the province the sideroads were not fit for motoring. At Amherst a huge relief map on the side of a hill had been built by one of the citizens with no thought of award other than the convenience and pleasure it would mean to travellers. Of interest, also, was the story of the sword fishing industry at Lewisburg. Fifteen or 20 minutes after the fish are caught they are packed and shipped to Boston, where they are served as a great delicacy the next morning.

Returning to Halifax, "the front door into Canada," and at one time the most strongly fortified city in the whole world, Miss Esplen told of the bells of St. Paul's, the first Presbyterian Church in the country, which are still ringing out over the city, and of the beautiful flower gardens which must only be second in beauty to the Butcher Gardens at Victoria, B.C. The winding, narrow streets of Halifax were compared to those of Quebec, and the delights of the road leading westward along the sea coast on the return journey, of Grand Pre, St. John, St. Stephen and St. Andrew by the Sea were vividly recalled.

Miss Esplen was introduced by the Association president, Mrs. F. E. Hooper. She was thanked and presented with a sheaf of roses by Mrs. J. G. Wharry.

Branch Notes

The monthy business meeting of the branch was held Thursday evening with about twenty-five members present.

Instead of the usual social evening at the church plans are being made to hold a theatre party on April 25. The branch had as its guest for the evening, Pte. Bernard King, a former member, now on his last leave. Best wishes are extended to Bernard on behalf of the A.Y.P.A. and the hopes that he will be back with the members again soon.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH

St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. held its regular monthly business meeting on Thursday night. Mrs. F. Curtis, president, occupied the chair and prayers were offered by Ralph Mason At the close of the business session, Vic Sedgewick led a very clever series of games and contests, almost everyone winning a prize.

Next week Art Sayer's group is in charge and everyone is asked to bring 10 cents for refreshments.

Easy Exercise Routine Remakes Your Figure

Beware Aging Bulges and Sags

Does your figure make you look ten years older—or ten years younger than you are?

No matter how young, the woman with weak abdominal muscles may have middle-aged faults—sagging shoulders, a curved back, a protruding stomach.

But with the right exercises you can strengthen your middle muscles, and be youthfully trim and lovely, though you may have long passed forty.

Here is an exercise that works wonders for weak abdominal muscles.

1—Lie on back with arms at sides, pull both knees back to chest. 2—Stretch legs straight up in the air, lifting hips a little. 3—Lower hips, bend knees, then stretch legs out straight. Repeat 3 times. Rest. Do 9 or 10 times in all.

With just as simple exercises you can also lift and firm a drooping bust, slim heavy legs and thighs, and make other magical changes.

Our 32-page booklet gives exercises to correct faults of waistline, shoulders, arms, bust, hips, legs and feet. Also has exercises to correct constipation, relax tired nerves, improve posture. Has a daily routine to tone up the entire body.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of BEST EXERCISES FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 7.

Sunday's horoscope is an indication of the leisurely and orthodox interests of the Sabbath, with affairs moving in the happiest of social, romantic or cultural grooves, rather than in anything of a sordid or worldly nature. However, where expedient or desired, it is a propitious time for cultivating the good graces of superiors, those in place and power, or others whose esteem or preferment is cherished.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which they should make the most of opportunities for gaining the favoritism or substantial support or co-operation of those in influential positions.

A child born on this day may be fairly active and enterprising, and have the laudable objective of standing high in the good graces of its superiors.

For Monday, April 8.

Monday's astrological forecast is for excellent prospects for attaining ambitions in either fame, fortune, power or purely personal pleasure. In all directions propitious forces reign, assisting to cherished goals in productive, intellectual pursuits, financial standing, social position, or philanthropic purpose. It is a time for pushing to the gates of heart's desire.

Those whose birthday it is have a very progressive and pleasant year assured, with all aspirations under expansive, glowing, and propitious impetus for outstanding achievement. This may be in business, intellectual or social activities, or in avenues of purely personal indulgence or gratification.

A child born on this day may be richly endowed with talents, aims, and aspirations for reaching powerful and worthy objectives in life.

A ripe olive garnish for a fish or meat platter is a treat. Cover ripe olives, arranged in a shallow pan, with French dressing and bake them five minutes in moderate oven. Cool the dressing and use it later.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
OMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
OLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who lays in a music store.
RENT NELSON, succesful young announcer.
YRA NOYES, famous radio star, engaged to Brent.
ERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.
AXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.
ESTERDAY: Myra berates Brent for the attention he has been howing Romany.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Romany waited impatiently hile Brent went down to the pro- ram board room to find out if his dgment of her audition had been ndicated. He came back beaming. "They're so charmed with your ulcet tones, they want me to bring ou down to see if you look as good s you sound," he told Romany, anning expansively.

"Nine men rose as one when omany entered the board room. he was first presented to the pres- ent of Interstate, Tyrone Moore, hen to the head of the artists bu- eau, Marvin Yanning.

Distributing charming smiles as mpartially as possible, Romany, elson observed with pride, was oised as a veteran in the face of he compliments heaped upon her. f she hadn't possessed one whit of alent, Brent knew, her looks alone ould have sufficiently impressed he board that they would have assed her for a trial at Interstate.

Loring Hickox was most lavish in is compliments.

"You must come in and see me s soon as posible, Miss Haile," he old her heartily. "I'm sure we can o a lot for you. You're a natural or television."

"Don't pay any attention to him," rent grinned. "He's just looking or his ten per cent. He talks that ay to all the girls."

After a few moments the crowd oke up, and Romany leaned gainst the fireplace to catch her reath.

"Whew!" She fanned her flushed ace with her hand. "This is so sud- en! I hope it really means some- hing."

"We'll see," Brent smiled. "And ow how about coming downstairs or a cocktail? I've just an hour efore I go on the air.

"And I've just an hour before I ave a dinner date," Romany told im."

"I thought you were going to inner with me!" Brent looked dis- ppointed.

"I didn't say so," Romany smiled. But ask me again some time. I'm eeting Baxter Tree at 5.30."

"He's not the steady, by any hance," Nelson inquired. "Or isn't t any of my business?"

"No." Romany shook her head, ust one of the boys I knew at In- iana U. Bax is grand! He wrote he material I used for my audi- ion, and coached me for hours to- ay. I'm afraid I'd have been sunk without him.

"That was darn good stuff," Brent said generously. "The guy knows his radio. But I particularly ike his taste in women."

Romany felt it was a good op- portunity to mention Myra Noyes. So she said as she stepped off the elevator in the lobby:

"I understand you're engaged to Myra Noyes."

Brent hesitated, and she saw his face flush.

"Or," she added quickly, "isn't it any of my business?"

"Turn about is fair play." Brent said uncomfortably. "You're enti- tled to an answer, of course. Lets wait until we get a seat in the cock- tail lounge."

When they had both ordered a dry Martini, Brent leaned his el- bows on the table.

"Now, I suppose I'll have to an- swer that question of yours."

"Not if it is embarrassing to you. We'll just forget it."

"It—wouldn't be embarrassing if I didn't feel myself falling so hard for you I don't like to think of any- one else." Brent took a sip of ice water.

"Now, now," Romany chided. "We won't go into that."

Brent sighed.

"All right, we won't. Not so soon, anyway. Yes, I am engaged to Myra Noyes I have been for four months. It's just one of those things a man gets into when he comes to the place where he feels it's time to marry."

Brent stopped. Romany could think of nothing appropriate to say. Then he continued:

"I've never felt I'd ever fall really in love. Not the kind of love my father had for my mother. Maybe I was mistaken." Myra is clever, attractive. I thought she was a good sport who would more or less go her own way and let me do the same. And so—well, there you have it."

Romany shook her head.

"It doesn't make sense to me. But I don't pretend to understand you men. If you don't mind, I'm go- ing to tell you I think it's unfair of a man to become engaged to a girl when he doesn't really love her. Women are too easily hurt."

"Are they?" Brent smiled crook- edly. "I'm afraid you couldn't quite put Myra in the class of girls who go in for the sentimental stuff mar- riage was associated with back in grandma's day."

"How do you know?" Romany challenged him. "Maybe she's just being the sort of girl she thinks you want her to be."

"God forbid," Brent said fer- vently. "raising the cocktail the waiter had just placed in front of him. "She isn't being the sort of girl I want her to be."

"Maybe," Romany defended her sex, "you're not measuring up to her standards, either. Did you ever think of that?"

"Say!" Brent finished his cocktail in a gulp. "Are you lecturing me?"

Romany smiled, but her eyes were serious.

"No, Brent, I'm not even advis- ing you. Because I don't know enough about those things. I've never been married and I've never been in love. But I just know wom- en are not always what they seem on the surface."

"Are you?" He leaned toward her, his eyes warm with admira- tion. "Because if you are, heaven help my poor old heart!"

"You're being very silly." Rom- any sipped her cocktail. "And if you don't stop, I won't come up to Interstate and make you famous for discovering me. I'll sign with Hollywood."

"Just a minute before you throw me too far off the track with your clever feminine trick of evasion, my dear. Are you so disappointed in me that you won't see me any more? I want to know where I stand."

Romany was taken aback. She hesitated, coloring slightly. Then she said frankly:

"I shouldn't see you. But I prob- ably will. Since you are really re- sponsible for all that has happened to me in radio in the last couple of days. You'll have to just consid- er me a good friend and not—try to make love to me."

"Oh, darling," Brent said very low, "look at yourself in the mirror beside you and you"'ll see how im- possible that would be."

"You heard what I said." Rom- any was firm. "Don't you think this is a beautiful room? Who did the paintings on the ceiling?"

"That reminds me." Nelson dropped the matter for the time being. "You'll have to join the American Federation of Radio Artists. You can't open your mouth to say 'boo' on the air without join- ing Afra."

"What do I have to do?" Rom- any hesitated, her heart sinking with fear that it would cose more money than she had.

Brent looked at his watch.

"Finish your cocktail and we'll run there now. It's on the second floor. We've just time before clos- ing. If you haven't the cash, they'll take a check. If you haven't your check book, I'll take care of it for you."

"No, thanks," Romany shook her head quickly. "I probably have enough with me."

When she had paid her Afra dues, Romany was down to the five dol- lars she had upon arriving in Chi- cago. If it hadn't been for Haller's Desserts, she would have been frantic trying to raise the money. She said a little prayer that the wheels at Interstate would begin turning very suddenly in her favor.

At dinner, in a modest little table d'hote restaurant on Randolph street, Baxter Tree took a tabloid from his pocket and handed it to Romany, smiling.

"Look at Tanner Yeoman's radio column." He pointed to a small cir- cled paragraph.

Romany gasped. In bold black type she read, with a mixture of emotons:

"Seen at Landau's dining last evening: Brent Nelson, announcer, with a stunning brunette. Inquiry reevaled she is Romany Haile, heir- ess to Harlowe farm implements millions. Niece of wealthy 'Cissie' Harlowe, widow of the implement king. In Chi to enter upon a radio career. Swell bet for television."

Romany exploded: "How did that get in there?"

Bax chuckled.

"That's what you get for step- ping out with famous announcers in Aunt Cissie's furs! But don't let it worry you. That kind of publicity won't do you any harm. If they think you're an heiress, they'll fall all over you. Nobody'll see you eat- ing in this joint with me. And I won't tell.'

Surviving are two brothers, Ed- ward of Ennismore and Steve of Buffalo.

The funeral will be on Monday morning at 9 o'clock from Lane and Eano's Funeral Home, with in- terment in St. Peter's cemetery. Main street

Campbellford Man Dies In Buffalo

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6 — (ENS). — Word has been received here of the death of a former re- sident, William Senior, 65, who passed away at his home in Buffalo, N.Y., on Tuesday. A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Senior, the deceased was a native of Camp- bellford, which he left as a boy nearly fifty years ago. Despite the distance he lived from town, Mr. Senior maintained constant con- tacts in Campbellford returning for a visit nearly every summer to re- new many friendships. Surviving besides his widow and four daugh- ters is one brother, Albert, of Al- bany, N.Y.

DOROTHY DIX

Popular Young Men Are Those Who Know When To Go Home. Short Visits Are The Sweetest and Most Generally Welcomed by Girls.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Can you tell me what to do with a boy who just simply won't go home at a reason- able hour? He is gentlemanly and good-looking, but you can't be in- terested in a person when your eyes are dropping shut for want of sleep. No matter how much I yawn in his face and tell him how late I have been up every night for a week, he ignores the hint, and there I am virtually in a coma with boredom. I can hardly throw him out of the house bodily. What should we girls do with the night hawks?

WEARY WILLA

ANSWER:

Heaven knows. It is a problem. For when a man is so enamored of the sound of his own voice that he can never get enough of listen- ing to himself talk there is nothing that a poor girl can do unless she hires a professional bouncer to chuck him out of the door at 11 o'clock. In my young days one of the chief functions of Father was to call time on lingering young men who out- stayed their welcome, but I fear that wholesome custom has gone into the discard along with family pray- ers and saying grace at the table. There are many things that we did better in the horse and buggy days than they do now, and not the least of these was curtailing the length of the visit of the Boy Friend and thus giving girls time to get their beauty sleep and permitting boys to get needed rest before tackling their jobs the next morning. Maybe it is because boys got more sleep then they do now that there seemed to be more rising young men then than there are now.

But aside from the consklieration of the sufferings of the poor girl who has to endure agonies of bore- dom listening to the drivel of the man who stays on and on, when the only thing on earth she wants is to go bye-bye, how dull-witted must be the youth who does not realize that instead of making a hit with the maiden, he is only inspiring an almost irrestible de- sire in her to hit him with some- thing hard enough to send him to the hospital! Some casualty that will send him out of the house!

For none of us are such spell- binders that we can hold our audi- ence entranced hour after hour. After we have shot our bolt, how thin the conversation gets that has to be stretched out interminably! How short we run of topics after we have fed the mill for an un- conscionably long time! How any one palls on our appetites after we have gotten enough of them!

Certainly any young man makes the mistake of his life if he thinks he can make himself popular with a girl by making calls that run into visitations. Thirty minutes is as long as any one can keep the fascination turned on, and an hour is the extreme time limit during which any youth can inject pep into a conversation.

Short visits make long friends, says the old adage, to which may be added for the benefit of young men that the shorter the call, the bigger the impression they make. In half an hour any youth can say all that he has to say that is worth listening to, and all that any girl wants to hear, unless he is popping the question. If he is sidestepping this topic, his cue, if he wants to be popular, is to make a quick get- away.

So take this tip from me, boys: Make your calls brief, and when a girl gets you on your feet when you go to see her, or when she begins to look at the clock or turns on the radio, it is time to leave. And when you leave, go as if you were shot out of a gun. Don't stand saying good-by to a girl who has on shoes that are two sizes too small and that have lead-pencil heels and are making her suffer the tortures of the condemned. Go, and stand not upon the order of your going. Make it snappy! Scram!

Use Tact When You Advise Your Children

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a man who has had a wide experience in life and I consider myself broad- minded and liberal in my views. I have tried to be a firm guide to my children and have made many sac- rifices to educate them. My oldest daughter is 21 and is teaching. There is one subject upon which we cannot converse without feelings that should not arise. It is boys. I do not try to choose her company. I merely tell her that dates are habits, that a steady is likely to lead to marriage, and that an indi- vidual has little control over human emotions in this particular phase of human intercourse.

The oldest boy dislikes school except shop work and playing in the band. He fails in his lessons and skips classes. He is 17. Dates one girl steady. He has a bad to- bacco heart and has been warned by the doctor that he will not live if he doesn't quit smoking.

The youngest daughter is 14 and wants dates. The only thing I say to her is that we have to regulate visits. Now I have been told that my children almost hate me and that I have built up by my talks to them a feeling against me and all I represent. What shall I do? Why are my children taking this attitude toward me?

BAFFLED.

ANSWER:

There used to be an old music- hall ditty in which a wife, com- plaining of her husband, said: "It isn't what he said, it is the narsty way he said it." And unless you have unfortunately made the mis- take of puttin gadvice to your chil- dren in some way that offended their egos, I don't see how you could have aroused their animosity.

Certainly it is a father's duty to keep his children from falling into the pits among which they must walk in life and whic hthey are too ignorant to suspect and lack the worldly knowledge to avoid. But how to perform this service to his youngsters is a hard task in these days when "emancipated" youth re- bels at the slightest control, and every sallow adolescent thinks that his parents are doddering has-beens and that he knows more than Solo- mon himself.

It takes the tact of a diplomat and the patience of Job to deal with an adolescent. Perhaps the only thing that is left for you to do now is to throw your children on their own and make them responsible to themselves for their own conduct, since they will not listen to you.

Shut your teeth on any further word of advice to your daughter about boys. Tell her that if she is ever going to have any sense about men she should have it at her age, and is up to her to chart her own course in her love affairs.

If the boy won't study, quit wast- ing your money sending him to school. Let him get a job in some shop where his mechanical ability can develop. Don't nag him about smoking. If the fear of death won't stop him, nothing that you can say will. And you can at least save your face by not having your chil- dren defy you, and win back their affection by not fighting with them.

And you can be comforted by the thought that the seed you have sown will bear fruit. After you have quit antagonizing your children they don't feel that they have to prove their independence by defying you; they will remember your teaching and act upon it.

No Control

London, Ont., April 6 (CP)

IN SLASHING estimates to keep the tax rate down, city council last night deleted an item calling for replacement of controllers on traffic signals at Dundas and Richmond streets, the main cor- ner. Cost would be about $1,000.

Council had hardly adjourned when all the controls stuck, and traffic was disrupted several min- utes as the red and green lights stayed lighted, and motorists didn't know what to do about it until police got into action.

Before the tax rate is struck early in the week, it is thought likely the $1,000 item will be re- stored.

Merchant, Daughter Capture Thief As Brooklin Has 3 Raids In Night

BROOKLIN, April 6.—Three times city hooligans struck at this little town in the darkness of early morning Friday, and were twice foil- ed at gun-point by an elderly coun- try storekeepers and his daughter, who captured one of them. The third time they robbed a terrified 80-year-old woman of $50, while her invalid husband lay asleep.

John S. Jephson, 67, owner of a hardware store here, and his daugh- ter, Mrs. Mildred Sine, of Ingle- wood, captured Roy Harkness, 22, of Dundas Street East, Toronto, while he was allegedly attempting to rob Mr. Jephson's store. While Jephson covered the intruder with his .38 calibre automatic, his daughter trussed him to a chair with heavy rope. Two hours later Jephson drove away a man who tried to enter two banks here.

Still later, just before dawn, Mrs. William E. Ratcliffe, who lives less than two blocks from the hardware store, was robbed of $50. She was lying in bed when two men entered the house and came upstairs to her bedroom. They rifled a bureau be- side her bed, and found her purse with the money in it. Her invalid husband slept through the robbery, and the aged woman was too terri- fied to call for help.

Crouched Behind Counter.

Mr. Jephson and his daughter caught Harkness in the hardware shop when a burglar alarm, con- nected with the Jephson home two doors away, went off at 3:15 a.m. Jephson grabbed his gun, and with his daughter entered the shop to find Harkness crouched behind the counter near the cash register.

The quiet of the village was dis- turbed again some time after the storekeeper and his daughter had retired. Unable to sleep because of the excitement, Mrs. Sine heard a car driving slowly up and down outside and informed her father. Grabbing his gun, Mr. Jephson went out into the street in time to see the auto stop in front of the Dominion Bank and a man get out and try the front door. He then did the same thing at the front door of the Bank of Commerce branch a short distance away.

"I followed him up the street and asked him if he was looking for any one," related Mr. Jephson. "He said 'no,' and hurried away.

"He got into the car and it drove away, but I managed to get the license number. I think they came here with Harkness. He had no coat on when we captured him and he must have been driven here."

Seven years ago the hardware store was broken into and Mr. Jephson installed a burglar alarm system. The night before the rob- bery he went to his bridge club and returned home at about 1 a.m. He re- tired about 1.15.

"At 3.15 the alarm went off," said Mr. Jephson. "My daughter heard it, too. She said: 'Dad, will I go with you?' Within two minutes we were at the store. I had my gun and it was fully loaded.

"Through the store window we saw the figure of a man behind the counter at the cash register. He had apparently jimmied the front door, for it was open. We went in, Mildred ahead of me. The man was crouched behind the counter and I told him to stick up his hands or I'd drill him.

"Mildred noticed a billy on the counter which the thief had picked up and put down and she grabbed it," continued Mr. Jephson. "I keep it in the store for protection. I never saw my girl so determined before. She was brandishing the billy around the man's head and I thought for sure she was going to smack him."

"I certainly would have if he had made a move," interjected Mrs. Sine, a slight, pretty woman.

Would Have Shot

"The chap had a jimmy about two feet long," continued Mr. Jeph- son. "He seemed reluctant to put his hands up. Would I have shot him if he had made a move? I cer- tainly would have. I wouldn't want to kill a man, but one false move and I would have let him have it. There's no use fooling with that kind of fellow."

Father and daughter forced the youth into a chair at the end of the shop, and, while the former kept his gun trained on him, Mrs. Sine roped him in the chair and tied him securely.

"He pleaded with me not to shoot him," said Mr. Jephson. "He said: 'For God's sake don't shoot me.' He was a tall, slight, unhealthy- looking fellow."

Mrs. Sine telephoned police, and the suspect was removed by Pro- vincial Officers Clark and Suther- land. Both officers commented on the neat job of trussing done by Mrs. Sine.

"He certainly was well tied up," said Officer Clark.

McCoy Of Rum Fame Seeking Bluenose

LUNENBURG, N.S., April 6—(CP) —The famous fishing schooner Bluenose is reported on the auction block again.

She was put there several months ago, but her skipper, Captain Angus Walters, took her off when none of the bids were high enough.

Now it is reported that Captain "Bill" McCoy, colorful sea rover who became famous during the rum- running era of the twenties, is dick- ering for the queen of the fishing fleets.

Captain Walters said last night that negotiations with McCoy are not yet finished. The Bluenose skipper will go to Halifax today in connection with the proposed sale.

Investigate Smuggling

LOS ANGELES, April 6 — (AP) — —The Los Angeles Times said to- day Federal authorities are inves- tigating an alien export smuggling ring extending from Canada to Cal- ifornia and Florida. The inquiry is centred, the newspaper said, at Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle harbors where a number of aliens recently were reported shipped to the Orient, using purportedly forg- ed passports.

Lady Tweedsmuir Reaches London

LONDON, April 6—(CP Cable).— Lady Tweedsmuir arrived at a northwestern port today and pro- ceeded to London. She was accom- panied by her son, Hon. Alastair Buchan.

Lady Tweedsmuir left Ottawa late last month after winding up the per- sonal affairs of her husband, who died in February while near the completion of his five-year term as Governor General.

No Public Send-off

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, April 6—(CP).—Ending five years' residence in Canada, Lady Tweeds- muir sailed for Great Britain with the public unaware of the date of her departure or the port of em- barkation.

No official reception marked the arrival of her special train from Ottawa. Naval officers were at the station to offer an escort and any service possible.

The train continued to the dock- side, where her Excellency had lunch in the private diner before boarding a liner. In the darkness before dawn of the following day the steamship left port for the At- lantic crosing. Fine weather gave promise of a smooth trip.

Accompanying Lady Tweedsmuir on the voyage were her son, Lieut- enant Alastair Buchan; Captain T. R. C. Goff, an aide-de-camp, and a secretary, Mrs. Killik.

Others who arrived on the special train and left later in the day for Ottawa were Sir Shuldham Redfern, of the staff at Rideau Hall; Mrs. George Pape, lady-in-waiting and Colonel Willis O'Connor, comp- troller and formerly A.D.C. to the late Lord Tweedsmuir.

Members of the party said Lady Tweedsmuir was in good health.

Convalescing After Sickness

After many severe illnesses, or serious operations, the patient is very often left in an extremely weak, nervous, run down and exhausted condition.

To all those convalescents who need some kind of a tonic to strengthen and build up the weakened sys- tem we would recommend Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills to assist them back to the full enjoyment of their previous robust health.

These Pills supply the very ele- ments so necessary to build up the shattered nervous system, and bring back bodily strength and vigor.

A trial will convince you of their merits.

In the garden of Remembrance
There's a little sheltered spot,
Fragrant with the bloom and beauty
Of the sweet forget-me-not;
And no flower in the garden,
Fairer, brighter, ever grew,
Than the little flower that whispers
Always, "We'll remember you."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

RECALL THE BIDDING

WHEN YOU are in doubt about which way to finesse, or whether to finesse at all, a brief review of the bidding may furnish a sound guide. If one defender had indicated appreciable length in other suits, he is likely to be short in the one you have under consideration, and his partner therefore holding fair length in it. Furthermore, if the player marked for probable greater length also had bid No Trump at some stage, he is more likely to hold an honor in that suit than the man who bid other suits.

	♠ Q J 2 ♥ 5 ♦ A 9 5 3 ♣ A 9 6 4 2
♠ A K 10 7 ♥ 5 ♥ K Q J 9 ♦ 10 ♣ J 5 3	N. W. E. S.	♠ 9 6 4 3 ♥ 6 3 ♦ Q 6 4 ♣ Q 10 8 7
	♠ 8 ♥ A 10 8 7 4 2 ♦ K J 8 7 2 ♣ K

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 NT	2 ♥	Dbl
3 ♣	Dbl	3 ♦	Pass
3 NT

West let that go without doubling because he thought he had a better chance to set it than diamonds if the opponents escaped to that suit.

East led his spade 3 to the K. West cashed the A and led a third, clearing the suit. Declarer then played diamonds. First he laid down his A, then played to the K, hoping to drop the Q, but being disappointed. He then shot a third diamond to East's Q, and a spade return enabled the opponents to set the contract.

Had North figured correctly, he would have made his contract. West had shown both a biddable spade suit and enough hearts to double that suit, so he could not have as many diamonds and clubs as East. The latter also had bid No Trump on his first turn, making it likely he had a prospective stopper in diamonds. This reasoning should have caused a finesse of the diamond J on the second round. By so doing, North could have taken five tricks in that suit, two in clubs and one each in the majors, for a game.

B.E.F. Holds Divisional Exercises In France

While official communiques from the Western front report that everything is at a present quiet, the British Expeditionary Forces are not idle. They are spending this respite from actual fighting to divisional exercises. Here we see stretcher-bearers of the Royal Ulster Rifles carrying away a "casualty" from a Bren gun anti-aircraft post. Havelock Junior Women's Institute Hears Interesting Pottery Talk

HAVELOCK, April 6—(ENS). — "Ceramics—the art of making porcelain and earthenware" was the topic of an interesting talk by Mrs. A. McLauchlin, who was guest speaker on Wednesday evening at the April meeting of the Havelock branch Junior Women's Institute. With the president Miss Margaret Voyer in the chair, the members made plans during the business period to sponsor a card party on Friday, April 19.

"We all love romance, a romantic tale thrills everyone of us," began Mrs. McLauchlin. "The lure of adventure is keen in our blood."

"My interest in ceramics, she continued, is behind the monotonous task of dishwashing and it has become something to set me dreaming. Did you ever think of the romance behind a piece of china, or in any common ,everyday articles in our homes?

Do you ever think how these sometime amazing inventions are all developed from primitive necessities?

"The making of pottery is one of the oldest arts In the very early days, a shell from the sea shore, a hollowed piece of wood, formed the first bowls and plates. Then the first pottery, merely moulded clay, baked in the sun, in circular shapes, and occasionally decorated with simple design.

Perhaps a chance baking by the fire on the floor of the primitive hut gave the idea of baking the clay for greater strength and durability. Necessity really became the mother of invention in the case of pottery, when the primitive man needed something in which to store his food.

From the circular bowl or jar, shaped by hand they learned to shape these pieces better by smoothing them over a round stone. The Greeks claim the invention of the potters wheel and so precious was this discovery that there is a legend tellin that the gods gave the original potter's wheel to a favored mortal.

The Chinese learned the secret 2,000 years before any Europeans, and are said to be the greatest race of potters the world has ever known. From th glazed, hand fixed pottery came the marvelous white, translucent porcelain, one of the wonders of the medieval world.

A Chinese Trick

Crackleware, developed by the Chinese was made by plunging the sun-baked clay into cold water, while still warm, then rebaking it in the oven. Indelible ink was then rubbed into the cracks to outline the pattern.

Japanese copying the Chinese, started to make pottery about 29 B.C., and today it is a thriving industry in their country, which is famous for its dainty eggshell china.

In the history of pottery, the making of bricks is grouped with the making of vesels. The Phoenicians decorated their pottery with geometrical designs, while the Egyptians drew pictures of people on the large bricks fo their palaces and on the vessels used in their homes.

The Greeks with their love of beauty made exquisite vases, which they decorated with silhouettes of the human figure as early as 400 B.C.

Although the Romans did not equal the Greeks in the making of pottery, their red ware from the island of Samos did become famous.

Pottery art flourished in Italy, France and Germany. Molland made delft-ware and competed with the dresden ware of her German neighbors and the porcelain turned out at Sevres ad Limoges in France.

The finding of broken pottery in many countries has given us a history of its people and their mode of living.

The Willow Tree Tale

Mrs. McLauchlin concluded her talk with a story of the famous Willow Tree pattern. In one version of the Willow Tree story, she said, the mandarin's daughter, who is the heroine, is called Li-Chi, and in another, Kong-Shee. But whatever was the maiden's name, the Chinese story-tellers are agreed that she fell in love with her father's scribe, whose name was Chang. Her lover was only a poor man, whose home was a humble island cottage. The mandarin was furious when he discovered that his secertary dared to wish to marry his daughter, and the girl's pleading did not change her father's mind at all.

There were other wealthy suitors and at this critical time Chang wrote a poem to his beloved, which he enclosed in a coconut shell with a tiny sail. The reply which he received to his love-poem was written on an ivory tablet: "Do not wise husbandmen gather the nuts they fear will be stolen?"

The lovers decided to elope, and they fled across the bridge beside the willow. The gardener, who was the third figure in the pattern helped them to escape in a boat which is shown to Chang's island. Some say that the enraged father found the lovers, and others that a jealous, wealthy suitor sought them out in their happy home. If it was the father, he vowed he would beat them to death, and if it was the rejected suitor, he attempted to burn down their house. But Chang and his bride had been so happy that the gods took pity on them and turned them into turtle doves.

The translation of one Chinese conclusion to the story was: "There, too, the dovecote stood, with its meek and innnocent inmates murmuring ever of love."

Also included on the evening's program were two brain-teasing contests, the first on "similes" being won by Mrs. F. Hill and the second on "proverbs" by Miss B. Crawford. Lunch was served afterwards.

from countries with whom there are purchases to essentials, particularly foreign exchange difficulties.

The sterling area includes the United Kingdom and its colonies and Dominions with the exception of Canada.

Even Empire countries purchasing in Canada have to buy Canadian dollars to make wartime purchases. New Zealand and Australia need to build up their sterling reserves for future purchases, and so the import restrictions they have made strike sharply at Canada.

Situation Different.

The situation in regard to Canadian trade with the United Kingdom is a little different. The Dominion Government repatriated Canadian securities held in Britain and thus provided some $100,000,000 of Canadian dollars with which the United Kingdom can buy in Canada.

The long list of import restrictions of the British Board of Trade keep Canadian imports to essentials, but it has been announced that the United Kingdom will require large quantities of Canadian bacon, cheese, wheat and war equipment, including munitions, so the necessary purchases should more than balance the loss of "luxury" goods.

Finance Minister Ralston has estimated that the United Kingdom would purchase some $500,000,000 worth of goods in Canada in 1940 compared with $328,000,000 in 1939, which should represent an increase of around $200,000,000, particularly when account is taken of the fact that figures of Canadian trade with the United Kingdon in past years have included goods eventually shipped by British importers to other countries.

New Zealand Down by a Half

New Zealand restricted imports a year ago and has continued them on a six monthly basis. If the restrictions for the second six months of 1940 continue as in the first half of the year, Canadian export to that dominion should be reduced to around $5,000,000, Trade and Commerce Department officials estimate, unless New Zealand should find it necessary to import larger quantities of essential goods from Canada than in former years.

The estimate of $5,000,000 imports from Canada compares with around $16,000,000 in 1938, the last year in which Canadian trade with the Antipodean dominion was without restriction.

Canadian exports to Australia in 1939 were about $32,000,000. Restrictions on imports first were imposed for a two-months period. Trade and Commerce Department experts estimate that the restrictions imposed for December and January and continued through February and March would result in a reduction in Canadian exports to the extent of about $3,600,000 a year.

Additional restrictions since imposed on a three-months basis, for April, May and June, are estimated to involve an additional reduction in Canadian exports to Australia of nearly $1,400,000 a year, so that all restrictions now in force in Australia may be said to reduce Canada's exports to the dominion by about $5,000,000 a year.

One Bright Spot

South Africa has imposed no restrictions upon Canadian imports, and in view of the shutting off of normal sources of supply from enemy and other belligerent countries, there should be an excellent opportunity for increased Canadian trade, it is believed here. British India has a form of foreign exchange control, but has no restrictions on any particular commodities.

In the British West Indies, following discussions with the Canadian Government, import regulations have been revised in such a way that nearly all of those colonies now are treating imports of Canadian goods on the same basis as imports from other British countries, and certain of such colonies now are taking steps to obtain supplies from Canada formerly imported from foreign countries.

In the case of British colonies elsewhere, restrictions still are enforced on the importation of non-essential goods from countries outside the sterling area, and Canadian trade with these colonies has been adversely affected, although the volume of trade is not considerable.

a razor with which the woman could slash her wrists.

Just before Chloe "remembered about" the razor-slashing, officer learned for the first time—from an autopsy report—that Mrs. Davis died not of head wounds but of bleeding from cut arteries of the arms.

Ready To Believe Her.

Edwards at one point in the questioning said he was prepared to accuse Chloe of all of the killings. Now he and other authorities have come to believe the girl's story in its essential points.

F. Barton Davis, the husband and father, insisted that "Chloe didn't do it, no matter what the police think. If she did, her mother made her do it. She believed she had the power of demons."

The county autopsy surgeon's post mortem examinations disclosed that while all three children — Daphne, 10; Deborah Ann, seven, and Marquis, three—died of skull fractures; Mrs. Davis' death was caused by loss of blood from cuts on both wrists.

Homer Cross, deputy police chief, said Chloe told him her mother was lying on a mattress which had been dragged into the hallway, and that her mother told her to get a razor.

"Chloe said she got a razor blade from the cupboard and gave it to her mother," Cross related. "I asked her if she saw her mother slash her wrists, and she said: 'No I didn't look at it.'"

In spite of the autopsy surgeon's findings Chloe still maintains her original and oft-repeated story: That after her mother had attacked the other children, she, at her mother's request, beat on Mrs. Davis' head until the handle of the hammer broke.

"I believe that in the main Chloe is telling the truth," concluded Dr. Paul De River, police psychiartrist. "Her actions on the day of the slayings were those of an abnormal child. Any normal child would have screamed and run from the house when she awoke, as she says she did, to find her brother and sisters dead and her mother apparently demented.

"My observations of Chloe in the last two days mark her, in my opinion, as cool, collected and firm in her opinions. She even corrects her father on points of the tragedy."

Edwards said a petition would be filed Monday to have Chloe made a ward of the juvenile court. An inquest into the slayings was set for next Tuesday morning.

(Italy recently agreed to take a large quantity of British coal annually to supplement supplies it gets by rail from Germany after the British contraband control released Italian coal ships on condition no more be sent to pick up German coal.)

Must Render Accounting

Another article declared: "In any case we believe that decisive hand must be played by Italy sooner or later. The Allies must render an accounting of old scores left in suspense and the new ones added to the old ones."

The new law authorized requisition of citizens' services of industrial organizations, real estate and personal property as well as control of foreign commerce and rationing.

The law, adopted by the council of ministers last Tuesday, provided that mobilization should be ordered by royal decree on the advice of Mussolini as chief of government after consultation with his cabinet.

The supreme defence commission's powers may be applied for national defence, however, even before mobilization occurs. Besides Il Duce, the commission includes members of the cabinet and the heads of all branches of the armed forces.

It was charged specifically with effecting "development and fullest attention to utilizing resources and activities of the nation for achieving victory."

The Italian press and radio last night publicized the 21 articles of mobilization which deal principally with technical aspects and the commission's powers.

The provision concerning women and youths made them liable to mobilization for anti-aircraft defence, factory work and other services essential to the prosecution of war.

maintained impartially and that "we cannot think of any other war as possible for this country than a war in which we are forced to defend our independence and freedom."

Norway, he declared, has "painstakingly fulfilled her obligations" as regards the "normal exchange of goods, as far as possible."

He sharply attacked the sinking of Norwegian merchantmen by German warcraft, declaring that during the war Norway has lost 54 ships totalling 120,000 tons, and 392 persons killed.

Of the lost vessels, he said, at least 12 definitely were sent to the bottom by submarines or other warships or airplanes.

"In all these cases," Koht stated, "the warcraft belonged to Germany. In three cases, sinking was made in accordance with international law."

"In the other nine cases," he said, "we have had to protest sharply."

Hard To Keep Cool

Koht added that it was "difficult to remain cool when hearing of such attacks on innocent seamen as the bombing of the Mira Wednesday with over 100 persons on board."

"We cannot acknowledge any right to such procedure even if this Norwegian ship sailed under British protection," he declared. "We cannot understand that German warriors can justify such attacks to their feeling of honor or human decency. It creates an indignation in this country which no belligerent should desire to produce."

(The Mira, a 1,152-ton vessel, arrived in Bergen yesterday with 107 passengers and reported it had been bombed eight times by German planes while travelling in a British convoy. Two of the passengers were slightly injured by bomb splinters.)

Koht emphasized that Norwegian shipping was being conducted in accordance with trade agreements signed Feb. 23 with Germany, and March 11 with Great Britain, and said an agreement was expected to be signed shortly with France.

Scandinavian countries have proposed jointly to Germany, he said, that the matter of "legal sailings" be the subject of a conference but have received no reply as yet.

Regarding violation of Norwegian territory by foreign planes, Koht said that orders had been given to fire upon any such planes which refused to submit to regulations.

Norway already has issued 21 protests against planes flying across her territory, Koht asserted. Five of these protests have been sent to Germany, 10 to Britain and six to Russia.

Wait in Finn Case

Koht, discussing Finland's position and proposals for a defence pact between Finland, Norway and Sweden, said all decisions regarding such an alliance would be postponed until relations between Helsinki and Moscow are improved.

"Finland alone must take the position regarding the Soviet interpretation that their peace treaty forbids a defence pact," Koht said. "Norway and Sweden are not parties to this treaty.

"The main point for Finland must be to live in secure peace with her mighty neighbor to the east. My government will in no case bind itself before the storting has had an opportunity to express its position."

Name No Neutrals

British sources said that airlines naturally subject to the closest scrutiny were those linking Germany's neutral neighbors with sources of supply. No neutrals were named, however.

Without disclosing possible aerial blockade methods, informed quarters said of the general blockade question that the Allies were attempting to use diplomatic rather than strong-arm measures to persuade neutrals to cut off German supplies.

Monnet commented after his first day's conference with Cross here yesterday:

"We are very satisfied with the result of the measures taken up to the present, and the Allies are going to take new measures to choke Germany more and more."

The British Foreign Office handed notes to the Swedish and Norwegian ministers, telling that what Britain thinks neutrality ought to mean.

Diplomatic sources said the notes defined politely but firmly the Allied attitude toward what is considered here an abuse of Scandinavian neutrality—the shipment of Swedish ore to Germany through territorial waters. No details were disclosed, however.

The rulers of the Allied blockade system were said also to have turned their attention toward the Balkans, long a source of grain and other necessities to Germany.

Britain meanwhile registered for national service her 25-year-old subjects, 300,000 strong, and will register the 26-year-olds later in the month.

Actions Off Norway Keep Fishermen Busy At Rescue Work

ARENDAL, Norway, April 8 (AP) —At least 150 Germans and 80 horses were lost today when a British submarine fired two torpedoes into the German steamship Rio De Janeiro four miles off the Norwegian coast.

Norwegian fishermen reported there were more than 300 Germans aboard the vessel which they said failed to halt when ordered by the submarine to heave to.

The submarine then fired two torpedoes.

Fishermen said the Germans started jumping overboard into the icy water of the Skagerrak.

Many of the Germans drowned and their bodies were washed ashore at Lillesand on the southern tip of Norway.

After the first torpedo had been fired, nearby Norwegian fishing boats started to pick up survivors from the water. Then the second torpedo was sent crashing into the ship, killing numerous Germans who were struggling in the sea.

Norwegian authorities were unable to explain why the Rio De Janeiro, a 5,261-ton freighter, was cruising within sight of the Norwegian coast carrying 300 men and 80 horses.

Fishermen Kept Busy

A steady stream of fishing craft brought survivors and bodies to Lillesand where the injured were given hospital treatment.

(A reuters news agency dispatch said the 5,800-ton German tanker had been torpedoed in the North Sea.)

Fishermen were endangered by flying debris when the torpedoes exploded. On one Norwegian vessel three Germans were killed by a piece of flying iron from the second blast after having been fished from the water following the first explosion.

(The Rio de Janeiro, built in 1914, is listed in Lloyd's register of shipping as owned by the Hamburg-South America

There were indications at least one other naval encounter took place off the southern Norwegian coast today. Numerous violent explosions at sea were heard about 1 p.m. (7 am. EST) and later several more were reported.

The German steamship Kreta reported she was in distress near Oslo Fjord but was still afloat after being attacked by a submarine. Norwegian coastguard vessels went to her aid.

Battle At Sea.

OSLO, April 8—(AP).—Fighting between British and German ships in the North Sea in which at least nine men were killed and several vessels were reported sunk was disclosed to-day as Norwegian schooners reached port with the bodies of victims and survivors.

In addition to nine bodies brought to port by the schooners, others were reported being washed ashore on Norway's western coast.

Reports of the fighting conflicted. One version was that an armed British vessel and a German submarine were sunk when the British ship was attacked by two German submarines.

A second version was that a Brit-

Swedes Tighten Defences At Berlin Hint Nazis Plan Blow To Beat Allies Out

Stockholm, April 8.—(CP). — Swedish defence preparations are to be intensified, it was officially announced to-day, following denial of a report Swedish and Norwegian ministers to Berlin had been called into conference by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

A dispatch from Copenhagen previously had quoted the newspaper National Tidende as hinting an impending Nazi coup against the northern kingdoms.

The dispatch from Copenhagen contained the following report from the National Tidende's Berlin correspondent:

"It is felt at Berlin that Norwegian and Swedish neutrality no longer exists. The conviction is held at Berlin that allied military action against the northern countries is prepared and may take place at ony moment.

"Germany, however, does not intend to wait for the allies to strike the first blow. On the contrary, Germany is ready to act swiftly and with the aid of surprise.

"At Berline the talk of of Norway first and Sweden second. Denmark is not mentioned. It is feared that a radical change in the northern countries' position may take place within 24 hours.'

Four Ontario Boys Lose Lives In Week-End Toll Of 7, Peterborough Lad Drowns

(By the Canadian Press.)

Death of four boys 11 years of age and under contributed to Ontario's week-end accident toll of seven.

The swollen waters of Jackson Park Creek at Peterborough claimed the life of an 11-year-old boy, identified as Norman Meehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Meehan, who fell from a retaining wall where he was playing with friends. An effort to rescue him failed and he was swept under a building.

Six-year-old Robert Spry of St. Catharines tumbled into the old Welland Canal and drowned, and Donald Sinden, five, drowned in a freshet in Trafalgar township, Halton county. Fourth child fatality occurred on the highway near Brockville, Ont., when six-year-old Norman Grant was killed by a car, allegedly driven by Davis Elliott of Prescott

Police investigated the death of Don Gear, 32, of Fergus, whose body was found on the highway near the town after being run over by a car. Gear was coatless and police

Norman Carl Meehan, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Meehan, 325 George Street, was swept to his death at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in the whirling waters of Jackson Park Creek, swollen by the spring freshet, when he lost his balance and fell into the stream north of Hunter Street.

More than half a dozen eye-witnesses saw the lad carried down the creek and disappear under the bridge north of the Peterborough Lock Works, but they were powerless to save him.

Young Meehan, with two other boys of about the same age, Harold Hamilton and Donald Gray, was throwing stones at the cakes of ice that came hurtling down the stream when he suddenly toppled off the cement wall at the west side into the swiftly-moving water.

On the other side of the creek a group of boys including Teddy Carruthers, 15, of 212 Brock Street, Jack Crellin, 13, and Roy Crellin, 15, of 180 Brock Street, and Bill Eano, 16, of 189 Brock Street, were walking north and noticed the three boys on the west bank. They had

'Slavia Fears Adriatic To Be Mined

Will Act With Italy On Any Blockade Belgrade Declares

BELGRADE, April 8.—(AP). — Official quarters declared to-day Yugoslavia would act jointly with Italy in case the allies blockade the Adriatic or lay mines there.

The British announcement that mines had been laid in Norwegian territorial waters stirred anxiety that the Allies might extend their operations to the Adriatic.

The German freighter Ankara arrived at Trieste to-day with 5,000 tons of bauxite from Yugoslavia, carried through Yugoslav and Italian territorial waters on a test trip which Germans hope will open up a new blockade-puncturing route for war supplies. No British warships were sighted.

German proposals to establish a "blockade proof" trade route through the Adriatic with part of the merchant fleet bottled up in Italian ports since the start of the war have led to recurrent but unconfirmed reports that British warships were ready to break up any such traffic.

Officials here pointed out that Italy controls both sides of the narrow straits which is the only entrance to the Adriatic.

Yugoslavia's foreign policy has been tied closely with Italy's since Italy annexed Albania a year ago.

Rome Alert

ROME, April 8.—(AP)—Diplomatic sources said today that Italy was keeping an alert watch on Britain's blockade, tightening in the North Sea for signs of any extension to the Adriatic.

Allied Craft Patrol Mine Fields To Prevent Removal

LONDON, April 8 (CP)—Allied naval forces drove into Norwegian territorial waters today and at three strategic points off the rugged coast sowed minefields to sever Germany's "lifeline" for Scandinavian iron ore.

The action—officially disclosed to Norway early today in British and French notes after minelayers had completed their silent task—brought swift consideration by Norway's parliament of a protest and rumblings in Berlin of "far reaching" and "tremendous" consequences.

The stroke was the Allies' most spectacular in their war to strangle German Economy.

The minelaying was completed within one hour and, the British said, Norway was notified as soon thereafter as was "practical."

Authoritative sources emphasized that the operations were "carried through without incident." They added that the action was taken against Germany."

Capture Or Mines?

The minefields, it was said, were merely laid to force coastal shipping to pass outside Norweigian territorial waters at three points. That would halt German ships which have been plying back and forth within territorial limits, compel them to risk Allied capture by venturing onto the open sea or the peril of mines.

Norwegian and Swedish sources in London said that although the mines might seriously cut the flow of Swedish ore to Germany for the next 1½ months arrangements could be made to divert the entire trade to the Baltic—where it is difficult for the Allied navies to follow.

The greatest difficulty, the Swedish and Norwegian informants said, would not be in shipping ore from Lulea, in the Gulf of Bothnia, but in Germany's receiving it.

"Stettin is the only German port on the Baltic capable of handling such shipments," said one well-informed Norwegian.

The mines were laid within the three-mile limit.

Statement Tuesday

Prime Minister Chamberlain is to make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow on the minelaying.

The economic push turned also toward a campaign for new imports from the United States of non-war materials and stepped-up exports to provide more dollars for buying war supplies abroad.

Reported slated for trimming were Hollywood movies — to save some of the more than $30,000,000 paid for United States films each year—and Scotch whisky—to release more for United States thirsts and bring home dollars for buying warplanes.

The mines were laid in three small but vital areas close to the Norwegian shoreline. Each commands a fjord and port.

The two governments' dramatic statements, broadcast to their empires, disclosed the mine-laying and arrangements made "for the limits of the area to be patrolled by British naval vessels until a period of 48 hours has elapsed from the laying of the first mine in each area."

PORT HOPE, Ont., April 8 — (CP). — Five hundred tons of coal was dumped into Lake Ontario from the collier Coalfax when the vessel grounded on a sandbar at the mouth of the harbor here to-day.

The vessel lightered sufficiently to free herself after an eight-hour struggle.

The coal was dumped into the lake after winches failed to free the ship. The coal was visible at the surface of the water one hour after the unloading started. Cargo capacity of the collier is 2,400 tons.

After working off the sandbar, believed created only in winter months by lake currents, the Coalfax entered harbor to open navigation here. After unloading 1,500 tons of coal from Oswego, N.Y., she will clear port late today.

The coal dropped into the lake may hinder bathing this summer since it is lying just off the bathing beach.

Allied Blockade Coup Forces Nazis Into Open Seas

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—Norwegian Minister E. A. Colban called upon Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax at the foreign office today and was understood to have protested the laying of British mines in Norwegian territorial waters.

OSLO, April 8.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht declared today that Norway will demand removal of Allied mines from her territorial waters.

Koht's statement came as Norwegians heard ominous reports of a gathering of German and British warships.

Rumors reaching here from Denmark said that 50 German ships of various sizes, including battleships, cruisers and minesweepers, were moving toward the Skagerrak, an arm of the North Sea accessible from the Baltic.

These rumors—impossible to check readily—were that the German force was moving north through the Great Belt, a Baltic-North Sea approach flanked by islands that go to make up Denmark. Entrance to the Kattegat and Skagerrak would bring any German force to the southernmost point of Norway.

At the same time, reports from Norwegian coastal points said that British battleships and cruisers had been sighted. Actually, the Allied plan of acquainting shipping with the positions of the minefields called for the presence in territorial waters of Allied warships.

Ferryboats Held Up

In Copenhagen, the Berlingske Tidende reported today that ferryboats coming in Korsoer from points along the Great Belt were seriously delayed today because of heavy traffic by German vessels through the Belt in to the Kattegat, heading toward the Scandinavian coasts.

The Norwegian telegraph bureau reported from the northern coast today that warships of heavy tonnage were sighted close to the coast. One big warship off Bud, where mines have been laid by the Allies, was not more than half a nautical mile offshore ,the report said. From Bodo, south of Narvik, came a report that coast traffic had been interrupted.

Parliament Meets

Koht made his declaration on Norway's course following a joint meeting of the cabinet with the parliamentary foreign affairs committee. The foreign minister said that not only would Norway demand removal of the mines but that she "reserves for herself the right to take any and all steps which may be necessary as a result of such infringement of Norwegian neutrality.

Koht declared that the laying of mines to stop German shipping in Norwegian waters was in direct contradiction of agreements which Britain signed March 11 on Norwegian trade with Germany.

"The British and French governments early today laid out mine fields at three places in Norwegian sea territory to stop free shipping within Norwegian waters," Khot said, "and British warships have been sent to guard these areas.

"The Norwegian government protests gravely and solemnly against

Plot To Plug Danube Nipped As Rumania Arrests 100 Britons—So Berlin Says

BERLIN, April 8—(AP).— German spokesmen to-day called in foreign correspondents to give them details of what they described as a "gigantic British plot" to make the Danube impassable.

The Nazis described how the plotters planned to send half a dozen barges loaded with dynamite up the river, blast the channel and blow up bridges. They said more than 100 British army, navy and air force men who were to have participated in the affair were arrested by Rumanian police before they had time to carry out their design. The barge fleet was reported to have been seized at Giurgiu, south of Bucharest.

The chief plotter was described by the Nazis as a British vice-consul at Bucharest, who, they said, actually was the chief of the British secret service in Rumania.

(In London official sources said they declined to "dignify" the reports of a Danube plot by comment.)

German officialdom said the Danube plot was a "worthy companion piece" to the mining of Norwegian waters by the Allies, which they said might have "consequences nobody can foresee."

"Icily cold Germany watches these developments," the spokesmen said. "Icily cold Germany watches the unfolding of this drama. Icily cold Germany reserves her own decisions to meet the situation."

The vessels involved in the alleged Danube plot were said to have included several British tugs and barges and a few chartered Greek

Rivers And Lakes Rise Sharply In Heavy Rains

TORONTO, April 8 — (CP). — Rains overnight and to-day raised levels of rivers, lakes and streams throughout Ontario and minor flood conditions were reported in some sections.

In the Ingersoll district, police and firemen kept close watch on a flooded area in the McKeand Street section. A motorist was marooned on the flooded Pemberton Street bridge over the Thames River at Ingersoll when water filled the muffler of his automobile and was drawn up into the motor.

At London, the Thames River was reported more than two feet above normal, but running freely. The swollen waters caused cessation of a search for the body of Alexander Cook, 38, member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who walked into the river on Saturday, fully clothed, and was carried away by the current.

Nazi Embarking Manoeuvres Suspected Bluff

PARIS, April 8.—(CP-Havas).—Reinforced German troops contingents have recently been engaged in embarking and landing manoeuvres along the North Sea and Baltic coasts, authoritative French military sources reported today.

The manoeuvres were interpreted here as aimed at the Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands, but possibly only as a bluff to back up German diplomatic pressure on these countries.

Such manoeuvres have frequently been reported from German coastal points since last October, but the number of troops engaged and the scope of the exercises have greatly increased within the last three days, it was said.

Military action on the western front was limited to artillery fire and routine patrol actions. Wreckage of all five German planes reported shot down yesterday was found on French soil. They were three Messerschmitts and two Dorniers.

The Germans crews were killed or captured in each case. One of these five planes was brought down by British planes, the other by French.

No French planes were lost.

Naval Mine Job Timely Stroke Claims UK Press

LONDON, April 8—(CP).— Free nations of the world will see "that the British lion has awakened at last, and awakened with a welcome roar," the Evening News said tonight regarding the Allied action in mining Norwegian waters.

"On Saturday," the newspaper said, "a U-boat torpedoed the Norwegian vessel Navarra and then came to the surface to watch—but not to save—the crew drowning in the water.

"Today the blackguards who sent the U-boat on its evil mission will denounce the Allies, who have not sent a single neutral to the bottom or assassinated a single neutral sailor.

"Free nations of the world will be able to judge for themselves where the truth can be found and under what compulsion Great Britain and France have been forced to act. Eden 1st Choice As Premier In London Poll

LONDON, April 8.—(CP Cable)—Anthony Eden, Dominions Minister, would be first choice as Britain's future Prime Minister, but Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, is a close second, according to a Callup poll published bly the News Chronicle today.

Mr. Eden obtained 28 per cent of the votes, Mr. Churchill 25, and Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, seven. Clement Attlee, Labor leader, had six votes and David Lloyd George five.

Mr. Churchill's increased popularity was shown in a poll of government supporters where 32 per cent favored him for Prime Minister and 30 per cent Mr. Eden.

This compared with Mr. Eden's 28 per cent and Mr. Churchill's seven among government supporters a year ago in a similar poll.

Toronto Scottish, Saskatoon Unit Parade For Queen In Battledress

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ALDERSHOT, April 8 (CP Cable) —In long khaki ranks fully outfitted for war, the Toronto Scottish and the Saskatoon Light Infantry paraded proudly before Queen Elizabeth today.

The King accompanied Her Majesty to Aldershot and spent the morning among British troops while the Queen inspected the two units of the Dominion's first division and then stood on a canopied dais while they marched past.

His Majesty reviewed two officer cadet training units of the imperials, accompanied by Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the first division of the Canadian active service force, in his capacity as acting genera officer commander-in-chief of the Aldershot area.

Their separate inspections over, the Royal couple re-met at Tournay House to lunch with officers of the Toronto Scottish, of which the Queen is Colonel-in-chief, and with seven senior officers of the Saskatoon battalion.

In many respects it was reminiscent of the Royal visit to Canada last year when there was peace Crowds lined the royal route of tour. Bands played and the Royal Standard rippled from a flag staff.

But two great differences stood out. The English crowd clapped sedately instead of cheering as Canadians did wherever their Majesties turned. And the troops, Canadian and British alike, wore battle dress in place of the colorful full dress uniforms which livened the Canadian scenes in 1939.

The Toronto Scottish and the Saskatoon Light Infantry were drawn up in different sections of the far-flung Queen's parade ground when Her Majesty's sedan drove up

2nd Bomb Blast In 5 Weeks Rocks Toronto Italian Area–Shatters 7 Shop Windows

TORONTO, April 8.— (CP).— The second mysterious dynamite explosion in five weeks rocked the Italian quarter of Toronto to-day, breaking seven store windows and terrorizing the district.

Police believed that the approach of a passer-by caused a group of men to drop the dynamite bomb on the pavement, where it caused a violent blast. Part of the curb was ripped off.

The bomb was dropped opposite the store of Louis Puccini, who said he had received threatening letters and a telephone call demanding payment of $3,000 about four years ago He turned the letters over to the police at the time.

The store is only two doors from the home of Tony Mattachione, where the first explosion caused damage five weeks ago.

Patients were aroused in the Toronto General Hospital, a short distance away, and the nearby Hospital for Sick Children.

Italians living in the vicinity were questioned but police were able to gain very little information.

Oshawa, April 8 (CP)

MAROONED on an island in the Oshawa creek at the back of a public school, three Oshawa boys, aged 7, 9 and 11 years, were rescued by Oshawa city firemen late Saturday after a two-hour enforced stay, only inches from the rising flood waters of the creek.

The boys were Lloyd Clark, 11, and Donald and Joseph Ireland, 9 and 7.

The boys, accompanied by "Pat," a large Newfoundland dog, had gone down to the creek shortly after noon to play. They did not notice the rapidly rising floodwaters had cut off their way back to the creek bank until it was too late.

The boys' plight was brought to the attention of passersby by Pat who had swam across and kept running up and down barking.

Loved Every Day Of 18 Years In House Says Agnes–"Would Do It Again"

OTTAWA, April 8—(CP).—First woman in the Dominion Parliament, winner of five consecutive general elections in her own riding but defeated in the voting of last March 26, Miss Agnes Macphail said today she would choose no other career if she had it to do over again.

After 18 years in the hurly-burly of political debate, most of that time the only woman in the House of Commons, Miss Macphail said she had "loved every day of it" and would recommend Parliament as a career for any woman with the mental and physical stamina to endure it.

Miss Macphail was sorry the people had rejected her after so many years, but she was cheerful and unafraid of the task now facing her of starting, at 50, to find a new means of livelihood.

"I told the people the truth at all times," she said, "and they say that the truth will make you free. Well it certainly set me free."

Even Horses Blocked.

When Prime Minister Mackenzie King, a few minutes after the regular session opened last January 25, told an astonished House of Commons that there would be a Dominion election in March, Miss Macphail interrupted to prophesy that "the roads will be piled up fence high."

Miss Macphail's prophesy proved an understatement. She said her campaign had been fought over a district buried under record-breaking snowfall and that on election day the country roads could not be travelled even by horses.

Elected first in 1921 as a Progressive for Grey-Southeast (now Grey-Bruce), Miss Macphail was returned under the same party label in 1925, 1926, and 1930. In 1935 she ran ran as a United Farmers of Ontario-

Norway Shocked As Allies Mine Her Seas

OSLO, April 8—(AP).—The Norwegian Storting (Parliament) was summoned to a special session today to hear the foreign affairs committee report on a protest to be lodged with the Allies over the mining of Norwegian territorial waters.

Shock and amazement was reflected in official circles. A swift round of government conferences followed delivery of identical British and French notes disclosing the drastic step to tighten the Allied blockade of Germany.

The notes were handed to the Foreign Office at 6 a.m. (12 midnight EST) and Foreign Minister Halvdan Khot hurriedly summoned government leaders to formulate a course of action.

The Allied action, reported to have been completed at dawn today, had been taken without advance notice to Norway and without official permission, officials said.

Amid intense excitement, in immediate protest to Great Britain and France was awaited as the first step in a situation which Norwegian circles viewed as a threat to Scandinavian neutrality.

Nazi Warships Moving?

Anxiety was heightened by unconfirmed reports that German war vessels had started moving north through Danish waters in the direction of the Kattegat, apparently heading toward Norway in a move to counter the new Allied move.

Dispatches from Berlin said German spokesmen viewed the situation as extremely serious and predicted consequences the extent of which "nobody can foresee."

The staffs of various Reich Ministries went into immediate conference and officials intimated that a fuller expression of the German attitude would come later in the day.

Swedish official circles were represented in a British dispatch from Stockholm as regarding the Allied mining of Norwegian waters as a violation of Scandinavian neutrality, calling for strongest condemnation.

At 6 a.m to-day (midnight, EST) British and French ministers called at the Norwegian foreign office and presented notes of identical content announcing that the mine fields had been laid and explaining the allies' reason for the action.

The foreign secretary on duty immediately called Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht and the round of government consequences began almost at once Among these was a session of the Foreign Affairs committee.

The new mine fields are located as follows:

Between Molde and Alesund on the west coast; between Molde and Kristiansund at Hustadviken; at Vest Fjord near Lofoten in the Narvik region

Grand Overflows.

At Brantford, flood waters of the Grand River overflowed for the first time since the ice breakup last Thursday. Districts flooded, however, were low-lying, unoccupied lands and minor damage resulted.

Garnd River ice at Kitchener went out quietly yesterday. Residents feared continuation of the rain might cause the already high waters to reach flood proportions by late to-night.

Rainfall during the week-end swelled Dufferin County rivers to their peak, but no flood dangers were reported. The Grand River, dividing Grand Valley, 12 miles west of Orangeville, rose a foot overnight. The water passed beneath a heavy covering of ice and no flood was anticipated unless the ice, when it breaks, jams in the river.

Ice piled up in the Grand at Fergus and the river was clear for seven miles above the town.

Fort Erie district reported that the flow of ice down the Niagara River had dwindled to almost nothing with the dropping of a southwest wind which for the past two days swept large ice masses downstream. A heavy jam of ice was reported just above the Peace Bridge.

Time To Use Naval Power.

"Today they will know that we have strength and will use our overwhelming seapower for the restoration of order and reason in Europe. Hitler is in no position to appeal to law. A murderer cannot call upon the high court to restrict the activities of the police upon his track.

"Concern for international law hampered us in many ways in our fight with the Germans, who violated it by deliberate policy.

"While defenceless men of the Scandinavian countries were being murdered with every kind of brutal disregard for humanity and their ships sunk, they have actually been forced to give armed protection to ships which were guilty."

The Evening Standard advised Norwegians to "ask the verdict of their seamen," and continued:

"Or if they have memories, let them recollect the fate of Czecho-Slovakia and Poland. Germany invades the frontier of elementary freedom and would substitute the 'jackboot' for all law between nations. Great Britain requires only that the technicalities of law should not provide cover for these bestial depredations."

The Daily Express today called on the Allies to "buy up the Balkans" as a means of saving Southeastern Europe from German domination, and said that Norway should refrain from professing "a neutrality which she has not carried out."

The Balkan States this week become the principal battlefield in the war of economics," the Daily Express said. "British representatives of those countries are in London for a conference on means of still further reducing German supplies of food and raw material from those great productive areas.

"Three things are necessary to this achievement—money, military strength and efficient propaganda.

"The Allies must buy up the Balkans, making them economically independent of Germany by taking all their products whether we want them or not. In addition we must have an army in the Near East sufficiently strong to guarantee them against German-Russian aggression when they refused Germany's alternatives of becoming her trade vassals or being overrun.

"The cost may be great, but not in comparison with the result or with the other items of war expenditure."

Toronto Scottish

The Scots were the first on the program of the Scottish-born Queen. She stood under her own standard, fluttering from a staff alongside the red-carpeted reviewing stand while a pipe band skirled "God Save the King."

Then she walked slowly up and down the long straight line of war-bound Canadians. Lieut.-Colonel C. C. Thompson, officer commanding the Highlanders, marched by her side. Occasionally she stopped for a friendly word with men of the ranks.

Noticing his service ribbons, she asked Regimental Sergt.-Major H E. Tuck of Toronto how conditions compared with those of the last war and whether the health of the troops was good.

Her Majesty gave him a warm smile when he replied "everything is just as fine, or finer, and our health is splendid."

A Bit of Praise

The Queen made Company Quartermaster Sergeant L. E. Allard, another Torontonian, prouder than a peacock by remarking "you're with a splendid regiment."

Private Lionel Jinman of Toronto assured Her Majesty, in answer to a question, about the weather.

"It's much easier to take than the winter was," he said.

The inspection over, the Queen stood on the dais, with small flags at either side for the march past. Colonel Thompson led his regiment smartly by in platoon formation as pipers blew the regimental march —"All Blue Bonnets Over the Border."

Despite the lack of dash of the battle dress it was an eye-filling scene. The Queen wore a powder-blue dress, full length coat and an off-face matching hat.

Three strands of pearls were gathered about the neck.

The parade ground grass was a sea of green and the pipe band was in regimental kilt—a striking heather color despite its name of hodden grey.

Visits the Westerners

The march past at an end, the Queen entered her car and drove three quarters of a mile to the spot where Lieut.-Colonel A. E. Potts had the Saskatoon Light Infantry drawn up in battle kit, complete to steel helmets.

While the units presented arms, brass bands played the National Anthem in royal salute. Then Colonel Potts accompanied Her Majesty up and down the ranks of his men rigid at attention.

The march past of the westerners was the quick step of the light infantryman—estimated at 140 to the minute.

The Queen included the battalion in her program because it is affiliated with the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry of which she is Colonel-in-Chief, and the men of the Prairies marched to the Yorkshire unit's regimental tune, "Jock of York."

When the Queen reached Tourney House the officers of the Toronto Scottish had changed into their kilts. She posed for group pictures with the officers of the two units before the King and General McNaughton arrived.

Then, in the ante-room of the mess, the officers were presented individually to Their Majesties. Pipers started the slow march, "The Highland Cradle Song," and the royal couple led the way to luncheon.

Ancient Highland Honors.

At the end of lunch and the toast to the King, the Scots drank to the health of their colonel-in-chief with ancient highland honors in perhaps the most colorful episode of the day.

Mounting chairs, they stood with the right foot on the table, the left foot on the chair, and lifted glasses to the Queen. Then the officers tossed the empty glasses over their shoulders to shatter on the polished floor.

The highlanders gave Their Majesties a rousing farewell salute as they departed. The officers and men were drawn up in long single files on either side of the roadway and, as the royal car gathered speed, they chorused three cheers that echoed and re-echoed around the barrack walls.

An air raid alarm was sounded in Northwestern France at 12:01 a.m. (6:01 p.m. EST). The all clear signal was given 39 minutes later without incident.

"On the 7th of April German reconnaissance planes undertook reconnaissance flights over the central North Sea and over northern and central France.

"North of Sylt Island a squadron of Messerschmitt planes encountered 24 British Wellington bombers. the German pursuit planes shot down two British planes and forced the others to retreat westward.

Quebec Village Fire Razes 18 Buildings

ST. FABIEN, Que., April 8.—(CP)—Scarcely before the embers of their burned homes were cool, residents of this Rimouski county town laid plans today to rebuild the 18 buildings destroyed in the fiercest conflagration in Quebec province this year.

For 12 hours Saturday night and Sunday morning volunteer fire fighters battled flames fanned by a 50-mile-an-hour gale before bringing them under control.

Spokesmen for the 130 persons, many of them young laborers and their families, left homeless said the houses would be rebuilt. In the meantime the 28 families are being sheltered by friends and relatives or in hotels.

The fire, which caused damage estimated at $150,000, started at supper time Saturday when sparks from the chimney of Hermel Rioux' residence were carried by the wind to neighboring homes. The flames soon spread through the centre of the town, situated on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river.

There was no loss of life and the only injury was to 20-year-old Ad-barges.

The Nazis said 400 boxes of dynamite and a quantity of machine-gun ammunition had been hidden aboard the barges. Their crews totalling more than 100 men, included technical personnel of "British dynamiting units" as well as officers from the Army, Navy and Air services, according to the Germans. Several speedboats were said to have accompanied the barge fleet.

Nazi spokesmen said it would be interesting to see how neutral nations respond to the Danube plot and the mining of Norwegian waters. The tone of the Allied notes announcing the latter action to the Norwegian government was described as "spiteful, sarcastic, insolent, and impertinent." The mining operation also was a sign of "weakness, nervousness, and readiness to set aside the conception and reality of neutrality," they said.

British Explain.

BUCHAREST, April 8 — (CP). — British authorities said today that dynamite aboard British barges halted by Rumania near the Danube oil port of Giurgiu had been shipped to Rumania for use in blowing up British and French river barges, tankers and tugs in case Germany should invade the Balkans.

They denied German claims that Great Britain intended to close the Danube to prevent Germany from receiving supplies over this southeastern route.

Reports circulated by the German news agencies in Southeastern Europe countries stated that the explosives were to have been used to blow up the narrow channel in the Danube known as "the Iron Gate," thus blocking Germany's supplies of oil and food over the Danube route.

Deny Arrests.

British and the Rumanian Foreign Office said there was no foundation for German news agency allegations that "more than 100" British officers had been seized aboard the barges by the Rumanian police.

The British Charge d'Affairs conferred late today with Foreign Minister Gafencu.

It was reported, though not confirmed, that shots were fired during another Danube incident between British and German bargemen and that shots were fired at the same time before the Bulgarian shore opposite Giurgiu.

Rumanian military authorities designated Giurgiu as a military zone. This oil shipping port, from which Germany gets most of her Rumanian oil, henceforth will be controlled by the army, with entrance barred to all except those having special permits.

Where the dynamite was taken eventually or what became of the barge crews was not stated.

Total vote in Grey-Bruce in 1935 was 18,037 as compared with 16,411 in last month's contest.

Some Government Post?

Miss Macphail has been widely mentioned as a likely choice of the Prime Minister for some government post where her long experience in public service and her close relations with the people would be of value. She also has been mentioned as a Senate possibility for one of the two vacancies.

A cause Miss Macphail advocated was prison reform and her attacks upon the administration of penal institutions featured several sessions of parliament. It has been suggested that she might be appointed to the Penitentiaries Commission which is to be created.

Pausing in the task of clearing out her desk, packing books, pictures and trinkets, Miss Macphail told an interviewer something of her views and reactions as the pioneer woman in Parliament as an Independent member.

Miss Macphail said she had been most reluctant to vote for Canada's participation in the war. "But I came to the conclusion that, with an aggressor nation swallowing up smaller nations, we must get together and help to stop it," she said.

"I am glad and proud that there will still be a woman in the House of Commons. I have not met Mrs. Neilsen (Mrs. D. W. Neilsen, Unity, member-elect for North Battleford) but I have heard much about her and it all sounds fine."

Miss Macphail has no definite plans for the future. She was a school-teacher when first elected. She will not return to that. At present she plans to visit the West Coast. To get a job now, and to hold it, means that I must alter my way of thinking. I must start thinking about Agnes Macphail," she said.

Six Nazi Planes Shot Down Over Weekend

LONDON, April 8.—(CP)—An air raid alarm was sounded in the Shetland Islands today. Airplanes believed by the civilian population to be German were sighted from the ground.

Thirty-eight minutes later, after British combat planes had taken off, the all clear signal sounded.

Air battle over the North Sea and the Western Front accounted for six Nazi planes during the week-end Allied communiques announced Sunday.

French fliers downed four planes over German soil during a day marked by "very considerable activity in the air," the French evening communique said. A fifth plane was downed by the Royal Air Force, the communique said.

The North Sea battle apparently explained three air raid alarms which interrupted the Sunday calm in the Orkneys. An air ministry statement, acknowledging that two British planes failed to return from this fight, said that one enemy aircraft was destroyed and at least one other was believed damaged.

Hiawatha Gift Of $200 To War Funds

Drawing on their funds held in trust by the Federal Government at Ottawa, the members of the Indian community at Hiawatha, Rice Lake, presented on Saturday $100 each to the Red Cross Society and the Salvation Army's war auxiliary fund.

The presentations were made by Chief George Paudash on behalf of the residents of the reserve and as a contribution expressing their loyalty to the cause of their King and the Empire.

The gift to the Red Cross Society was made through its branch at Keene, and the other gift of $100 was to Adjutant Buckley of the Salvation Army. The combined contribution of $200 came from the community of 74 persons, V. M. Eastwood, Indian agent, informed the Examiner.

It is recalled that some of the men of the reserve enlisted in the last war. Chief George Paudash was one of them, and the present gift was to some extent inspired by the remembrance of the aids received by the Hiawatha men from both the Red Cross and the Salvation Army overseas.

Spring Surprises To Find Italy Ready

ORVIETO, Italy, April 8.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini told a cheering crowd Sunday that Italy is ready to face whatever "this late spring brings."

Il Duce spoke briefly to a mass of Blackshirt followers, townspeople and students of an academy for training of Fascist women leaders, which he inspected.

The occasion was the first anniversary of the Italian occupation of Albania.

"Events which we are witnessing have great proportions," Mussolini said. "But we believe we are not inadequate for them, even considering their unusual scope.

"Whatever may be the happenings which this late spring brings us, Italy will face them. It could not be otherwise, because the Italy of the Fascist emblem of the young and resolute which just a year ago liberated a people in three days, and previously conquered an African Empire in seven months, is the Italy which we have willed and created through 20 years of hard, uninterrupted tests, always crowned by victory."

Mussolini's remarks, the first he has made on the war situation in several months, came after a week in which intensified preparations for possible emergencies were announced. Among the measures was a civilian mobilization law, permitting the Government to call up women and children over 13 years of age for work behind the front lines.

His visit to Orvieto was one of those occasionally paid by Il Duce to Italian Province cities.

He received the usual enthusiastic welcome, students of the academy entertaining him with gymnastic dancing, choral singing and swimming performances.

Canadian Non-Coms. Learn From The Guards

A detachment of Canadian non-commissioned officers is shown being drilled by an instructor from the brigade of guards at Wellington barracks, London. The Canadian N.C.O.'s are undergoing a special course of training, including lectures on administration, discipline and drill. The session lasts one month.

Skating Champion Prefers Flying

MONTREAL, April 7.—(CP)—Professional ranks hold little allure for Mary Rose Thacker, amateur figure skating champion of North America who thinks her skating is "not exactly fun."

Voted Canada's outstanding woman athlete for her ability on the ice, the 17-year-old Winnipeg girl lists at least two recreations which she enjoys more. They are flying and horseback riding, she said here during the week-end.

"I regard my skating now as not exactly fun," said Miss Thacker, who wore her first skates at the age of three and won her first championship at six. "But the idea of converting it into professionalism does not appeal to me."

Miss Thacker said horseback riding, for fun and relaxation is her favorite recreation. Flying she likes too and would like to make a practical use of it.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:
ROMANY HAILE, who wants to be a radio star.
CHOLLY O'NEIL, her pal, who plays in a music store.
BRENT NELSON, successful young announcer.
MYRA NOYES, famous radio star, engaged to Brent.
TERRY O'ROURKE, who has a weakness for Cholly and for liquor.
BAXTER TREE, a continuity writer without a job.
SATURDAY: Romany's audition is highly successful and the newspapers begin to publicize her, linking her romantically with Brent Nelson.

CHAPTER NINE

AFTER DINNER, Romany and Baxter went to the movies. It was an amusing picture and Romany said good night to Bax at the door with a warm feeling of friendship for the struggling writer.

"You're pretty nice." She gave him her hand. "Im terribly grateful to you for helping me so much with my audition today. And I loved the dinner and the movies."

Bax bent over her, his lean, strong face a study in the dim light of the hall.

"I'm not much of a ladies' man" he said then, "and I can't take you to Landau's and buy you orchids. But I will write a sonnet to you now and then Romany."

"I'd love it." She wrinkled her nose.

Bax wanted very much to kiss her, but he restrained himself admirably.

"Bax is a lamb," Romany greeted Cholly in the bedroom, tossing the big rose hat on the bed. "And I've had a perfectly marvellous day!"

There was a sob from the bed where Cholly lay, and Romany crossed to her, alarmed.

"What's the matter, honey! Oh, Cholly, what are you crying about?"

Cholly buried her little red head in the pillow, her shoulders shaking convulsively. Romany looked at her helplessly.

"Are you sick? Please tell me what's wrong."

After a little while Cholly said through her sobs:

"Oh—it's nothing. Terry and I have been fighting, that's all."

Romany sniffed.

"Has he been drinking too much again?"

Cholly sat up, wiping her eyes. She nodded miserably.

"Yes. He spent the afternoon at the Beer Barrel again He drew his salary a day early, and went over there and lost most of it playing poker. I don't think he has even enough to pay his room rent.

Romany went into the bathroom for a cold cloth to put on Cholly's head.

"Lie down," she commanded, "and put this over your eyes. If you waste one more sob on that sot, I'm going to crown you."

"B-but—" Cholly threatened fresh tears. "You don't understand."

"I understand one thing," Romany snapped. "That you're breaking your heart and wasting your best years over a man who hasn't the self-respect of a boob. Oh, Cholly, use your head!"

"I—I love him." The smaller girl pressed the cold cloth to her eyes. "You don't understand, Romey. You've never been in love."

"Listen," Romany said almost harshly. "Don't tell me a nice, sensible girl like you, with the brains and talent you have, can really fall in love with a man who shows so little respect for you. I don't believe it! You've just got into this thing and youre making a martyr out of yourself because you're afraid to let Terry down. Well, what's he doing to you? I ask you! Is he letting you down?"

"Y-yes," Cholly quavered. "Of course he is. He never keeps his promises. He swore to me just a couple of days ago, after he borrowed fifty dollars from Baxter, that he'd never do a thing like that again. And that when he got his salary he'd pay Bax back at least five dollars a week.

Romany exploded:

"Do you mean to sit there and tell me that Terry O'Rourke had the colossal nerve to borrow fifty dollars from Bax when he only knew him casually at the university and had seen him for the first time here?"

Cholly nodded miserably.

"That's the money he spent when we went to the night club."

Romany got up and threw herself in a chair by the window looking out upon the lake.

"That's the worst thing I've ever heard of!" she raved. "Why, Bax'll probably have to do without lunch for weeks to make up for it. He isn't making any money!"

"That's what I told Terry," Cholly sighed hopelessly. "But he just doesn't seem to be able to understand. He borrows from everybody he has even a casual acquaintance with. I know he means to pay it back. But he'll probably never be able to. Lord only knows how many times he borrowed a quarter or fifty cents from me at school, and he doesn't even remember it, I guess."

Romany gasped:

"Oh, Cholly, I can't believe it! From you—and you have so little."

Cholly wiped her eyes again.

"I shouldn't have told you. You'll never like Terry now."

"Cholly!" Romany got up and went over to sit beside her old friend again. "If you don't teach that bird a lesson, you're crazy. You just CAN'T go on cheapening yourself going around with him on borrowed money."

"I—k-know," Cholly answered. "Tonight he got mad at me because I wouldn't marry him right away. He said he'd straighten up and save his money if I'd marry him and make a home for him."

"I've heard that one before," Romany laughed harshly. "If he ever had a home, it'd be because you went out and worked and made one for him. You'd be in the same spot your mother is."

"I told him that, too," Cholly broke in. "But it just made him fighting mad to be compared with Pop. I thought he was going to hit me. I know he's gone out to drink up the rest of his salary."

"Let him!" Romany reached out and patted Cholly's small white hand. "We'll do a little stepping out ourselves. Maybe you don't know it, but you're turning over a new leaf, my fine feathered friend."

"What do you mean?"

"You'll see." Romany smiled mysteriously.

She decided then to tell Cholly what Brent Nelson had said about Terry O'Rourke. How he'd been auditioned at Interstate, but they'd turned thumbs down on him completely because of his reputation.

"I shouldn't be at all surprised," Romany added then, "that the reason you haven't gotten a break is because they know you're engaged to him. How do they know you aren't unreliable? That you don't drink too much, too?"

That was probably stretching a point. But Romany didn't care.

Maybe you're right." Cholly seemed impressed. "I just don't seem to get farther than the fourth floor lobby."

Romany told her then all about the events of the day. Cholly lost her gloomy look and gradually got back her sense of humor. She was, naturally, a person whom it was almost impossible to get down. Terry was the one problem that she saw no hope of solving.

Romany chattered as she undressed, one eye on Cholly, and was glad to see that her friend's fit of blues seemed to be subsiding. It was hard to stay awake and keep talking, but Romany buzzed on long after she had gone to bed. After a time Cholly answered sleepily, and finally, from her deep breathing, Romany knew she was asleep.

But long afterward Romany lay thinking of Brent Nelson and what he had told her of his engagement to Myra Noyes. She hoped she could keep his friendship and his interest alive without having his love making get out of bounds.

She thought, too, of Bax, and turned over fretfully when she recalled the fifty dollars Terry had borowed from him. Of course he'd never get a penny of it back. Romany was worried over the money he'd spent on dinner and the movie, and determined she'd find some diplomatic way to keep him from wasting his much needed cash on her.

It didn't occur to her that she was worrying for the first time over whether a man could afford to take her out.

The next day Cholly worked in the forenoon, playing the piano at Leo-Dane's. In the afternoon she and Romany went swimming, although they were almost afraid to leave the phone without someone to answer it. Aunt Cissie had decided it was pampering them too much to leave one of the servants.

Outside the hall door, Romany heard the phone ringing when they returned. Her hands were all thumbs as she fumbled with the lock. Finally the key worked and she got the door open. Brent Nelson was calling to ask if she'd like to go yachting. Romany thought quickly.

"I'd love it," she said regretfully, "but I just couldn't go and leave poor Cholly. She's been so low. Could—would it be possible for you to find someone for her?"

"Sure," Brent offered generously. "By all means bring Cholly."

Quilt Presented As Birthday Gift

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8. — (ENS)—The Bemmerside Chapter. I.O.D.E. held a successful cooking sale and birthday tea in their rooms in the Ferris block here Saturday afternoon Pink snap-dragons and daffodils were the princial floral decorations on the tables which were well filled during the entire afternoon, and the lovely birthday cake which was later won by Mrs. J. Storie, who held the lucky ticket, was the centre of attraction on the cooking table.

The wool blanket that members of Group II had been selling tickets on for several weeks was drawn for by the Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside and Miss Jean Wallace was holder of the winning ticket. An unscheduled part of the program was the presentation of a fine quilt done in the sun bonnet girl pattern to the Bemmerside Chapter. The quilt was a birthday present to the Chapter from Mrs. G. Hammond and was accepted on behalf of the I.O.D.E. by Mrs. Ironside. Among those who assisted during the afternoon were Mrs. A. D. Bennett, Mrs. A. J. Armour, Mrs. Geo. Hawthorne and Miss Dorothy Kingston all at the cooking table; Mrs. Jack Cowell, Mrs. S. Hopping, Mrs. S. A. Anderson at the candy table. Miss V. Rutherford and Mrs. A. C. Connor were in charge of the tea tables and were assisted by Misses Jean Wallace, Kae Bygott, Thelma Lowery, Grace Irwin and Mrs. P. M. Locke.

Far East Hot Spot

Here is the Far East scene where the Japanese navy has threatened to "take action" if the British blockade is applied "illegally" to blockade Russian shipping destined for Germany. Japan declared any blockade action in Chosen Strait, southern gateway to the Sea of Japan and principal approach to Russia's port of Vladivostok, would be "seriously considered."

Aviatrix Makes Speed Record

BURBANK, Cal., April 8—(AP)—Jacqueline Cochran, pretty aviatrix, travelled 2,000 kilometres at a speed of approximately 324 miles an hour Saturday to claim a new world record for the distance.

She left Union Air Terminal at 8:36 a.m. rounded a pylon 30 miles west of Albuquerque, N.M., and crossed the finish line at 12:22:47. Her elapsed time was 3 hours 44 minutes 47 seconds.

The accepted record for the distance is 311 miles an hour, established by Ernst Seibert in a twin-engined German Junkers bomber.

Miss Cochran said she lost some time due to sleet near the New Mexico pylon. She throttled down to make certain she was seen before her radio told her she could open up again.

She flew a single-motored, oxygen equipped monoplane, making most of the flight at an altitude of 16,000 feet.

The trip was timed by Harry Therkelsen of the National Aeronautical Association, atop Mt. Wilson.

Miss Cochran's husband, Floyd Odlum, greeted her on the return from her surprise hop. Before the plane stopped he leaped on to a wing and kissed her.

The General Speaks Out

General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the Imperial General Staff, gave an interview to a London reporter. And it was quite an interview. One of the sort which might well enough have caused the reporter to return to his office and tell his chief, "I've got something."

General Ironside stated bluntly that he was pleased Hitler had not ordered an attack during the first seven months of war because Britain had virtually no army. It had not been the policy of the government to keep a large standing army, and when war came it was necessary to start from scratch. There had previously been no conscription in Britain and therefore the men called to the colors had not received any previous training. They were virtually raw recruits. The General's way of giving thanks is like this:

"I tremble to think what would have happened had we been attacked during that period because there was no army at all, though it was ready on our plans. Thank goodness Hitler missed the bus. He didn't take the opportunity which was one we feared more than anything."

From there the British high-ranking officer proceeds to the claim that everything is now ready. In the last fortnight the corner has been turned. He has been with the troops at the front and with the troops at home and is certain nothing has been missed in the way of preparation, men or equipment.

The British papers do not like this way of doing business. The interview given by Gen. Ironside had nothing whatever to do with the Ministry of Information, and the editorial writers are busy saying the Ministry has the wrong name because it never tells anything, and it never has any information to impart.

The press wants to know why it is there should have been so much trembling on the part of the General when the papers had been given to understand that war plans had been under way ever since the abandonment of the policy of appeasement after Munich. Why was the impression given always from official quarters that things were going well and according to schedule, when General Ironside now reveals that an attack by Germany at any time during the last seven months would have been something which Britain could not have successfully handled?

A fair interpretation of the criticism is that the British press feels that the real facts were kept from the people, and that is the very point on which criticism is directed toward Germany. The people there are not told what is going on. They hear nothing on the radio and they see nothing in their papers apart from what the government approves. Plainly the newspapers are entirely out of patience with the Ministry of Information, and the feeling is that papers in Britain and throughout the Dominions have received no help whatever in the presentation of plain facts with which the people should be familiar.

Doing Their Own Shopping

We can refer to him only as "he" or "him." With his wife he was out shopping Saturday, some place in between late afternoon and evening. He's working now and is off the relief office schedule. We are satisfied he never would have gone on relief had there been any way out of it. He admitted he was under a good deal of obligation to the city because through the relief department he had been helped out of a tight corner.

He explained it was different going out shopping when he had his own money in his pocket or in his wife's purse. "You possibly don't know just what it feels like," he explained, "and in a real way it is like getting back to something you have missed. We never had any expensive tastes about things which we put on the table, but it is worth something to go into a store and look around and pick out what you like and then put your hand in your pocket and pay for it.

"When one is on relief even for a short time you begin to find that things in the house need replacing. I've heard the wife speak of that. Handles get knocked off cups and things like that, but they have to continue in use. It will take a little time to catch up on that but we'll get there. We're having quite a little fun out of doing our own shopping with our own money again."

Something in it too for citizens who never have been on relief know nothing about. A feeling of being on "your own" once more, of being able to keep the house going like you used to, of being able to add some little thing now and then to the furnishings which had served their purpose and become disfigured or broken.

Something in it too for citizens who have paid taxes out of which relief funds have been coming. There are times when a good deal has been said about people getting relief to which they were not entitled, and about those who moved in here in order to make sure they were in a community where relief was organized and recognized and so on. But here was one man and his wife at least who were thankful for the help given, and they are more thankful upon arriving at the place where they no longer need to accept relief. Good citizens, say we.

They Want To Go Home

Weeks ago Berlin sent German engineers and skilled men into Russia to superintend the filling of German war orders. They would know exactly what they wanted done and how they wanted it done and not for a moment does one question their competence.

One report has it that these Germans have finally sent a deputation to talk with the German ambassador at Moscow, and the burden of their petition is that they want to be sent home.

The claim is that it has been found impossible for them to be successful in attending to their business on account of the continued opposition of Russian engineers and workers. They are also sure that the Russians would indulge in sabotage at the first opportunity.

The feeling of prejudice amongst Russian engineers is not hard to understand and it has come to the surface before. Experts who have been brought into Russia from the outside world have always been paid at a much higher rate than the Russian engineers themselves. They have always considered themselves superior to the Russian talent, and they probably are, but the Russian does not like being put on that lower rating and lower pay.

These same reports indicate that German shipments of technical equipment have been arriving in Russia promptly, but the Russians have shown no particular hurry in delivering needed raw materials to the Reich.

To get it all down to something easy to understand it is like this: In such a situation some one has to be the boss and that is why the German engineers were sent in, and the Russian engineers and workers don't like it.

Facts Are Needed

Hon. N. O. Hipel Minister of Labor for Ontario, says he is proceeding with an investigation into the charges that money has been paid for the securing of employment. We hope he goes the limit.

It started when an employee of the Ontario Hospital in Toronto claimed he had paid $200 for a place on the staff, and the employee produced an affidavit saying he had handed that amount to a named individual at the employment office. Latest information is that this person is at the moment under suspension.

There is something quite definite there on which to work. There is the affidavit; there is the man making the charge and the man against whom it was made. The charge is either true or not true and it should not take much time to determine that point.

Mr. Hipel will be performing good service if he presents to the public a fair and fearless report. The idea of "job selling" is particularly repulsive, and we do not wish to believe such a miserable custom exists if the facts do not warrant such belief."

Just Plain Crazy

The extent to which this war is being fought by propaganda leads strongly toward the suspicion or even the confirmed belief that some sections of the world are going crazy. Violently and hopelessly so.

In Paris there was published on the cover of L'Illustration a picture of Premier Reynaud in his office, and seated near him was U.S. Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles. They were looking at a map of Europe in which the usual lines marking boundaries appear to be unusual. Germany received a copy and then the fat was in the fire. Berlin said the French Premier was explaining to the American visitor how the lines of Europe were to be changed as a result of the war, and parts of Germany were to be taken away. And that was great material to feed to the people in Germany, and to the outside world. It was used to make it appear that France had sought to take advantage of the U.S. delegate's visit to arouse his sympathy for the dismemberment of Germany.

There is quite a story behind that now famous map, and as clearly as sequence can indicate there is nothing more to it than a man quitting work at noon and going home for something to eat. The map was one which was printed in 1919, possibly after the boundaries had been changed following the previous war, particularly in the Balkans.

When Germany began changing the map of Europe in recent times the French Premier had sought to make changes by using colored crayons. Germany's added territory he had marked with red chalk and Russia's gains had been done in yellow. When a photograph was taken in the premier's office the French censor saw it and found it would not do. The reason was that the red and yellow marking all came out as black and that might indicate a territorial union of Germany and Russia. So he ordered the map to be shown grey, and that meant a blank.

Next came a printer on leave from the front and he was somewhat of a draftsman, and did not like the looks of a map of Europe with no lines on it. He proceeded to put them in and did not have any copy from which to work, and it was the result of his markings which finally came into the hands of German agents.

Then the hubub started and it continued to grow. Cables were heavy with wordage and the Berlin radio was dripping with charges that there had been dirty work at the crossroads. Finally France decided to produce the original map and the whole thing was explained move by move, and all there was to it was a French Premier trying to keep a 1919 map up to date by using colored chalk to mark in the changed boundaries. It does look as though a definite streak of insanity were fast developing in Germany.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We spent $3,000,000 on the Dominion election, and a rather thorough going Tory remarked "Look what we got!"

Fossils found in Australia are said to be 110,000,000 years old, so at least they have earned the right to be called fossils.

Prime Minister Chamberlain says he is ten times more certain of success now. And as a rule he is not given to exaggeration.

A report from Barrie describes Toronto as being a place "55 miles south of here." And that ought to hold the big town for a day or so.

Thief in London, Ont., stole a car with 1939 markers on it, and if the police are looking for any particular car it's that one.

Havelock council heard complaints that there were too many transients coming to the place, and possibly the belief is that said transients are showing very good taste.

In what was termed a theoretical air fight over Cleveland a storm came up and one of the military planes crashed. Just where that fitted into the theory is not stated.

Campbellford council discussed putting some material on the streets to lay the dust of summer days, but then it was considered better to wait until the snow and ice had disappeared so it might be possible to make sure the roads were still there.

Records in Peterborough show the number of families on relief has been reduced from 512 to 296 within a year. That means a welcome reduction in relief costs, but the real point is in having as many families as possible able to get off relief.

Rural mail carriers are not sorry to see the departure of winter. We read in the Stratford Beacon-Herald the experience of one who operates out of Mitchell. As a rule his route covers 24 miles. In order that the mail might get through he drove 25 miles by car, went 10 miles by horse and cutter, rode horseback for a mile and a-quarter and walked a mile and a-quarter. Stratford is very much in the snow belt—and so was that mail carrier.

HEALTH

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Neighbor G is quite a man, who lives according to a plan, he aims to have no ills; he puts great stock in having health, and kind of looking at himself, and lays great faith in pills.

¶ Nor does he look so very frail, but all his pills would fill a pail, no new kind can he pass; he plumps one in at every meal, or when he has some cause to feel, he has a little gas.

¶ If wind comes blowing from the East, and he feels like a ten-horn beast, or if it makes him chill; he reaches in his pocket there, and tends at once to that affair, and takes another pill.

¶ And when he's starting off to bed, and feels he's woozy in the head, he'll stop a bit and frown; and then he'll move toward a shelf, where he stocks up to guard his health, another pill goes down.

¶ When he wakes up at break of day, he puts another pill away, it puts his works in tune; and when the whistle blows to quit, he makes a rapid trip of it, to get a pill at noon.

¶ I never knew his likes before, of pills he can't hold any more, they'd reach for seven blocks; he's popped in pills year after year, I wouldn't be surprised to hear—he rattles when he walks.

Comment From United States On War Topics

THE March issue of Fortune, commenting on its latest monthly poll on foreign policy:

"The situation is little changed since the vanishing of Poland. After the passing of five months there are still just 83.1 per cent who want the Allies to win. A few more than before, by a fraction of 1 per cent, are backing Germany...."

Antipathy to Russia, however, has caused a change in the public inclination to give active help in Europe. To the question: "If Germany and Russia form an active military alliance, what should the United States do?", the replies showed 48.6 per cent in favor of helping their adversaries, and only 41.7 per cent in favor of a non-interventionist policy:

"This is an important swing away from the technically equal treatment of all belligerents towards deliberately taking sides with material aid.... The month per month survey on the Russo-German question confirms the indications in our December survey that the public would be readier to help against Germany if the U.S.S.R. joined her side."

Hitler's "Peace Offer"

"How reasonable, how adroit it must seem to the Germans to tell America 'only wants a Monroe Doctrine for Eastern Europe'. The Monroe Doctrine presumably gives us the right to occupy Argentine and Brazil, to sheet their leading civilians, close the universities, conscript their labor, uproot thousands of women and children from their homes, and impose our ideas on Latin America at the point of the bayonet." — (New York Times, March 4th).

On Communazi Emotions

"The necessities of power have already amended the Hitler doctrine of Herrenvolk. Only recently Ley, who can usually be depended upon to sing the praises of blood purity, swallowed yards of his Nazi racial pride calling upon the workers of the world to unite in an effort to crush Allied capitalism. It must be that the Teuton is only allergic towards the Slav in certain instances. His present at Goering's back door with food and weapons isn't one of them."—(Hartford Courant, Feb. 21st).

Guarantee To Rumania

"Carol will have to recall that Hitler's Germany guaranteed independence to Austria; signed a paper insuring the frontiers of a slightly reduced Czechoslovakia; made a non-aggression pact with Poland. The record doesn't inspire confidence in such commitments."—(Philadelphia Inquirer, March 2nd).

London and Berlin

William L. White, broadcasting from WCAB (U.S.A.) on his recent visit to both capitals, Feb. 3rd:—

"Berlin has London definitely outblacked, because the London blackout leaks in many places. The streets look much lighter, but this is probably because there are so many more cars and taxis in London than in Berlin, which has almost no transport for civilians....English food rationing, in contrast with Germany, is a joke; why shouldn't it be? There is plenty of food in England. The butter ration happens to be a little smaller than in Germany, but one can get almost unlimmited amount of all other fats, whereas in Germany one cannot. In Berlin every ounce of fat on your chop is measured, before they put it on the table they skim every drop of oil off the top of your soup, and you can get this only by cards. You need cards even for the few drops of grease your fish will be fried in, so that after you have been there a week you are ravenous for fats, though it is true that your cards allow you sufficient to keep you in reasonable health.

But if the British have the Germans out eaten, the Germans have definitely got the British out-glowered, for whatever that may be worth, because nothing is funny any more in Berlin. Particularly Aryan supremacy and Lebensraum are not funny, and in Germany one must be very careful not to laugh at the wrong time. It is much better just to scowl patriotically whenever in doubt....

Now the English are just as upset by this war, but they are good at meeting an emergency, and when the Nazis come up in conversation and everybody is tired of hearing about Hitler, they just start talking about something else. No wonder the German sits about scowling and growling and muttering about the British. This simple pleasure is the only one he has left and I firmly hope it will never be restricted or rationed."

SHORT SKIRTS

BRUSHING aside purely esthetic considerations, the farmers of the land would give a joyful whoop if the distaff part of the population would abandon short skirts and sylph-like figures.

Men of the soil have an eye for a well-turned ankle or a luscious curve, but there are things more important in life than beauty. Their crops, for instance. Just because skirts have crawled up to the knees, cotton growers are missing sales of a million bales a year, according to the U.S. census bureau. And the cornmeal consumption per capita has dropped from 317 pounds annually to 21 pounds—just because the gals would rather look willowy than billowy. Same for buckwheat.

Farmers aren't expecting anyone to do anything about the situation right away. They're just waiting hopefully. They know all about the vicissitudes of feminine fashions. — Regina Leader-Post.

• Going Out To Work As A Maid

(Letter in Montreal Star)

SIR,—Your correspondent W. R. apparently has the same viewpoint as I regarding the Servant Problem. The whole trouble is that many women these days who desire a maid or in many cases a "houseman" seem to be under the impression that the person who applies for the position is absolutely at the end of their rope, for the offer of a "good home" happens to be one that is usually made; wages are mentioned more or less as an afterthought.

I have had many experiences of this. One well intentioned employer impressed upon me that I would have three meals a day and a good clean bed to sleep in and then with an expression on her face as if she was crowning the Queen of the May, she added, "And fifteen dollars a month," for which I had to scrub, clean, and cook for a family of four.

I have, or rather, had never used profane language in my life and needless to say that woman heard me for the first time. There are many women nowadays who apply for a domestic when they really cannot afford one, but they must keep up with the Joneses—hence the trouble.

There are good places I'll admit, also good mistresses who pay good wages, but they are very scarce and hard to get, which is one reason why I for one changed my occupation and since then feel more like a human being.

Girls in department stores, office, factory, or cafeterias have far more advantages than their domestic sister—at least they know at the end of the day's work their time is their own. A maid never knows. They can entertain their friends in their own homes or apartment, which the maid cannot do who "lives in." She has to meet her friends on the street on her half-day off.

Once upon a time the cook entertained her policeman in the kitchen—now most kitchens are so small a good-sized "Bobby" couldn't get in. I've worked for mistresses who were overbearing and neurotic, others fast and furious, yet I put up with it, because I at least had decent wages. Why blame the girls for not wishing to enter domestic service and why should E. Johnson blame the Protestant Employment Bureau just because they could not accommodate her? Mr. Clark understands the servant problem better than anyone, I think. Does E. Johnson know that one agency in the city refused to send any more girls to one particular woman because she had already had three in one week? There are always two sides to a story and it's about time the domestic got a break and her side were known. Anyhow why worry about the servant problem? It's easily solved. Let these women who want labor so cheap and who seem so anxious to give some poor lonely girl a good home do the work themselves for a change.

JOAN DANVERS.

• Do Women Buy Better Than Men?

"GIVE ME a man customer any time, in preference to a woman," is what any salesman will tell you. "Women want to know everything about the article before they buy it. They take longer to make up their minds. And they are much more likely to return the article if it does not work out just the way they wanted."

Now listen to what many husbands say: "Women go crazy when they are out shopping. Look at the funny hats they buy just because they are bargains and not because they need them. It's a shame the way they spend the money we earn!"

Both the salesmen and the envious husband are probably right. Some women do go into a shopper's delirium when they see a bargain—but by and large, the average woman is better at getting her money's worth than her husband is.

From our analyses of around 22,000 newspaper readers last year, we found that more women than men read the advertisements. The women even read the advertisements of men's products sometimes better than the men themselves do.

It is obvious from these new facts that the woman is more likely to know what is new, what has the best prices, and where things can be bought to best advantage. After all, she is simply tending to her business, for it has been estimated that much more than half of the money spent in stores is on purchases made by women who, in most cases, are the purchasing agents for the entire family.

Women should be better buyers than men. It is their business. They spend more time at it, getting much more practice, and have the salesman show them everything before making up their minds.

This may annoy the salesperson, but undoubtedly it make the family budget go farther week after week in spite of the occasionally unnecessary hat which was just too good a bargain to resist.

• Relic of London Plague of 1665

WORKMEN pulling down an old inn at Evensham recently found an almost perished piece of paper which proved to be a plague pass issued during the Great Plague of London. A week or so ago it was given to the Guildhall.

That pass was issued in July, 1665. The plague in that July was climbing swiftly to the fearful peak it reached in September. The plague carts were collecting over 5,000 bodies a week, and King Charles and the Court fled to the country. So a servant girl called Mary Walker was in good company when she, too, took fright. Her master was George Bostock, and she worked in the parish of St. Andrew Undershaft, in the heart of the city.

She went to the churchwardens and they gave her a pass, or certificate of health, to get away from London. It said simply that, by God's blessing, Mary, herself and her master's whole family and all the neighbors about them had through the Summer been free from the plague.

Armed with this written paper, Mary Walker got back to her native Evesham, in Worcestershire. She there got work at an old half-timbered inn which showed the sign of the Cross Keys.

The pass had value, should she need to move away again. She must have placed it for safe-keeping in a chink of the rafters of the attic room she slept in. The plague never returned. No doubt the pass was forgotten. The ancient inn has been pulled down for rebuilding, and in the demolition Mary Walker's "Pass for the Plague" was drawn out from the timbers in which it had lain concealed for 275 years.—London Listener.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Commit thy words unto the Lord and thy thoughts shall be established ....Righteous lips are the delight of kings; and they love him that speaketh right....How much better is it to get wisdom than gold! and to get understanding rather to be chosen than silver!....

He that handleth a matter wisely shall find good: and whoso trusteth in the Lord, happy is he.—Prov. xvi, 3, 13, 16, 20.

A Bit of Nonsense

Chestnut Choice

Soldiers do like to yarn. Three of them were talking about absent-mindedness.

"You know," said one, "my brother is so absent-minded that he went to mount his cycle and fell off because it wasn't there."

"What about my brother?" chimed in the second Tommy, with a chestnut: "He was so absent-minded that he put the cat to bed, and shut himself out for the night."

"That's nothing," replied the third. "My father once struck a match to see if he'd blown the candle out!"

Soldiers Storm Negro Band Leader's Home

CALGARY, April 8—(CP).—Calgary police said today a full military investigation has been ordered into an attack by about 300 soldiers last night on the downtown home of a Negro orchestra leader. Military authorities, however, withheld comment.

Police said the soldiers, allegedly seeking revenge for an attack on a soldier by a Negro Saturday night, stormed the home of Lou Darby, 29, the orchestra leader, smashed windows, wrecked the inside of the house and man-handled a white soldier they found there.

Darby was rescued by city police and taken to police headquarters for protection, a police official said. The soldiers ultimately were dispersed by city and military police, and later about 100 soldiers were rounded up and removed to the armouries for detention.

City police said Private Thomas Liesk, soldier found in Darby's home, was stripped of his uniform before being rescued by military police. They took him to hospital for protection, but it was reported he had not been hurt.

Cafe Is Saved.

Threats against "nigger joints" were voiced by members of the uniformed crowd that gathered in the east end of the city about six p.m. last night and invaded a cafe with the announced intention of wrecking it. They were persuaded by city police to leave before damage was done.

The men broke up temporarily but gathered again and marched to the district known as "Chinatown," where they stormed the house occupied by Darby and his sister, Eva. The fence was smashed, doors and windows shattered. The interior of the house was being wrecked when city police, led by Inspector McCombie Gilbert, and military police arrived.

Gilbert assured the men Darby would be taken to police headquarters and persuaded them to open a path through which Darby was being hustled to a police car when someone shouted, "Get him." Constables shoved back the crowd in the brief melee which followed. No one was reported injured and the soldiers soon dispersed.

Police said Darby told them that he had a butcher knife ready for the soldiers if they had reached him but he laid the weapon aside when he saw the police uniforms.

Second Daughter Born To Farida

CAIRO, Egypt, April 8.—(CP).—Queen Farida of Egypt Sunday gave birth to her second child—another girl. Both the Queen and the baby were reported "doing nicely." The first child, Princess Rerial, was born Nov. 17, 1938. The Queen, a commoner, and King Farouk, were married Jan. 20 of that year. The new Princess will be named Fawzia after the King's eldest sister, the wife of the Crown Prince of Iran. Forty-one gun salutes in Cairo announced the birth and started country-wide celebrations.

Profit Killers Slay 2 In Cold Blood For Their Cars—Confess Details

DETROIT, April 8.—(AP)—Profit-killers John (Slim) Kasap and John (Shorty) Kurzawa told all last night to complete the solution to two mysterious murders for which they face life in prison.

With all Kasap's defiance gone and Kurzawa's fears of vengeance overcome, the two young men told police full stories of appalling plots carried out for the sake of selling two second-hand automobiles owned by their victims.

Confessions from both, said Assistant Prosecutor William E. Dowling, explained in virtually complete detail the shootings several weeks ago of Philip G. Loyst, 24-year-old garage mechanic, and Dorsey E. Bowman, 35, a railroad brakeman.

Loyst was born, at Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loyst, now of Detroit. When he was a year old his parents moved to Deseronto and at the age of 7 years he was taken to Toronto. In 1927 the family moved to Detroit. Loyst was married eighteen months ago to Genevieve Rodney of Detroit. He was in the habit of paying annual visits to Deseronto to see his grandmother, Mrs. Phillipe Sharpe.

Shot Twice In Back

Shot twice in the back, Bowman's body was found on a pyre in an outlying dump Feb. 15. The body of Loyst, who was shot in the head as well as twice in the back, was discovered last Sunday in a grave dug beenath a house.

Bowman's killing, said Dowling, was "as cold-blooded, and perhaps as ruthless, as the police here will ever see."

In each case the victim was lured to his death on a promise of purchase of his car. Stripped of his clothes, Loyst was shot as he lay face-down on a basement floor in an East side house rented for the "profit killing," Dowling said.

The other murder took place, Dowling said, in the home of Kasap's step-father while the family was away.

All during the investigation since Kasap's surrender March 2 police had expressed belief a "gang" was involved. Thus Kurzawa's fears of reprisal, they said.

Details of the Bowman slaying were kept secret in order to prevent any possible accomplices from "framing" alibis. Dowling said Kasap fired the revolver shots which snuffed out Loyst's life.

Kasap, 22, 6 feet 2 inches, a Serb, and Kurzawa, 21, Polish, short and slight of build, spent their "profits" of the cars' sales for clothes and furnishings for their rented house.

For Bowman's car, Dowling said, they got $375; for Loyst's, $385.

Let Him Wear Coat

"How do you feel?" Detective Sergeant Hyman Ulnick asked Kasap last night.

"I feel a lot better now after confessing," he replied.

"Are you sorry?"

"I'm sorry, but what can I do about it? Both those boys are dead."

Of the Loyst murder, Dowling quoted Kasap as saying:

"...We took him down in the basement and told him to undress. ...He said it was cold standing there in his underwear, so we let him put his overcoat on.

"Then we told him to lie down on the floor, face down. When he lay down I shot him twice in the spine and once in the head."

To Dowling's question why Loyst also was shot in the head Kasap replied:

"Well, he squirmed a little and moaned, so I shot him in the head."

Officer said Kasap and Kurzawa had taken ringbolts to the rented house, to which any person accompanying Loyst would have been shackled during the crime. Police had believed these might have been meant for a "torture chamber" in which victims would be forced to sign over titles to their cars.

Victims Tortured

Developments in the case followed swiftly with the return of Kurzawa two days ago from Pennsylvania where he was seized while visiting relatives, and the finding of the gun used in the killing in Kurzawa's possession.

In the house rented by Kasap police came upon evidence from which they concluded the victims had been tortured in efforts to make them sign over titles to their cars.

Four Quilts Awarded At Busy Bees' Dance

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8.—(ENS)—The Busy Bees, newly formed junior girls' organization of Christ Church held a very successful cooking sale and tea in the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon.

The tea tables which were in charge of Miss Yvonne Beatty were tastefully decorated with blue crocuses. Miss Yvonne Hollings was in charge of the cooking table and Miss Verna Hardy was in charge of the sewing table. A feature of the dance held in the evening was the announcement of winners of the four quilts which the young girls have made since the classes were opened in February. They were awarded to Gerald Labrash, Mrs. Bert Smith, Fred Pettifer and Mrs. George Morrison. A hand hooked rug donated to the society by Mr. Mathew Sergeant Sr. was won by Mrs. C. E. Turner.

In The Silage

MORRIS, Ill., April 8 — (APA. — Farmer Wallie Foster, 65, had told his wife that the Silage was beginning to slide and "if you find me missing from the barnyard, look in the silo." When she returned from a visit, her husband was missing—so she went to the silo and found him trapped by silage. It took five men four hours to get him out.

German Experts Ask Recall From Russia

CERNAUTI, Rumania, April 8. — (CP-Havas). — Reports from the Russian-annexed section of Poland said last night that German engineers and specialists now stationed in Soviet industrial centres to supervise fulfilment of Nazi war orders have sent a delegation to the German ambassador at Moscow asking that they be sent back to the Reich.

The Germans maintained, the reports said, that it was impossible for them to carry out their assignment because of the systematic opposition of Russian engineers and workers to their activities. They also were said to have expressed the fear that Russian workers will attempt sabotage on the first possible occasion.

The reports said that the hostility shown by Russians toward such foreign technical experts in general has increased steadily during the last few years, partly because the experts are paid exceptionally well.

The report said four or five German trains bearing technical equipment were entering Russia daily, while the Russians seemed to be in no hurry to deliver raw materials to the Reich.

U.S. Sales Jump 33 p.c. To Canada

WASHINGTON, April 8.— (AP). —Six months of war boosted the value of United States exports 33 per cent over 1938-39 levels, the Commerce Department disclosed, but caused notable shifts in the type and desination of American products.

During the period from September, 1938, through February, 1940, Canada and Latin America increased their purchases about 47 per cent each, Europe 27 and Asia 33. Europe, in spite of wartime trade restrictions, took 42 per cent of the total.

Those restrictions caused gains in cotton, metals, chemicals, aircraft and other manufactured exports and caused declines in tobacco, grains, fruits and automobiles Trade to blockaded Germany and German-occupied areas dropped to a trifling $700,000, as compared with $72,000,000 for the same six months of 1938-39.

Total exports were $1,949,000,000, as compared with $1,460,000,000 in 1938-39, and $1,798,000,000 in 1937-38. The United Kingdom took $316,000,000 worth.

Over The Falls

When the saddle girth slipped this black mare threw her rider and bolted into the Dan river at Danville, Maryland. She walked along the edge of these falls while thousands of persons attracted by the strange sight watched her. Suddenly she slipped—and plunged over the falls as shown here. She landed on her flank, feet in the air, miraculously escaping with minor scratches, and was hauled to shore after two hours of effort by rescuers.

Obituary

OLIVER S. CARNRITE.

HAVELOCK, April 8 — (ENS).—The death occurred here on Saturday morning of Oliver Stanley Carnrite, who passed away in his 63rd year following a heart attack. Although he has been in rather poor health for some time, his death came quite unexpectedly.

Born at Polmont in Seymour Township, the late Mr. Carnrite was well known in this district, where for many years he farmed. Retiring because of his health, he lived for a while at Trent River, but has resided during the past few years in Havelock. Besides his wife, the only other surviving member of his immediate family is a sister, Mrs. John Hay of Trent River.

The funeral was held on Monday under the auspices of the local I.O.O.F. of which the late Mr. Carnrite was a member. Service was conducted at the residence by Rev. Andrew McLauchlin of the Havelock United Church, and interment was at Centre Cemetery, Trent River.

Trent River

Members of the L.O.L. with their wives and families held a social evening at Polmont Orange Hall on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wood and Miss Irene left on Saturday for Toronto as guests with Mr. and Mrs. William Pickering. Mrs. R. W. Umphrey and son Teddy accompanied them and will spend a week with her sister, Mrs. McFayden, and Mr. McFayden of Toronto.

WHY WORRY ABOUT RETIRING?
"I STOPPED WORRYING AT FORTY—I'LL STOP WORK AT SIXTY-FIVE!"

The strongest argument in favour of a planned retirement is the man who reaches 65—WITH NOTHING.

"I'M ALL SET. A review of my assets and attainments when I reached forty, showed that I had overlooked two things in the crazy rush and bustle of everyday life: my future, and my family's future without me.

"This situation at 40" said I to myself, "is a pretty serious matter on my limited income. If anything happens to me, my family needs cash—not frozen assets—to carry on in the style I have been able to provide. Besides, with ordinary investments I need $30,000 at age 65 to provide an income of $100 a month for myself. It will take a lot more than that if I can't get 4% safely.

"Then I heard about the DOMINION LIFE INCOME WITH PROTECTION PLAN. It's mine now. Instead of $30,000 I only need $10,000 with this contract to do the same job, and more! There's $10,000 in cash waiting to go into action when I am out of the picture. I know I am going to receive a cheque for $100 every month as long as I live, beginning at age 65—all with a $10,000 estate!

"Believe it or not, with Dominion Life I have to save only about $4.00 monthly per thousand. A $10,000 policy will guarantee me $100 a month for life at age 65, but if, because of some emergency, I need all the cash in a lump sum, I'll have at least $1,900 profit on my investment and the protection will have cost me nothing."

"Why not let the DOMINION LIFE do for you what they have done for me? Get the facts and decide for yourself."

ST. PAUL'S STAGE COMEBACK TO BEAT TORONTO IN CAGE SERIES

Church Cagers In Rally To Take Round

Waging a heroic up-hill battle, St. Paul's earned a spot in Ontario Church basketball finals and have a chance to defend their Eastern Canada honors by eliminating College United of Toronto here Saturday night. The score was 58-41 and the Saints took the round 102-99.

Entering the game with a 14-point deficit after dropping a 58-44 verdict in Toronto last week, St. Paul's staged one of the most courageous, thrilling stands seen here in years to finally overhaul the Queen City team and win out in the fleeting last seconds.

A methodical, grinding attack that started with Jimmy Thornburn's field goal at the 50-second mark and did not end till Don Sedgewick sank a pair of free throws with less than a minute to go, slowly cut down College's lead. Till the last half of the final period it was anybody's game.

A Huge Crowd

A record crowd for the year saw Toronto increase their round lead to 19, after St. Paul's had opened the scoring early in the game, to apparently dim the locals' chances.

St. Paul's fought back strongly and a flurry of fast scores near the end of the half saw them leading at that period 34-23, still three points down on the round. Then mid-way in the last period after Toronto had been carrying a slight edge, the Saints knotted the count. Through the dying minutes of the game the lead changed hands several times in rapid succession until with second left the count stood at 55-41 and the round tied at 99-all.

Thorburn was awarded a free throw for St. Paul's and put it away to give the locals their final lead and a second later Sedgewick breaking down the sidelines with a clear lane to the basket was crashed by a Toronto guard, and given two free throws, both of which the local defenceman scored to put St. Paul's out of danger.

All Show Well

The whole local team put on a fine showing, with the offensive work of the starting forward line and the strong back-line defense play of Marsh and Sedgewick highlighting their victory. Jim Thorburn, who counted 28 points in a fine showing and McArthur with 10, were St. Paul's offensive stars with Doug McPherson going good both ways and the rest all sharing in the win.

Denby, Humipick, Hunt and Davis were outstanding consistently for the losers with Huminick their big scorer with 11 points, most of them coming on free tosses. The teams:

College United (Toronto) 41—Centre, Wilson (3); forwards, Goheen (4), Denby (9), guards, Nelson, Hunt (6); subs, Davis (8), Goheen, Comrie, Huminick (11), Denby.

St. Paul's (Peterborough) 58—Centre, McArthur (10); forwards, Thorburn (28), McPherson (8); guards, Marsh (4), Sedgewick (5); Gemmel (3), McIntyre, Ward.

Referees, Curly Krug, Peterborough; Harry O'Brien, Toronto.

Two District Clubs In A Badminton Tie

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8 — (ENS).—Showing the improvement resulting from practically an entire season's practice the Campbellford Badminton Club held Havelock to an eight-all draw in a 16-game doubles tournament held here. It was in the ladies' doubles that the locals showed up best, taking two of the three events, edging out the visitors by 41 to 27 points. They dropped three of the five men's doubles to Havelock to tie up the score which continued in a deadlock when the clubs broke even in the mixed doubles as each side took four games with the homesters having a slight edge on the points, 107-103.

Following are the results of the tournament, with the home team being named first in each case:

Ladies' Doubles.

Mrs. J. Clark and Miss E. Malcolm, 15, vs. Mrs. Brennan and Edythe Russell, 4.

Mrs. G. Ralph and Mrs. E. C. Roberts, 15, vs. Miss Thomson and Miss M. Quinn, 8.

Miss E. Armour and Mrs. J. Fink, 11, vs. Miss Covert and Miss Margaret Quinn, 15.

Mixed Doubles.

Mrs. Clarke and Bud Jewell, 15, vs. Edythe Russell and B. Jones, 7.

Mrs. Ralph and George Ralph, 15, vs. Mrs. Brennan and James Covert, 2.

Mrs. J. Fink and W. Kingston, 10, vs. Miss Thomson and Ed. Williams, 15.

Miss M. Mills and Bill Thompson, 4, vs. Muriel Quinn and Don Miller, 15.

Miss E. Armour and R. Richardson, 17, vs. Miss Covert and E. Aboud, 18.

Mrs. E. Roberts and A. Crosier, 15, vs. Mary Quinn and Glen Wright, 12.

Miss J. Henry and Ross Booth, 17, vs. Edythe Russell and Ed. Williams, 16.

Miss E. Malcolm and C. Allan, 14, vs. Miss Thomson and D. Miller, 18.

Men's Doubles.

Bud Jewell and George Ralph, 15, vs. Bruce Jones and Jim Covert, 10.

Ross Richardson and Bill Thompson, 8, vs. Don Miller and Ed. Williams, 15.

Archie Crosier and Ross Booth, 15, vs. Glenn Wright and Ernie Aboud, 11.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Trailing by 14 points at the start of the cage tilt here at the "Y" Saturday eve, St. Paul's put up a fine battle to climb up even on the round with the College United crew of Toronto and then drop in three singles in the dying seconds and cop the round. A big crowd saw a swell windup to the O.C.B.A. intermediate "A" semi-final series. Toronto won at home 58-44, but lost here 58-41, the round going to the courageous and classy Saints by 102 to 99. A free-scoring and exciting hi-de-ho to have the fans' pulses throbbing like a Spanish serenade. Jimmy Thorburn, who could score baskets from any angle with handcuffs on, led the way with 28 points and his gallant buddies all aided muchly. St. Paul's now meet Hamilton in O.C.B.A. finals and then maybe they'll defend their 1939 Eastern Canada honors 'gainst Montreal.

Some of the Hockey Club gees are all for entering a softball squad in the men's City League this summer, and Wes Champ has offered to sponsor such a setup — maybe calling the club the Champs. ('Twould be doubly appropriate if the Petes become puck champs, eh?) A suggested lineup might have Starr catching; Craig, Strickland and Blewett pitching; Ellis, Kingdon, Tompkins and Heal on the infield; and Burton, Coughlin, Gardner and Crowe for the outfield. Just a suggestion and maybe we've omitted several puckists who are good softballers, and also executive members. But you get the idea—it would be a pretty potent pack on the runty diamond.

Bon Voyage Again

Tomorrow the Buckland bunch embarks once more for Kitchener, grimly determined to end this business in the Greenshirts' rink. No more nonsense, or off games. The boys are getting travel sores and beginning to think it is time to call it a winter. (Your scribe is ready to hang up his skates, too.) With a bad game out of their systems, they ought to cop Tuesday's tilt for the O.H.A. pennant, and mayhap a few carloads of the more rabid fans will again make the trip. It is expected the club will be at full strength this time and really roarin' up and down the ice lanes. They were a disgruntled bunch on their return from Oshawa but are quietly confident again and in better spirits.

* * * * * *

The Petes have been "happy warriors" all the long puck grind and they enjoy every drill and game. Kidding each other all the time—which no doubt keeps 'em relaxed and from going stale—and with not a jealousy on the squad. Unlike practically all their rivals, they aren't afraid to show exuberance and joy when one of the gang scores. In fact, several will tear up to him and slap him on the back and they'll all grin from ear to ear. In Oshawa, they had a streak of nervousness and were a bit off—but we'll bet the bundle they'll be relaxed and grinning with the joy of battle tomorrow when they tee off 'gainst the 'Shirts in Kitchener.

* * * * * *

As He Viewed It

Kitchener scribe scribbles gleefully: "Hockey's favorite myth which insists that a large ice surface works to the advantage of a speedy bunch of pucksters was exploded Friday in Oshawa when the Greenshirts tacked a 2-1 reverse on Peterborough. Ever since they tangled with the 'Shirts first, the Petes have had an edge on speed and they proved their right to that claim in every one of the four contests the teams have played this year. What better chance then would these Petes have to end the final series and capture the title than Friday when playing on the largest rink surface in the province, not excluding Maple Leaf Gardens? That was the reason close to 1,000 Peterborough fans came to the Motor City, they wanted to be in the kill.

* * * * * *

"But neither the Petes nor their followers considered the fight and determination which fired the revamped Greenshirts. They didn't figure the Kitchener management would fight speed with speed through the simple medium of icing three complete forward lines and depend upon only two defencemen and a starry goalie. The result was this: Peterborough outskated Greenshirts in the first period, but from then on the Petes found themselves gradually falling off the pace with fresh trios of forwards matching stride for stride with their fast-steppers and taking so much out of them that once the Kitchies forged ahead in the third, they were able to forecheck the losers into the ice for the last 19 minutes and thus protect the winning margin." Well, it looked that way, uhuh.

Orfuns Squeeze In

Local Orfuns eliminated the St. Catharines' threat in the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association playdowns Saturday in St. Kitts. The Saints copped the tilt 42-22, but the classy Orfuns had piled up a 22-point edge from the first fray and 'twas like money in the bank. Yep, money which had to be drawn on heavily. The round score was 56-54 for the local lasses. Seems as though the Saints really were clicking at home and came too close for comfort—Peterborough's comfort—in a hot scrap. Officials were o'er generous too with their free tosses to the St. Kitts' colleens, calling 16 fouls against Orfuns and but seven against the homesters. Audrey Craig led the visitors' attack with 11 points and Barb Blade had eight. One Joan Davis was the big gun for the peninsula pack with 18 points. The Orfuns may now go into L.O.B.A. intermediate finals.

At the O.B.A. annual session in Welland Sat'day, these officers were elected: President, J. C. McDonald of Chesley; first vice-prexy, W. G. Ward of the Falls; second, C. S. Gilbert of St. Thomas; secretary, W. J. Snyder of Hamilton; treasurer, A. Hillmer of Oakville; O.S.F. representative, Bert Smith of Toronto; executive, H. H. Berscht, Hamilton, A. H. Lowe, Kitchener, Bruce Oliver, Sunderland, A. E. Southerst, Windsor. So Mr. Oliver is the only guy up in this end of the province, unless the O.B.A. appoints another one. Rules leave it open for soldiers up to July 15th so far as residence go, and the residence date has been pushed back to April 1st. Minor loop players may finish the season in higher company if their teams are eliminated. And that's about all that happened at a so-so ball session.

Orfuns Carry Round By Two Points

ST. CATHARINES, April 8.—Peterborough Orphuns advanced to the Ontario ladies' intermediate basketball finals here Saturday night by winning the round, 56 to 54. St. George's, their opposition, came within two points of winning the series, as they beat the Orhans, 42 to 22. Losing the first game in Peterborough by 22 points was too much for the homesters to overcome. By half-time the Saints had a 20 to 12 lead, and with two minutes to go were still only two points from a tie, but over-anxiousness cost them the ball game. Joan Davis, with 13 points, topped the scorers, while Audrey Craig topped the Petes with 11. A lucky basket by Blade put the round in the bag for the winners.

In the preliminary game Guelph N.D.A. handed Welland Avenue Grads a 31-27 setback. Guelph earned their margin in the first half, when they gained an 18-to-13 lead. Jack Bond, with 12, topped the winners, while Norm Hart, with 8, was best for the losers.

St. George—Davis 18, Rudge, Gray 9, Volygi 2, Shonk 6, McLeod, Mathews, Mosher 7—42.
